The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cooking Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies. Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price,

A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25.

To Let,

A part of a House in Park street. Inquire of oct 25 J. ELLIOTT.

Fall and Winter Clothing.

READY made Overcoats, Sacks and Jackets, Men's and Boy's Pants and Vests, a good assortment.

Also—BROADCLOTHS. CASSIMERES, VESTINGS AND TRIMMINGS, for sale cheap, at

W. D. JOPLIN'S,
Nearly opposite the Monument.
—ALSO—

The Dwelling House and Land, making the corner of Fulton and Walnut stseets—a very pleasant situation, will be sold at a bargain and on favorable terms. sept 13

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever. Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.
DEALERS IN WATCHES,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.
Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.
MARKING ATTENDED TO,
JEWELRY REPAIRED
aug 17 3m

WILLIAM. D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their SALOON on Monday, Oct, 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Flowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th. tf

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red Ink. Gillott's and other Steel Pens. Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand, sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.

Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound, can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.
oct 18 tf

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

GOLD PENS. A superior article just received and for sale cheap by G. W. & E. CRAFTS, 174 Essex St. Salem.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue.

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yonrs respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think, we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue, of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir. I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr. LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker.
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence, It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

BEAVER AND PILOT CLOTHS. Now ready to be made into Overcoits its to order, and any fashion to suit customers at EDWARDS No 16, Front street, Salem. sept 26

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
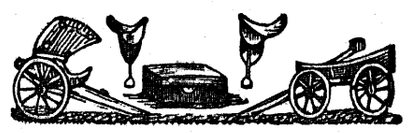
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note. Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.



PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING.

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

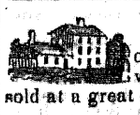
A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivatted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.



ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as can be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs.
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of
HIRAM GRANT.
Danvers, April 19, 1845,

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

KEITH & MASON,
NO 24 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

WOULD respectfully inform their friends and the purchasers of Dry Goods in general that having completed the very extensive improvements and alterations in their store, they opened on Wednesday, September tenth,

100 Packages RICH GOODS,
ADAPTED TO THE COMING SEASON,

We would invite the attention of purchasers particularly to our stock of SILKS, SHAWLS, DRESS, AND CLOAK GOODS.

—SILKS.—

Rich Plain Black and Blue Black Silks, of all desirable styles;
" Ombre shaded plain Silks, 1-2 and 3-4 wide;
" Striped and changeable Silks,
" Plaid and Striped Silks;
One case fine Striped and Changeable Silks, at 50 cents per yard;

—SHAWLS.—

We shall open the richest assortment of SHAWLS to be found in the city, and we invite all to examine them for themselves, as we have not room to give a fair description of them; we will say however that our assortment comprises over one hundred different styles, many of which are entirely new.

—DRESS GOODS.—

Rept Cashmere, Plain de Laines, French and Scotch Ginghams,
Cashmere de Cosse, Prints, Ombre shaded Cashmeres,
Mouslin de Laines, Cashmere de Laines, together with many entirely new style of Dry Goods.

—CLOAK GOODS.—

Our assortment of CLOAK GOODS, will comprise every desirable style in the market at the present time, and all good styles which may yet be imported.

A A Thibet Merinos, of all shades, Parmetta Cloths, Alpaccas, of Silk and Cotton warp,
Super French Merinos " Indiannas, Rob Roy and Gala Plaids, Medium " " " English Merinos, etc.

—HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,—

One Case of SPLENDID DOUBLE DAMASK TABLE COVERS, of every size, of the most beautiful patterns. These Goods were ordered by us. and imported expressly for our trade.

Super Satin Damask Napkins, Curtain Muslins, Scotch and Russia Diapers,
" " Doylies, Russia Sheetings, Crash and Towellings,
Pillow-case Linens White Goods, &c., 4-4 Linen of all qualities,
Marseilles Quilts, Flannels and Blankets, Domesties of all kinds.

The foregoing Catalogue, in addition to the almost endless variety of LACE, THREAD AND FANCY GOODS, which we have always kept, will make our assortment of Goods, decidedly the
LARGEST IN THE CITY,
and we are prepared to offer as great inducements to purchasers, as can be offered by any other Establishment.
KEITH & MASON
sept 13 24 Washington Street, Salem.

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of
Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.
Salem, April 12, 1845.

Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained pricesat which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for
PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,
formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,
Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)
where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.
may 24 3m

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at
No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,
for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of
SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.
WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

FALL SUPPLY.

1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of
W & S B IVES,
oct 25 Stearns' Building.

SHAWLS SHAWLS! Brocha, Canton Plaids, Nett, Kabyle and Woolen Plaid Shawls. Just opened by M. T. DOLE. oct 25

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,
No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same s solicited.
S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co. partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the
Painting, Glazing & Papering
business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of
OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
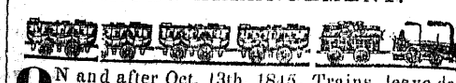
july 12 27 Water street.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.
oct 25

FOR SALE.



The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occpcuied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster treet The building is in good repair. Terms reasonase.
I. & T. HARDY.
july 26 tf

TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP OF PALESTINE by J. H, Colton. Compiled principally from the observaions of Messrs Robinson and Smith. The religious Press and many of the secular papers have spoken in high terms of this map. For sale by G. W. & E. CRAFTS.
174 Essex St. Salem.

Cashmere Plaids,

A BEAUTIFUL ARTICLE for children's wear, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 1

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted,)
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M, 12 1-4 2 1-2 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A. M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row, and on the line of the road at the several Depots.
JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4 A.M.		Leave Salem at	8 A.M
"	"	8 3-4	"	"	9 1-2
"	"	9 3-4	"	"	11 3-4
"	"	11 1-4	"	"	12 3-4
"	"	1 3-4 P M.	"	"	3 P.M.
"	"	2 3-4	"	"	4
"	"	4 1-2	"	"	5
"	"	5 1-2	"	"	6 1-2
"	"	6 1-2	"	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to.
Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

ORLANDO E. POPE'S
Fashionable Hair-Cutting, Curling and Dressing Room,
MAIN STREET,
[Opposite Nichols's Lane, near the Square,]
South Danvers—Mass.

O. E. P. feeling grateful to his customers and friends for the patronage bestowed on him for the past fourteen years, respectfully solicits a continuance. He would also inform them that he has made arrangements with a celebrated Hair-work establishment in Boston, whereby he is able to furnish them with WIGS, Metallic and other TOP-PIECES, etc., of the best quality, agreeable to their order, at a reasonable notice and at moderate prices.

Ladies will be waited on at his residence, near his place of business.

Pomatum, Hair Oils, Shaving Soaps, Hair Powder, &c., constantly for sale.
aug 9th, 1845. tf

CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

Beaver and Pilot Cloths, at Great
BARGAINS.

ALSO—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES and VESTINGS, of all kinds, at
M. TELYEA'S,
Corner of Grove and Main streets,
Who will make Surtouts from Pilot Cloths, from $7 00 to $13 37 1-2, and Beaver from $11 to $15.

Dress Coats and Frocks, from $12 50 to $15.

Pants and Vests from $3 to $6, all in good shape and warranted to fit to a T.

N. B. WINTER FASHIONS just received.
Danvers, Sept 19, 1845.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY—Three or Four Girls to learn the Tailors trade, at M. TELYEA'S.

REMOVAL.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Rich Jewelry and Fancy Goods,

HAVE removed to the New Store, No. 291 Essex street, (next above Mechanic Hall) where they will keep constantly for sale Gold Finger Rings, Breast Pins, Bracelets, Lockets, Keys, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Silver Thimbles, Silver and Plated Table and Tea Spoons, Butter Knives, Silver Plated and Brittania Ware, Shell, Horn, and Ivory Combs, Pocket Books, Purses, &c., &c

N. B. All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry, made over or exchanged for new.

S. & C. having acquired a thorough knowledge of the business in New York, as well as our success for the past five years in this city, will, we feel assured, enable us to execute with approbation any orders entrusted to our care.

☞Thankful for past patronage, we solicit a continuance of the same.
Salem, March 15 tf

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

TIDA COTTON AT WHOLESALE.—A large lot on hand and for sale low by KEITH & MASON,
oct 25 24 Washington street.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 22, 1845. NUMBER 36.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FOR THE COURIER.

A DREAM.

'T was a beautiful eve, and setting the sun
Fades slow from the sight, his course being run;
And the glorious tints of the clouds in the west
Seemed forming a couch for his majesty's rest;
And the breeze of the evening swept over my brow,
Passed over the fields, lightly swayed every bough,
The hum of the world gently passing away,
As the glory of evening succeeds to the day.
I stole me forth from the haunts of men
To gaze on the beauties of nature then.
Oh! grand are the thoughts that flit o'er the mind
When by labor and care it is unconfined,
And then come visions all dreamy, but true,
Which fall on the mind like heavenly dew,
And reveal to the soul all drooping with sorrow,
That bright and inspiring are hopes of the morrow.
I seated me 'neath a beautiful pine,
And all the glory of thought was mine;
I mused and mused on as the twilight grew deep,
Till o'er my thoughts came the enchantments of sleep;
A glorious vision then broke on my sight—
A form in the distance all splendid and white
Appeared, with a light and fairy tread,
With a wreath of flowers encircling her head,
A beautiful smile played her lips around;
She stood by my side as I lay on the ground.
I saw her eye like the star of even
As it mildly beams from the glorious heaven;
She bent me o'er, and her clustering hair
She parted over her forehead fair—
Oh, the beauty of that classic brow,
It haunts my slumbers even now:
And her lashes, dark as a raven's wing,
Her peerless orbs encircling,
Flashed in the light of the clear moonbeam,
As the willows that fringe a fairy stream.
She a moment paused—then sunk away
Like the gorgeous cloud of a summer's day.
I woke and the damp of the evening air
Was thick on my brow as I lay me there;
But ah! that dream I shall never forget,
Nor the beautiful form which my vision met.

ORIGINAL TALE.

FOR THE COURIER.

The Norseman's Revenge.

A TALE OF OLDEN TIME,

Concluded.

The vessel of the Britons was commanded by the Earl Oswald, who, with other noblemen had set forth to seek and capture the fort of Morven. Foremost at the head of their warriors, Oswald with the lord Ranulph led on the attack far outnumbering the party of the Sea Chief, who, nevertheless, fought bravely and well, maintaining the fame he had acquired in past times. The havoc now became general; and men were constantly falling on both sides; Hunnebert having slain several of the inferior warriors, sought now to match his prowess with one of their leaders. Accordingly singling out Earl Ranulph in the melee who, equally prompt had been trying to reach him, they immediately commenced a contest to which mutual hate and rancor, inflamed to madness, lent fury and determination. Fiercely they strove, but, the combat was not of long duration. Hunnebert received several severe wounds, but, pressing upon his enemy with unabated courage, in a moment when Ranulph was off his guard plunged his sword through his body. Ranulph fell, and with a look of bitter hatred upon his countenance expired. Meanwhile the strife raged on, the party of the Sea Chief fought nobly but it was evident, that they were fast being overpowered by numbers. The remaining few still kept up the contest around their leader, who had again rejoined them after the fall of Ranulph. But it was struggling against hope, and they knew it, yet they had resolved, rather than be captured to perish to the last man, and such fate was fast awaiting them, for now but three or four only with Hunnebert remained. They were repeatedly called to submit, but with lofty scorn they refused, and rushed anew upon their enemy; at length Hunnebert, after performing prodigies of valour, fell exhausted with the loss of blood from many wounds: the rest of his band were speedily dispatched, and the Britons, bearing with them the insensible Norseman, retired to their own vessel.

CHAPTER III.

When Hunnebert awoke to consciousness, which was after the lapse of some hours, (his wounds not being mortal,) he found himself in total darkness, having been conveyed, as he conjectured, which was the case, to the hold of the galley. He became also aware, by the motion of the ship, and the dashing of the waves against the sides, that she was under sail, and bearing him a prisoner, probably, as he thought, to the shores of his foemen. With returning animation came the bitter realization of his unhappy condition; a wounded captive, with no chance of escape, he did not doubt that death would be his doom, for on account of his many exploits, in which the Britons had suffered severely, besides the present action in which a large number of their warriors, with several chiefs of note had been slain, he could expect no mercy at their hands, and, in fact, would not have asked it, if there had been a reasonable prospect of its being granted. He was also personally known to the two earls whom he had met before on the seas, giving them cause of remembrance, had one yet survived to recognise him. But it was not death the Norseman cared for; his anxiety was not for life but the degredation (as he conceived it) of defeat, together with his captivity, and the distressed condition of his friends in the castle, caused him to meditate some scheme of retaliation as he lay musing in his solitary cell. The storm still raged without and the elements were yet in wild tumult like his own fierce thoughts: the pealing thunder broke as a knell upon his ears, seeming to proclaim that hope was fled forever. As he lay pondering in sullen dejection all at once, a gleam of wild savage joy overspread his countenance, as some sudden idea crossed his mind but it was quickly dispelled, and gloom again overshadowed it, as some thwarting influence presented itself to his fancy. He had not remained long, however, in solitude when the sound of descending footsteps attracted his attention; soon the door of his prison opened and a man, with an attendant bearing a light, approached, and stood over him. At a sign from the visitor, the servant withdrew the shade of the lantern, and cast its rays full upon the face of Hunnebert, who, looking upwards, beheld the countenance of earl Oswald glowing with gratified malice, fixed upon him. Neither of them spoke for several minutes, Oswald continuing to feast his eyes at the sight of his victim's helplessness whosternly returning his gaze disdained to utter a word. At last the earl broke silence, "So then thou art in my power, at length Hunnebert, thy long course of marauding, of burning and wasting, heathen dog, is over! sore, though long delayed vengeance awaits thee what thinkest thou will be thy doom?" "It is easily guessed," returned the Norseman, "the name of Hunnebert the Sea Chief hath too long carried terror to the hearts of thy accursed islemen, for him who bears it to hope for honorable ransom at thy hands." "By my troth, thou judgest wrongly there," said the earl "Hearken, while I lay before thee a preposition, by which thou mayest secure both life and liberty: we had obtained certain intelligence yester night that thy countrymen, had retreated to the castle of Morven with all their force; for the purpose of assailing and conquering that strong hold, we embarked and were bound thitherward when we encountered thy ship—thou knowest the rest of the tale," A spasm passed across the face of the Norseman at this part of the narrative, Oswald proceeded without marking it. "In brief, if thou wilt guide us to the place which thou canst, we not being acquainted with the navigation of those parts, life and freedom, as I said before and more than this, gold shall be thy guerdon. Consent to do this, and I will summon the leech immediately to dress thy wounds, and such care shall be bestowed upon thee as if thou wert a noble of our own land; refuse and thou shalt dangle ere night, fall, from some scathed tree on thine own shores a warning to thy friends and fellow freebooters, of the vengeance of the Briton. Give me a speedy answer that I may know how to act." When this infamous proposal was unfolded to the prisoner concealed wrath and indignation almost choked him: he could scarcely restrain the violent emotions that conflicted within from betraying themselves in outward manifestations of fierce invective and reviling on the head of the man who had thus dared to submit such a traitorous plan to him. He could not have conquered his feelings, as it was, were it not that a scheme which had before presented itself to his mind again occurred to him in connection with the offer of the earl. Resolving therefore to dissimulate, Hunnebert feigned calmness and attention while Oswald was speaking, and when he ceased, further to deceive him in regard to his real thoughts, pretended to doubt the conditional promise which had been given him—"How know I," said he, "that thou wilt keep faith with me in this matter—I have nought to rely on but the frail word of a Briton which is no strong staff, I trow?" "I swear to thee, by the Blessed Cross" replied Oswald, that I will fulfil my compact, if thou performest thine; every tittle shall be truly kept to the letter" "I accept the terms then,', said the Chief, "since life is sweet, and my death will avail nought, wherefore should I perish? I will conduct thee whither thou reckonest not," the last words he said internally, "Thou hast come ts a wise decision" answered the earl, "Hunnebert, go and bid the leech attend instantly."—The man departed, and speedily returned, ushering to the side of Hunnebert, the practitioner of the healing art, the prisoner's wounds were examined pronounced not fatal, and bound up, then by the orders of Oswald, and in compliance with his own request, Hunnebert was removed above, to the stern of the galley, where he could oversee and direct the Helmsman. Oswald went to his confederates joyfully to impart to them his success in corrupting Hunnebert against his hopes and share with them pleasing anticipations of shortly dislodging the Norsemen from their last refuge.

If he could have beheld the face of the Chief when left alone, if he could have seen the dark scowl of bitter hatred and the gleam of foretasted revenge which shot across it, he would have been undeceived as to Hunnebert's defection. But his doom was fixed, and he was rushing blindly yet swift to his fate! Meantime the galley, by Hunnebert's counsel who lay sheltered contigious to the steersman, was ploughing the stormy sea, in a direction contrary to what they had yet been in, bearing more to the northward, but far from the vicinity of Morven. Hours roll on, and rapidly speeds the vessel towards her place of destination, not Morven, but that awful Haven so little dreamed of by the overweening earl and his proud associates! Oswald, with the other chiefs and warriors of note; were, in fact, enjoying a splendid banquet below, and round passed the brimming beakers, while they drank huge draughts of wine to the prospect of an utter overthow of the Norseman. From time to time, loud peals of boisterious merriment ringing upward were heard to the remotest part of the galley; consequently they could not fail to reach the ears of Hunnebert, who, at each fresh burst ground his teeth with insane fury or suffered a demoniacal smile to cross his features but, save these exhibitions gave no audible vent to the passions which stirred him.—"Shout on, drink on, ye accursed slaves," he said within himself, "enjoy your triumph while ye may for it is but brief the web of fate is woven, the snare is spread and I am the fowler, (the Gods be thanked) who shall lure ye into it. What is the sacrifice of one life to achieve this sweet revenge. I value it not, 'tis as the worthless driftweed, which the wild waves cast up, to whiten and bleach and shrivel on the jetting crag, and the smooth seashore," He sunk into silence, but frenzied joy shone in his eyes, those orbs from which the light of sober reason, had fled forever. His defeat and capture, had, indeed so preyed upon his mind, that it was unable to bear the shock and had been growing more and more unhinged ever since the time of his being taken until now, when it was entirely dethroned. Onward! still onward sweeps the proud galley, bounding blithely over the billows with her unthinking freight to destruction! Just emblem of life, whether it be of smiling infancy, or vigorous manhood or decrepid age, all haste on lightning speed to the inevitable terminus, Death! Below, the bachanalian orgies still proceeded the wild song, the shout and the discordant laughter grew more frequent, and strangely mingled with the wailing and shrieking of the unspent storm.

After a time, the deck of the galley was entirely deserted and left in charge of Hunnebert and the helmsmen, partly in consequence of the tempest, and the orders of Oswald, who had summoned all the men to descend and partake of the feast in common with the rest. They were now gathered together by themselves enjoying the good cheer of the earl, and washing it down with copious measures of ale. Many a jibe and jeer flew round at the expense of the Norsemen, the poltroonery and weakness of Hunnebert in meanly purchasing his life, were descanted on in terms of scorn and contempt, yet many of the more reflecting marvelled that one, who had borne so high reputation for valor and courage should have fallen so low at last. They could not believe it, and secret, undefined fears of they knew not what, fears vague and indefinite haunted them as they mused upon the subject.

It was at a moment when the revelry and uproar waxing louder and louder, had reached the highest pitch, that a soldier who had ascended to the deck an instant before, rushed down into their midst, and with terror and wild affright staring from his eyes, cried out, "We are lost! we are lost!—the Maelstroom! the Maelstroom!!" He could utter no more and fell senseless upon the floor. An awful, stupified pause for a moment succeeded the thrilling announcement—such an utter, death-like silence fell upon that company for a brief space as though an enchanter's wand had changed them to stone. The exulting song was checked in the middle, and died away in dissonance—the goblet that was half lifted to the lips, fell from the nerveless hand and crashed upon the floor—the loud vaunt was hushed to a whisper—the laugh ended in a shriek of mortal fear! For a time, no one moved, no one spoke. At last the spell was broken, and by a simultaneous impulse they precipitated themselves on the deck.—But what a sight met their blasted vision! Surrounded by a mighty wall of whirling, eddying billows—a boiling, seething rampart, reaching far, far up to the blackening heaven; while from the lofty peaks and crests of the watery battlements huge masses of feathery foam continually detaching, flew madly to and fro, like ghastly heralds marshalling the conflict of the contending elements. Within this stern, impenetrable ring, tossed like a leaf upon dark waters, their sport and mockery, floated the helpless galley of the Briton. Not stationary, but round and in giddy maze, she compassed the charmed circle, slowly, yet surely approximating to the fearful vortex; before the eyes of her hapless crew it yawned, that pit of horror, there, where the maddened waves leaped highest, there, where the vexed elements roared loudest in their wrath, there was the bourne that awaited them. Circling swiftly about it, yet not deviating from their prescribed limits, were a host of sombrous clouds, seemingly the attendant ministers of woe who presided over the infernal entrance. Ever and anon the red lightning darted forth from the dismal pall, followed by deep thunderings adding terrible majesty to the scene.—For an instant the affrighted Britons gazed in palsied, speechless horror on the dreadful prospect then turned, attracted even in that appalling hour by the wild triumphant exultation of the Sea Chief. At his feet lay the dead body of the helmsman whom he had slain, to sieze the rudder himself after all the Britons had gone below to the feast. With arms flung aloft, and frantic gesticulation, he yelled forth a song of thanks to Odin, the Terrible, for the vengeance he had vouchsafed him on his enemies: "Spirit of the Storm, stern lord of the tempest, thou hast heard and answered the prayer of Hunnebert, his triumph is complete thou hast granted him revenge and now he willingly yields the sacrifice thou requirest!" Then turning to the terror-stricken, cowering foe, he cried in bitter irony, "What think ye now? has Hunnebert fulfilled his paction? has he guided ye as ye wished? If so, he is ready to receive his reward, the price of dishonor—bring forth the red gold which he hath earned. Again changing his scoffing tone to one of savage fierceness, "Die!" he cried, "aye, vile christian slaves, and may Zemibock, the evil demon of the abyss receive ye. I too, die, but not with ye, not in such accursed companionship shall the Sea Chief seek the chambers of death." Then, stretching himself to his full height, in one wild plunge he disappeared beneath the billows. The agony of suspense with the Britons, was now but short; a few more moments of harrowing misery, and, ere the last words of Hunnebert had ceased ringing in their conscience-smitten ears, ere his last frenzied look to the vengeful Heaven, had faded from the eye of memory, down, down into the mysterious passage they sank, their final yell of terror and despair rising even above the strife of the warring elements, and all was over forever!

MISCELLANY

EXTRAORDINARY AFFAIR.

One bright and frosty morning not long since, says the New York Sun, a young and beautiful lady of a slender form, wrapped in a flowing cloak, with a graceful bow entered the dry good store of Mr. ——, in Broadway. She was not slow to exercise all the privileges of her order, (i. e. to overhaul half the contents of the store.) The counter was covered with rich silks, satins and velvets—the delicate manufactures of Paris, and the more substantial manufactures of Spitalfields, were in turn submitted to her inspection; and after a proper, ladylike delay, some trifling selections were made, and the pretty purchaser tripped out casting sweet smiles upon the good looking clerks as she passed down the counters. But her actions had not been unnoticed by the lynx-eyed proprietor. He instantly followed her, and waiting till they approached the corner on one of the quiet streets leading off Broadway, he tapped her on the shoulder and requested a minute's conversation.

At first there was a manifestation of indignant hauteur, but a single whisper converted the haughty curl of the lips into one of pale, trembling terror, and an all-imploring look from a pair of beautiful dark eyes, unhinged his resolution, but a moment's reflection suggested all the advantage her imprudence had given him.

All the arts of a woman conscious of the majesty of beauty, were brought to bear in succession upon the imperturbable merchant, and hints were thrown out of the immeasurable extent of her gratitude, but all in vain. At length, finding all her shifts fruitless, she was obliged to make a candid confession of her name, rank and connexions.

What was his suprise to find that she was a daughter of one of the most respectable and wealthy citizens of this city.

He paused, and walked a few paces in silence by the side of the unlucky girl, whose feelings could not have been enviable. At last, having made up his mind, he turned abruptly upon his victim and said: 'Madam, you have robbed me; (an imploring look,) yes Madam, you, have robbed me, and you know it; you have now about you the articles abstracted from my store. (Another imploring look, and wringing of her delicate hands.)

'Now, listen to me,' he continued firmly, 'I offer you but one alternative; you must accompany me either to a minister, or to a magistrate.'

What could she do? Exposure and disgrace, to which death itself would be preferable to herself and her friends, stared her in the face. She looked up in his face, but there she saw nothing, but inflexible sternness; a second glance said, too, that his countenance was neither old nor ugly; in short that as men go, it was very passable. Then the alternative—the public police court—the awful form of the magistrate—the rude gaze of the multitude; could she hestitate? Placing one delicate hand upon his arm while the other applied the white cambric handkerchief to her tearful eyes, 'Do with me what you will,' she murmured out.

The result was that the triumphant store-keeper, instead of losing his property to the value of a few dollars, gained a lovely and accomplished wife (this little foible excepted) and with her upwards of sixty thousand dollars.

FARMER'S CREED.

We believe in small farms and thorough cultivation.

We believe that the soil loves to eat as well as its owner, and ought, therefore, to be manured.

We believe in large crops, which leave the land better than they found it, making both the farmer and the farm rich at once.

We believe in going to the bottom of things, and therefore, in deep ploughing and enough of it.—All the better if with a subsoil plough.

We believe that every farm should own a good farmer.

We believe that the best fertilizers of any soil is a spirit of industry, enterprise and intelligence—without this, lime and gypsum, bones and green manure, marl and guano will be of little use.

We believe in good fences, good barns, good farm houses, good stock, good orchards, and children enough to gather the fruit.

We believe in a clean kitchen, a neat wife in it, a spinning piano, a clean dairy, and a clear conscience.

We disbelieve in farmers that will not improve—in farmers that grow poorer every year—starving cattle—farmers' boys turned into clerks and merchants, and farmers' daughters unwilling to work, and in all farmers ashamed of their vocation, or who drink whiskey till all honest men are ashamed of them.

Moreover we believe in taking a newspaper—in paying for it and reading it. Such hints as these are worth at least a years' pay.

Thus endeth this chapter of the articles of our creed.—Indiana Farmer.

THE BAPTISTS.—A glance at the Baptist's Almanac and Register for 1846 supplies the following statistics of that denomination:

The Baptists of Maine number 22,628; in New Hampshire 10,148; in Vermont 10,170; in Massachusetts 30,945 in Rhode Island 7,309; in Connecticut 15,922. In each of the New England States there has been a loss, except Connecticut, which has a gain of 581. In the State of N. York their whole number is 93,855, and the loss 4702; New Jersey numbers 11,571, with a gain of 119; Pennsylvania numbers 28,800, with a gain of 805; Virginia numbers 79,134, gain 3020; North Carolina 31,066, gain 742; South Carolina 31,066, gain 742; South Carolina 39,687, gain 1010; Georgia 45,363, gain 1790; Florida 972 gain 302; Alabama 26,206; gain 556; Louisiana 3018, gain 281; Texas 758; Arkansas 1771; Mississippi 17,155, gain 850; Tennessee 29,219, gain 3788; Kentucky 60,160, gain 1145; Missouri 15,331, gain 963; Illinois 12,328, gain 1058; Indiana 18,988, gain 3193; Ohio 26,573, gain 13; Michigan 7447, gain 507; Wisconsin 1284, Iowa 4113, gain 228.

The general summary makes the whole number of Baptists in the United States 651,332: anti-mission Baptists 68,941; grand total 719,972.—Total loss 8118; total gain 21,927. If to the aforesaid grand total are added the six principal Baptists, Seventh day, Freewill, Reformers and others, the total in the United States is 1,047 535

The summary of other Christian Denomnations in the United States shows the aggregate of 2,315,-482; add Baptists to this, and the aggregate of sects is 3,559,991. The population of the United States is put at 22,000,000 and the Baptists at about 1,000,-000.

A Good Reason Why.—We heard an old bruiser the other day, advising a youngster to get married—"because then," said he, "my boy, you'll have somebody to pull off your boots for you when you go home drunk."—[N. Y. Globe Chewing Tobacco. An editor says: "Suppose a tobacco-chewer is addicted to the habit of chewing tobacco fifty year of his life, each day of that time he consumes two inches of solid plug, which amounts to six thousand four hundred and seventy-five feet, making nearly one mile and a quarter in length of solid tobacco, half an inch thick, and two inches broad." He wants to know what a young beginner would think, if he had the whole amount stretched out before him, and were told that, to chew it up would be one of the exercises of his life, and also, that it would tax his income to the amount of two thousand ninety-four dollars.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV 22, 1845.

Candidates for Representatives.

HENRY FOWLER.
RICHARD OSBORN.

Monday next is the day for another, and the last trial for the election of Representatives to the State Legislature. We hope that Danvers will not be unrepresented. Aside from political considerations there are many local questions needing their aid, and we hope they will be sufficient to induce all to go to the Polls and deposite their votes. A meeting of the Whigs of North Danvers opposed to the above candidates was held on Thursday evening, we have not learned whether new candidates were proposed but suppose that Messrs WILLIAM BLACK and ANDREW TORR still continue as candidates.

Our Protective System.

All sections of the country are getting to see, more and more, the advantages of a protective system, and it cannot be long before the Southern States will take a stand in its favor. They will be impelled to for their own immediate benefit, for manufactories are increasing in every Southern State, and the number of cotton factories now in the so called Slave States amounts to three hundred and fifty.

This country is peculiarly adapted to the increase of manufactures. Without manufacturing establishments in our inland towns, there would be little trade or business. Where all are agriculturists, there can be but little market for the produce, and the advantage to the farmers can be seen directly, by the effect which the introduction of mechanics in their midst, produces. Not only is it of benefit as affording a market for their provisions, but in supplying the farmers with their implements of agriculture, and other materials of manufacture. It is a mutual benefit, and when manufactories are established which manufacture more than is needed for the use of the inhabitants, they are of peculiar advantage to the producers, because they furnish them with a direct and easy cash market. All manufactories in this country which manufacture to export, are of great importance to all other kinds of business. They are a revenue of wealth to the country. And we need have no fear from the increase of manufactories, so long as there is a demand for the manufactured articles. For this country is capable of supporting an almost infinite manufacturing population. The millions of uncultivated acres all over the country, will support a manufacturing population large enough to supply manufactures to the whole World. There is never any fear to be apprehended from their increase.

England has accumulated vast wealth from her manufactures, but she cannot look forward to any increase, but with alarm. For she has now an undue proportion of consuming population, and if thrown upon her own resources alone, could not from her scanty acres nearly support them. She has now to depend upon provisions from abroad to feed her population. The necessary dependence of one nation upon another, is to be deprecated. In time of peace it may not operate so injuriously, but in the event of war, a nation has to look at her own internal resources. If under the smiles of peace she has encouraged the different departments of labor, judiciously, she will find herself in a situation to sustain the war with little comparative suffering to her inhabitants, for she is a nation that can depend, and is accustomed to depend upon her own resources, for every necessary.—She has learned, as it were, to go alone, and when separated by animosities from other nations, can easily stand alone. It is unquestionably for the interest of this country both from its national and its local position, to encourage liberally all kinds of labor—to produce and manufacture all that is needed for the support of her own population, and of course all that is produced and manufactured above the supply of the home market, is a source of wealth to the inhabitants.

We have all the elements of success, in every department of labor—all that they need is encouraging and protecting. This is for the good of the country. It may be of more importance to one section than another, but its greatest influence is in a national point of view. The people of the whole country are getting to see this more with every day, and it will hazard the popularity of any party which shall endeavor to alter it. The protective policy is not a party or a sectional, but a national policy. Let it be continued and the prosperity of our country is certain. Let it be broken down, and the energy and life to labor will be crushed and destroyed.

Our Minister to England—The Union contradicts the rumor that Mr. McLane desires to return.

Charcoal vs Poison—An old English paper contains a statement that charcoal possesses the power of counteracting the effects of mineral poison.

Essex Agricultural Address—We have received from Rev. Edwin Stone, a copy of his address before the Agricultural Society, in September. It is a beautifully written production, and contains many valuable practical suggestions.

☞We have another excellent Letter from our correspondent at Halifax, which will appear in our next.

☞J. H. Fairchild was ordained as pastor over the Payson Society, in South Boston, on Wednesday last. A remonstrance was presented to the ordaining Council, signed by fourteen ministers of the gospel in Boston and the vicinity, stating reasons why they think the ordination of Fairchild inexpedient.

Gov. STEELE, of New Hampshire, has appointed Benning W. Jenness, of Strafford, to be a Senator in Congress, until the meeting of the Legislature, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Woodbury.

Mr Jenness was formerly Postmaster of Strafford, and has since been Sheriff—the sum and substance of his appearance in public life, until this hoist into the U. S. Senate.

Tax Payers in Danvers.

A friend has handed us the following list of individuals whose tax bills for the present year amount to $50 and over. It should be borne in mind that the rate of taxation is higher this year than ever before and that the Highway Tax is also included which has formerly been separate and payable in labor if preferred by the individual taxed. The rate of taxation has usually been about 50 cts to the $100 but this year it is 62 cts.—This has been mainly caused by the large outlay for building the new Alms House, making new roads and large expenditures on account of the Fire Department since the great fire of 1843.—The rate of taxation in some of the neighboring towns is still higher than in Danvers. In Marblehead the rate is about 82 cts and in Lynn it is 98 cts on the $100 while in Lynnfield we believe it is as high as 98 cts. There are many in Danvers besides those in the following list who would be glad to see our rate of taxation reduced to the old standard.

North Ward.

Nath'l Boardman	$ 62 88
Eben G. Berry	78 36
Daniel Goodhue	51 10
Daniel P. King	127 98
Charles Lawrence	88 34
William A. Lander	156 50
Abel Nichols Jr.	63 50
Moses Putnam	380 94
Samuel Putnam	141 62
Samuel Preston	71 56
Elias Putnam	112 48
John Page	120 54
James A. Putnam	82 10
Benjamin Porter	186 26
Gilbert Tapley	142 24
Nathan Tapley	50 00
Asa Tapley	54 82
Jonas Warren	97 60
Stephen Wilkins	51 10

South Ward.

Lewis Allen	86 44
James Brown	58 54
Henry Cook	105 66
David Daniels	105 04
Caleb L. Frost	113 72
John S. Tilton	50 48
Benjamin Goodridge	52 32
John Gardner	65 98
Mathew Hooper	113 10
Amos King	129 22
Daniel King	341 26
Eben King	137 28
Samuel King	154 64
Caleb Lowe	57 30
John Marsh	62 88
Joseph Newhall	54 82
Estate of Sylvester Osborn	162 08
Kendall Osborn	56 06
Caleb Osborn	59 78
Sylvester Osborn Jr.	57 30
Miles Osborn	64 74
Henry Poor	56 44
Eben Sutton	111 24
Esther Shove	91 14
Abner Sanger	100 96
Eben Shillaber	323 28
Asa Sawyer	53 58
Abigail Southwick	52 70
Samuel Symonds	54 20
Samuel Taylor	50 00
Eben Upton	88 92
Elijah Upton	87 06
John Wilson	59 78
Benjamin Wheeler	80 96

NON RESIDENTS.

Jonathan Dustin	118 42
Estate of Caleb Oakes	86 80
" " Joseph Peabody	66 34
Hon. Samuel Putnam	50 00
P. R. Southwick	125 86
Nathaniel West	50 00

ALPACCA SHEEP. We see it stated in some of the newspapers that Ex-Governor Paine, of Vermont, has sent orders to South America for a number of Alpaccas, with the view of naturalizing them if possible in that State. We hope the Governor will succeed in the enterprise, but we should think at first look that an animal peculiar to the climate of South America, in the latitudes where we believe the Alpaccas flourish, would hardly find the Green Mountains of Vermont very congenial to their natures. At all events the project of domesticating the South Americen beast in that cold quarter is a rather more reasonable one than was proposed by an old lady in Connecticut, about the time that. "cotton wool" (as it was once called) began to be cultivated in South Carolina. Her son being about to sail for Charleston upon some speculation, she begged him not to forget to buy her a cotton sheep for to run with the flock on the farm. She was confident that a crop of that fine animal with those of domestic growth, would vastly improve the breed.

The above, from the Boston Mail, reminds us of an 'old salt' in this town, who had visited various parts of the globe and would never allow himself to be outdone in telling a 'yarn' as he had been everywhere and seen everything. One day a neighbor waggishly told him that a vessel had just arrived in Salem with some rare foreign animals and among the rest a cotten ram! Our sailor thought that was nothing extraordinary, "he had seen thousands of them in Madagascar" and went on very gravely to describe the animal until he was disconcerted by the shouts and laughter of the company who had with much difficulty restrained their merriment during the recital. We believe he has never described the critter since.

SCRAPS OF INFORMATION.--Of the inhabitants of the world, one hundred and sixty millions are Catholics; 70,000,000 belong to the Greek Church; 310,000,000 Pagans, and 100,000,000 Mahomedans.

The national debt of Great Britain is £220,000,000; Mexico, £3,200,000; and the United States $500,000!

In the United States Navy there are 71 vessels carrying 1946 guns, and in the army and navy, 18,630 men.

The navy of England consists of 683 vessels, of which number 83 are steamers, with 114,000 men in the army and navy.

SLAVERY ABOLISHED IN OREGON. The Legislature of this Territory have passed an act declaring that slavery shall not exist in Oregon, and the owners of slaves, who bring them there, are allowed two years to take them out of the country, and in default the slaves are to be free.

Letter from Henry Clay.

Having been permitted to see the following letter from Hon. Henry Clay, we make no apology for publishing it, as every thing that emenates from this distinguished man at his dignified retirement at Ashland, possesses a peculiar interest and in a certain sense may be considered the property of the country. Its publication will afford much pleasure to the friends of the lamented SALTONSTALL, showing as it does the high estimation in which he was held by the illustrious Statesman of the west.

Dear Sir—I thank you for your tribute to the memory of the lamented Mr. Saltonstall, which you did me the favor to send me. Having regarded him as among the purest, ablest, and patriotic men I have met in the public councils, and esteemed him as my personal friend, I deeply regretted his death, and cordially sympathise with his family and friends. And I am glad to observe the merited honors rendered to him by yourself and others. I am with great respect.

Your obedient Serv't,
H. CLAY.

The Hon. Daniel P. King.

Late and important News from Europe.

The regular steamer Britannia arrived at Boston Thursday afternoon, in 16 days from Liverpool having left that port on the 4th inst. The news which she brings is of an important character.

FAMINE—Gaunt, horrible, destroying famine—seems impending. Fears have seized the public mind. In Ireland matters look appalling—in England gloomy. The granaries of the continent are exhausted. The corn fields of the Vistula, the Danube, and the Elbe, are barely sufficient for the local wants of the inhabitants. The nation is in commotion; and the cry of "Open the ports, and let in corn, duty free!" is heard, on all sides, reverberated from every part of the empire.

A third of the potato crop in Ireland is destroyed.

The failure of the potato crop in Ireland, the deficient harvest in England, the high price of provisions and the threatend famine amongst the lower classes have pompted the Premier to hold three Cabinet Councils, for the purpose of devising some measures for the releif of the country. Although the result of the deliberations of Ministers was not officially promulgated when the Britannia left Liverpool, it was expected that the ports would be thrown open for the free admission of foreign grain.

O Connell, who assumes to be the tribune of the Irish people, demands a grant of public money to the extent of a million and a half, to be expended in the purchase of food—he asks for the prohibition of corn and provisions leaving the island—and the prevention of distilleries consuming grain.

The Cotton market continues in a depressed state.

LONDON, Nov. 3. The supply of wheat this morning, from Essex, Kent, and Suffolk, was pretty good; little business was, however, transacted, in consequence of the uncertainty as to what steps Government will take respecting the Corn-laws. Flour meets a dull, heavy sale.—Canadian barrels are disposed of at 36s to 38s and American, in bond, 31s to 33s

Freeman the American Giant.—This well known pugilist and performer is no more. He expired in Winchester Hospital on the 18th ult. His complaint was consumption—we might almost say atrophy. He was wasted to a complete skeleton.

The Queen and Prince Albert returned to Windsor on the 30th ult.

"Orthodox Churches." &c. A correspondent of the Puritan states, as the result of his investigations, that there were in Massachusetts on the 1st of January last, of the Orthodox Congregational denomination, 25 Associations, 420 Churches and 67,397 Members. Of the whole 420 churches, 357 have settled pastors, 23 are without pastors, and 40 have what is called a stated supply." Of the pastors, one only has been settled in his present place over 50 years.

☞The Maverick Church, at East Boston, have invited the Rev. Dr. J. P. Cleaveland, of Cincinnati, to become their pastor.

☞Hon. J. P. B. Maxwell, late Whig member of Congress, died at the residence of Judge Robeson (his brother-in-law) at Belvidere, N. J., on Friday evening. He was elected to Congress in 1836 and re-elected in 1838 and 1840.

☞The New Haven Herald contradicts the report of the illness of James G. Birney, in the following terms:

As a paragraph has been going the rounds of the papers—got up probably for political effect—that this gentleman has been suffering from a stroke of palsy, we state, on undoubted, private authority, that the report is utterly without foundation.

☞The total population of the city of New-York, by the corrected census, is 371,105. Of these, the number of aliens, not naturalized, is 61,961.

The English language is composed of 6621 Lation words; 4361 French; 2960 Saxon;—1288 Greek; 660 Dutch; 229 Italian; 117 German; 111 Welch; 83 Spanish; 81 Danish, and 28 Arabic, or together 15,629.

EXTRAORDINARY. The greatest difficulty is encountered in the empannelling of a jury for the trial of Polly Bodine, for murder, in New York.—Nearly 2200 extra jurors have been summoned and called, and only eight found qualified to sit in the case—nearly all the rest having formed and exprssed an opinion in relation to the guilt of the accused. Five hundred more were summoned for Tuesday. The Court had been eight days endeavoring to procure a jury.

The costs to the County thus far, for the trial, has been about $125 per day.

The population of the city of New York is, it seems, 371,102. Of this number there are 146,222 who are natives of other countries—a great deal more than one third of the whole!

FOR THE COURIER.

Why should the South Parish compromise with the Plains?

A great deal has been said and written of late about North Danvers Representative and South Danvers Representative. Now, Mr. Editor I always supposed that all the Representatives sent from this town were understood to be Danvers Representatives, chosen by a majority of the whole town to act for the whole town and represent the views of the whole town. It appears to me that a Representative who goes into the Legislature to represent the opinions of his own particular section or his own School District or what is worse than either, to represent his own preconceived notions without regard to the wishes of the town as a whole, must have very narrow views of his duty to the public and shows himself entirely unfit for any public station. There is too much of a spirit of dictation prevalent abroad and that of the worst kind, as it is the dictation of the minority to the majority. The good old rule seems about to be reversed and the minority claims to be the wiser, telling the majority that its decisions are all wrong and very modestly and kindly consents to instruct it how to vote and how to act, complaining bitterly if its directions are not obeyed. It claims the right to discard a faithful public servant for being guilty of doing his duty to those who stand in the relation of his constituents. It cries "throw him overboard" because he acts precisely as he was instructed to act by the majority and also by those who now oppose him! To all the proofs of his fidelity to instructions itself had made, the only reply is, crucify him! crucify him!

My object in writing at this time Mr. Editor is not to obtain sympathy for wrongs done to a faithful public servant but to repudiate the doctrine now too prevalent that it is the duty of the great public, for the sake of peace or from less worthy motives, to give up their men or their great principles to satisfy any little knot or clique that may claim to hold the balance of power and demand concessions to which by their numbers they are not entitled. It is this disposition to compromise which has been the cause of the formation of third and fourth and fifth parties whose only hope is, to gain power by threats of combination with rival parties. This is the doctrine to which I object and not to the right which every man and every sectional interest has to vote for such men as will best carry out their own views. But I object most heartily to any species of dictation, more particularly to that of a minority to a majority. Why have not we at the Neck as good a right to dictate to the Plains and the South Parish as the Plains has to dictate to the rest of the town? Our right is just as good but while we deny its existence we would scorn to use it if we had it. Our only object is to see the majority prevail and an honest and faithful public servant sustained by the approving voice of the people.

NEW MILLS.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—A correspondent in your last paper from the North part of the town, seems to have curious ideas of the power of minorities, and the claims of split tickets. He speaks of forcing the election of Mr. Fowler upon the people. Now Mr. Editor, I should like to know what this forcing consists in. I was present at the Caucus when Mr. Fowler was nominated. A meeting had been held by some whigs in the North Parish previously, at which, without any public notice to that effect, they proceeded to ballot for a candidate for that part of the town. There were 30 present of whom a man not known to the inhabitants of the town was voted for by 13. H. Fowler had 5 and some one else 2, 8 did not vote.—Upon this the redoubtable 13 with a reinforcement of 3 came to the town caucus and told the result of their meeting at the Plains. Under all the circumstances the caucus did not feel bound to be controlled by the 13, and the balloting showed 74 for H. Fowler and 16 for a Mr. Bradstreet. Furious with indignation, the leaders of the 16 returned home, and got up false statements, which they placarded round, of the intentions of the South Parish to crush the North. It was all untrue—all unkind. They had the effect to arouse prejudices which were entirely uncalled for, and defeat the election of the regular candidates by about 50 votes. We have no fears for the result on Monday next as we know that the circumstances are better understood throughout the town, and the false statements contradicted. But we do think the active leaders of the split ticket will feel regret for the course they have pursued in persecuting with so much bitterness a man so much respected and esteemed by a great majority of the town as Mr. Henry Fowler.

A CITIZEN.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—Will you permit me through your columns to say a few words on the Texas question, as I fear there is much indifference on that subject and there are some who think the question already settled and that nothing more can be done, but as I understand it, Texas has formed and adopted her constitution, and it must be laid before Congress for their acceptance, or rejection, and if received in its present form it will be as a slave state. It is well known that arrangements are making to have petitions circulated throughout the county to procure the signatures of all legal voters to send in to Congress to prevent if possible its acceptance as such. Committees have been chosen in all the free States, and in some of the Slave States, to attend to this duty, and will the town of Danvers neglect her duty in this good work? Let each voter say No! Let petitions be circulated, let the name of each voter be attached to them, and let it be done immediately and pass them into the hands of our Representative, the Hon. Daniel P. King before he leaves for Washington so that when he shall rise in the Hall of Congress to enter his protest against the extension of Slavery as we believe he will, that he can show them that he is not expressing his own views merely, but those of each of the legal voters of his native town and we hope of his constituents. And whilst we as American citizens are so jealous of our own rights let us remember that there are thousands of American born citizens, that if Texas were annexed as a Slave State, would be transported and sold into perpetual bondage and not one of them could lift a finger or open his mouth in his own defence.

Let us then for humanity's sake and for the honor of God and our country do our duty.

North Danvers Nov. 12th 1845.

H.

The losses of individual members of the Order of Odd Fellows by the Great Fire in Pittsburg, amounting to more than 15,000, have been fully made up to them. A part of their loss embraced all the earthly possessions of several widows of deceased members, who are thus, by the liberality of the Order, again placed in comfortable circumstances.

At a meeting of the Whigs of North Danvers, held at Village Hall, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted and ordered to be printed:—

ADDRESS.

Fellow Whigs of South Danvers,

It is with feelings of deep regret, that circumstances should render it necessary for us to address you again in the tone of remonstrance. We see that a meeting is to be held on the Fourth Monday, to choose representatives, and we learn that it has been determined by some of the leading whigs of South Danvers to make another attempt to force the election of Mr. Fowler.

We flattered ourselves that after you had nominated that gentleman against our wishes and remonstances, and in disregard of that mutual respect for the interest and opinions of each other, which should always charactirize meetings to nominate candidates—after we had remonstrated against this act in a public address in which was set forth the reasons why we were opposed to that gentleman's re-election—after we had by an almost unanimous vote of the Whigs of North Danvers, expressed our opposition to his election, and thereby defeated it at a very full meeting of the voters of the town—after having had full time to compromise the matter by selecting candidates in whom we could all unite and have all our interests fairly represented—we say, that after all this, we did hope and believe that reason and justice would so direct your councils that we might be spared the necessity of having another struggle to defend our rights.

But you have ordered it otherwise! The decree has gone forth that no compromise shall be made!

Did the Patriots of the Revolution resist the odious doctrine of "Taxation and no Representation," which King George attempted to force upon them by his legions of drilled soldiers, the same principle of opposition to the assumption of arbitrary power should animate us to resist your unrighteous attempt to deprive us of Representation by the Dictation of "King Caucus."

We have been "shoulder to shoulder with you through the great struggles through which we have passed." We have been contending, as we thought, for principle—for equal rights—how can we again confide in your honor to aid us in supporting these principles, when you turn a "cold shoulder" against us and resolve that we shall not have equal privileges with yourselves by having our interests represented, and that too when we stand most in need of such a privilege?

Think of these things before you meet us at the Polls?

North Danvers, Nov. 21, 1845.

FOR THE COURIER.

To the Whig Voters at the Plains.

Mr. Editor—False impressions are indulged in by some citizens in regard to the continuation of the road to North Danvers if a charter for a new road is obtained. I would therefore state for the information of such, that the petition for the new road last winter was as much from North Danvers to Boston as from South Danvers to Boston, and the desire of the Petitioners would not have been granted without the chartering of both. The petition did not say "with leave to construct a branch to the Plains," or words to that effect. It asked for such branch unconditionally. It was the E. R. R's bill that had in the discretionary clause. This the leaders of the split ticket well know.

A PETITIONER.

FOR THE COURIER.

The Town of Danvers must have direct Railroad communication with the Metropolis or her prosperity and business must decline. All the large Towns in the Commonwealth are seeking such accommodation, and the business and population will centre where such facilities are offered. Boston is increasing with great rapidity in population and business. Many streets once filled with elegant dwellings, are now extensive marts for the transaction of business. The inhabitants are seeking dwelling places in the surrounding Country. And wherever they have resorted Real Estate has advanced one hundred per cent. Fellow Citizens think of these things. Reflect on what would be the result of direct, independent Railroad accommodation, not to the South Parish alone, nor to the Plains alone, (for we despise these narrow views) but to the whole town. Let every voter remember this and vote for candidates who if chosen will vote for such new road.

S.

CURIOUS CASE OF FORGERY. An action was tried at Salem, last week, the incidents of which were somewhat remarkable. Suit was brought on a probate bond, against one of the sureties, the principal being dead. The defence was that the signatures of the defendant and his co-surety, as well as of the subscribing witnesses were forgeries; and has been falsely appended by the deceased principal, who was the nephew of the sureties and cousin to one of the witnesses, the other being the husband of that witness.

The two witnesses swore that their names, appending to the bond, were not written by them, though the resemblance was perfect; and it was proved that the deceased principal was skilful in the imitations of other people's writing. It appeared, however, that the witnesses had signed two papers, about the time when the bond was dated, but these papers they understood to be wills.

On the whole the evidence was very conflicting, but the jury found for the plaintiff thus establishing the validity of the bond. The case had been tried two or three times before, but the juries could not agree.

TEA PARTY.—Forty-two females had a tea party given to them in England, whose united ages numbered 2746 years, the eldest 95, and all above 60. They were all treated to ale and tobacco which we should suppose were novelties to them.

The city government of Boston is in a pretty predicament; in consequence of the refusal of the members of the "Native" party in the board of Aldermen to go into an election, they have now practically no government. The situation of the Mayorality is such that money cannot be paid out of the Treasury to satisfy even the claims of the laborers of the city. Even the primary school teachers cannot be paid, and the poor scavengers and lamp-lighters, who have daily requirements for money, are told that they cannot receive their dues till after a Mayor shall have been chosen, a consummation of which there is no immediate probability.

LIFE INSURANCE.—The New England Mutual Life Insurance Company has thus far been very successful. The aggregate emount of policies is sued up to the present time, is $2,000,000. The total of the premiums received on these policies, is $35,000.

Cotton.—The statistics of cotton are really wonderful, and shew its rapid increase and it's great agricultural value and importance. In 1781 the whole amount of cotton shipped from this country to England was 450 bales. In 1787 England imported about 60,000 bales, not one of which was procured from the U. States. So rapid was the increase of our cotton trade, however, that in 1807, we shipped to England 160,000 bales, valued at $15,000,000—at 25 cents per pound. From 4500 to 1807 the export of flour from the United States was valued at about $10,000,000 annually. N. Y Sun.

THE BEST ARGUMENT YET.—Two men at a tavern in this State were discussing the question of capital punishment, when one remarked. "I know it is right; for the bible says, 'on these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets,' and if it is right to hang the prophets, I know it is right to hang murderers."

Shakspeare was also in favor of capital punishment; he said, "Hung be the heavens with black!" —N. H. Patriot.

☞All the Planets, save Mercury, are now about the horizon at 7 o'clock, P. M., and four of them seen with the naked eye, not to be mistaken. Jupiter in the East Mars in the S. East, Saturn a few degrees West and nearer the zenith, and Venus in the S. W. Herschell is at a point between Jupiter and Mars, but not distinguishable. New Bedford Mercury.

John Junifer. The boy Junifer, who was left in prison at Baltimore when Mr. Innis was released, has been liberated and returned to the District of Columbia. A letter from a lawyer in Washington, who saw John on Saturday evening, 8th inst., states that the boy was anxious to come on to Salem; but a gentleman of Alexandria, who went to Baltimore and got him liberated, had incurred expenses to the amount of $24,00, which he must first pay, and obtain in addition $12,00, to defray expenses to Salem. 'He is very anxious to go,' adds the letter, 'and as soon as he can raise the means to get off honorably, he will be off.' We understand that the necessary funds have been sent on from Salem, and the boy may be expected here in a few days, to join his mother after their long separation.—Salem Reg.

BOSTON MARKET, THURSDAY AFTERNOON, Nov. 39

Provisions—The transactions today are principally in small lots. Sales of mess Beef a $10; a few half bbls at $5,25; Navy mess at $9; 50 bbls mess and extra clear Pork at $14 and $15 1-2, 6 mos; 100 kegs a 8 3-4 c; small lots of Hams at 8 3-4 c, 6 mos. Flour—No change in prices, and demand fair. Sales of 300 bbls Ohio, via New Orleans, at $6,25; 200 do Baltimore at $6 25. Sugar—Sales of 200 boxes Cuba brown at 9 a 9 1-4c. Molasses—A few hhds Trinidad of 24c; 75 do bakers' at 27c. Hides—400 Buenos Ayres sols at 12 1-2c, 6 mos. Oil—Sales have been made at a neighboring port of 200 bbls crade Sperm at 82c, and 100 do, iuferior, at 77.—Boston Atlas.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Nov. 17, 1845.
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 2400 Beef Cattle, 1150 Stores, 3300 Sheep, and 650 Swine.

PRICES—BEEF CATTLE—We quote to correspond with last week. We quote Extra 4 75 a $5; first quality 4 25 a 4 50; second quality $4 a 4 25; third quality 2 75 a 3 75.

BARRELLING CATTLE—Mess 3 25; No 1, 2 75.

STORES—Yearling $5 a $7; two year old $7 a $14; three year old $15 a $24.

SHEEP—Sales from $1 to $2

SWINE—Lots to peddle 3 1-8 a 3 1-4 for Sows, and 4 1-8 a 4 1-4c for Barrows. At retail, from 3 1 2 to 5c.

MARRIAGES.

In this town by Rev Mr Field, Mr EBEN S. HOWARD to Miss Ann M. WELCH.

In Salem Mr EDWARD WOODBERRY to Miss NANCY PICKETT—both of Beverly. Mr MATTHEW BARRETT to Miss CATHARINE TUETT.

In Boston, by Rev M. Eaton of Danvers, Mr WILLIAM L. EATON, of Boston, to Miss LUCY A. RICH, of Wellfleet.

In Newbury, (Byfield Mr JOSHUA N. KENT to Miss SARAH N., daughter of Samuel Dunmer, Esq., of Rowley.

DEATHS.

In this town 14th inst, Mr ELIJAH MOULTON, of Corinth, Vt., aged 26.

On Wednesday evening, very suddenly, Mr. DAVID STEVENS, aged 22.

At North Parish, on Saturday evening last, Capt. JONATHAN PERRY, aged 63.

On Thursday, Nov. 6th, WM. RUSSELL, youngest child of Wm. and Maria Cutler, aged 6 months and 6 days.

An infant child of Mr JOHN H. SPILLER

In Salem, Mrs MARY, widow of the late Mr Lawrence Berry, aged 48. Mrs SARAH V., wife of Mr Israel R. Phelps, aged 35. Mr ISRAEL F. JOHNSON, in the 36th year of his age. Mrs SARAH, widow of the late Mr. Joseph Cary, aged 72. Miss DORCAS, daughter of Mr. Jonathan Kenny aged 35.

In Topsfield, MARIETTA B., daughter of Wm. G Lake, aged 10 years.

In Manchester, Mrs MARY A., wife of Mr John A. Allen, of St Louis, Mo., aged 25.

In Wenham, of consumption, Capt. THOMAS KIMBALL, aged 57. After a protracted sickness, Mr SAMUEL B. FISK 32, much beloved by a large circle of friends.

In Hamilton, on Sunday last, Mr LUKE DODGE, aged about 40. Mr Dodge was remarkable for his extraordinary size, having weighed 380 pounds, a few weeks ago.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

MONUMENT DIVISION—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at SANGER'S HALL, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.

South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Monday evening, at half vast six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.

WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

Boarders Wanted.

THE subscriber having taken the western end of Mrs. Dodge's house, opposite Park street, wishes to obtain 8 or 10 gentleman Boarders. His terms will be as low as any similar house, and his accommodations warranted to give satisfaction.

nov 15 JOHN MERRILL.

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Prints and Patches.

A GOOD variety of new styles, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Batting.

A SUPERIOR article, manufactured from raw cotton. Just received by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Field Driver's Notice.

LYNNFIELD, Oct. 24, 1845.

TAKEN up this day, found running at large, without a keeper, upon the public highway in said town, and impounded in the subscriber's yard, one brown mare, with a star in her forehead, and one red horse; the owner of them unknown.

JOEL HEWES,
nov 1 3wis Field Driver Lynnfield.

SHAWLS—At Reduced Prices.

KEITH & MASON will offer their excellent assortment of Shawls at decided bargains, in order to close off their fall stock. nov 22

MORSE'S CEROGRAPHIC MAPS. No. 2—containing Nova Scotie, New Brunswich, Ohio, Missouri, Iowa and Wisconsin. No. 3 Pennsylvania, California, Illinois and North Carolina. No. 4—Texas, Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana and South Carolina, 25 cts. each rec'd by

nov 22 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

NEW MUSIC, by Manuel Fenollosa, "Thistlewood Waltz," composed and dedicated to Miss S. C. King, of Salem, by Manuel Fenollosa, 2 pages 10 cts., just rec'd at the Mnsic establishment of

nov 22 J. P. JEWETT, & CO.

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KEITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

BEAUTIFUL styles of Muslins, for evening Dresses. Also, embroidered Dresses, received at 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

HERTZ & SON'S STEEL PENS, made to imitate Gillott's Extra Fine and School Pen—and a superior pen—at a much less price—for sale by gross, dozen or single—at the Stationery Store of

nov 22 J. P. JEWETT & CO., Salem.

THE HUSBAND. A novel by Miss Ellen Pickering, price 25 cents.

Only a Fiddler and O T by the author of 'The Improvisatore,' translated by Mary Howitt, just published, and for sale by

nov 22 W & S B IVES.

CHEAP MUSIC. Just received at the 'Central Bookstore," another lot of Ferrett & Co's Popular and Cheap Music, consisting of the best pieces, average two cts a page. Our musical friends are invtted to call and examine, at

nov 22 W & S B IVES', Stearns' Building.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN OSBORNE, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, potter, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to KENDALL OSBORNE;

Danvers, Nov. 22 * Adm'r.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of

GIDEON FOSTER,

esquire, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, testate, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: all persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

SAMUEL W. KING, Adm'r.

Danvers, Nov. 22, 1845.

FARINA COLOGNE—A new supply of the genuine article, warranted, just opened at nov 22 W & S B IVES' Bookstore.

FOR CARPENTERS Large size Lead Pencils, just the thing for Carpenters and Cabinet Makers, for marking on wood. Just rec'd at IVES' Central Bookstore, Stearns' Building. nov 22

MISS PICKERING'S NOVELS, etc. The; Fright; The Merchant's Daughter; Agnes Serle Nan Darrell; The Expectant; The Price; The Secret Foe; Who shall be heir, etc.—25cts ea.

The Wife, by T S Arthur; The Maiden, do; Stories of the Am Revolution, by do; Songs in the Night or Hymns for the sick and suffering; The Light-hearted Girl; Practical Christianity, in a series of essays, John Bowdlee Esq. For sale at the Central Bookstore of W & S B IVES. Stearns' Building nov 22

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf, On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr CHAS. JOSEHH, Tillinghast, master, is now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial whf.

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah. nov 22

FOR NORFOLK, CITY POINT AND RICHMOND. ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.

From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. ALLEGRO, Greely, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

nov 1

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf. On Saturday.

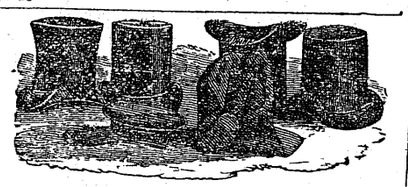
To go up to the City.

The elegant fast sailing packet bark, AUGUST, Kelley, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. nov 8

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS. ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf. On Saturday.



The very elegant, new ship AURELIUS, Kelley, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

nov 15

Mr Editor—I now have many tomers from your neighborhood, and feeling desirous of extendiug my acquaintance, I am not aware of any better way than to ask your aid; and this is to inform the readers o your paper, that I have a stock of HATS, CAPS, and every description of FUR GOODS, equal in variety to any in New England, and at as low prices.

Those who visit the city or are in the way of sending for goods, are respectfully requested to give me a call.

☞Wholesale Rooms, 2d and 3d stories,

No. 173 Washington Street, Boston.

oct 11 WM. M. SHUTE.

The Stewart Improved Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.

nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

JACQUAR'D MACHINES, For $25.

TO CARPET MANUFACTURERS.—The subscriber still continues the making of the above machines for the above price, suitable for Carpeting, which he warrants to be as good as any others, as they embrace all the latest improvements.

Also—THREE PLY and BRUSSELS MACHINES made reasonable, for cash.

JAMES LIGHTBY,
sept 20 8t Jersey City, N. J.

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.

oct. 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

Second Hand Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale at their Warehouse, a large lot of Second Hand Cooking Stoves, —mostly Norton pattern—at very low prices.

oct 25 LORD & WILEY.

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,

Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

ABOUT one hundred Pots beautiful Chrysanthemums, different colors, in full flower, for sale at the Greenhouse, rear of Aborn street, at from 17 to 25 cts per pot.

—Also for sale as above.—

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter. Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

HALF A Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION,
COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclams.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been abte to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price tht I will

DEFY T H WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make on that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER☜
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

WIDE FRINGES AND GIMPS. Just received by KEITH & MASON, a lot of new styles Wide Fringes and Gimps for trimming Cloaks. nov 15

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call.

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

Fruit and Ornamental TREES,

For sale at GROVE NURSERY, Salem.

All the most approved kinds of Apples, such as Baldwins, Sweetings, Greenings, Russets, Minister, Portet, Early Harvey, summer Pearmain, Early Bough, Glory of the West, William's Favorite; many varieties of Pippins, Codlings, Rennets and the Nonsuch tribe. Also—the most approved kinds of Pears, such as the Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Belle of Flanders, Easter Beurre, Sickle, &c. Many varieties of the choicest kinds of Plums and Peaches.

Also—a choice assortment of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, such as Mountain Ash, Horse Chestnut, Scotch Larch, Fir Balsam, Arborvitæ, &c. Many varieties of the most splendid kinds of Honeysuckles and climbing Roses, for covering piazzas and lattice work. Also—above twenty varieties of the Tea Rose, Hybrid Perpetuals, Borbons, and many others of those lately introduced from Europe, &c.—As these trees and Plants are raised on poor soil, without high manuring, they will be found to be hardy and healthy, and when removed to richer soil, they cannot fail to make rapid progress.

Also—Buckthorne, for hedges, Strawberry Plants of the best kinds, and a great number of seedling Apples, Pears and Quinces, for stocks.

For further particulars, enquire of THOS. CRUIKSHANK, at the Nursery, or W. D. JOPLIN'S, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers. oct 18

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of EZRA GOWING, late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to the said estate are called upon to make payment to WILLIAM GOWING,

Salem, Nov. 8th, 1845. Adm'r

Paper Hangings

VERY CHEAP.

SAMUEL B. FOSTER, being desirous of reducing his present stock of Paper Hangings, offers them for sale at reduced prices. 2100 Rolls of New Patterns, have been added this fall. One of the most fashionable and best assortments of Paper Hanging that can be found, is thus offered at very low prices. Call and see for yourselves at the extensive Paper Hanging Establishment, No 30 Lawrence Place, near the Rail Road Depot. Recollect, 30 is the number, and FOSTER is the man.

Salem, Nov 1, 1845. 1m

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Ralhburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;
Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.
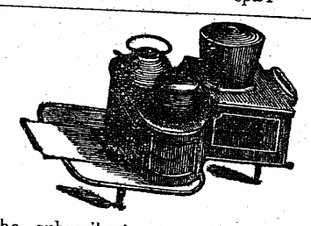
The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.
We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.



We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus, may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;

The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cooking Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

MISS MARY J. DRAPER respectfully informs the ladies and gentlemen of Danvers and vicinity that she is prepared to give Lessons in

Mono-Chromatic Painting,

at the residence of her father, No. 16 Washington St.

oct 18

Alpaccas! Alpaccas!!

A GOOD assortment of the above Goods for sale cheap, by M. T. DOLE. nov 1

DOMESTIC HOSIERY.

R. H. CHAMBERLAIN respectfully informs the citizens of Danvers and its vicinity, that he has just opened at his Hosiery and Glove Store,

No. 235 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

300 doz of Hosiery and Gloves, of Foreign and Domestic manufacture, comprising the largest variety ever before offered in Salem, viz:

LADIES' Yarn, Alpacca, Segovia, Lamb's Wool, Merino and Cashmere HOSE, in white, black, mixed and mode colors.

GENT'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia; HOSE and Half Hose, some extra size.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, and Cashmere Hose and Half Hase; also, Jonian, Royal Coburg, Ceylon, and Grecian Boots, for infants.

GLOVES, in great variety, comprising all the different styles, sizes and qualities, for ladies, gents, children and misses.

LADIES' VESTS AND PANTS—a beautiful article of Ladies' Merino and Cotton Vests and Pants.

GENT'S SHIRTS AND DRAWERS—Merino, Lamb's wool, Yarn, Scotch wool, Portsmouth, Ipswich and country knit Shirts and Drawers.

SHIRTS, BOSOMS AND COLLARS—A large assortment o Cotton Shirts, Linen Bosoms and Collars, Dickeys, Stocks, Scarfs, Cravats, Suspenders, Pocket Hdkfs, &c.

WOOLLEN YARN—300 lbs of black, mixed, white, scarlet, Random, and mode colored Woolen Yarn, from the Portsmouth manufactory.

CASSIMERES—A large lot of Cassimeres and Satinetts constantly on hand.

MOUSELINE DE LAINES—2 cases Mousseline de'Laines, of newpatterns, just opened and for sale cheap.

Also—Red, white and yellow Flannels, rich styles of Prints, from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Tickings, bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings; Scotch, Bird's Eye and Russia Diapers; bleached, unbleached, and colored Table Covers; white and colored Linens; Silk, Cotton and Linen Cambric Hdkfs; Linen Lawns; Pins, Tapers, Needles, Purses, Scissors, Thimbles, Combs, Eyelets, silk and Cotton Bindings, Gimps and Fringes, Knitting Pins, Ribbons, Silk and Cotton Braids; Linen Bobbins and Tapes, Stay Backs and Bindings, Knitting Cotton, Sewing Cotton, Sewing Silk and Twist, Silk and Cotton Cords, Saddler's Silk, Buttons, etc.

sept 22 is2m

Fall and Winter Clothing.

READY made Overcoats, Sacks and Jackets, Men's and Boy's Pants and Vests, a good assortment.

Also—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS AND TRIMMINGS, for sale cheap, at

W. D. JOPLIN'S,
Nearly opposite the Monument.
—ALSO—

The Dwelling House and Land, making the corner of Fulton and Walnut stseets—a very pleasant situation, will be sold at a bargain and on favorable terms. sept 13

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this morning, an assortment of Silver Lever Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

DEALERS IN

WATCHES,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,
JEWELRY REPAIRED
aug 17 3m

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their SALOON on Monday, Oct, 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Elowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March29th. tf

Periscopic Spectacles.

ALways on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem,
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

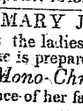
Danvers, Oct 25.

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red Ink, Gillott's and other Steel Pens, Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand, sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.



Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound, can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.

oct 18 tf

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

To Let.

A part of a House in Park street. Inquire of oct 25 J. ELLIOTT.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled; &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm.R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

NEW ENGLAND TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills, of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND
CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brincer-hoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam Scnenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldock; Different inds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuine Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; Also, Brandreth's, Indian Vegetable, Becwith s, Lees' Dean s, Parr s, Richardson s, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candles, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs, Mace, Cloves etc. Particular attention to Physicinn's Recipes.

Danvers May 31 1845.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.
Also—Neck Stocks, Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

NEW STORE,
AND AN ENTIRE NEW STOCK OF
New and Cheap Goods.

GEORGE C. VARNEY & CO.,

HAVE great pleasure in informing their former patrons and the public generally, that having completed their NEW STORE, on the same site occupied by their old one, at

No. 13 Front Street, Salem.

they are now opening a full, complete, and well selected assortment of.

WEST INDIA GOODS,
AND BEST
FAMILY GROCERIES,

which they will be pleased to dismose of for CASH, at a small advance from cost. Those purchasing of them may rest assured, that every article will be of the best quality, and that it can be obtained at as low a price as any store in the city.

In offering our goods for cash, we can present such inducements as will at once convince those purchasing, that they can make a saving of at least five per cent. We think business can be done in this city on the cash system as well as in many others. We shall have butone price for our goods., and those who pay will not be charged a per centage to make up the losses sustained by bad debts, and the additional expense of a book-keeper, &c.

We have also an entire new, carefully selected, and extensive stock of

Crockery, Glass and China Ware

chosen from the newest patterns of recent importation, and purchased at a price which will enable us to sell on the most favorable terms.

In addition io the above, we have constantly on hand an ample supply of the several qualities of which we will dispose of at the very lowest market prices.

WOOD, BARK, HAY, &c

☞We confidently expect that our former customers will give us a call, as we believe they need no assurances to convince them that their wants can be as satisfactorily supplied here, as at any other place in Salem; and at the same time we hope to secure many new patrons, for which end our unsurpassed facilities will be employed to their utmost extent.

☞Goods, as usual, will be sent to any part of the city free of expense.

☞Please bear in mind that our store is at
NO 13 FRONT STREET.
Nearly opposite the sign of the great Seneca Indian Chief, Corn Plant.

☞As this would seem to be a fitting opportunity, G. C. V. & CO. cheerfully embrace it to return their most sincere thanks to their former numerous patrons and friends, for the generous sympathy extended to them at the time of their calamity by the conflagration, and for the promptness with which their accounts were setted. We would also take this occasion to remind those who are still indebted to us, that money would be peculiarly acceptable at this time, when we are about re-commencing business, and we should be happy to give them a receipt in full.

Salem, Aug 9.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of
HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can he bought in the city.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FALL SUPPLY.

1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of
W & S B IVES,
oct 25 Stearns' Building.

SHAWLS SHAWLS! Brocha, Canton Plaids, Nett, Kabyle and Woolen Plaid Shawls.
Just opened by M. T. DOLE. oct 25

KEITH & MASON,
NO 24 WASHINGTON STREET, SALEM,

WOULD respectfully inform their friends and the purchasers of Dry Goods in general that having completed the very extensive improvements and alterations in their store, they opened on Wednesday, September tenth,

100 Packages RICH GOODS,
ADAPTED TO THE COMING SEASON,

We would invite the attention of purchasers particularly to our stock of SILKS, SHAWLS, DRESS, AND CLOAK GOODS.

—SILKS.—

Rich Plain Black and Blue Black Silks, of all desirable styles;
" Ombre shaded plain Silks, 1-2 and 3-4 wide;
" Striped and changeable Silks,
" Plaid and Striped Silks;
One case fine Striped and Changeable Silks, at 50 cents per yard;

—SHAWLS.—

We shall open the richest assortment of SHAWLS to be found in the city, and we invite all to examine them for themselves, as we have not room to give a fair description of them; we will say however that our assortment comprises over one hundred different styles, many of which are entirely new.

—DRESS GOODS.—

Rept Cashmere, Plain de Laines, French and Scotch Ginghams,
Cashmere de Cosse, Prints, Ombre shaded Cashmeres,
Mouslin de Laines, Cashmere de Laines, together with many entirely new style of Dry Goods.

—CLOAK GOODS.—

Our assortment of CLOAK GOODS, will comprise every desirable style in the market at the present time, and all good styles which may yet be imported.

A A Thibet Merinos, of all shades, Parmetta Cloths, Alpaccas, of Silk and Cotton warp,
Super French Merinos " Indiannas, Rob Roy and Gala Plaids, Medium " " " English Merinos, etc.

—HOUSEKEEPING GOODS,—

One Case of SPLENDID DOUBLE DAMASK TABLE COVERS, of every size, of the most beautiful patterns. These Goods were ordered by us. and imported expressly for our trade.

Super Satin Damask Napkins, Curtain Muslins, Scotch and Russia Diapers,
" " Doylies, Russia Sheetings, Crash and Towellings,
Pillow-case Linens White Goods, &c., 4-4 Linen of all qualities,
Marseilles Quilts, Flannels and Blankets, Domesties of all kinds.

The foregoing Catalogue, in addition to the almost endless variety of LACE, THREAD AND FANCY GOODS, which we have always kept, will make our assortment of Goods, decidedly the
LARGEST IN THE CITY,
and we are prepared to offer as great inducements to purchasers, as can be offered by any other Establishment.

KEITH & MASON
sept 13 24 Washington Street, Salem.

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas; Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks; Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for
PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,
formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,
Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)
where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.
may 24 3m

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street,
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same s solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washngton Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained pricesat which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP OF PALESTINE by J. H, Colton. Compiled principally from the observaions of Messrs Robinson and Smith. The religious Press and many of the secular papers have spoken in high terms of this map. For sale by G. W. & E. CRAFTS.
174 Essex St. Salem.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

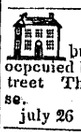
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.



THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

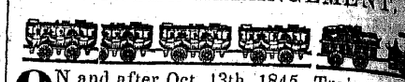
His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occpcuied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster treet The building is in good repair. Terms reasonase.
I. & T. HARDY.
july 26 tf



SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.
oct 25

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a small Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument.
JOSEPH SHED.
july 26

EASTERN RAILROAD
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P.M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4*
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, For and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES.

THE Danvers and Hourly Coaches will connection with the Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8
" " 8 3-4 " " 9
" " 9 3-4 " " 11
" " 11 1-4 " " 12
" " 1 3-4 P M. " " 3
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6
" " 6 1-2 " " 7

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at J G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex H and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms.
SYMONDS & TEE
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & oobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN
April 19, 1845. 1 y

CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main St
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above.
oct 11

Beaver and Pilot Cloths, at Great
BARGAINS.

ALSO—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES and VESTINGS, of all kinds, at
M. TELYEA'S,
Corner of Grove and Main street
Who will make Surtouts from Pilot Cloths, from $7.00 $13 371-2, and Beaver from $11 to $15.

Dress Coats and Frocks, from $12 50 to $15.

Pants and Vests from $3 to $6, all in good shape and warranted to fit to a T.

N. B. WINTER FASHIONS just received.
Danvers, Sept 19, 1845.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY—Three or Four Girls to learn the Tailors trade, at M. TELYEA'S.

REMOVAL.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Rich Jewelry and Fancy Goods

HAVE removed to the New Store, No. 291 Essex street, (next above Mechanic Hall) where they will keep constantly for sale Gold Finger Rings Breast Pins, Bracelets, Lockets, Keys, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Silver Thimbles, Silver and Plated Table and Tea Spoons, Butter Knives, Silver Plated Britania Ware, Shell, Horn, and Ivory Combs, Pocket Books, Purses, &c., &c

N. B. All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry, made over or exchanged for new.

S. & C. having acquired a thorough knowledge of the business in New York, as well as our success for the past five years in this city, will, we feel assured, enable us to execute with approbation any orders entrusted to our care.

☞Thankful for past patronage, we solicit a continuance of the same.
Salem, March 15 tf

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

JUST opened by M. T. DOLE, a complete assortment of Gents Woolen, Cashmere, White Kid and Thread Gloves.

Ladies Woolen, Cashmere, Long White, dark and Light colored Kid do.

Children's Woolen and Cashmere do, of every size.

Ladies' Ribb'd and Plain Worsted Hose, mode colors and black.

Lamb's Wool, Ribb'd and Plain do, mode colors and black.

Extra heavy Blue Black Alpacca do.

White Segovia do; Children's Fancy do.
oct 25 tf

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemical Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar, varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,
oct 11 10 Front street

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, of different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by
Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE.
nov 15

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (Mass.) SATURDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 29, 1845. NUMBER 37.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

LAST PRAYER OF MARY, QUEEN OF SCOTS.

BY WILLIS GAYLORD CLARK.

O Domine Deus! speravi in te;
O, care mi Jesu, nunc libera me;
In dura catena, in misera pœna,
Desidero te;—
Languendo, gemendo, et genuflectendo,— Adoro, imploro, ut liberes me."

It was the holy twilight hour, and clouds in crimson pride,
Sailed through the golden firmament, in the calm evening-tide;
The peasant's cheerful song was hushed by every hill and glen,
The city's voice stole faintly out, and died the hum of men:
And as night's sombre shades came down o'er day's resplendent eye,
A faded face, from a prison cell, gazed out upon the sky;
For to that face the glad bright sun of earth for aye had set,
And the last time had come to mark eve's starry coronet!

Oh, who can paint the bitter thoughts that o'er her spirit stole,
As her pale lips gave utterance to feeling's deep control;
While, shadowed from life's vista back, thronged mid her falling tears
The fantasies of early hope—dreams of departed years;
Where pleasure's light was sprinkled, and silver voices flung
Their rich and echoing cadences her virgin hours among;
When there came no shadow on her brow—no tear to dim her eye—
Where there frowned no cloud of sorrow in her being's festal sky.

Perchance at that lone hour the thought of early visions came—
Of the trance that touched her lip with song, at love's mysterious flame;
When she listened to the low-breathed tones of him the idol One,
Who shone in her imagining, first ray of pleasure's sun:
Perchance the walk in evening hours—the impassioned kiss or vow—
The warm tear on the kindling cheek—the smile upon the brow:
But they came like flowers that wither, and the light of all had fled,
As a hue from April's pinion, o'er earth's budding bosom shed.

And thus, as star came after star, into the boundless heaven
Were her deep thoughts, and eloquent, in pensive numbers given:
They were the offerings of a heart, where grief had long held sway,—
And now the night, the hour had come, to give her feelings way:
It was the last dim night of life—the sun had sunk to rest,
And the blue twilight haze had crept on the far mountain's breast;
And thus, as in her saddened heart the tide of life grew strong,
Poured her meek, quiet spirit forth, this flood of mournful song;

"The shades of evening gather now, o'er the mysterious earth—
The viewless winds are whispering, in wild, capricious mirth;
The gentle moon hath come to shed a flood of glory round,
That, through this soft and still repose, sleeps richly on the ground:
And in the free, sweet gales that sweep along my prison bar,
Seem borne the pure, deep harmonies of every kindling star;
I see the blue streams glancing in the mild and chastened light,
And the gem-lit, fleecy clouds, that steal along the brow of night.

"Oh, must I leave existence now, while life should be like spring—
While Joy should cheer my pilgrimage, with sunbeams from his wing?
Are the songs of hope forever flown—the syren voice which flung
The chant of youth's warm happiness from the beguiler's tongue?
Shall I drink no more the melody of babbling stream or bird,
Or the scented gales of summer, as the leaves of June are stirr'd?
Shall the pulse of love wax fainter, and the spirit shrink from death,
As the bud-like thoughts that lit my heart, fade in its chilling breath?

"I have passed the dreams of childhood, and my loves and hopes are gone,
And I turn to thee, Redeemer! oh, thou blest and Holy One!
Though the rose of health has vanished—though the mandate hath been spoken,
And one by one the golden links of life's fond chain are broken—
Yet can my spirit turn to Thee, thou chastener! and can bend,
In humble suppliance, at thy throne, my father and my friend!
Thou, who hast crowned my youth with hope, my early days in glee—
Give me the eagle's fearless wing—the dove's—to mount to Thee!

"I lose my foolish hold on life—its passions and its tears:
How brief the yearning extacies of its young, careless years!
I give my heart to earth no more—the grave may clasp me now—
The winds whose tone I loved, may play in the dark cypress bough:
The birds, the streams are eloquent; yet I shall pass away,
And in the light of heaven shake off this cumbrous load of clay;
I shall join the lost, the loved of earth, and meet each kindred breast,
Where the wicked cease from troubling, and the weary are at rest."

COMMUNICATION.

FOR THE COURIER.

RAILWAYS NO 2.

In my last I briefly answered the question "What are the advantages it, (the Atmospheric railway) possesses over existing railways?"—I now reply to the 2d question—"What in the comparative cost of constructing and working such railways?" M. Mallet Inspector general of public works, who was sent over by the French Government to examine the Kingston and Dalkey line of Atmospheric railway, 1 3-4 miles in length, near Dublin, in Ireland, in a very full report on the advantages and disadvantages of the Atmospheric system—its applicability to existing and new lines, and under every circumstance attending construction &c., calculates, that in the cost of construction, the Atmospheric system would effect a saving of one-seventh, and in the cost of working two fifths. These calculations are based on the value or cost of iron, &c., in France. The same calculation says the reviewers, made on the value of iron &c., in England would show of course a much greater reduction. Calculations for this country of course would show a different result from either. But I cannot suppose that the cost of construction would exceed per mile the cost of the old locomotive Railroad, and that in the working of the road here, there would be a greater saving than in either of those countries.—These results are derived from minute scientific calculations on the cost of constructing, keeping in repair and working the roads and the machinery required to transport a given quantity of merchandize the same distance by each system the locomotive and Atmospheric. The details are highly interesting to practical engineers but would take up too much space for these communications. I would briefly state that the savings by this system arise chiefly from the following particulars:—One line rails are amply sufficient for the transportation of 5000 tons daily over them. To transport this quantity of merchandise at least two lines for locomotives would be required. The weight of the locomotive engine, (from 15 to 20 tons being got rid of. Another considerable saving is made in the expense of forming the road, M. Mallet says, the earth works will be much less. To estimate the cost of compensation on this (the atmospheric) system at five ninths of that on ordinary Railroads would be to overate this part of the expense. It admits of much steeper gradients and lesser radii of curvature. The atmospheric system; says Mallet is so to speak master of acclivities, and affords opportunities of making calculations, which the present system does not admit of. To overcome resistance of a load up a steep hill, the power of the engine must be increased and it is only a question in each particular instance whether this will be more expensive than tunneling or embanking. While on the common railway a great part of the power of a heavy locomotive engine is expended in overcoming its own gravity and resistance. On the atmospheric principle the whole force is exerted on the load itself and his is in no degree diminished by increased speed. While a locomotive engine which would draw on a level 6 tons at the rate of 25 miles an hour would not be able to draw 30 tons at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

The disadvantage under which a locomotive draws a load up an inclined plain is shown by this statement. An engine that would draw 269 87-100 tons at 10 miles an hour on a level of 1 in a 1000, can only draw 34 7-100 at the same speed on a gradient of 1 in 100 and at the rate of 25 miles an hour only 3 9-100 tons. By the Atmospheric system steep hills may be ascended with no more additional power than is actually due to the acclivity as there is no weight except the train. The wear and tear of locomotives in comparison with stationary engines (used on Atmospheric railways,) is as 19 to 1. In locomotives a much larger quantity of fuel must be used in proportion to the power obtained. When travelling 20 miles per hour the effective power of the engine is reduced to half that which would be obtained from the same quantity of steam generated with a stationary engine and at 45 miles the power is so destroyed that it will scarcely draw more than itself and tender.

On the Atmospheric system the full power of the engine is always obtained, and on an incline the additional quantity of fuel consumed in ascending will be saved in descending. On this system the velocity depends entirely upon the velocity the air is withdrawn from the pipe; therefore by simply increasing the air pump any speed may be obtained; and with a fixed quantity of traffic per diem no considerable increase in the fuel consumer any other expense is increased for improved speed further than the small additional power required to over come the increased atmospheric resistance. An actual saving in the first cost of a railway constructed for high velocities may be effected because by performing the journey in less time a greater number of trains may be dispatched each day and their weight diminished; therefore the pision having less to draw may be smaller in diameter. The cost of the pipe (which forms the longest item in the cost of this railway) will thus be reduced in nearly the same proportion as the speed is increased.

N.

MISCELLANY

The Broken Heart.

Mary Tilden was a lovely girl, reared in the lap of luxury, accustomed to the refinements of the polished circles, but unfortunately more fashionable than solidly educated. Her beauty and vivacity brought her many admirers, and, in consequence of her superficial education, exposed her to their flatteries, and led her almost insensibly into the sin of coquetry. She had offers from the brainless crew that danced attendance upon her, and offers from some more serious and reflecting men. Among these latter, Edward Berkley would have made her life one of happiness.—He was a plain man, a thriving farmer, who, though well educated, and possessing a cultivated intellect, with sound practical, good sense, could, and often did harness his own horses and hold his own plough. His manners were pleasing; he possessed that true genuine politeness which springs from goodness of heart.

But with all these advantages, and with a sincere and devoted attachment to Mary, she rejected him, and for no reason which she could assign to herself, save the foolishly whimsical one, that his head was a little bald. It is needless to follow her through her many conquests, and to name the unfortunate suitors, who bowed, seldom in earnest, always in vain, at the shrine of beauty. Her fame spread beyond the limits of her immediate vicinity, but as rumor spread the fame of her attractions, so did those attractions begin to lose their charms. Years will impress their deteriorating stamp even on the roses of beauty, and the charms of novelty and freshness were passing away. At a country merry-making, Mary met with Mr. George Hewett, a young and voluble attorney at law. He heard of the beautiful Miss Tilden, sought and obtained an introduction, and prompted by sordid motives alone, sought her hand. Mary sought the advice of her parents, and fearful that her day of triumphs was past, and thinking that Hewett was rich, the mother and Mary strongly inclined to favor his advances, the cautious father more reluctantly yielded his assent.

They were married, and in a few short months her father and mother fell victims to a fatal epidemic, which swept over the neighborhood.—This was the first serious shock Mary had yet received. She was soon however, destined to reap the bitter fruits of mercenary love. When Hewett found out that his father-in-law left a bare sufficiency lo pay his debts, and those, which he himself had contracted in anticipation of the property of his wife, must soon press heavily upon him, his mortification and disgust could not be concealed. Returning home from a neighboring tavern, where he had been vainly endeavoring to drown his cares in intoxication, he charged his wife with deception, in appearing as she did before marriage, when she must have known the condition of her father's finances. It is needless as it would be painful, to trace the sad record of rebuke, recrimination and violence, through the tedious period of Helen's career. His profession yielded him but little: that went into the grog-shop or at the gaming-table it did not, could not last long.

The same day that the husband sunk into a dishonored grave, the wife became a mother.

* * * * *

Mary Hewett was still a proud woman—her spirit had been crushed, nor broken. She sold whatever was left of her former and better days and removed to the city. She could, she thought there find employment. Alas! how little did she know of the world! How different the result from her anticipations! From door to door did she trudge her weary way; it was all to no purpose; she was a stranger, and the world trusts not a stranger.—Despair succeeded failure, poverty crept on apace, and the beautiful girl was now a wretched mendicant—a haggard beggar. Oh! the bitterness of that moment, when extended to the stranger, to the cold and careless passer by, and then unnoticed Again she strove with the finer feelings of her heart, and again, after a day of toil, not of body but of soul she had barely enough to provide a scanty meal, in her cold, dark cellar, for her starving child. Alas! did the thoughtless, giddy and extravagant world but know the history of the wretch whose band is stretched forth to solicit a little from their wasteful abundance, how different might be the relations of society!

It was a chilling day in autumn, one of those coquettish days, when a gleam of sunshine will dart athwart your path, reminding you of the departing glories of summer, and anon a dark cloud will spread its frown over every object, foreshadowing the gloom of sullen winter. Mary was at the corner of the crowded street, the multitude were hastening to and fro in pursuit of pleasure or business, heedless of the joys and sorrows—the pleasures or miseries of others—all intent on serving self, what chance had she for relief? But habit is second nature, and after the first oppressive sense of degradation had passed, she felt it not. Besides, had she not tried other means to preserve her life and that of her child? What could she do? No one, at least she hoped would know her in her altered condition.

* * * * *

My friend Berkley was with his family, on a visit to the city, and we were walking arm in arm down the street, as we approached the corner where sat Mary, the once gay and volatile beauty. The hand was extended to us, as to all. I never can see such things and pass on. I never did but once, and for that once conscience lashed me well. I paused and placing a half dollar in the outstretched hand, felt that whether deceived or not, I had lost nothing: it was but the price of some useless luxury or hurtful indulgence; I had done no harm, at least. My friend was preparing to follow my example, when, as he was about to drop the silver into the trembling hand his eye rested upon a remarkable spot, or mole on the wrist, and as the money dropped from his hand, he exclaimed, "Mary." It was enough: she was recognized, and that too by Berkley. She sank back against the wall of the house, where she stood uttering no word,—shedding no tear—her heart was broken. A carriage was procured and her miserable hovel sought out. She would not leave it,—in three days she died, and a simple tomb in an adjacent burial-ground tells who rests baneath —It is needless to say who placed it there, or to say that in Edward Berkley, Mary's child found a father.

May she never feel as did her heart-broken mother, the terrible effects of a mere fashionable education.

A Secret Worth Knowing.

"Truth is strange—stranger than fiction."

Under this heading the Long Island Star publishes an interesting tale, for the extended details of which we cannot find room, but must content ourselves with giving the leading facts in a condensed form for the benefit of our readers.

A young grocer of good character and correct habits commenced business in a good and improved neighborhood. His stock was small, as were his means, and his stock of customers still smaller. His sales hardly met his expenses, and he was evidently going "down hill," and an old grocer on the opposite corner predicted that he would soon be at the bottom.

That the young grocer had reason to regret this opinion of the old grocer will appear. The latter had a daughter who had won the heart of the former. He offered himself to her and was rejected. It was done, however, with the assurance that he was the man of her choice, but she acted in accordance with her father's commands.

Assured of the affections of the woman of his choice, he set himself about removing the only obstacle in the way of their union, the father's objection to his pecuniary prospects.

A year had elapsed, and lo, what a change! The young grocer was now going up hill with the power of a steam locomotive; customers flocked to his store from all quarters, and even had left the old established stand on the opposite corner, for the younger favorite. There was a mystery about it which he could not unveil. He at last became nearly sick with losses and aggravations, and vain attempts to discover the secret of his neighbor's success.

At this junction, Angelica—for that was the daughter's name—contrived to bring about an apparently accidental interview between the parties. After the old man had become through the intervention of the daughter, tolerably good humored, he inquired with great earnestness about the young man, how he had contrived to effect so much in a single year, to thus extend his business and draw off his customers from the elder stand.

The young man evaded an answer—but inquired if he had any further objections to his union with Angelica. "None," replied he, "provided you reveal the secret of your success." This the young man promised to do when his happiness was made complete.

The old man commended his prudence on this point. The affair was all settled, and the marriage soon took place.

The friends of the young couple were all assembled, and among them many of the customers of both stores. Angelica and Thomas looked as happy as well could be, and the old gentleman was, if possible, happier than they. The bridal cake was about to be cut, when the old man cried out for "THE SECRET."

"Ay, the secret, the secret," exclaimed fifty others.

"It is a very simple matter," said Thomas, "I advertise!"

The old gentleman was very very old fashioned, and while he shook Thomas heartily by the hand, and kissed Angelica fifty times over, he merely muttered,

"Why the dickens didn't I think of that!"

Carrots.

The following is copied from the records of the meetings of the N. Y. Farmer's Club.

"Wm. M'Kinister, of Middletown Conn. A written communication from him on the subject of soiling cattle, was read. He asserts that carrots are fully eqvivalent, bushel for bushel, to oats, for feeding horses in the winter, that there is no difference in the working ability of a horse fed on carrots or oats.

The Chairman. A bushel of carrots well cut up is as good as a bushel of oats for a working horse. I have tried the experiment full and satisfactorily; I have fed twelve quarts of sliced carrots daily, instead of twelve quarts of oats to a horse, the whole winter, and found no difference in the results. I gave hay with the carrots as we do with the oats. The carrots cost about ten cents a bushel, and the oats nearly thirty cents a bushel."

Age of Poets. Are poets destined to a long life? It is rarely the case that they live to the common age of man; although instances are on record where they have lived to fourscore years and upwards. If manual exercise is united with close study, a man may lengthen his days to a good old age. It is the disregard of what produces ill health and endangers life, that cuts down so many talented men in the flower of their days.

Ariosto died at the age of 59. Burns, at 38; Byron at 36; Brainard, at 32; Butler, at 60; Cowley, at 49; Collins, at 55; Cowper, at 69; Camoens, at 55; Carter, at 42; Dryden, at 70; Dante, at 56; Fessenden, at 66; Goldsmith, at 44; Gray, at 57; Hogg, at 63; Hemans, at 45; Logan, at 40; Milton, at 66; Metastasio, 34; Mellen, at 44; Moore, at 80; Pope, at 56 Petrarch, at 68; Pollok at 29; Rockwell, at 24; Shenstone, at 50; Spencor, at 46; Scott, at 61; Thompson, at 48; Tasso at 52; White, at 21: Watts, at 75; Woodsworth, at 60; Young, at 84.

Ingeniously Won—It was observed that a certain covetous rich man never invited any one to dine with him. I'll lay a wager, said a wag, I get an invitation from him. The wager being accepted, he goes the next day to the rich man's house, about the time he was known to sit down to dinner, and tells the servant that he must then speak with his master, for that he could save him a thousand pounds. Sir, said the servant to his master here is a man in a hurry wishing to speak with you, who says he can save you a thousand pounds. Out came the master—what is that you say—that you can save me a thousand pounds? Yes, sir, I can—but I see you are at dinner; I will go myself and call again. O pray sir come and dine with me. I shall be troublesome. Not at all. The invitation was accepted. As soon as dinner was over, well sir, said the man of the house, now to your business. Pray let me know how I am to save a thousand pounds. Why sir, said the other, I hear that you have a daughter to dispose of in marriage. I have. And that you intend to portion her with ten thousand pounds.—I do so. Why then sir, let me have her, and I will take her with nine thousand. The master of the house rose in a passion and turned him out of doors in a hurry.

The Patch of Land in Dispute.—The Baltimore Sun reports the extent of teritory, between the forty-ninth degrees of latitude and the parallel of 54° 40', which the Union declares to be the intention of Government to insist upon as the northern boundary line of Oregon. According to a statement made by the Commissioner of the Land Office in 1843, the disputed territory has one hundred and four millions six hundred and forty thousand acres, which at the minimum price of the public land is worth $130,800,000. The cost of a five years' war for this patch of land would be about $600,000,000 to England and $300,000,000 to the United States, with the loss of thousands of lives, the cessation of domestic industry, destruction of commerce, a probable revolution throughout all Europe, a general war among the civilized powers, a servile insurrection in the United States, a civil war for independence in Ireland and Canada, the seizure by Russia of the passes to India and China via Suez and the Prusian gulf, the overthrow of the British Empire and the advent of Russia as the first great power of the earth. N Y Sun.

To Polish Mahogany Furniture.—Rub it with cold drawn Linseed Oil, and polish by rubbing with a clean dry cloth, after wiping off the oil.—Do this once a week, and your mahogany tables will be so finely polished that hot water will not injure them. The reason of this is, Linseed Oil hardens when exposed to the air, and when it has filled the pores of the wood, the surface becomes hard and smooth like glass.

Lime, the Medicine for Potatoes.

Two fields of Potatoes, side by side, in this village—one dressed with tanyard manure in which was considerable lime, received no blight nor rot. In the other field with common barnyard manure, the tops were early blighted and a considerable portion of the potatoes rotted.—Brunswick Pioneer.

Horse-Shoe Nail Machine.—A machine has been patenteed in England, for manufacturing horse-shoe nails. The iron is first rolled into plates, corresponding in width and thickness, to the intended length and thickness of the nail. The rollers are moreover closely indented,—the indentation corresponding with the proper shape of the nail,—so that the plates have the appearance of a series of nails in relief, connected by a thin leaf of iron, from which the nails are cleared by a suit of dies, and the nails are ready for use.

☞One of the soldiers of the army of occupation, in Texas, set his boots by the side of his sleeping place, ready to be slipped on in the morning; but, at dawn, in drawing them on, a small snake with eleven rattles, having taken peaceable possession during the night, contested the place with the foot.

☞A boy being praised for his quickness of reply, a gentleman observed, "when children are so very keen, they generally become stupid as they advance in years." The lad immediately replied, "What a very keen boy you must have been."

Handsome and not Handsome.—'You are the handsomest lady I ever saw,' said a gentleman to one of the fair sex.

'I wish I could say as much for you,' replied the lady.

'You could, madam, if you paid as little regard to truth as I do.'

A tavern-keeper in Rensselaer county has abandoned the traffic in Alcohol after having been several years engaged in it. Whenever the subject of his selling liquor was referred to he was observed to feel deep regret and sorrow. A friend one day enquired the cause.—I will tell you," said he, and opening his account book he said, "here are forty-four names of men who have all been my customers, most of them for years—thirty-two of these men to my certain konwledge now lie in the drunkard's grave! ten of the remaining twelve are now living confirmed sots!! These are the fruits of this dreadful business!!"

To Join Glass Together.—Melt a little isinglass in in spirits of wine, adding thereto about a fifth part of water and using a gentle heat. When perfectly melted and mixed, it will form a transparent glue, which will unite glass so that the fracture will hardly be perceived.

"Truth crushed to earth will rise again; but," says somebody, "that is not generally the case with eggs."

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, NOV. 29, 1845.

To our Patrons.

The recent large accession to our subscription list, demands from us the expression of our warmest acknowledgements for the favor which has been extended to us by this community, and is a flattering testimonial of their approbation of our efforts to establish a respectable weekly journal in Danvers. Our aim has been, in addition to the usual record of public events and the discussion of political questions, to make the Courier a medium for the discussion of local subjects and whatever may be of peculiar interest to an inhabitant of the town. In the recent exciting sectional controversies, we have chosen not to intermeddle. but have left their discussion entirely to our correspondents, and we can say without the least fear of contradiction that neither party have the least grounds to complain of any partiality on our part. While we have lamented the divisions that have occurred among us as Whigs and as fellow citizens, and regreted the personalities which have grown out of them, we have felt willing notwithstanding our personal objections to the spirit of some of the articles, to insert whenever our limits would allow it, all well written communications on both sides of the question. It is not to be expected that in the present highly excited state of the public feeling, that we shall escape censure from both sides, but we have full confidence that when the excitement shall subside and the citizens in different sections of the town begin to look upon each other as brethren and willing to acknowledge that others have rights as well as themselves and to respect them, we say that when this time arrives, as we are assured it will, we are confident that our course will be approved.

Our friends will remember that we have never been lavish in promises, but they may be assured that no exertion on our part will be wanting to make the Courier such a paper as the peculiar situation and wants of the town require. We renewedly offer our thanks to our kind patrons for their friendly support of our infant establishment and solicit their aid to promote its more extended usefulness.

Second Trial for Representatives.

On Monday last there was another trial for the choice of Representatives, in this town, which resulted in the election of Richard Osborn and Henry Fowler. The whole number of votes was 922. Necessary for a choice 462.

Henry Fowler	518
Richard Osborn	509
William Black	204
Andrew Torr	204
William Walcott	123
Elias Savage	122
George Osborne	68
Thomas Bowen	68
Scattering	10

Although Messrs Osborn and Fowler were the regular whig candidates it must be conceded that the Railroad question caused the principal excitement and many of the different parties gave up their political preferences to promote the success of the Independent Railroad. The gentlemen chosen, will of course feel bound to consult the welfare of the town in all its interests and do what they can to promote the convenience and business facilities of all its citizens.

The meeting was large and good order prevailed amidst considerable excitement on sectional grounds. As usual at such times there was some waste steam blown off, which is not to be regreted as by means of good safety valves some boilers are saved from disastrous explosions.

The following is the result in some of the other towns which voted on the same day:

Salem one whig; Brighton one whig; Seekonk one whig; Worcester three whigs; Needham one whig; Lowell one whig. In Newburyport and Newbury there was no choice.

Business in Newburyport.

Since the establishment of Factories in Newburyport, the business of the place has very rapidly increased. We learn from the Newburyport Herald, that there are four Cotton Manufactories, which run 39,836 spindles, and manufacture annually 2,300,000 yards of cloth, of a value of $562,500. The persons employed in these cotton factories are 229 males and 662 females.

There are also two more in the process of erection and when completed and all in full operation, there will be few places which will compete with it, in business and activity. We think the people of that town are deserving of great credit, for the spirit of enteprise and improvement which prompted them to these works. It has already made the town celebrated throughout the country and we have no doubt will, in time, make it one of the wealthiest towns in the state.

The construction of the new proposed Railroad from Newburyport, through Georgetown and Andover to Lowell, will, we think, be of immense importance to Newburyport, and the spirit with which the citizens push the project, render it almost certain that it will be consummated.—If such a road is built, and a new one from Salem through Danvers into Boston, all that will be needed to give the inhabitants of Newburyport a good entrance into Boston, will be an additional road from Georgetown through Topsfield to Danvers. We have no doubt but all this will sooner or later be effected.

☞There was a large supply of poultry in the market, the past week, and the prices were very moderate, varying from 10 to 15 cents.

Admission of Texas as a Slave State.

Efforts are now being made all over the State, to get signers to a protest against the admission of Texas as a Slave State. We are glad to see this. We are willing to join heart and hand in any project for the ameliorating the condition or breaking the fetters of the Slave. We are willing to join and co-operate with those of every other Political party, to effect this end. We look upon Slavery as a curse, and a scourge to this country—as an enemy to its prosperity, as a viper in its bosom. This has ever been our feeling. We have always been ready to denounce it, and to act so far as we could against it. This is we think, the sentiment of the Whig party. No narrow views confine them to one undeviating line of action. They are ready to work wherever there is an opening, to take advantage of every circumstance tending to the destruction of the system of Slavery. And we can but think that if other parties, in principle opposed to Slavery, and members of other parties pledged to oppose it, had acted with the same enlarged and liberal spirit, the necessity would not now exist of protesting against the admission of Texas as a Slave State. We confidently believe that Texas could not have been admitted, within the next four years at least. This is a matter for such men to reflect upon—the past cannot be recalled—but in the coming future contingencies may arise, the time may again come, when it will be necessary for the advancement of the great blessings of human freedom, that party be forgotten for the moment—that all else be merged in the glorious contest for principle. It is then that these facts may be of avail. It is then that we ask the friends of liberty, belonging to other parties, to review the course of the Whig party, and see whether its stand has been for or against Slavery—to view it in times of political quiet, exerting its great and beneficent influence with powerful sway in favor of injured and oppressed humanity, and protesting with solemn voice against the extension of Slavery. We ask them to look at their course, and in view of it to cherish a more liberal spirit, and to co-operate with them in projects of vital importance to the welfare of the Slave, Business between South Danvers and the New Mills.

Few people have any idea of the amount of business transacted between these two sections of the town. Porter's River is navigable for vessels of considerable burthen as far as the New Mills, and by this means a great portion of the grain and other commodities used in the South Parish, are obtained. We should like to see some statistics of the amount of business between these two sections, and we hope some of our enterprising neighbors at the New Mills will take the trouble to obtain them for publication.

South Reading Railroad.

Efforts are being made to present the claims of Road, from Salem through Danvers and Lynnfield to connect with the Maine Extension Road at South Reading, to the next Legislature with a view to obtain a charter. The proposed route is spoken of as very level and easy to be graded.—So level is it, that, from the top of the Lynnfield Hotel, the spires of South Reading and of one of the Salem meeting-houses, can be seen. The advantages claimed for the road, are, that it will be constructed at little expense, that it will connect us with the back country, and with Boston by a somewhat circuitous, yet good route, and that it will meet with favor from the Maine Extension Road.

THANKSGIVING—The usual exercises and festivities of this time-honored festival were interrupted by the inclemency of the weather as the rain fell in torrents nearly all day. Quite a freshet was caused in the stream above Fry's mills and we learn that a fine porker came near being drowned out of his habitation on Grove St. but was timely rescued, like the dove in Noah's Ark, by being taken into the window of the adjoining mansion, where he remained until the waters abated.

MR. GOUGH.—A committee appointed on the part of the church of which Mr. Gough was a member, to investigate the circumstances connected with his recent misfortunes, have reported, that, "From all that could be gathered in these various ways, by an examination as thorough and impartial as could be made, the Committee are constrained to believe that the published statement of Brother Gough is a frank and artless declaration of the 'truth.'" This report has been accepted by the church, which was the Mt. Vernon Cong Church, Boston. of which E. N. Kirk is pastor.

The Massachusetts Ploughman is mistaken in its statement that Mr. Kimball of Wenham, run a thousand behind his ticket. He did not run more than 100 behind, throughout the County.

DR. J. E. FISK'S DENTIFRICE.—We take pleasure in recommending this excellent Dentifrice, prepared by Mr. C. R. Story, of Salem, to those in want of a good tooth powder. We think however, the reputation of Mr. FISK as a Dentist, is so well established in this vicinity, as to render it merely necessary to say, that this powder is prepared from his prescription.

☞Rev. John Pierpont, formerly of Boston, has been engaged to supply the pulpit of a new Unitarian Society in Troy, New York, for the coming winter.

Hon. Caleb Cushing is preparing for the press a History of the American Embassy to China.

☞Gov. Wright of New York, has commuted the sentence of Van Steenburg and O'Connor, the anti-renters, to imprisonment for life in the Clinton county prison.

Capital Punishment.—Hon. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS has written a letter to a Committee of the Pennsylvania Society for the Abolition of Capital Punishment, in which he expresses his willingness to co-operate with any Society whose object shall be to promote the abolition of every form, by which the life of man can be voluntarily taken by his fellow-creature man. He also says,

"If there be any case which, in the intercourse of human society, can possibly justify this act, it is that sanctioned by the community for the punishment of enormous crimes."

"I do therefore, heartily wish and pray for the success of your efforts to promote the abolition of Capital Punishment, and if you can shape the laws of the land to a disclaimer of the right of Government itself to take from any human being the life granted him by his Creator, I would welcome it as the harbinger of a brighter day, when no individual of the race of man shall ever lose his life by the act of another.

Essex Agricultural Society.

The Cattle Show, and Fair of the Essex Agricultural Society the ensuing year, will be held at Lynn, on Thursday, first day of October.

☞There are 1090 medical students in Philadelphia, expending in the city no less than half a million annually.

☞A committee of Adventists have lately examined Brother Himes' financial affairs, and find that instead of being worth $10,000 he has hardly enough to meet his liabilities.

Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY Jr. has been nominated as the Whig candidate for Mayor of Boston. The election takes place the second Monday in December.

Erratum.—In the communication on our first page headed "Railways No. 2," the closing sentence of the first paragraph should read—

While a locomotive engine which would draw on a level 61 tons at the rate of 25 miles an hour would not be able to draw 30 tons at the rate of 30 miles an hour.

Correspondence of the Courier.

Supreme Judicial Court.

Salem Nov. 7, 1845.

Jos. P. Pond vs. Holyoke Mutual Fire Insurance Co.—This was an action, upon a policy of Insurance, made by the defendant to recover the amount of loss sustained by the plaintiff, by the removal of his goods from the shop occupied by him in Front street, in this city, on the night of the great fire in Dec. last. The plaintiff claimed the sum of $1072,67 and proved that on the night of the 18th Dec. 1844, there was a fire so near his shop that it was necessary that his goods should be removed, and there was some evidence tending to show that the shop was on fire during the removal of the goods. The plaintiff then introduced in evidence, his statement of the loss under oath to the secretary of the Defendant Company, which is required to be made by the following article of the by-laws of the Corporation:

ART. 14.—In case of loss the Insured shall, as soon as possible, deliver to the Secretary of said Company, a particular account on oath, of the property lost or damaged and the value thereof, the nature and value of his interest therein at the time of the loss, the cause or occasion of the fire so far as known, and the value of such parts of the property as remain; until which shall be done, the amount of such loss, or any part thereof, shall not be payable; and if there shall appear any fraud in the claim made for such loss, or false swearing or affirming in support thereof, the claimant shall forfeit all benefit under his Policy, except such as the Directors shall see fit to allow.

Having proved that such a statement was presented to the secretary of the Company—the plaintiff's counsel requested the court to rule that the statement so made by the plaintiffs was prima facie evidence of the loss sustained, and of the amount of the loss, but his Honor Judge Dewey refused so to instruct the Jury, but required the plaintiff to introduce other evidence of the amount of the loss.

The plaintiff then introduced a great many witnesses, some of whom assisted in the removal of goods on the night of the fire, and others who assisted in the return of the goods to the shop, who testified to the manner in which they were removed and the condition in which they were returned.

The defence mainly relied on, was that the plaintiff had fraudulently over stated the amount of the loss, by which under the article of the by-laws of the Corporation recited he had forfeited his legal right to recover anything. To support this defence various witnesses were called by the defendants, who testified also to the manner in which the goods were removed, and the condition in which they were returned. The trial of the case occupied about four days.

His Honor Judge Dewey in charging the Jury, instructed them that in the first place the burden of proof was upon the plaintiff to make out his loss; and that upon this point the statement of the plaintiff under oath of the amount of his loss, was proper evidence for them to consider although it was not of itself, a prima facie case to the amount stated. On the other question, to wit, the question of fraud, his Honor instructed the Jury that the statement of the plaintiff was to be taken as true to its whole extent, until the defendants had disproved it, and that the burden of proof was upon the defendants to show that the claim was not only false, but that it was fraudulently false; that it was not enough for the defendants to show that the plaintiff had over-charged by mistake or error of judgement, but that defendants must prove that he had knowingly and fraudulently claimed more than his loss. The verdict was for the defendants upon the ground of fraud in the claim of the fraudulent. N. J. Lord & J. C. Perkins for plaintiff. Otis P. Lord for Defendants.

Phonography.—This new science has many followers in this place, and in Salem the School Committee have it in contemplation to introduce it into the public schools. Wherever this subject has been fairly introduced, it seems to have carried all before it and is extending rapidiy over the country. There must be something in this new system or it would not thus obtain such hold of the public mind.

☞The directors of the Lowell Manufacturing Company, at Lowell, voted last week to erect a new mill, 320 feet long and 200 wide, 5 stories high, for the manufacture of Power Loom Carpets. It will contain 50 Brussels and 250 ingrain looms.

Correspondence of the Danvers Courier.

Pictou, Nova Scotia, Oct. 24, 1845.

I arrived here last evening at 10 o'clock, after a most fatiguing ride of 16 miles in stage coaches from Halifax, a distance of 100 miles. This riding one hundred miles in stage coaches, over rough and muddy roads, though the coaches are tolerably good and drawn by six horses, is no joke—upon my word it is not. The Supreme Court is in session here, and having found a gentleman from Prince Edward Island, attending Court, with whom I have business, I have concluded to stop here for a few days.—Curiosity prompted me to attend Court this forenoon. "His Lordship" the Hon. Judge Hill, presides, attired in a long, flowing black silk gown, and white linen coliars. The Lawyers all wear the Court costume which is a black gown and white cravat. The case on trial was Fraser vs Beaton, for assault and battery, which had its origin at a public ploughing match, not long since where liquor flowed freely. The case was ably conducted for the Plaintiff, by Martin Isaac Wilkins, an eminent English Barrister of this place—and very adroitly managed and ably argued for the defendant by the Hon. William Young, a Scotch Barrister from Halifax, and Speaker of the House of Assembly. After a very learned and animated charge from "His Lordship" the Judge, (who went very fully into the English Laws applicable to such cases) the Jury retired, and after much discussion and grave deliberation, returned into Court and announced a verdict for the Plaintiff of 2 shillings damages. It was an exceedingly interesting trial. The parties being Scotch, and most of the witnesses Scotch and Irish, gave a zest to the whole matter and made the evidence as it fell from the lips of the witnesses, doubly interesting and amusing. Having heard the case tried, I am enabled to state, that it was one of vast magnitude and importance, involving the rights, liberty and almost life of a Scotch resident. To be a little serious, it was just about on a par with many of those paltry cases which are brought before our Justices of the Peace, three quarters of which should be thrown under the table, and the parties out of Court. The Court House is considerable of a building for this small place, but a rusty, shabby concern. It is about as large as, and resembles very much a building which once stood upon a hill, in Danvers, owned by Nathaniel Sawyer, and used for a butcher's shop. It has a basement story, or cellar under it divided into 4 apartments, the interior of which looks more like a large, well-stoned Yankee barn cellar than like a prison. There is a platform in front, 70 feet long and 24 feet wide, which was formerly the limits of the yard for prisoners under bail. At the present session of the Court, the yard limits have been extended to the boundaries of the town. I noticed one great improvement in the Court room which I believe has not, as yet, been introduced into our Yankee Courts—the floor was covered nearly ancle deep, with sawdust, which answered a three-fold purpose—first, it answered for spitoons and kept the spittle, dirt and mud completely from the floor; secondly, the people could walk over it, wrestle, or dance a hornpipe without disturbing the Court; and thirdly, when the fire in the stove becomes low, they can throw a shovelfull of it into the stove, and thus keep up the steam—Having just returned from Court, I think I can safely say, that it is the last Court House I ever saw, and the last Court I ever attended. While at Court I was introduced to J. J. Peavey, Esq, American Consul residing at this place, who was rejoiced to see a Yankee, and very politely tendered me the use of his Office room, and any assistance I might require—He is a very intelligent, gentlemanly man, and said to be a very attentive and efficient officer. I shall take a turn through the place with him tomorrow, after which I will give you a brief sketch of the famous place called Pictou.

October 25.

Pictou is in the county of Pictou, and near the mouth of the western branch of Pictou river, and like Halifax built on the side of hill Pictou County contains 24,000 inhabitants, and is divided into three townships, viz—Egerton, on the eastern branch; Maxwelton, on the middle branch; and Pictou, on the western branch of the river. Pictou township contains about 8,000 inhabitants, mostly Scotch, with a sprinkling of English and Irish. It was settled about 50 years ago—is rather a pleasant place, but very badly laid out and built. There are in the place, one Episcopal, one Catholic and two Presbyterian Churches, a Custom House, Branch Bank, the Queen's Warehouse, and the famous Court House of which I have before written. There are some rough stone houses, but the buildings are mostly of wood, old and ugly looking. There are some fine looking farms in the vicinity, but generally speaking the lands are poorly cultivated. From the highlands there is a fine view of the ocean—the harbor, which is an excellent one—the eastern, middle, and western branches of the river, and the surrounding country. Ship building is carried on here to some extent—there are three ships on the stocks, nearly ready to be launched; one of 300, one of 400, and one of 500 tons.

I stop at Harper's Hotel, situated on the rising ground which overlooks the harbor, and while I am now writing, I can see from my chamber window, a fine looking American Brig coming into the harbor under full sail, with the stars and stripes playing in the breeze, which is really the most glorious sight I have beheld since I left the Old Bay State. The Province of Nova Scotia with its fine lands, rivers and harbors, is on the whole a very pleasant territory, and would, in the hands of the Yankees, be a very valuable one. There are extensive mines of coal, iron, copper, &c. throughout the Province. The most extensive coal mine is in Egerton township, some miles up the eastern branch of the river, from whence great quantities of coal are yearly sent to Boston and New York. The coal mines only at present are worked. Some years ago, the Duke of York was much embarrassed in his pecuniary affairs; the Government of England gave him a large amount of money, and remembering there were hidden treasures in the Province of Nova Scotia, they gave to him and his assigns, the exclusive right to dig for coal, copper, iron, &c. for a term of 60 years. He mortgaged his interest in these mines, to a Banking House in England, to which he was largely indebted, and shortly after died. After his decease, the Banking Company divided the interest into shares, and succeeded in forming a large Company who now work the coal mines. The Company who are working the copper and iron mines in England and other places, have locked up the mines here until such time as they may think it for their interest to work them. I am going out with the American Consul and Collector this afternoon, and must drop my pen until the morrow, when I will resume it and finish this letter.

October 26.

The American Brig which came into the harbor yesterday is the Grand Turk, Capt. McKay, from Boston. She will take a cargo of coal to Wareham. I attended the Presbyterian Church today, and heard the Rev. Mr. McKinley—the house, the pastor, the sermon and singing, all old fashioned. The sermons on the whole were pretty good, the singing bad, the congregation small and the house quite old. The weather is quite cool here, and the winters are said to be very severe. There have already been two falls of snow, and the people are making preparations for winter. I have seen about all there is to be seen at this place, and there is but little for a Yankee to admire. I do not like the place half as well as Halifax. I have fallen in with some fine English Gentlemen in the Province, and have enjoyed myself pretty well. I once in a while fall in with "a fine old English Gentleman all of the olden time" ever kind, courteous and intelligent. On the whole, these Englishmen are queer chaps, jolly souls, and fond of fun and frolic. They dress well, live well, drink wine, smoke cigars, look sharp at a Yankee, and sing "God save the Queen," with great gusto. They rise at 9, breakfast at lunch at 2, and dine at 6. They enjoy their evenin much, say what they please, drink when they plea smoke when they please, and go to bed when t please which oftentimes is not until the next day.

The lower classes are rather sluggish and sloven the most of them appear to have no regular busin and many of them no employment. They look po and dress poorly. The women are dark colo wear caps, and go bare-legged and barefoot. T men smoke pipes, drink ale by the bottle, dig potat with dung-forks, and live upon potatoes, turnips a herring. This is a great country, but I shall have leave it in a day or two for Prince Edward Islan from which place I will write you again.

Yours truly.

We insert below from a highly respected c respondent from North Danvers, a communicati on the subject of the election, which gives so mu evidence of prejudice on the part of the writer gainst his fellow whigs in the South part of t town, that we fully believe he will in a calm moment regret its publication. We can assu him that no "treaty" or combination has bee made by the Whigs with any other parties, an those who chose to vote for Messrs Osborn a Fowler on account of their Railroad opinions so upon their own views of right and expedienc As to the heading of "Railroad Ticket" we subm it to our candid friends in the North part of t town whether it is a more degrading title tha that on their own tickets, arraying the North gainst the South part of the town. As Whig we disapprove alike of the mot.es of both tickets.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—I hope the excitement and alar which have pervaded the Camp of the "regular Whigs of South Danvers on account of the "rebel lion" of the Whigs of North Danvers have some what abated.

Doubtless the "splendid victory" they have a chieved over their brother Whigs of North Dan vers will amply compensate them for the mortifi cation at being compelled to make a treaty wit their old enemies the Locofocos, for a regiment o their soldiers without whose assistance they mus have suffered another ignoble defeat.

In view of the danger of further revolts I would suggest to our brother Whigs of South Danvers whether it would not be a wise precautionary measure (if they have not already done it) to form a "holy alliance offensive and defensive" with the Locofoco, Abolition, and Native Parties. This must tend very much to consolidate their Govern ment. The Monarchs of Europe have found such alliances to be the only means by which they could retain their "Tottering Thrones" against the rebellion of their own subjects. But I believe they have all been allowed to retain their ancien Titles and fight under their precious old banners. Not so with the "Regulars" of South Danvers they have been compelled to throw away the glo rious Banner on which was inscribed the word Whig, a name so dear to every true Patriot, and under which we have fought so many battles a gainst our common enemy, and in its stead have hoisted the low degrading Flag on which only is inscribed "RAILROAD TICKET"!—What a glorious motto for Whigs!!! (but I fear it is a [illegible] for the standard bearers.) What a "Dictation" o "Democracy" even to King Caucus!!!—of a mer ciless Minority to a servile "Majority"!—What a Sacrifice!

Mr. Editor—"I think there must have been some extraordinary appliances to have induced this sudden change"!! It is said there is great danger of minorities dictating majorities—will any of your folks explain how that can be done? More anon.

ONE OF THE SIXTEEN.

We are pleased to have it in our power at this time to lay before our readers a letter from our present Representative in Congress, addressed to the Committee of Correspondence of the Faneuil Hall Convention from which it will be seen how heartily he concurs in the views of his predecessors, and with what solemn conviction he expresses his views of the duty of Massachusetts:—Salem Gaz.

DANVERS, July 20th 1845.

Gentlemen,—My opinion of the disastrous consequences of the annexation of Texas to this country, coincides with those expressed by you in your circular letter. I consider it a measure of unmingled evil, full of danger and of shame. The national faith and compact have been violated, the rights of the people of the free states betrayed, and the interests of humanity trampled upon. The constitution, formed by the patriots of the revolution for themselves and their posterity, to effect a more perfect union, to establish justice, ensure domestic tranquility and secure the blessing of liberty, has been spurned and profaned. And this outrage has been perpetrated not only without the consent, but in defiance of, the people most interested; the sacrifice has been voluntary and gratuitous, not the result of a compromise or of necessity, but because the ever jealous and ever grasping slave power has made the demand; because the South does not yet blush to ask more and greater concessions, and the too pliant, or too mercenary North, does not hesitate to yield all that is demanded.

There is but little ground for hope that this deed of shame will not be consummated, and that even more favorable terms will no. be pressed upon the coy and modest Texans and speculators. But however quietly other states and other people may submit to this unparalleled wrong, in my judgment the duty of Massachusetts is plain. It becomes her to oppose and resist annexation by all reasonable and proper measures. Let her voice of solemn and earnest remonstrance and protestation be heard in the Councils of the nation and throughout the country; and if protestation and remonstrance are unavailing, if the basest mammon and slavery and corruption are to set up their dominion here, and hold unlimited sway, then when longer endurance ceases to be a virtue, and when opposition to tyranny becomes a duty to man and to God, we shall be ready to act like true men who love the union much, but who love honor and liberty, more.

With great respect, your obedient servant.

DANIEL P. KING.

DEATH OF MAYOR DAVIS. Hon. Thomas A. Davis, late of Boston, died at his residence in Brookline about noon on Saturday last. It will be remembered that he suffered some internal rupture, early in the summer, while at work in his garden at Brookline, and his health has since been fast declining. Mr Davis had earned a high character for integrity and usefulness, which was shown by the strong volunteer vote which was given to him during the canvass for the Mayorality, and in his death he leaves a large circle of personal and devoted friends. —Boston Courier.

CONGRESS.

The new Congress will convene at Washington on Monday next. Many of the members are already on the ground, and speculation is rife, as usual, as to forthcoming political movements, giving rise to rumors too various and contradictory to chronicle—facts will appear full soon enough.

The proceedings of Congress will be transmitted with more rapidity than ever before. The completion of the Magnetic Telegraph between Philadelphia and New York will enable the N. Y. Morning papers to give the proceedings up to the adjournment preceding afternoon—transmitted from Washington to Baltimore by telegraph, from Baltimore to Philadelphia by steam conveyance, and from Philadelphia to New York by Telegraph.—It is expected that the telegraphic line between Baltimore and Philadelphia will be completed in about six weeks, and it is not improbable that the line between New York and Boston will be finished before the session is over, when, it is presumed, the communication between Washington and Boston will be almost instantaneous. Truly, time works wonders!—Salem Reg.

☞Dr. JOSEPH H. PEYTON, Whig, member elect of Congress from the Nashville District, Tennessee is dead

MEXICO.—It seems to be settled that Mexico is really to negotiate. The United States squadron has left Vera Cruz, and Gen. Paredes has written to the Mexican Governments that his greatest pride shall be to repress all revolutionary movements and put down any illegal opposition to the proposed negotiation with the United States.

Rather a long 'wait.' It is very common for lawyers, and others, when leaving their office for a short time, to taek a notice, 'back in fifteen minutes—gone to P. O.' or 'return at 3 o'clock—gone to the Quarter Sessions,' &c. A certain lawyer in New York a few days ago, got in a mess, and some wag tacked a label on his office door—'gone to the Tombs!—back in 30 days!!!'

FLORIDA—THE QUESTION IS SETTLED AT LAST—CABELL WHIG, ELECTED.—The Tallahassee Sentinel of November 18th brings to us a letter from E. C. Cabell, addressed to the people of Florida. In it he announces that on the evening of the eleventh he received from the Secretary a commission from His Excellency the Governor, to be the Representative of the State of Florida, in the twenty-ninth Congress of the United States.

PRICE OF FLOUR.—The average price of flour in the month of January, for forty-two years, from 1796 to 1837 inclusive, was $7,50 per barrel. In 1796 it rose to $12,50; in 1801 to $11,50; in 1805 and 1811 to $11,00; in 1812 to $12,50; in 1813 to $13,50; and in 1837 to $11,00. The lowest price in in these 42 years, was $4,00, in 1821.—Salem Reg.

We learn from the Keene Repnblican that Mr Walter, blacksmith, of Alstead, N. H., went out on Sunday evening with his wife, and on returning home found his house on fire, and three children smothered to death. On the same evening, Mr Asa Marsh's barn was burnt by an incendiary: loss $1000; insured $800.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Nov. 24, 1845.
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At Market 1050 Beef Cattle, 525 Stores, 3800 Sheep and 725 Swine.

PRICES—Beef Cattle—Last week's prices were fully sustained, viz: extra $5; first quality $4 50 a 4 75; second do $4 a 4 25; third do $2 75 a 3 75.

Barrelling Cattle—Mess $3 25; No 1, $2 75.

Stores—Yearlings $5 a $7; two years old $7 a $14; three year old $15 a $24.

Sheep—Sales from $1 to $2.

Swine—One lot at 3 1-4, and 4 1-2. At retail from 3 1-2 to 5c.

BOSTON PRICES CURRENT.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, Nov. 26.

Cotton—Nothing doing today, that we could learn. Provisions—Sales of 500 bbls prime Pork at $10 1-2, 4 mos; 80 do do, $11; cash; 950 kegs Lard at 8 1-2c, 4 mos; small sales mess Beef at $9 1-2, 4 mos; 50 bbls Beef Hams at $9, cash; 200 do do at $6 1-2, 4 mos; 10 hhds Hams at 8 1-2c, 4 mos. Flour—Moderate sales of Genesee, common brands, at $6,87 1-2; 200 bbls Baltimore Howard street, for export, at $6,75; 600 do Richmond City Mills, "Haxell," $7,25, cash. Corn—Little or nothing doing today; yellow flat is held at 84 a 85c; white, 82a83c; Oats, 47a48c. Sugar—Sales to the trade at 8 1-2a9 1-2 for Havana brown.—Molasses—Sales of 40 hhds bakers' at 26 1-2c; 150 do Cienfuegos at 23 1-2a24c, and some prime at 25c, 6 mos.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem Mr JOSEPH A. FARNSWORTH to Miss SARAH B. LEE. Mr A. T. CHIPMAN to Miss CAROLINE F. TREADWELL. Mr GEORGE L TROFATER to Miss HANNAH U. CLUFF.

In Newburyport, Mr AMOS LUNT of Newbury, to Miss MARY E. LONGFELLOW, of Newburyport.

In New York, on Friday evening last, by Rev E. N. Kirk, Rev GEORGE B. CHEEVER, D D., to Miss ELIZABETH H., daughter of Samuel Wetmore, Esq.

DEATHS.

In this town, Mrs RELIEF, widow of the late Mr Leonard Peirce, aged about 59.

Mrs. BETSEY, wife of Mr. Joshua B. Little, aged 41. In these few years she had fulfilled with a faithfulness seldom equalled, all the social relations of life—as a daughter, sister, wife, mother, neighbor, friend and christian, exhibiting the same kind, affable, amiable and self-sacrificing temper and disposition in all. With a grateful heart she enjoyed prosperity and health. With resignation unmurmuring and thankful still, she bowed to adversity and sickness. With meekness she bore the yoke of Christ, but discarded the yoke Sectarian; embracing as brothers and sisters, all those who by their lives and conversation, gave evidence of having been with Jesus, and learned of him their duties and their destiny. Happy, thrice happy those, who mourn her loss, if in so doing, they learn to imitate her example—[Com.

Funeral this afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

At (New Mills,) Miss SUSAN HUTCHINSON, aged 56.

In Salem Mr SAMUEL GALE, aged 81. Mr DAVID LORD, aged 62.

In Georgetown, Mr ROBERT J. BROWN, of Boston, aged 32. He had left his residence for the church, and when a few rods from the house, was observed to stagger and fall.—Those who went immediatately to his assistance found life entirely extinct.

In Intercourse, Lancaster Co. Penn. Mr ANDREW SNYDER, aged 113, a soldier of the revolution.

Boarders Wanted.

THE subscriber having taken the western end of Mrs. Dodge's house, opposite Park street, wishes to obtain 8 or 10 gentleman Boarders. His terms will be as low as any similar house, and his accommodations warranted to give satisfaction.

nov 15 JOHN MERRILL.

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KEITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.
MONUMENT DIVISION—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at SANGER'S HALL, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.
South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Monday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

NOTICE.

IN consequence of a change in our business, we have sold at public Auction the balance of our Stock of Groceries, Crockery, Glass and Stone Ware, at No. 13 Front street.

For the benefit of many interested, we would give particular notice that we are still on hand, and can be found on our Wharf in rear of the Store, where we have on hand, and for sale at the lowest prices,

200 Cords best Eastern Hard Wood.
100 " Tanning Bark.
25 " Burning "
300 Bundles first quality pressed Hay.
25 Barrels Chenango Potatoes, best quality,

with all other kinds of Eastern produce, which we should be happy to dispose of to our many friends and patrons n reasonable terms.

GEO. C. VARNEY, & CO.,
nov 29 Stone's Whf.

PROF. FROST'S Illustrated Books. The Book of the Army—a General Military History of the U. S. from the Revolution to the present time; numerous engravings, gilt back, $1 25.

The Book of the Navy, a General History of the American Marine—engravings and portraits, $1.

The Book of the Indians of North America—manners, customs and present state—numerous illustrations, $1.

For sale at the Bookstore of
nov 29 J. P. JEWETT & CO., Salem.

YELLOW QUILLS. A supply just received, of various qualities and price. ALSO,

The Russia Quills, for sale low by the thousand, at the Stationary Establishment of
nov 29 J. P. JEWETT, & CO.

AMERICAN WAX TAPERS, a very convenient article in sealing letters. Just received and for sale by W & S B IVES. nov 29

NEW BOOKS. The Life of Conde, by Lord Mahon, in 2 parts, price 75 cents. The White Boy: a story of Ireland, in 1822, by Mrs. S. C. Hall. Poetry of the Heart, by Wm B. Tappan.—Hoyle's Games, new edition. The Rhine, by Victor Hugo, in two parts; price 75 cents. Just rceived at the Bookstore of

nov 28 W & S B IVES.

SUPERIOR Rack Gammon Boards. Just received from the Manufacturer, a superior article of Backgammon Boards, made in the best manner, dove tailed, and covered with different colored morocco in every respect an excellent article. Also, Rodgers's and others' Penknives, a superior assortment, just received at the "Central Boekstore" of

nov 29 W. & S. B. IVES.

NEW and Neat Miniature Vols. Songs and Ballads, by Geo. P Morris, first completeed 37 1-2c.—Album of Love, 31c. Received by

nov 29 J. P. JEWETT, & CO.

COMBS. A beautiful article of Buffalo Horn Combs, for sale at nov 29 SMITH & CHAMBERLAINS', 291 Essex street.

NEW PUBLICATIONS. Trippings in Author Land. by Fanny Forrester, fine paper and print. 50c.

No. 64 Harper's Select Library, Only a Fiddler and O. T. translated by Mary Howitt, 25c.

The Quiet Husband, a Novel by Miss Pickering, 25c

The Mass and Rubricks of the Roman Catholic Church, translated into English, with Notes, by Rev. John A. Cotter, A. M. 1 vol. cloth, 37 1-2c,

The Hermit of Warkworth, by the author of Undine, and the Two Captains, 1 vol. bound, 75c.

Flowers, their Moral, Language and Poetry—1 neat gilt volume, $1 00.

Just published, and for sale at the Bookstore of
nov 29 J. P. JEWETT, & CO.

FOR HAVANNA, CUBA—From Commercial wharf, With Despatch.

The superior bark LEBANTO, Hatch, master, having part of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial whf.
nov 29

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Saturday.

The newly coppered ship GLOUCESTER, G. Pollard master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
nov 29

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The elegant fast sailing schooner BARNSTABLE, Taylor, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. nov 28

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Prints and Patches.

A GOOD variety of new styles, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Field Driver's Notice.

LYNNFIELD, Oct. 24, 1845.

TAKEN up this day, found running at large, without a keeper, upon the public highway in said town, and impounded in the subscriber's yard, one brown mare, with a star in her forehead, and one red horse; the owner of them unknown.

JOEL HEWES,
nov 1 3wis Field Driver, Lynnfield.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN OSBORNE, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, potter, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to KENDALL OSBORNE;
Danvers, Nov. 22 * Adm'r.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of
GIDEON FOSTER.
esquire, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, testate deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: all persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
SAMUEL W. KING, Adm'r.
Danvers, Nov. 22, 1845.

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns, on drab groun'd, for sale by M. T. DOLE
nov 14

☞ DOMESTIC HOSIERY. ☜

R. H. CHAMBERLAIN respectfully informs the citizens of Danvers and its vicinity, that he has just opened at his Hosiery and Glove Store,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

300 doz of Hosiery and Gloves, of Foreign and Domestic manufacture, comprising the largest variety ever before offered in Salem, viz:

LADIES' Yarn, Alpacca, Segovia, Lamb's Wool, Merino and Cashmere HOSE, in white, black, mixed and mode colors.

GENTS Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, HOSE and Half Hose, some extra size.

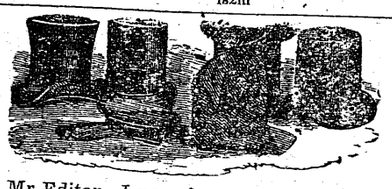
MISSES AND CHILDREN'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, and Cashmere Hose and Half Hose; also, Jonian, Royal Coburg, Ceylon, and Grecian Boots, for infants.

GLOVES, in great variety, comprising all the different styles, sizes and qualities, for ladies, gents, children and misses.

LADIES' VESTS AND PANTS—a beautiful article of Ladies' Merino and Cotton Vests and Pants.

GENT'S SHIRTS AND DRAWERS—Merino, Lamb's wool, Yarn, Scotch wool, Portsmouth, Ipswich and country knit Shirts and Drawers.

SHIRTS, BOSOMS AND COLLARS—A large assortment o Cotton Shirts, Linen Bosoms and Collars, Dickeys, Stocks, Scarfs, Cravats, Suspenders, Pocket Hdkfs, &c.



WOOLLEN YARN—300 lbs of black, mixed, white, scarlet, Random, and mode colored Woolen Yarn, from the Portsmouth manufactory.

CASSIMERES—A large lot of Cassimeres and Sattinetts constantly on hand.

MOUSELINE DE LAINES—2 cases Mousseline de Laines, of newpatterns, just opened and for sale cheap.

Also—Red, white and yellow Flannels, rich styles of Prints, from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Tickings, bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings; Scotch, Bird's Eye and Russia Diapers; bleached, unbleached, and colored Table Covers; white and colored Linens; Silk, Cotton and Linen Cambric Hdkfs; Linen Lawns; Pins, Tapes, Needles, Purses, Scissors, Thimbles, Combs, Eyelets, silk and Cotton Bindings, Gimps and Fringes, Knitting Pins, Ribbons, Silk and Cotton Braids; Linen Bobbins and Tapes, Stay Backs and Bindings, Knitting Cotton, Sewing Cotton, Sewing Silk and Twist, Silk and Cotton Cords Saddler's Silk, Buttons, etc.

sept 22 ia2m

Mr Editor—I now have many tomers from your neighborhood, and feeling desirous of extending my acquaintance, I am not aware of any better way than to ask your aid; and this is to inform the readers o your paper, that I have a stock of HATS, CAPS, and every description of FUR GOODS, equal in variety to any in New England, and at as low prices.

Those who visit the city or are in the way of sending for goods, are respectfully requested to give me a call.

☞Wholesale Rooms, 2d and 3d stories,
No. 173 Washington Street, Boston.
oct 11 WM. M. SHUTE.

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.
oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

The Stewart Improved
Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.
nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

JACQUAR'D MACHINES, For $25.

TO CARPET MANUFACTURERS.—The subscriber still continues the making of the above machines for the above price, suitable for Carpeting, which he warrants to be as good as any others, as they embrace all the latest improvements.

Also—THREE PLY and BRUSSELS MACHINES, made reasonable, for cash.

JAMES LIGHTBY,
sept 20 8t Jersey City, N. J.

Second Hand Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale at their Warehouse, a large lot of Second Hand Cooking Stoves, —mostly Norton pattern—at very low prices.
oct 25 LORD & WILEY.

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of
Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call.

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of EZRA GOWING,
late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to the said estate are called upon to make payment to WILLIAM GOWING,
Salem, Nov. 8th, 1845. Adm'r

Fall and Winter Clothing.

READY made Overcoats, Sacks and Jackets, Men's and Boy's Pants and Vests, a good assortment.

Also—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS AND TRIMMINGS, for sale cheap, at
W. D. JOPLIN'S,
Nearly opposite the Monument.
—ALSO—

The Dwelling House and Land, making the corner of Fulton and Walnut streets—a very pleasant situation, will be sold at a bargain and on favorable terms. sept 13

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

BEAUTIFUL styles of Muslins, for evening Dresses. Also, embroidered Dresses, received at 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

SHAWLS—At Reduced Prices.

KEITH & MASON will offer their excellent assortment of Shawls at decided bargains, in order to close off their fall stock. nov 22

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,
TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.
'OAK HALL!'
UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!
FALL CAMPAIGN.
THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS
Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Briliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclams.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been abte to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,
at so low a price tht I will
DEFY TH WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER☜
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.
nov 8 ep3m

BALCH & LAMSON,
At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.
DEALERS IN WATCHES,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.
Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.
MARKING ATTENDED TO,
JEWELRY REPAIRED
aug 17 3m

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their SALOON on Monday, Oct. 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Flowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

Paper Hangings
VERY CHEAP.

SAMUEL B. FOSTER, being desirous of reducing his present stock of Paper Hangings, offers them for sale at reduced prices. 2200 Rolls of New Patterns have been added this fall. One of the most fashionable and best assortments of Paper Hanging that can be found, is thus offered at very low prices. Call and see for yourselves at the extensive Paper Hanging Establishment,
No 30 Lawrence Place,
near the Rail Road Depot. Recollect, 30 is the number, and FOSTER is the man.
Salem, Nov 1, 1845. 1m

Splendid Furs!!
AT 183 ESSEX STREET.
Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

ABOUT one hundred Pots beautiful Chrysanthemums, different colors, in full flower, for sale at the Greenhouse, rear of Aborn street, at from 17 to 25 cts per pot.

—Also for sale as above.—

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ne warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter. Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

LORD & WILEY,
OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o
STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;
Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus, may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.
F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable.
july 26 tf I. & T. HARDY.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.
oct 25

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red ink. Gillott's and other Steel Pens. Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.

Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.
oct 18 tf

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street,
where he will be kept a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS,
Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c, which will be sold at the lowest cash price.
A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March29th. tf

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st-Salem.

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this morning, an assortment of Silver Lever. Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

To Let.

A part of a House in Park street. Inquire of oct 25 I. ELLIOTT.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue.

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,

J. E. F. MARSH.

—

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,

E. MASON.

—

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirefy left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,

W. M. HALSTAL

Sir. I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

—

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir:—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,

JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

—

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr. LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

—

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

—

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker.
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at the lowest rates. mch 15

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FALL SUPPLY.

1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of

W & S B IVES,
oct 25 Stearns' Building.

SHAWLS SHAWLS! Brocha, Canton Plaids, Nett, Kabyle and Woolen Plaid Shawls.
Just opened by M. T. DOLE. oct 25

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for

PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,

formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same s solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brincerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam Scheneck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldock; Different inds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuine Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; Also, Brandreth s, Indian Vegetable, Becwith s, Lees' Dean s, Parr s, Richardson s, Relf s Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs, Mace, Cloves etc. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers May 31 1845.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at pricesat which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.
Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs; Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by

JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,

200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;

—Also, in store—

100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THESubscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

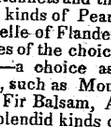
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.



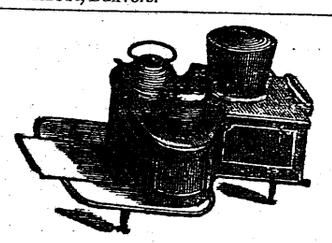
THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf



Fruit and Ornamental TREES,

For sale at GROVE NURSERY, Salem. All the most approved kinds of Apples, such as Baldwius, Sweetings, Greenings, Russets, Minister, Portet, Early Harvey, summer Pearmain, Early Bough, Glory of the West, William's Favorite; many varieties of Pippins, Codlings, Rennets and the Nonsuch tribe. Also—the most approved kinds of Pears, such as the Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Belle of Flanders, Easter Beurre, Sickle, &c. Many varieties of the choicest kinds of Plums and Peaches.

Also—a choice assortment of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, such as Mountain Ash, Horse Chestnut, Scotch Larch, Fir Balsam, Arborvitæ, &c. Many varieties of the most splendid kinds of Honeysuckles and climbing Roses, for covering piazzas and lattice work. Also—above twenty varieties of the Tea Rose, Hybrid Perpetuals, Borbons, and many others of those lately introduced from Europe, &c.—As these trees and Plants are raised on poor soil, without high manuring, they will be found to be hardy and healthy, and when removed to richer soil, they cannot fail to make rapid progress.

Also—Buckthorne, for hedges, Strawberry Plants of the best kinds, and a great number of seedling Apples, Pears and Quinces, for stocks.

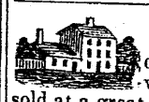
For further particulars, enquire of THOS. CRUIKSHANK, at the Nursery, or W. D. JOPLIN'S, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers. oct 18

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cooking Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.



Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP OF PALESTINE by J. H, Colton. Compiled principally from the observaions of Messrs Robinson and Smith. The religious Press and many of the secular papers have spoken in high terms of this map. For sale by G. W. & E. CRAFTS.
174 Essex St. Salem.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

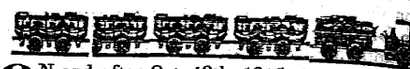
FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of



HIRAM GRANT.
Danvers, April 19, 1845,

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a small Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument.

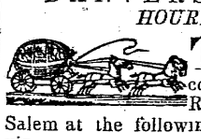
JOSEPH SHED.
july 26

EASTERN RAILROAD
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P.M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.



Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portl and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots.

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the Easte Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8 A
"	"	8 3-4	"	"	9 1-2
"	"	9 3-4	"	"	11 3
"	"	11 1-4	"	"	12 3-4
"	"	1 3-4	P M.	"	"	3 P.M
"	"	2 3-4	"	"	4
"	"	4 1-2	"	"	5
"	"	5 1-2	"	"	6 1-2
"	"	6 1-2	"	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hou and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reason ble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggen

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & J cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended t

Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Beaver and Pilot Cloths, at Grea
BARGAINS.

ALSO—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES and VESTINGS, of all kinds, at

M. TELYEA'S,
Corner of Grove and Main streets,

Who will make Surtouts from Pilot Cloths, from $7 00 t $13 37 1-2, and Beaver from $11 to $15.

Dress Coats and Frocks, from $12 50 to $15.

Pants and Vests from $3 to $6, all in good shape and war ranted to fit to a T.

N. B. WINTER FASHIONS just received.

Danvers, Sept 19, 1845.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY—Three or Four Girl to learn the Tailors trade, at M. TELYEA'S.

REMOVAL.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Rich Jewelry and Fancy Goods,

HAVE removed to the New Store, No. 291 Essex street, (next above Mechanic Hall) where they will keep constantly for sale Gold Finger Rings, Breast Pins, Bracelets, Lockets, Keys, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Silver Thimbles, Silver and Plated Table and Tea Spoons, Butter Knives, Silver Plated and Brittania Ware, Shell, Horn, and Ivory Combs, Pocket Books, Purses, &c., &c

N. B. All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry, made over or exchanged for new.

S. & C. having acquired a thorough knowledge of the business in New York, as well as our success for the past five years in this city, will. we feel assured, enable us to execute with approbation any orders entrusted to our care.

☞Thankful for past patronage, we solicit a continuance of the same.

Salem, Macrh 15 tf

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

JUST opened by M. T. DOLE, a complete assortment of Gents Woolen, Cashmere, White Kid and Thread Gloves.

Ladies Woolen, Cashmere, Long White, dark and Light colored Kid do.

Children's Woolen and Cashmere do, of every size.

Ladies' Ribb'd and Plain Worsted Hose, mode colors and black.

Lamb's Wool, Ribb'd and Plain do, mode colors and black.

Extra heavy Blue Black Alpacca do.

White Scgovia do; Children's Fancy do.

oct 25 tf

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemical Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar, varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by

EDWARDS,
oct 11 10 Front street.

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, of different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles. with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormoln and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

WIDE FRINGES AND GIMPS. Just received by KEITH & MASON, a lot of new styles Wide Fringes and Gimps for trimming Cloaks. nov 15

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 6, 1845. NUMBER 38.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

~~Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not~~ paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

ADIEU.

Friend of my heart, adieu!
God keep thee in his care!
Receive this parting sigh;
Believe this parting prayer;
And do not quite forget the few
Bright hopes we've known. Adieu! adieu!

Remember vanished hours.—
Let memory softly dwell
On one who thinks of thee
With thoughts too deep to tell,—
On one whose love more steadfast grew
'Mid clouds and tears! Adieu! adieu!

Let gentle dreams arise,—
When thou art far from me,—
Of all the counsel sweet
That I have shared with thee;
Think of me still, as when we two Mingled sweet thoughts! Adieu! adieu!

Think of the heart of love
That ever sprung to meet
Thy slightest wish,—and deemed
No earthly joy so sweet
As when on spirit's wings it flew
To speak with thine! Adieu! adieu!

Think of the heart of faith
That watched, with anxious pain
For tidings of thy health
O'er the dividing main!
Think of the loving heart and true
That writes with tears—Adieu! adieu!

Though dark with many a fault,
This self same heart may be;
It hath one spot unstained;—
It never erred to thee!
There are no idle words—nor new—
Thou knowest their truth! Adieu! adieu!

The Mechanic's Saturday Night.

Now wife and children let's be gay,
My work is done and here's the pay—
'Twas hard to make, but never mind it,
Hope rear'd the sheaf, and peace shall bind it.

Six days I've toil'd, and now we meet
To share the welcome weekly treat,
Of toast and tea, of rest and joy,
Which, gained by labor, cannot cloy.

Come ye, who form my dear fireside—
My care, my comfort, and my pride;
Come now, let us close the night,
In harmless talk and fond delight.

To-morrow's dawn brings blessings, peace,
And each domestic joy increase
To him who honestly maintains
That course of life which heaven ordains.

For this and every blessing given,
Thankful, we'll bow the knee to heaven;
In God's own house our voices raise,
With grateful notes of prayer and praise.

Sweet's the tranquility of heart,
Which public worship doth impart;
And sweet's the field, and sweet's the road
To him whose conscience bears no load.

Thus shall the day, as God designed
Promote my health, improve my mind;
On Monday morning, free from pain,
Cheerful I'll go to work again.

Our life is but a lengthened week,
Through which with toil for rest we seek;
And he whose labor well is past,
A joyful Sabbath finds at last.

COMMUNICATION.

Correspondence of the Danvers Courier.

Prince Edward Island,
Charlotte Town, Nov. 11, 1845.

I arrived at this place, Thursday afternoon, Nov. 6th, after a very pleasant Steamboat excursion of six hours from Pictou. The American Consul accompanied me from Pictou and will remain with me during my visit at this place. We stop at the Victoria Hotel, where on our arrival we found eleven Americans who came here for the purpose of purchasing potatoes.—They are from Maine, Massachusetts, New York and Maryland. Two from Maine and two from Massachusetts I am acquainted with, having frequently seen them in Boston. The day after my arrival, a meeting of Americans was held, and sundry resolutions passed, after which a parlor chamber was selected in the Queen's Hotel, and christened as the Yankee Saloon, where we congregate and pass our time very pleasantly. Prince Edward Island is about 150 miles long from one extremity to the other, and from 5 to 25 miles wide. Its form is somewhat like a crescent. It is a very level tract of land, very fertile and capable of great improvement. There are not hills and dales enough to give it a romantic appearance. Potatoes are raised upon the Island in great quantities, a large proportion of which are this year affected with the potato disease. Excellent wheat, barley and oats are also raised upon the Island, but the summers are not long enough to grow Indian corn. The river closes soon after the first of December and remains closed until the first of May. The Island formerly belonged to the French, but was captured by the English soon after the surrender of Quebec. It contains a population of 60,000, a majority of which are the Scotch Highlanders—the residue made up with Irish, refugees from the States, Germans, Arcadian French, &c. &c. The Island is divided into three counties, King's, Queen's, and Prince. Georgetown is the principal town in King's county—Princeton in Prince county, and Charlotte Town in Queen's county. Charlotte Town is very prettily laid out and decently built. It contains a population of about 6000 of almost all nations, kindreds, tongues and people.—They seem to speak all kinds of languages, many of which I cannot understand, and some, I should think, they could not understand themselves. Sir Henry Vere Huntley is Governor, and has an executive council of nine—Hon. Robert Hodgson Attorney General—Hon. J. H. Peters Solicitor General—and Sir. James Huntley Chief Justice. The Colonial Government consists of a council of eleven. and a House of Assembly of twenty-six members. Hon. Joseph Pope is Speaker of the House of Assembly. The Government House where Governor Huntley resides is a magnificent building, built of wood, pleasantly located and surrounded with fir trees. The Provincial Building. the largest in the place, is built of freestone, very beautiful, and makes a grand appearance. The Queen's Warehouse, so called, is a large Ship at the head of one of the wharves, propped up, roofed, and divided into four apartments—the lower story being ballasted and planked over, answers for a cellar—the second story is improved for the Queen's Warehouse. Mr. Peak, a merchant improves the third story for a storehouse—and the fourth story for a rigging loft. The Market House is a wooden building, covering a large area of land, one story and a half high, built in the form of a circus, with a cupola on top, surrounded with trees, giving it rather a grotesque appearance for a market house. The Court House and Jail I can only say, rather excel those at Pictou. There are five churches—one Episcopal, one Presbyterian, one Catholic, one Methodist and one Baptist. It is said to be quite a go-to-meeting place, and the churches are generally well filled. The Market House is open only on the regular market days—Wednesdays and Saturdays. The Market appears well, being stored with good provisions and vegetables which are brought in from the back country, as they call it here. It is a great sight "upon my word it is" to stand at the Market House, and see the people as they come to market with their commodities—men, women and children in horse carts, mixed up with beef, pork, mutton, rabbits, butter, squashes, cabbages, turnips—to say nothing of onions and rotten potatoes. Ship building is carried on in Charlotte Town and through the Island to a great extent. At every place on the Island from which a vessel can be launched, they set one up. Mr. Peak, the most wealthy merchant of the place, informed me that he had resided here 22 years and in that time had built over 100 vessels. He also informed me that during the past year there had been built on the Island, about 50 ships, brigs and schooners together with 99 brigantines from 140 to 170 tons, and that most of the last class had been sold to the Newfoundlanders for the seal fishery. The foreign trade of the place is very limited—their principal trade is with Newfoundland and Halifax. For the last two weeks there have been more Americans and American vessels in port, than ever before during that period of time. Several American vessels have left within a few days, with potatoes for Boston, New York and Baltimore, and three are now loading at the wharves. Several English vessels have been chartered by the Yankees, loaded with potatoes and sent south, and four more have been recently chartered and are now loading, two for New York and two for Baltimore. It is altogether a new thing under the sun, to see people here from Maine, buying potatoes for Southern ports, for they have generally supplied themselves with bread stuffs and other articles from the proceeds of their potatoes shipped south, some years sending from six to eight millions of bushels, and realizing from the sales from $2,500,000 to $4,000,000. But this year their potato crop is so entirely cut off, that they will have hardly enough left for seed. Hence they have to resort to other expedients. The Islanders appear to be much pleased to see so many Yankees here, and regret that they cannot prosecute a more extensive business with the States. It is on the whole quite an active busy place during the business season, and on Market days, when the people flock to Market from the back settlements—the whole town seems alive like weasels in wheat bran.

The most active, business-like performance which I have witnessed since my arrival in the provinces, is the way and manner the Yankees examine and buy potatoes and load their vessels. They do it with a perfect rush, reminding me of the operations of a dinner party at Wildes' in Elm St., Boston. It is a caution to the Islanders—they stand and look on with a perfect amazement, wondering what kind of stuff these Yankees can be made of. But the most amusing and characteristic part of the business is to see them come the Yankee over each other in the selection of the cart-loads of potatoes, which from sun to sun are continually rolling toward the wharves.—The chaps from Maine and Massachusetts send their agents back on the roads, where they select the best loads, marking the name of the vessel upon the cart, the driver going directly to the vessel to unload—while the poorer loads go on to the wharves for the New Yorkers and the Baltimoreans. It is diamond cut diamond, but I think they will all be more or less cut with rotten potatoes before they get through with their speculations. Many of the potatoes which go on board the vessels, are unquestionably affected and as it takes some days to load a vessel, and oftentimes several days before they can get out of the harbor, and may be two or three weeks before they can get them to a market, many of the cargoes must be much injured or spoiled when they arrive in port.

Yours truly.

MISCELLANY

Getting Married.

'I like her!' exclaimed a young man, with no inconsiderable degree of ardor.

'But can you support her in the style to which she has been accustomed? It costs something to get married now a-days. We have to begin where our fathers ended,' said his companion.

'True Ned; if she would only begin with me—why she's poor herself.'

'Yes, and proud too; the fact is, women require so much waiting upon, or fashion requires it—so many servants, just such a style of living—that, for my part, I have given up all thoughts of marrying.' Ned said this with some bitterness, as if he had good reason for feeling it.

'My business is good,' pursued the other, intent upon his own affairs, 'uncle thinks my prospects very fair, if I live prudently—it costs a round sum at the hotel—I might support a snug little establishment at the same expense.'

'Yes, if snug little establishments were in the fashion, Charley.'

'She is amiable and intelligent; she must be economical, because she always has been obliged to be,' declared Charley, abruptly stopping as if a new thought struck him.

'Perhaps so—but shall you both be independent enough to begin in a small way? in fact to live within your means—for if you intend to get along in the world, you must live within your means.'

'Well, it's a pity,' said Charley, somewhat damped by the cool enquiries of his friend, 'think what quiet, charming quarters I might have, I am heartily sick of the off-hand, bachelor life, we now lead. What? must I wait till I make a fortune before I marry?'

'Or be over head and ears in debt,' suggested Ned.

'That I will never do!' exclaimed Scott, right earnestly; and it is to be regretted that every young man does not make a similar determination, with independence and judgment enough to keep it.

Here the two came to a turn in the street, where they took different directions. Charley bent his steps towards his store and in no merry mood, Ned—I know not where.

Charles Scott entered his counting room and shut the door, the business of day was over, the clerks were preparing to leave, as the early shades of an autumn twilight were fast gathering round. He stirred open some dying embers, then throwing himself listlessly into a chair, and placing his feet upon the iron fender he soon become wonderfully absorbed in his own reflections. This was a young man of domestic tastes and excellent habits. He remembered with joy his father's fire-side, and all the sweet sympathies of that dear home circle, of which he was once a loved and loving member. They had passed away, and he had long lived upon the cold bounties of a boarding house. His heart yearned with unspeakable desire, for a place to call his own, with the delightful peculiarities, 'my wife,' 'my fire-side,' 'my table.' It does not appear what conclusions Charley came to, or whether he came to any at all. Evening found him at his toilet, preparing for a party.

Long before the appointed hour, he was ready, and waiting the tardy movements of his watch. Though no one knew better how to fill up niches of time with something useful and pleasant, there was now a restlessness of spirit, which refused to be quieted. He sallied forth into the street, and, after various turns, at length bent his steps towards the———Blarks; music and mirth met his ear, and bright lights streamed from the windows. Making his greetings to the ladies of the house, and uttering a few agreeable truisms to those about him, he sought among the bevies of fair women, one pretty maiden, named Fanny Day.—She bade him a blushing welcome, which seemed to say, 'come hither.' He stood aloof, in no seeming hurry to seek a place by her side, already half occupied by another, while his eye discussed with keenest scrutiny, the tout ensemble of Fanny's dress. Conscious of his earnest admiring (?) gaze Fanny seemed to hear the quick beatings of her own heart, and hope, and fear and love came and went, and went and came, like smiles and shadows across her spirit. 'A new and splendid silk,' thus ran Charley's thoughts, 'that looks extravagant; the bracelet I never saw before; I wonder if she is fond of such gewgaws. What is that dangling from her hair? a gold pin or a gold tassel—I should like to know how much it costs; ot very love-like comments it must be confessed, but he was looking beyond the betrothed and the bride, to what signified a great deal more, he was looking for a 'help-meet,' one for dark days as well as bright. 'I am afraid she wont do for me—and this is her uncle's house, she will want to live just so'—something like a sigh escaped him as he walked away to another part of the room. Fanny watched his departure, wondering when he would return; she was sure he would rejoin her, by and by, he always had of late. But no return—had he only known that Fanny's silk was not a new one—newly turned and newly fitted it had indeed been, by her needle and her skill, so as to make it quite as good as new—how prudent and thrifty that was! had he only known, the bracelet was a gift two years before; and the gold pin, why it was a decoration, borrowed to please his eye—so Fanny was not so culpable after all. I say, had Charley known all this, he had not staid away so strangely and coldly all that livelong evening, while Fanny's heart was sinking; mournfully did a tear gather in her eye, as she beheld him depart, without a parting glance or a farewell word.

Charles Scott was not quite satisfied. He really loved Fanny, but he was afraid to marry her.—It was not a sickly, sentimental love. It counted the costs and calculated the chances, albeit love it is said, understands no arithmetic, and knows no reason. He had fixed principles of action settled rules to govern his choice of a wife; he did not mean that love should laugh him out of them or blind him to their value. No, he determined to abide by them.

Some time passed away, and never was man more devoted to business. Perhaps he dreamed of Fanny but he did not visit her.

Behold a gathering of friends, a pleasant little company. Charles is there, and Fanny too. He thought she never looked so charmingly, with her simple braid of hair, and her modest fawn colored dress; there was something sad and reproachful in her eye, it smote him to the heart—'dear Fanny how can she interpret my coolness?' was the questioning of returning fondness. 'I mean to see her, and be frank with her; and explain to her all my views—if she is a girl of sense, she cannot but approve, if she is not'—such a contingency remained unprovided for: an excellent resolution, Charley, abide by it. It so happened, or was so contrived, (love's chances are not always scrutable,) the two found themselves threading their way alone, through the hushed streets at an early hour. Now for Charley's resolution—yes, he kept it.

'But Fanny,' he continued with remarkable self-possession, after a few preliminaries not to be repeated 'I want you to understand exactly my situation, how I intend for the present to live, and what plans we must pursue. I must live within my means, and just setting out in life my means are necessarily small. I am liable to the fluctuations of the business world; we must begin with what we can independently afford—no dashing out with a borrowed capital for me. You must take all these into serious consideration before you answer. Perhaps you may feel that you cannot conform to such humble circumstances. I will not disappoint or deceive you.' At the moment, Fanny thought she could decide instantly—for she saw only a rose-tinted future.

Now Fanny listened.

'Do not decide now, Fanny, think this all over, was his parting injunction, at the close of this long walk, during which, though he had said a great deal, he had a great deal more to say—'and then decide carefully and conscientiously.

Fanny did think it all over: much that he said was quite new to her. To be married, it must be confessed, had implied to her mind, what it does to the mind, of too many young ladies, gay visions of wealth and independence, doing every thing one wishes—a lover in the husband, amusement in the parlor. Fanny belonged to that class of females, who, without fortune or expectations, had been bro't up amid the appliances of wealth. She was an orphan and lived in the family of an uncle. With a few parlor duties and none in the kitchen, she had lived an easy, dependent life, floating on society, with untried energies, and undeveloped powers. Rich men did not seek her, because rich men generally seek to increase their wealth with matrimonial cates; a poor man might fear, and justly fear, as Charles Scott did, because females thus educated often shrink from the exertions and the cares of household employment; they are slow in finding out that hands are made to work with, and they are apt to regard labor as a menial service. If young men will do as Charles Scott did, frankly unfold to women their real situation and their true interest, explain to them the use and the dignity of labor, encourage and stimulate exertion, there would be fewer ill regulated households and thriftless wives. Fanny digested the whole matter, weighed it all and decided.

Behold, not many months afterwards, Fanny in her new home. It was indeed a snug home, full of comforts and blessings; there was a pleasant little sitting room, with sunbeams and smiles, with Kidderminster and flag bottoms, unadorned by ottomans or divans, astral lamps or marble tables. Her kitchen too, was near by where Fanny was not ashamed to pass her morning hours.

'Do not come in the morning,' said Fanny to a gay acquaintance, 'you will perhaps find me making bread or ironing collars.'

Doing your girl's work! eugh!' exclamed the lady distastefully.

'Oh, I am my own girl,' replied Fanny boldly, 'with the exception of Nancy Drew, who comes in when I need her. I can make a soup, and roast a turkey, and I dare say I can teach you, Flora, a thousand interesting things that you don't know about.' Flora did not wish to be taught.

'I really pity Fanny,' said this same Flora, passing by her door one day, weary and dispirited with the frivolities of a series of fashionable calls. Pity Fanny! she had no need of such pity.—Was she not spreading the snowy cloth upon the dinner table, cutting sweet white loaves of her own making, fetching sauce of her own stewing, bringing pies of her own baking, products of her skill and industry; and did not the hearty 'I am glad to see you Charley,' and her nicely broiled steak quite compensate for the perplexities of her morning business. True Fanny had her trials; she cakes did sometimes burn and the potatoes were not always done—but then she did not have the blues—they swiftly sped away before early rising and ample employment. She had no time for the yawn of ennui, and never cried out, 'oh I am dying for the want of exercise;' her chamber must be cared for, her pantry looked after, flour to be sifted. Yes, Fanny understood how to use her hands. She was a producer as well as a consumer. What delightful evenings did thay pass together sewing and reading, or at a lecture or enjoying the society of dear friends. Charley, cheerful and happy in the consciousness that his receipts exceeded his expenses, was disposed to be pleased with nothing so much as his wife; and Fanny rejoiced in the delightful consciousness of bearing her burden of contributing her share to family comforts, enjoying an elasticity of spirit and a vigor of health, of which, the indolent and unoccupied can hardly conceive.

More than all this, there were blessings this family could impart.

'I really cannot afford to do anything,' replied the anxious mtstress of a splendid mansion to a solicitor in behalf of the suffering poor, 'I have so many uses for money—and I paid away my last farthing this morning.' It was very true; her rose and ice-creams and cut-glass must be promptly paid for, while the poor seamstrsss to whom she did pay her last farthing that morning, had been soliciting her just dues for weeks and suffering in consequence of their long delay.

'Will you not like to do something;' concluded the same collector, timidly, after explaining the object to Mrs Scott.

'I shall be happy in the privilege of doing it,' answered Fanny, cheerfully placing a bill in the hand of the thankful woman. Yes, and Fanny, felt that the pleasure of having fine clothes and costly furniture and many servants could be no fair equivalent to the satisfaction of being able to lend timely aid to the poor, and carrying the balm of relief to suffering hearts.

* * * * * * * *

'Ned, how is it with you?' asked an old friend whom he unexpectedly met some few years afterwards in the city; 'and where is Charles Scott? fine fellow—why, you are looking well—I am off for the West."

'West! why so?'

'Oh, I can't get along here—hard times—failures—family expenses are enormous.'

'You won't do any better at the west—be independent enough to endure one half of the privations here, which you must endure there, and you will get along cleverly,' said Ned, in his advice-giving way.

'Yes, yes, I dare say—but it's the fashion there, and it's not here. I have had a hard time of it since we were boys together,' continued the gentleman bitterly, 'sleepless nights, devising plans to make the two ends meet, and when I could'nt—why, what could I do; get involved and bear it like a gentleman—hard work.' Poor fellow, how many are in the same deplorable situation. 'But tell us of Charles Scott,' he exclaimed, dashing away the memories of the past, 'good fellow—I hope he is doing well?'

'Done well! capitally! he has such a wife,' cried Ned with a relish, 'a wife worth having—she's no tax upon her husband—an intelligent, refined woman—with independence enough to begin housekeeping with him in a small, snug, economical way—did her own work, managed her own concerns—let him always have ready money enough to meet all his emergencies, (for emergencies, and pretty trying ones, will occur sometimes in the business world) without teasing it all away upon fashion and show—and now,' pursued Ned enthusiastically, 'why he is the most flourishing man in town—really flourishing well grounded, and they have got the best family of children I ever saw. After all, every thing depends upon a wife. Why I would get married myself if I could get another like Fanny Scott!' a great thing for Ned Green to say, confirmed bachelor as he was. The old friend sighed, as he repeated, 'yes, every thing depends upon a wife.'

PORK AND HOGS.—The Pork season has commenced in the great Western Hog Mart, and the Cincinnati Gazette of the 6th, thinks that some 80,000 Kentucky hogs have already been contracted for by the Cincinnati dealers. The price paid for heavy Hogs is $4 per 100 lbs., and the drovers anticipate an advance upon this rate. A small lot of Mess Pork brought $13 50—the first of the season. It is supposed a larger number of Hogs will be packed at Cincinnati this season than last year, or the year previous. It is estimated that from 80,000 to 100,000 Hogs will be packed at Madison, Ia.—Det. Adv.

EXPORTS OF OHIO. The Cincinnati Chronicle has the following estimate of the exports of Flour and Wheat from Ohio.

Cleveland,	450,000 bbls.
Cincinnati,	160,000 "
Toledo,	100,000 "
Milan, Sandusky, &c.	150,000 "
Marietta, &c,	40,000 "
Portsmouth, &c,	30,000 "
Total,	910,000 bbls,

The value of these shipments of Flour and Wheat, is estimated in ordinary years at $4,000,000 and the export of Pork is valued at $3,500,000. The total exports of Ohio, to other States, including $3,000,000 of Iron and other manufactures is set down at an aggregate of twelve million of dollars.

A CONNECTICUT VALLEY FARMER. J. W. Colburn, of Springfield, Ct, has this season harvested from seven acres of land on the Connecticut River intervale, ten hundred and ninety-six bushels of sound corn in the ear. Allowing one half for the cob, making five hundred and forty eight bushels of shelled corn—and seventy-eight bushels nine quarts to the acre.

☞"Come, Bob, tell us how much you have cleared by your speculation?" said Bob's quizzical friend to him the other day. "Cleared!" replied Bob, with a frown, "why, I've cleared my pockets."

Several friends were conversing a few evenings since, when the clock struck eleven. "It is time" said one "that honest men were abed." 'That may be," said another, "but you need not be in a hurry on that account."

A Smart Dog.—There is enough of the dog mixed up in the following story to entitle it to the name of a "dog story." A man down East had been exceedingly annoyed by wolves, which destroyed his sheep. In the course of time a dog fancier offered to sell him a dog. A very notable dog he was, too. The catalogue of his merits was a very long one—there was not a dog virtue in the whole catalogue for which he was not distinguished—but if there was any one thing in which he particularly excelled, it was his prowess as a wolf hunter. This was touching our friend on the right spot. The bargain was closed, and he only waited an opportunity to test his merits. At length there came a light snow, just the kind of a snow for wolf-hunting, and he took his dog and gun and sallied out. He soon crosed the track of a varmint—the dog took the scent and bounded off in pursuit. On followed our friend, up hill and down dale, "thorough bush and thorough brier," for two mortal hours, when he came across a Yankee of the live species, chopping wood and the following satisfactory dialogue took place:

"Did you see a wolf and a dog pass by here?"
"Well, I reckon I did."
"How long ago?"
"Well, I guess about half an hour:"
"How was it with ,em?"
"Well, just about nip and tuck—but the dog had the advantage, for he was a leetle ahead."

POTATOES. The packet ship Patrick Henry is now discharging 1000 bushels of potatoes which cost in Liverpool 1s and 9d a bushel, or 38 cts.—This is 3d less than the same article cost at that port last year, and less than one half the price that potatoes bring in this market. According to this then, we are in much more danger of starving for want of potatoes than our Irish friends just now. [New York Express.

TASSO'S WISH.—Tasso being told that he had an opportunity of taking advantage of a very bitter enemy; "I wish not to plunder him," said he "but there are things which I wish to take from him; nor his honor, his wealth, nor his life; BUT HIS ILL WILL."

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 6, 1845.

The President's Message.

The President's Message was delivered on Tuesday, and was received in Boston at 11 o'clock, Wednesday. It occupies thirteen columns, small type, and of course is too long to appear in our columns. It is thoroughly radical upon all the great questions of National policy. It congratulates the country upon the bloodless acquisition of the "lone star" republic, and urges to a prompt and immediate consummation of the Union. A belligerent spirit is manifested in regard to our affairs with Mexico, and every charge which can be brought against that country seems to have been studiously collected. The whole of Oregon is claimed, and in view of all the rejected overtures of this country for an adjustment of the difficulties rising from the question, the President says, "this government will be relieved from all responsibility which may follow the failure to settle the controversy."

He takes strong ground in favor of a revision of the Tariff, and in favor of bringing it to a revenue standard. His palpable disregard of the interests of the manufacturers cannot fail to have its effect upon Pennsylvania and some other States, which voted for Mr Polk as a Protective tariff man. The Sub treasury is dragged to the light again, under the name of a "Constitutional Treasury." Other subjects of minor interest are descanted upon at length.

As a whole, we think the message will be of most mischevous tendency. Beside the ground which it takes against the manufacturing classes, the warlike spirit manifested affords ground for serious apprehension. It seems to be the aim of the President to embroil the country in a war. To the Western and many of the Southern States, a war would be of comparatively little injury, as they would be distant from the seat of its operations, and it would have the effect to raise the price of their produce. To the Seaboard sections it would operate most injuriously, as they would be obliged to bear the brunt of it, and it would ruin their commerce.

We had hoped that the President would pursue a conservative course, and that by a judicious policy the present prosperity of the country would be continued. But in following out the radical and destructive principles of his party, he will, if not involve the country in a disastrous war, paralyze its energies, and cripple its great manufacturing interests.

Protection to Capitalists and the Laborers.

Much is said in the President's message, of the advantages of protection to the capitalists to the injury of the laborer. Of the Tariff of 1842, to which more than to any other measure of the National government, this country owes its present prosperity, he says, "While it protects the capital of the wealthy manufacturer, and increases his profits, it does not benefit the operatives or laborers in his employment, whose wages have not been increased by it." This, like many other statements made, is mere assertion, and utterly false. It is a notorious fact, that the effect of the tariff of '42 has been to create a demand for labor and increase its remuneration. It has been of benefit to the capitalists, and no less so to the operatives.—This is the natural and inevitable result of the increased prosperity of any branch of industry. If, for instance, before the operation of the tariff of '42, there were more laborers than were needed for the operation of the different manufactories, in the country, or supposing they were just sufficient to perform all the labor, and the tariff had the effect as it did then, to encourage the increase of manufactories, it consequently had the effect to increase the demand for labor and with increased demand for labor, comes an increase of pay. For if there were just enough to perform the labor before the increase of manufactories, there must be a scarcity afterwards, and as laborers find that they are wanted by different employers, they are in a situation to make a good bargain. It is with labor, in this particular, as it is with the necessaries of life. If there is a great demand for any article, the price rises accordingly, or if with a usual demand, there is a scarcity, the price rises the same. The price of labor, as of everything else, is according to the demand there is for it. If then the tariff of '42 had the effect to increase the number of factories throughout the country, it had the same effect in raising the wages of the operative by the necessarily increased demand for labor.

ELIHU BURRITT.

This untiring champion of the cause of Peace is constantly engaged in opening his fire upon the military establishments of the country, and the line-of-battle-ship Ohio and West Point Academy have received many a red hot ball from his moral batteries. He is doing more single hande, to overthrow our navy and army then Wellington and all the armies and navies of Europe combined could effect in a century. In his last paper he calls on his military friends to furnish him with a sword which he promises "to give a christian name on his anvil." He says--It may be a mere fancy of ours, but we should affect much to stick the devil end of a sword into the fire and shape it into a pruning hook or horse shoe, and then hang it up in Fanueil Hall, as an evidence of the possibility of welding Christianity on to Paganism.

F. P. Mr. Appleton of Dorchester, recently of the Theological School Cambridge, has received an invitation from the Unitarian Society in the town to become their Pastor. We learn that the invitation was given with great unanimity, and under circumstances that warrant the expectation of its acceptance.

Rev. Mr. Tolman, recently settled in the ministry at the Plains is also a native of Dorchester, which, in case Mr. Appleton should accept the above call, will have furnished two clergymen to our town in the short space of a few months.

The First Day of the Session of Congress.

Washington, December 1st.

The SENATE was unusually full, the Vice President in the Chair. The credentials of the Hon. John Davis of this State, were read and he was qualified and took his seat.

In the HOUSE, Hon. John W. Davis, of Indiana, was chosen Speaker. After the appointment of a joint committee to wait upon the President to inform him that they were organized, both Houses adjourned.

December 2nd.

In the SENATE, an hour and three quarters of the President's Message was read, when it was voted to dispense with the further reading of it. A resolution to print 25,000 Extras of the Message with the correspondence concerning Oregon, was laid over.

In the HOUSE, B. B. French, Esq. was unanimously reappointed Clerk of the House. The President's Message was read, and 15,000 copies of it with the accompanying documents, and 20,000 of the Message alone, were ordered to be printed The House agreed to retain the Hour rule. The old rule against Abolition petitions was rejected, 84 to 121. The printing of the House was given to Ritchie and Heirs of the Union.

Hon. DANIEL P. KING arrived at Washington on Saturday evening last, and took his seat the first day of the Session.

Increase of Railroads.

There seems to be considerable apprehension among a portion of the community, lest, by a liberal policy of our Legislature in the granting of Railroad charters, we shall have a Railroad mania here, equal to that now raging in England. We look upon such fears as groundless, at present.—In countries where population has come to a stand or is increasing but slowly, there of course will be danger from the multiplicity of such roads, as the cost of the land over which they are constructed is immense, and there is little increase of travel to be hoped for in the future. But in young and growing countries, there can be no danger from encouraging the construction of Railroads. If they will not be immediately profitable, the rapid increase of population and business will soon make them so. On this ground the apprehensions from the present excitement in England, are not at all applicable to this country. There, population and business increase but very slowly, as the country is mostly settled. In this young and prosperous country, on the other hand, population is advancing with giant strides. Villages are springing up in what were a few years since uninhabited districts, and but few years will elapse before large towns or cities will take their places. With this rapid increase of population, comes labor with all its different departments. Factories are daily going up throughout the country, not only where there are advantages of water power, but propelled by the power of steam in every town and city of enterprise and wealth. The different mechanic arts increase rapidly. The Earth is made to produce more bountifully, to supply this increase of population. All is advancing and increasing in rapid ratio. And so long as there is this progression, there is nothing to be feared from the liberal spirit of our government. It is its duty to promote enterprizes to afford every facility for the advancement of the different sections of the country. Railroads are one of the principal methods by which all this is accomplished. By their means, the state is connected together, in its different parts, by communications which almost annihilate time and space. The interests of the different sections are thus more connected, and trade and business consequently increased, and there can be no danger from their encouragement by our Legislature. Roads which were built years since with wise forethought, between termini which afforded scanty support, are now the best of property, and it is hardly too much to say that roads the stock in which will now be taken only by the most sanguine, and the immediate profit of which cannot be demonstrated, will in a few years amply compensate the stockholders. Let then the government pursue a wise and far seeing policy upon this subject, looking well to the prosperity and advancement of the State.

From the Sandwich Islands.—The King of the Sandwich Islands has published an order suspending the diplomatic functions of the U. S. Commissioner at those Islands, (Geo. Brown Esq.) The Commissioner, it is said, refuses to leave, and keeps his flag flying. The King has also commanded that all correspondence on American affairs, be held with the acting Commercial Agent, (Mr. Wm. Hooper.) Mr. Hooper has published a documont protesting against the government of Sandwich Islands, for repeated insults to our government &c., until the privileges of Mr. Brown are restored to him, or an agent arrives with power to see justice done him.

Rev. Mr. TORREY.—A writer in a late number of the Puritan, represents the health of Rev. Mr. Torrey, whom he recently visited it, the Maryland Penetentiary, as being very feeble and thinks he will not be able, unless speedily released, to bear up under his many trials.

☞The Charleston News says that a young man, apparently about twenty three years of age, of the name of W. Phillips, arrived there on Thursday, 13th inst., from Boston, and put up at the Planter's Hotel. On Sunday the 16th, he took his breakfast at one of the public houses and went away, since which he has not been heard of by the few acquaintances he made in the city, nor by his landlords. His trunk remains unopened at the Planter's Hotel. He stated to one of his fellow passengers, in the Como, that he had about his person $900.

Institute Library.

The call which we recently made, for a collection of those pamphlets whose authors were inhabitants of the town, and on that account as well as for their contents would be of interest to this community—has been answered by the deposit of a number of the works solicited and hopes are entertained that nearly a complete set of such productions may be obtained and bound together for preservation. Many of the earlier published pamphlets are scarce and difficult to be obtained. The printed discourses of Dr. Wadsworth if they were all collected would of themselves make a volume of quite a respectable size. Some of a later date are also scarce, particularly Mr. King's Address at the laying of the corner stone of the Monument. Of the books received, neither of the Addresses delivered before the Moral Society by Messrs Nichols, Abbot, Osgood, Hunt and Proctor, were among them. Of the printed School Reports only four were received. Every year that passes will make it more difficult to make a complete collection and we renew the request to any persons who may have any of the published Discourses of Rev. Dr. Wadsworth, Rev. Mr. Walker, Rev. Mr. Sewall or other clergymen of the town to hand them to the Secretary or to the Library which is open every Saturday evening.—Besides the works indicated above any pamphlets which would be considered of peculiar interest to a citizen of Danvers would be thankfully received.

HOUSEWIFERY—One of our industrious housewives recently took to pieces her needle cushion which had been in use about eight years and found it to contain the astonishing number of two hundred and forty-six needles of all sizes which had got beyond their depth and could only be recovered by taking the cushion apart. Some of them were broken or bent and were purposely plunged into their soft bed to be out of harms way, but the greater number were accidentally lost and when recovered were in condition for farther use. It would be difficult to over estimate the importance of these little implements of female industry to the comfort, elegance, good taste and even the civilization of our species. They are sometimes "warranted not to cut in the eye" which is more than can be said of the fair creatures who use them.

Essex Agricultural Society.

We give below the amount of premiums and to whom awarded by this Society, for the best specimens of ploughing by double, single and horse teams. Also for the best Working Oxen.

DOUBLE TEAMS.

To Aaron Kinsman, of Ipswich, 1st prem. $10,00
" Joseph Goodrich, W. Newbury, 2d " 8,00
" Benjamin Poore, W. Newbury, 3d " 6,00
" Allen W. Dodge, Hamilton, 4th " 4,00 and to S. B. Swan, of Danvers, and Thomas Low, of Ipswich, a gratuity of Washington's Letters on Agriculture, one copy each.

SINGLE TEAMS.

To Joseph C. Putnam, No. 2, 1st premium, $8, 00
" James Putnam, " 6, 2d " 6 00
" Jona Berry, jr. " 4, 3d " 4 00
" Charles Foster, " 7, 4th " 2 00

HORSE TEAMS.

Six teams appeared an the field. Each team struck out its own land, containing the usual quantity, and ploughed as follows; viz:

John Dore, of Ipswich, ploughed	34	furrows, in	35	min.
Philip Storm, Marblehead,	"	30	"	37	"
A. P. Swinerton, Danvers,	"	30	"	46	"
Jos. Woodman, Haverhill,	"	34	"	53	"
Seth Holden, Salem,	"	28	"	50	"
John C. Putnam's team,	"	37	"	65	"

Mr. Pettingill ploughman.

All the ploughs used were of Ruggles, Nourse & Mason's make.

The Committee after a careful examination of the ploughing and the discipline of the horses, would have cheerfully recommended premiums to be given to all the competitors, but as only three were at their disposal, no more than this number could with propriety be awarded. The Committee award the premiums as follows, viz:

To John Dore, of Ipswich, 1st premium of $8 00
" Seth Holden, of Salem, 2d " 6 00
" Philip Storm, of Marblehead, 3d " 4 00

WORKING OXEN.

The Committee award to Jonathan Berry, jr., of Middleton, the first premium of ten dollars, for his speckled face cattle, five years old. They were large of the age, well formed, not full flesh, well matched as to strength and temper, and well trained for cattle of that age.

They award to S. B. Swan, of Danvers, the second premium of seven dollars, for his red oxen six years old. They worked well. The near ox was by the Committee considered the best working ox exhibited this day.

They awarded to Josiah Low of Essex, the third premium of five dollars, for his red oxen, reported seven years old. They were probably the largest and strongest pair of cattle among the whole entered—still the Committee did not think they worked as even and true as some others.

GREAT RAILWAY SCHEME. A project has been started in Canada for the construction of a railroad between Halifax and Quebec. The extent of the contemplated road is six hundred miles. The estimated cost varies from £3,500,000 to £5,000,000 sterling, or, in round numbers from fifteen millions to twenty two millions of dollars.—N. P. Herald.

MR. CALHOUN ELECTED TO THE SENATE. The Legislature of South Carolina, on the 56th ult. accepted Mr. Huger's resignation of the office of U. S. Senator, and elected Mr. Calhoun in the place by a vote of 125 out of 139 votes.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION—WOODBURY AGAIN DEFEATED. The Atlas has received returns from 129 towns, which give a majority of 2,758 against Woodbury, the Locofoco Texas candidate, and show that he has lost 1,308 since the last trial, when he wanted 500 votes of an election. The aggregate vote is much larger than at the last trial.

Important from England.

By the steamer Cambria we have news 15 days later from England. The crops there are nothing so bad as had been represented, the ports will not be opened and the flour speculators will find their fingers burnt.

There was considerable excitement existing on the Oregon question and the subject it was said occupied a great deal of the attention of the British Cabinet during its late frequent and protracted sittings. There appeared to be something very warlike in the wind and the greatest activity prevailed in the navy yards and Arsenals of England. It was currently reported that the "old Duke" of Wellington has declared that if England goes to war with the United States it shall be a short war and a decisive one.

☞William S. Damrell, Esq., has been nominated by the Native Americans as a candidate for the office of the Mayor of Boston.

It is said that the Gloucester fisherman have been remakably successful this season.

CAPTURE OF A SLAVER. The barque Mohawk Capt. Ballard, which arrived at this port yesterday morning from Zanzibar and St. Helena, reports having left at St. H. Oct. 14th H. B. M. steamship Penelope, which arrived there the day previous from the Coast of Africa, having captured a few days before a slave steamer called the Cacique, rigged as a three-masted schooner, which fitted out at Pernambuco, and was off the Coast waiting for 1500 negroes to be got ready for her cargo. On board this slaver were 45 persons as crew—and amongst them were four Americans, (two engineers and two stokers.) The assistant engineer is now a prisoner on board the Penolope, and the other three are on board the Cacique, expected immediately at St. Helena, when she would be put into the Vice Admiralty Court for condemnation. The Commodore of the Penelope intends to take the four Americans back to the Coast and deliver them up to the American Commodore.

Accident on the Rail Road. The freight train of cars which left Portland on Tuesday morning at 4 o'clock, just after passing "Milliken's Crossing," about ten miles out, ran off the track; the engine shot down over a steep bank, and was turned upside down, and two of the cars were shattered to pieces. Mr. Jacob Nichols, engineer, had his shoulder dislocated—Mr. John Pettigrew, fireman, had his chest crushed in, and received some internal injury, and Mr. William Merritt, conductor, was considerably bruised; but we believe neither was fatally injured.

The accident was caused by the sinking in of a portion of the track, owing to the earth having been washed away by the heavy rain of Monday afternoon. The freight in the two wrecked cars were scattered in every direction.

The passenger train of cars, when about four miles out, was met by a hand car, which had been despatched for the purpose, and having received infomation of the accident, returned, and did not leave again till 12 o'clock M., at which time the road was made passable.—Portland Adv.

RAILROAD EXPLOSION. The boiler of one of the locomotives on the Boston Railroad exploded at the Albany depot on Monday morning, by which the engineer was badly, if not fatally wounded, and the fireman had his leg broken.

King's Chapel,—We understand that at the close of the religious services at King's Chapel, Sunday afternoon, a letter from the Rev. Ephraim Peabody of New Bedford, addressed to pew-holders and proprietors of the church, was read, in which he declared his acceptance of their invitation to him to become their Pastor.—Boston Daily Adv.

CAPE COD POTATOES have escaped the rot, from being planted under ground manured by sea weed alone.

The Baltimore Patriot says the story of a young lady being buried alive there is a hoax. It is one of the worst kind of hoaxes.

Accidental Death. An old respectable widow Lady, named Mrs. Hannah M. Ball, was found dead this afternoon, lying at the chamber stairs in the house, where she resided alone, at the foot of Willians street. She had not been previously seen since Thanksgiving morning, and it is reasonably supposed and believed, that in coming down the stairs, on that day, she fell, and thus came to her lamentable death. This supposition is strengthened by the fact that she was dressed with her bonnet, shawl and rubbers, as if going out, and that she had been invited to drink tea with one of the neighbors, on that evening. Her age was about 60 years, and was well known to many of our citizens as a seamstress, by which occupation she supported herself comfortably. A Coroner's jury of inquest upon the body was called by Col. Chapin, which returned a verdict in accordance with the above. It was not discovered that any bones were broken by the fall; the injury being internal.—Springfield Republican.

A correspondent of the Charleston Courier says that Massachusetts has a hundred million invested in manufactures, and that her commerce growing out of these manufactures is immense.

☞Almon Babbitt, Esq., Agent of the Mormons is said to be at present in Cincinnati treating with Bishop Purcel for the sale of Nauvoo to the Roman Catholics.

PRICE OF BREAD. By the last papers, it is reported that bread, in London, is selling at tenpence, the four pound loaf. Tenpence is about 18 cents. The common price here for a pound loaf is five cents; or 20 cents for four pounds.

Drowned.—Mr Lewis Pray accidentally fell from a wharf near South Bridge, late on Saturday evening, and before assistance could be rendered he was drowned. He had lately been woking in Andover, and had come to Salem to spend Thanksgiving with his friends. He has left a wife and several children —Salem Reg.

FELIX G. MCCONEELL, of Alabama, member of Congress, in a disgraceful brawl in Montgomery, was severely cut across the ribs with a bowie knife, a few days since. The wound, however, is not dangerous. He is one of the champions of Southern Democracy.

The following has been received in reply to a communication in our last. As we published an article on one side we cannot well reject one on the other. We would suggest to our correspondents, that on matters which touch the interests of the town, a peaceful and conciliatory course would be most for the interests of the place, while the only effect of such communications as these, is to excite sectional jealousies.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—I had supposed, that after the unsuccessful attempt of the Whigs at the Plains to prevent the election of the regular Whig candidates for the Legislature, they would have felt inclined to review the course they had pursued and feel regret at the strong sectional feelings which their injudicious correspondent" from the Plains, in your last paper, had excited. But we learn from a "highly respected that the controversy is still to be kept up, and the breach instead of healed, to be widened.

The article referred to is full of vituperative insinuations, and shows plainly the bitter ranklings of disappointed schemes. The writer seems to be full of venom, writhing under the torturous feeling of his own littleness. In fancy the leaders of the opposition ticket had beheld their ranks, before the election, swelling into an army sufficiently large and strong to rule and dictate the whole of the South Parish and the New Mills. In their conceited pride and vanity, they rung in our ears their boasts that they could defeat any election, and with triumphant sneer threw down their gauntlet. Endued with the spirit of a Don Quixote, nothing was too great for them to overcome. Like the frog in the fable, who tried to swell himself to the size of an ox, they had become so powerful and influential in their own conceit, that they were to be looked upon with awe and reverence by the profane multitude. With vaporing and boastful arrogance they marched up to the Polls. Placards were stuck on poles and pasted on all the neighboring fences, slandering the regular Whig candidates. The Knight of the Plains with his redoubtable Squires, with complacent looks, strutted around the entrance of the Hall, and

"All went merry as a marriage bell."

They as Whigs of the Plains were going to defeat the election of the regular Whig candidates of the town. All was joy at the prospect. The cars on the Eastern Railroad ran with unwonted speed on that day, for in the defeat of the Whig candidates, that corporation hoped to rule the town. It was altogether a great day for them, but the only trouble was that it did not last long enough, for sunset came and "changed the spirit of their dream." The leaders at the Plains stood amazed and confounded when, for the first time, the fixed inviolable fact" burst upon them, that We of the Plains are not the whole town. They with all their boasts and self confidence were defeated—were beaten The regular Whig candidates were chosen. The frog returned to his diminutive size, and was frightened at his own nothingness. The leaders of the opposition ticket for the first time saw and felt, that the South Parish and the New Mills were a component part of the town. It was astonishing but it was true. What then did the leaders of the opposition do. Did they hope by quiet to still the storm they had brewed.—Far from it. Lashed into a perfect frenzy at their defeated plans, they foam and rage with fury and indignation. The grounds taken by the captious writer referred to, are in perfect keeping with their whole course, and fully as ridiculous. In his disappointment, he complains that it was by the help of members of the other parties that the regular Whig Representatives were chosen. We can assure him that it was without the help of the patriotic Whigs of the Plains that they were chosen. If members of other parties voted for Messrs Osborn and Fowler, it shows that they were better Whigs than some who claim the name. We never supposed it was criminal for Whigs to offer their votes to members of other parties, and we cannot see how Whigs can prevent other parties from voting for their candidates, if they wish to. It is a singular charge. But how did the so-called Whigs at the Plains do? Why did not the writer explain that? They are horror struck at the idea of members of other parties voting the Whig ticket, yet with wonderful consistency did all they could to circulate Locofoco and Liberty votes. Every Whig vote distributor from the Plains, had his fists full of Locofoco and opposition Whig tickets which they held up to the sight of the voters, asking them to take their choice and precious little choice there was for Whigs, as they well knew. It is all as I have said, ridiculous—the height of the ridiculous, and we can only say to the heroic Whigs of the Plains in view of their airy excursion and in anticipation of another, in the words of the writer of the famous John Gilpin, with a slight alteration;—

"And when they next do ride a race,
May we be there to see."

ONE OF THE SEVENTY-FOUR.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—Since you so frankly and honestly denied that the Whigs and "Democrats" of South Danvers have made a Treaty, there has been the greatest wonder here in North Danvers how those old enemies were enabled to settle their differences and form such a brotherly Union as was exibited at the late Town meeting. But after some enquiry and reflection we are enabled to solve the mystery—We all know that our modern "Democrats" are a very sympathising, kind hearted people who can never bear to see a Public Officer persecuted, there is nothing that so touches their sensibilities and causes the tears to flow in such profusion, especially if the persecutors assail their victims with the weapons of truth, it is then much more cruel and shocking to the refined feeling of all "true Democrats." In order to take advantage of this weak side of the poor "Democrats" the cunning Whigs called upon all in town in "favor of a new railroad to Boston" to meet at "Union Hall" this being something new and not thought of before, curiosity brought all parties to the meeting, but instead of a new Railroad meeting they made it (what it was intended to be) a sympathising meeting. and as we might have known no Democrat could ever withstand the impassioned eloquence by which they were exhorted to come forth and lend their aid to save from ruin a man who was most dreadfully persecuted merely because he was such a "straight forward independent servant of the people. This was just the case to touch the Democrats to the quick, they were all subdued at once, and resolved to come to the rescue, and in their frenzy they wholly forgot that Mr. Fowler was a whig, and as they were converted at the Railroad meeting it was thought proper in order to carry out the joke to give them a Railroad Ticket the whole plan worked to a charm. When the trial came these young champions like some new converts of a camp meeting rushed on to the front of the battle and the way they handled the "Railroad Tickets" was a caution. But imagine what must have been the mortification of these poor fellows when it was thundered in their ears that they had achieved a "glorious Whig Victory"!!—There was no Treaty—oh no!

Mr. Editor—I was rather sorry you told how I had such a prejudice against the South Parish Whigs, kos may be they would'nt found it out!

ONE OF THE SIXTEEN.

Lyceum.

This Institution will probably open on some evening of next week, of which public notice will be given. We learn that several distinguished and popular Lecturers are already engaged, and a very interesting course may be expected.

The communication from our Boston correspondent, was received too late for this number; it will appear in our next.

☞We beg leave to call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. Dodge in another column. Those in want should not fail to call and examine his stock of Books, Stationary, &c.

Mr. Gough—This eloquent advocate of the temperance cause has at last made his appearance in public. He was in the gallery at Faneuil Hall at a Temperance meeting on Thursday evening and called out by the most hearty cheers. He made a short address which was greeted with rounds of applause.

☞Rev. Geo. Cheever has received and accepted a call to the first Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh, Michigan.

Jumped Overboard.—J. S. Sweeney, of Memphis on the Memphis down yesterday, jumped overboard, on the night of the 19th. He left a note in his berth with these words—"I am on my way to heaven."—N. O. Tropic, 21st ulto.

A Century plant is now in bloom in the Newport Garden, Michigan.

☞John Junifer, the colored lad who has lately figured in the newspapers, arrived safely in Salem on Tuesday, and rejoined his mother.

BOSTON PRICES CURRENT.

Monday, Dec. 1st.

Flour. Sales of Genesee, good common brands, have been made at $6 3-4 a 6 7-8, and flat boop, in fine order, at $6 1-4 per brl.

Hides. The balance of an import of Rio Grande about 4000, weighing 20 lbs, sold at about 12 1-2c, probably deliverable in New York, 6 ms; a parcel New Orleans, green salted, at 5c per lb, 6 mos; a few bales Calcutta, green salted, 90c a $1 05 each, and do dry, 65 a 75c do, 6 mos cr.

Leather. Sale to-day, by auction, of 2300 sides Sole, as follows: Light weights, 12 1-2 to 13 1-4; middle weights, 12 1-2 to 13 1-2 heavy, 11 3-4 to 12 1-2; Buffalo, 10 to 10 1-4; good damaged, 8 3-4 to 9 1-4; poor damaged, 5 3-4 to 6 1-4; Dry Hide Wax, 8 to 8 3-4; Slaughter Wax 9 to 9 3-4; Splits, 14 1-2 to 15 1-2; African Kip, 6 1-4 to 8 3-4; Calf Skins, 42 1-2 to 47 1-2. Terms cash.

Thursday Afternoon, Dec. 4.

Owing to the storm, but little business was done today. Cotton—No change in prices; sales 250 bales. Provisions—Sales of 400 bbls prime Pork, to go out of the market, 11, 6 mos; 700 kegs Lard, 8 1-2 c, 6 mos. Hides—1600 Truxillo sold at 10 7-8c per lb, 6 mos. Nothing done in Flour, Corn, Sugar, Molasses, or Coffee.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Dec 1, 1845.
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 650 Beef Cattle, 150 Stores, 3300 Sheep, and 820 Swine.

Prices—Beef Cattle—Last week's prices were fully sustained, viz: Extra $5; first quality 4 50 a 4 75; second quality $4 a 4 25; third quality 2 75 a 3 75.

Barrelling Cattle—Mess 3 25; No 1, 2 75.

Stores—Yearlings $5 a $7; two years old $7 a $14; three year old $15 a $24.

Sheep—Sales from $1 to 2 12 1-2.

Swine—Lots to peddle at 3 1-2c for Sows, and 4 1-2c for Barrows. At retail, from 3 1 2 to 5 1 2c.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem Mr Joseph A. Reed of Salem to Miss Martha White, of Exeter. Mr William Maynes to Miss Ann Rogers. Mr Robert Stone, jr., to Miss Mary Jane Rollins. Mr Simeon Flint to Miss Ellen R. Pollard. Mr John Glover, jr., of Salem, to Miss Rebecca Perry, of Yarmouth, N. S. Mr Joseph B. Mayo, of Danvers, to Miss Mary R. Underwood, of Salem.

In Hamilton, Mr Wm. P. Dickinson to Miss Mancy A. Webber. Mr James E. Edding to Miss Martha B. Appleton.

In Reading, 1st inst, Rev Richard Tolman, of this town, to Miss Olivia Sweetser.

In Topsfield, on Thursday evening, Mr Wm. Elliot, to Miss Elizabeth Sumner.

In Philadelpha, S. Abbott Lawrence, of Boston, to Miss Sally Creason, daughter of the late Nathan Bunker, Esq.

DEATHS.

In this town, on Wednesday last, an infant daughter of Caleb and Mary N. Stark, aged about 1 year.

Weep not for the babe; be thy sorrow supprest;
Weep not for the babe, it has gone to its rest;
'Twas a sweet little flower, but too tender to stay.
In the world's chilling blast it has withered away.

Weep not for the babe which thou couldst not save,
Oh, give it with joy to the God who first gave;
For firm is the promise the Savior has given,
Who said "that of such is the kingdom of heaven."

With that heart-cheering sentence, say, canst thou repine?
No, no, thou canst never, then calmly resign
The sweet little form to the arms of his love.
And sigh for its home in the mansions above.

In Salem, Miss Mary H. Seaver, daughter of the late Capt Thomas Seaver, aged 23. Mrs Lydia Burgess, aged 71. Mrs. Hannah, widow of the late Mr. Perer Grover, aged 64. Mr Jonathan Dustin, aged 68.

In Newburyport, Mr Samuel Loud, aged 55. Miss Mary Lunt, aged 54.

In North Andover, on Sunday morning Rev Wilkes Allen, formerly pastor of the Unitarian Society at North Chelmsford, aged 79.

MASONIC NOTICE.

A Regular meeting of Jordan Lodge, will be held on WEDNESDAY evening next. Brethren of the Order are respectfully invited to attend.

N. P. C. Patterson, Sec.

Danvers, Dec 4, A. L. 5845.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

Monument Division—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at Sanger's Hall, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.

South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. of R.

Meet every Monday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.

Wm. Price, Sec. nov 8

The Stewart Improved
Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings, which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.

nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar; Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of Blanks, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issued from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,
No. 8 Front Street, (Henfield Block.)
SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general Eating House, upon the European plan,—Meals, Cuts, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 1awtf

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of

Jonathan Perry,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, gentleman deceased, and has taken upon herself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

REBECCA PERRY,

Danvers, Dec. 6, 1845 Adm'x.

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. Essex, ss. Nov. 29. 1845. A warrant has been duty issued against the estate of Francis Eveleth, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. King, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.

JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,
dec 6 Messenger.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

WINTER GLOVES.

LADIES' Gen's and Children's Cashmere and Woollen Gloves, of all sizes, for sale at

dec 6 M. T. DOLE.

BROADCLOTHS.

SUPERFINE Black, Blue Black and Brown Cloths, for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 6

HAY! HAY!

300 BUNDLES superior pressed Hay, just landed from sch Erie—and for sale by

GEO C VARNEY & CO,
dec 6 13 Front street.

WOOD! WOOD!

120 CORDS good Eastern hard Wood, for sale by G C VARNEY & CO, dec 6 Stone's Wharf.

HAY, HAY.

300 BUNDLES of Hay, of very prime quality, and in good order; for sale by dec 6 G & S J. DIKE, 27 Water-st.

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street. Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.
dec 6

Boarders Wanted.

THE subscriber having taken the western end of Mrs. Dodge's house, opposite Park street, wishes to obtain 8 or 10 gentleman Boarders. His terms will be as low as any similar house, and his accommodations warranted to give satisfaction.

nov 15 JOHN MERRILL.

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their Saloon on Monday, Oct. 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Flowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in Lunt's Building, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;

Rathburn.

The New England Stove—a new pattern;

Douglass, which is highly recommended;

Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,

together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:

Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;

Column:

Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus, may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 Lawrence Place,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. Fabens, Esq., Boston,
G. G. Newhall, "
John Henfield, Salem.
James Kimball, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. Harrison "

oct 25

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land underand adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at

C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

oct 25

NOTICE.

IN consequence of a change in our business, we have sold at public Auction the balance of our Stock of Groceries, Crockery, Glass and Stone Ware, at No. 13 Front street.

For the benefit of many interested, we would give particular notice that we are still on hand, and can be found on our Wharf in rear of the Store, where we have on hand and for sale at the lowest prices,

200 Cords best Eastern Hard Wood.
100 " Tanning Bark.
25 " Burning "
300 Bundles first quality pressed Hay.
25 Barrels Chenango Potatoes, best quality,

with all other kinds of Eastern produce, which we should be happy to dispose of to our many friends and patrons n reasonable terms.

GEO. C. VARNEY, & CO.,
nov 29 Stone's Whf.

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—Allen & Welch's Line—From Commercial Wharf.

On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The elegant fast sailing schooner BARNSTABLE, Taylor, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

John Phillips Agent at Mobile. nov 28

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

Allen & Welch's Line, From Commercial Whf.

On Saturday.

The newly coppered bark Montpelier, Stackpole, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. Weld & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

dec 1

FOR RICHMOND.

Allen & Welch's Line.

From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. ROWENA, Young, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

nov 1

JACQUAR'D MACHINES,
For $25.

TO CARPET MANUFACTURERS.—The subscriber still continues the making of the above machines for the above price, suitable for Carpeting, which he warrants to be as good as any others, as they embrace all the latest improvements.

Also—THREE PLY and BRUSSELS MACHINES, made reasonable, for cash.

JAMES LIGHTBY,
sept 20 8t Jersey City, N. J.

Second Hand Stoves.

THE subscribers have for sale at their Warehouse, a large lot of Second Hand Cooking Stoves, —mostly Norton pattern—at very low prices.

oct 25 LORD & WILEY.

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call.

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

NOTICE. The Essex Mechanic Mutual Fire Insurance Company give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. Joseph A. Goldthwait, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. Brooks, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

DOMESTIC HOSIERY.

R. H. CHAMBERLAIN respectfully informs the citizens of Danvers and its vicinity, that he has just opened at his Hosiery and Glove Store,

No. 236 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

300 doz of Hosiery and Gloves, of Foreign and Domestic manufacture, comprising the largest variety ever before offered in Salem, viz:

LADIES' Yarn, Alpacca, Segovia, Lamb's Wool, Merino and Cashmere HOSE, in white, black, mixed and mode colors.

GENT'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, HOSE and Half Hose, some extra size.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, and Cashmere Hose and Half Hase; also, Jonian, Royal Coburg, Ceylon, and Grecian Boots, for infants.

GLOVES, in great variety, comprising all the different styles, sizes and qualities, for ladies, gents, children and misses.

Ladies' Vests and Pants—a beautiful article of Ladies' Merino and Cotton Vests and Pants.

Gent's Shirts and Drawers—Merino, Lamb's wool, Yarn, Scotch wool, Portsmouth, Ipswich and country knit Shirts and Drawers.

Shirts, Bosoms and Collars—A large assortment o Cotton Shirts, Linen Bosoms and Collars, Dickeys, Stocks, Scarfs, Cravats, Suspenders, Pocket Hdkfs, &c.

WOOLLEN YARN—300 lbs of black, mixed, white, scarlet, Random, and mode colored Woolen Yarn, from the Portsmouth manufactory.

CASSIMERES—A large lot of Cassimeres and Sattinetts constantly on hand.

Mouseline de Laines—2 cases Mousseline de Laines, of newpatterns, just opened and for sale cheap.

Also—Red, white and yellow Flannels, rich styles of Prints, from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Tickings, bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings; Scotch, Bird's Eye and Russia Diapers; bleached, unbleached, and colored Table Covers; white and colored Linens; Silk, Cotton and Linen Cambric Hdkfs; Linen Lawns; Pins, Tapes, Needles, Purses, Scissors, Thimbles, Combs, Eyelets, silk and Cotton Bindings, Gimps and Fringes, Knitting Pins, Ribbons, Silk and Cotton Braids; Linen Bobbins and Tapes, Stay Backs and Bindings, Knitting Cotton, Sewing Cotton, Sewing Silk and Twist, Silk and Cotton Cords Saddler's Silk, Buttons, etc.

sept 22 is2m

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.

oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

Paper Hangings
VERY CHEAP.

SAMUEL B. FOSTER, being desirous of reducing his present stock of Paper Hangings, offers them for sale at reduced prices. 2100 Rolls of New Patterns, have been added this fall. One of the most fashionable and best assortments of Paper Hanging that can be found, is thus offered at very low prices. Call and see for yourselves at the extensive Paper Hanging Establishment,

No 30 Lawrence Place,

near the Rail Road Depot. Recollect, 30 is the number and FOSTER is the man.

Salem, Nov 1, 1845. 1m

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,

Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars,

&c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemical Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing appare, and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,

oct 11 10 Front street

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, Jr. oct 25

To Let.

A part of a House in Park street. Inquire of

oct 25 J. ELLIOTT.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of EZRA GOWING,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to the said estate are called upon to make payment to WILLIAM GOWING,

Salem. Nov. 8th, 1845. Adm'r.

Fall and Winter Clothing.

READY made Overcoats, Sacks and Jackets, Men's and Boy's Pants and Vests, a good assortment.

Also—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, VESTINGS AND TRIMMINGS, for sale cheap, at

W. D. JOPLIN'S,
Nearly opposite the Monument.

—ALSO—

The Dwelling House and Land, making the corner of Fulton and Walnut stseets—a very pleasant situation, will be sold at a bargain and on favorable terms. sept 13

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the Warren Bank
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

BEAUTIFUL styles of Muslins, for evening Dresses. Also, embroidered Dresses, received at 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

SHAWLS—At Reduced Prices.

KEITH & MASON will offer their excellent assortment of Shawls at decided bargains, in order to close off their fall stock. nov 22

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law

Office in Felton's (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March29th. tf

ANOTHER LOT

OF those prime Fall and Winter VESTS, for $1 75.

Also—"A few more left" of the WINTER SACKS, fo 6, at W. D. JOPLIN'S. oct 6

WIDE FRINGES AND GIMPS. Just received by KEITH & MASON, a lot of new styles Wide Fringes and Gimps for trimming Cloaks. nov 15

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

Prints and Patches.

A GOOD variety of new styles, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,
To be sold this Year—1845.
'OAK HALL!'
UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND
Furnishing Goods!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS
Look to This.

☞An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods a dapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilianey and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclams.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article,

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price tht I will

DEFY T H WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"Oak Hall!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. At my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

COMBS. A beautiful article of Buffalo Horn Combs, for sale at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAINS',
nov 29 291 Essex street

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.
DEALERS IN WATCHES,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,
aug 17 JEWELRY REPAIRED 3m

LORRAINE'S PILLS.

All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

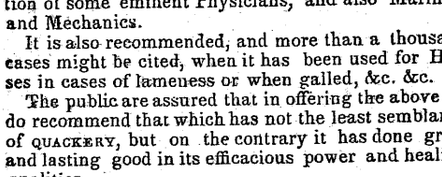
It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.



WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm.R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
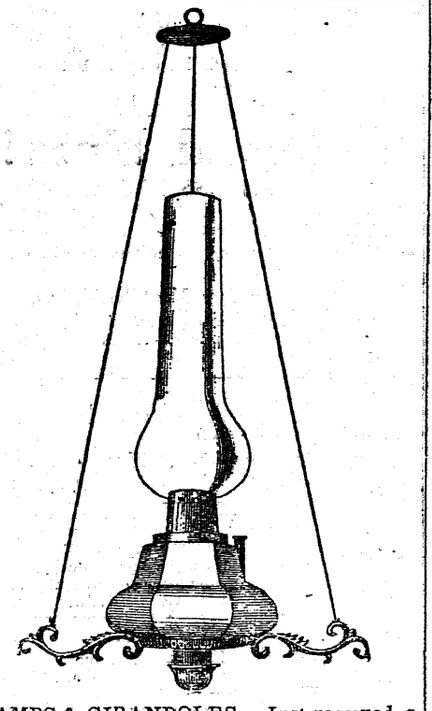
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FALL SUPPLY.



1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of
W & S B IVES,
oct 25 Stearns' Building.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

FOR SALE CHEAP.
One good second hand CHAISE,
" " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " LIGHT WAGON.
By THOMAS TRASK, Main street
June 7 tf

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, of different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN OSBORNE, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, potter, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to KENDALL OSBORNE;
Danvers, Nov. 22 * Adm'r.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of
GIDEON FOSTER.
esqnire, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, testate, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: all persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
SAMUEL W. KING, Adm'r.
Danvers, Nov. 22, 1845.

Mr Editor—I now have many valuable customers from your neighborhood, and feeling desirous of extending my acquaintance, I am not aware of any better way than to ask your aid; and this is to inform the readers o your paper, that I have a stock of HATS, CAPS, and every description of FUR GOODS, equal in variety to any in New England, and at as low prices.

Those who visit the city or are in the way of sending for goods, are respectfully requested to give me a call.

☞Wholesale Rooms, 2d and 3d stories,
No. 173 Washington Street, Boston.
oct 11 WM. M. SHUTE.

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red Ink. Gillott's and other Steel Pens, Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.

Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound, can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.
oct 18 tf

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns, on drab grounds, for sale by M. T. DOLE.
nov 14

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks. Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for
PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,
formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.
may 24 3m

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same s solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained pricesat which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

REMOVAL.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURERS AND DEALERS IN
Rich Jewelry and Fancy Goods,

HAVE removed to the New Store, No. 291 Essex street, (next above Mechanic Hall) where they will keep constantly for sale Gold Finger Rings, Breast Pins, Bracelets, Lockets, Keys, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Silver Thimbles, Silver and Plated Table and Tea Spoons, Butter Knives, Silver Plated and Brittania Ware, Shell, Horn, and Ivory Combs, Pocket Books, Purses, &c., &c

N. B. All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry, made over or exchanged for new.

S. & C. having acquired a thorough knowledge of the business in New York, as well as our success for the past five years in this city, will, we feel assured, enable us to execute wtth approbation any orders entrusted to our care.

☞Thankful for past patronage, we solicit a continuance of the same.

Salem, Macrh 15 tf

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a smal Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument. JOSEPH SHED.
july 26

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brincer-hoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam Scaenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldock; Different inds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuine Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; Also, Brandreth s, Indian Vegetable, Becwith s, Lees' Dean s, Parr s, Richardson s, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs, Mace, Cloves etc. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers May 31 1845.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability eannot be exeelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

Fruit and Ornamental TREES,

For sale at GROVE NURSERY, Salem.

All the most approved kinds of Apples, such as Baldwins, Sweetings, Greenings, Russets, Minister, Portet, Early Harvey, summer Pearmain, Early Bough, Glory of the West, William's Favorite; many varieties of Pippins, Codlings, Rennets and the Nonsuch tribe. Also—the most approved kinds of Pears, such as the Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Belle of Flanders, Easter Beurre, Sickle, &c. Many varieties of the choicest kinds of Plums and Peaches.

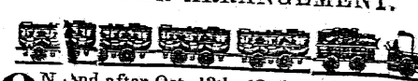
Also—a choice assortment of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, such as Mountain Ash, Horse Chestnut, Scotch Larch, Fir Balsam, Arborvitæ, &c. Many varieties of the most splendid kinds of Honeysuckles and climbing Roses, for covering piazzas and lattice work. Also—above twenty varieties of the Tea Rose, Hybrid Perpetuals, Borbons, and many others of those lately introduced from Europe, &c.—As these trees and Plants are raised on poor soil, without high manuring, they will be found to be hardy and healthy, and when removed to richer soil, they cannot fail to make rapid progress.

Also—Buckthorne, for hedges, Strawberry Plants of the best kinds, and a great number of seedling Apples, Pears and Quinces, for stocks.

For further particulars, enquire of THOS. CRUTKSHANK, at the Nursery, or W. D. JOPLIN'S, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers. oct 18

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.



FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of
HIRAM GRANT.
Danvers, April 19, 1845,

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store. where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or
READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

EASTERN RAILROAD
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newbury'p't for Boston, 8 19 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 * PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-10, A.M., 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portl and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots.

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the East Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4 A.M.	Leave Salem at	8 A
"	"	8 3-4	"	"	9 1-
"	"	9 3-4	"	"	11 3
"	"	11 1-4	"	"	12 3-4
"	"	1 3-4 P M.	"	"	3 P.
"	"	2 3-4	"	"	4
"	"	4 1-2	"	"	5
"	"	5 1-2	"	"	6 1-
"	"	6 1-2	"	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jos G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Ho and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reas ble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Bagga Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and N Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Beaver and Pilot Cloths, at Gre
BARGAINS.

ALSO—BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMER and VESTINGS, of all kinds, at
M. TELYEA'S,
Corner of Grove and Main street
Who will make Surtouts from Pilot Cloths, from $7 $13 37 1-2, and Beaver from $11 to $15.

Dress Coats and Frocks, from $12 50 to $15.

Pants and Vests from $3 to $6, all in good shape and w ranted to fit to a T.

N. B. WINTER FASHIONS just received.
Danvers, Sept 19, 1845.

WANTED IMMEDIATELY—Three or Four G to learn the Tailors trade, at M. TELYEA'S.

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 Bost ST., will be found constantly on hand, the follow assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cooki Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes a patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatne and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

TOPOGRAPHICAL MAP OF PALESTIN by J. H, Colton. Compiled principally from the o servaions of Messrs Robinson and Smith. The religio Press and many of the secular papers have spoken in hi terms of this map. For sale by G. W. & E. CRAFTS. 174 Essex St. Salem

---

HOSIERY AND GLOVES.

JUST opened by M. T. DOLE, a complete assor ment of Gents Woolen, Cashmere, White K and Thread Gloves.

Ladies Woolen, Cashmere, Long White, dark an Light colored Kid do.

Children's Woolen and Cashmere do, of every siz

Ladies' Ribb'd and Plain Worsted Hose, mode c ors and black.

Lamb's Wool, Ribb'd and Plain do, mode colo and black.

Extra heavy Blue Black Alpacca do.

White Scgovia do; Children's Fancy do.
oct 25 tf

CHARLES H. MANNING.
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Stre
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reaso able terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES ma and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHE made as above. oct 15

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received h Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroid Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KEITH & MASON, Washington street, Salem. nov 22

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 13, 1845. NUMBER 39.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

ELEGIAC STANZAS.

THOU art laid to rest in the spring-time hours,
In the freshness of early feeling;
While the dew yet lies on the new-born flowers,
And winds through the wood-paths are stealing;
While yet life was gay to thine ardent eye,
While its rich hopes filled thy bosom;
While each dream was pure as the upper sky,
And sweet as the opening blossom:
But thy promise of being, which shone so fair,
Hath passed like a summer cloud in air;
Thy bosom is cold, which with love was warm,
And the grave embraces thy gentle form.

Thou art slumbering now in a voiceless cell,
While nature her garland is wreathing;
While the earth seems touched with a radiant spell,
And the air of delight is breathing;
While the day looks down with a mellow beam,
Where the roses in light are blushing:
Where the young leaves dance with a fitful gleam,
And the stream into song is gushing;
While bright wings play in the golden sun,
The tomb hath caressed thee, thou faded one;
The clod lies cold on that settled brow,
Which was beaming with pleasure and youth but now.

Should we mourn that Death's Angel, on dusky wing,
O'er thy flowery path has driven?—
That he crushed the buds of thy sunny spring—
That thy spirit is borne to heaven?
How soon will the visions of earth grow dim—
How soon will its hopes be faded;
And the heart that hath leaped to the syren's hymn,
With sadness and gloom be o'ershaded!
The feelings are fresh but a little while,—
We can bask but an hour in affection's smile,
Ere the friend and the lover have passed away—
Ere the anthem is sung o'er their wasting clay!

Then take thy rest in that shadowy hall,
In thy mournful shroud reposing;
There is no cloud on the soul to fall—
No dust o'er its light is closing:
It will shine in glory when time is o'er,
When each phantom of earth shall wither;
When the friends who deplore thee shall sigh no more,
And lie down in the dust together:
Though sad winds wail in the cypress hough,
Thou art resting untroubled and calmly now:
With a seal of sleep on thy folded eye,
While thy spirit is glad in the courts on high.

COMMUNICATION.

Railroad—Facts.

Mr. Editor—It is a fact, that the people of Danvers are determined, that their beautiful and flourishing town shall be rendered still more prosperous, by a closer connection with the metropolis, and that they will enjoy the enriching influences, which are diverging from Boston to all points provided with suitable conductors, to wit: as in cases of electricity, so here,—the best are bands of iron, and, that they have entered upon the good work, with a spirit, before whose energy, the very ideas of failure and defeat, perish.

It is a fact, that the people of Danvers—if the proclamation which was issued from the ballot box on Monday last, means any thing—have effectually put to rest, the question of a branch Railroad terminating in a ferry.

And by the way, speaking of a ferry, I am reminded of another, and as I think, somewhat important fact, as follows:

Having occasion to visit Danvers on the afternoon of Wednesday last, 26th inst. I went to the E. Railroad depot, and at half past two, their usual and advertised time of departure, we left Boston in the boat to cross the ferry. As bad luck would have it, it happened to be low water at the time; and the boat struggling beneath the weight of a mass of human beings, probably as great as ever stood upon her deck, at one time, could not raise her head to its accustomed position; thus rendering our ascent to the slide, a very difficult performance. Hence a tremendous scramble ensued, in which every one looked, and acted, as though the main point was to take care of himself—always excepting those, who had charge of ladies—more than 200 of whom I dare say, will remember this affair until next thanksgiving.

As for my own part, after a number of sharp struggles, and severe bodily pressure almost sufficient in olden time, to have cured witchcrafts—and amid cries of "ladders would sell well here" &c. &c., I emerged from the race way, actually invigorated by the operation, as you might have judged, had you seen me run for a seat; for I had made up my mind, that after every seat had been taken up by the passengers, there would be a "few more left" unprovided for, and governing myself by the all prevailing maxim, "the devil take the hindermost," as I said before, I pulled for a seat.

I will not speak of the murmuring and discontent, which manifested itself along the whole line of cars, in consequence of the delay we experienced. This is not my object. I wish to speak of the ferry—its evils—and to deal in facts.

It is a fact that we did not start from the ferry, until nine minutes past three, according to Railroad time, having consumed thirty-nine minutes, in making the first half mile. And it is an equally obvious fact, that if you place yourself in any train leading out of Boston, on any other Railroad, I care not which, at the expiration of thirty nine minutes from the starting time, you will not be less than thirteen miles on your journey. Yes, Mr. Editor had your new Railroad from Hay market square to the South Parish been completed, and had the train started at the same instant, from that Depot, that we left that of the Eastern, then at the same moment that we commenced putting on steam to leave East Boston, your train would be blowing off steam, within sight from the windows of your printing office.

It is a fact, that these 39 minutes, to the 1000 people which I suppose to be about the number who occupied the 13 large cars, making up this train, is no inconsiderable item being precisely the same thing, as detaining one man, 65 days if there is any truth in figures, or in the ten hour system, so popular at the present day. Yes 65 days false imprisonment! and that for no offence, except electing to go east over this, when we ought to have a better route. Certainly worse than the old barbarous law of Massachusetts, which while it imprisoned a man for an honest debt, gave him a chance to swear out twice, in less than 65 days; and once out could be imprisoned no more, for the the same offence.

But not so with the evils of this ferry. We are always liable. The particular evil of which I have been speaking—equal to holding a man in "durance vile" for 65 days was suffered by a single train; now what must be the aggregate, when you remember that there are twenty-four hundred trains in a year, crossing the same ferry.—Would you have believed, Mr. Editor, that this ferry could have proved itself so intolerable, in a bright autumn's day, when all the elements were so propitious?

It is a fact, that I have been before now, two hours in crossing this ferry; but that was because the whole harbor was frozen up, and everybody, except all the other Railroads, expected to be detained. Others in crossing have been lost—floating in the vicinity of Castle Island, without compass or chart but then they were befogged—of course the Railroad could do nothing to prevent that—but to chain a man in painful suspense, when the urgency of business is pressing him forward; and business itself suffering in his absence, and thus to keep him 65 days, when the weather is neither cold nor sultry, in the absence of ice and fog, is too much, thought I, as we at last were passing along to Salem—for the public to submit to for any great length of time.

But it is a fact, that I made a great mistake in supposing that what I have alluded to embraced the whole extent of the evil arising from this detention—of this I was made sensible before that day's riding on the E. Railroad was completed.—Having to return to Boston that night, I consulted a newspaper, and found the last train was due at Salem, from east, at seven o'clock on its way to Boston. Of course I was upon the spot at the time, and after waiting two hours, began to enquire the cause of delay, whether they had probably broken down or blown up: "Oh neither," says a man in attendance, who appeared to understand the subject, "we want to rid ourselves of that ferry; or if we can't do that, we want a double track so that the delays occasioned there, (which are very bad when the trains are heavy) shant be felt by the up trains." "Why," said I, "you do not mean to say that the delay of the 2 1-2 trains, is keeping back the Portland train to this time."—"Certainly I do," said the man, "these delays extend over the whole line of the road, and the train you are now awaiting was stopped at Newburyport to await the heavy down train of this afternoon." While talking with this man, the train made its appearance, and at 5 minutes past nine, I left Salem for Boston, where I arrived 5 minutes before 10, having been absent 7 1-2 hours, and having spent just 2 hours of the time in Danvers, although I got there as soon as possible, and remained there as long as possible: whereas with the aid of a Danvers Railroad, one could spend two hours in the village by being absent from the city less than half of 7 1-2 hours. This everybody knows is a fact.

"Keep the facts before the people."

Nov. 28. T.

Correspondence of the Danvers Courier.

Pictou, Nov. 4, 1845.

Here I am still at Pictou, waiting for advices per Steamer Hibernia from Boston, which I expect to receive this evening by mail from Halifax. I also expect a friend of mine from the old Bay State, will meet me here this evening. In case he does, we shall proceed in the morning by Steamboat to Charlotte Town, on Prince Edward Island where we have some important business to arrange.

Yesterday I had the pleasure of dining with Judge Haliburton, the author of the "History of Nova Scotia," "Sam Slick," "The Letter Bag," &c. He is nearly 60 years of age, rather corpulent, easy in his manners, mirthful in disposition, full of anecdote, a clever Judge, and highly respected in the Province.

He resides at Windsor, 140 miles from this place and 40 miles from Halifax. He has been absent from home about seven weeks, holding Courts in different places, and on his return stopped here a day. The Lawyers called upon him last evening, and had quite a merry time. He is really an amusing genius, full of wit, and good humored. This has been a great day for Pictou—two ships launched, a ploughing match, and a foot race. The whole population of the town, tag, rag and bobtail have been out to witness the various exhibitions. The ships were full rigged and gorgeously adorned with flags and private signals, and made a most beautiful appearance as they rushed into the watery element. Of the ploughing match I can say but little—ten teams entered for the premiums—there were several kinds of ploughs, and they do say that that Yankee plough did turn the green sward over mighty smooth.

These chaps down here can't begin to plough, or do anything else with the Yankees, except drinking brandy and ale. They do that with a perfect relish.

The foot race was altogether a nimble operation, and excited more interest than the ploughing The stakes were won by a Scotchman—distance 2 miles; time, 14 minutes, 28 seconds.

A Nova Scotia Lady famous for her wit, let off quite a pretty witticism the other day upon the name of your humble friend who now addresses you, in connection with that of a fellow boarder, a Yankee by the name of Push—which I must forbear to mention until I see you.

Tomorrow morning I expect to leave my comfortable quarters, which for the most part of the last ten days have been in the Northwest corner of Harper's Hotel. It is the most pleasant room in the house, and has most generally been set apart for the accomodation of Yankee travellers who visit this place.—At my suggestion, seconded by the American Consul, who occupies the room at times with me, it has been christened in due form and with appropriate ceremonies—Yankee Doodledum, and is now pretty generally known by that name. It has been visited by "Sam Slick," the Lawyers, the Doctors, Collector, and gentlemen of distinction, all of whom are well pleased with the name, the occupants, and the hospitality shown them. Many grand jokes have been cracked in Yankee Doodledum, not only at the expense of Yankees, but also Scotch and English. The people have been very kind to me and shown me all the respect I could desire.

Yours truly.

MISCELLANY

The Old Brown Coat.

An American Story.

BY CAPT. MARRYATT, R. N.

"I reckon you see nothing very particular in this, do you?" said an American acquaintance of mine, bringing out the cuff of an old coat, and holding it up before me, dangling it between his finger and thumb.

"I can't say that I do," replied I, "but I presume it has some secret merit which remains to be explained."

"Ex-act-ly," replied my acquaintance, pronouncing each syllable of the word apart; "yet the occasion of my being just now pretty considerable well to do in the world; I guess I'm right, ain't I?" continued he, appealing to his wife, a very pretty young woman, who stood by him.

"So you seem to think," replied she, smiling, "but I am not convinced, so far as I am concerned in the business, that the coat had anything to do with it."

"Well, then, I shall just tell my story, and leave you to decide," said he, turning to me. "You must know that there was a time when I was rather hard up, and how to go ahead was the business. I had tried at mercantile speculation and sunk an immensity of dollars. I had turned lawyer, but that would not answer in any way.—I took to farming; no luck there. Went out supercargo; ship went on a reef and lost cargo.—Returned to New York; speculated a long while upon nothing; didn't lose much, that's certain, but didn't realize; at last I gave up business, and resolved to amuse myself a little, so I went south and joined Bolivar; I fought with him for three years, and a good officer he was, but he had one fault as a General, which was, that his army never got paid. I wanted my three years' pay, and, finding that there was neither pay nor plunder, I got tired of it and made my way home to the States, and at last arrived at the Capitol with only one extra shirt, not a cent in my pocket. I happened to meet with a tailor, whose customer I had once been, when I had money and paid my bills; and he observed that my coat was rather shabby, and that I should not appear in it. I knew that very well, and that all he wanted was an order for another; but as I had no chance of paying him, I thought it advisable not to take the hint. 'I think,' said I, 'that with a new velvet collar and brass buttons, it might do very well for an evening party.'

"'I see,' says he, 'that's an old country custom, wearing an old coat at a ball; I guess you're going to Mr. T.'s to-morrow night. A regular flare-up, I am told. Persident there, and every body else. It's hardly worth it,' continued he, touching the thread-bare stuff.

"'Yes it is,' replied I; 'there'll be a regular jam, and a new coat would be spoiled. I'll send it to you to-night, and you must let me have it in the morning, so good bye.'

"Well, the coat came home the next day, not early in the morning, as I expected, but past meridian, and I walked up and down my bed-room in my trousers, thinking I should do. At three o'clock I called upon Mrs. T. and left my card; went back again at five, and left another card, telling the nigger that I had not received an invitation, and that there must be some mistake; whereupon an invitation came about an hour after my return, just as I was putting my hat on to call again and leave another card, in a very fierce manner, I reckon. Well, I went early to the ball, and my coat looked remarkably gay. You could see that the velvet collar was new, and the buttons glittered famously, but you could not see that the cloth was a little the worse for wear. In short, my brown coat looked very smart, and I was a considerable smart fellow myself just at that time.

"Well, I stood near the door, looking at the company coming in, hoping to know somebody; but I presume that I had grown out of all recollection, for nobody knew me; but as the company were announced I heard their names, and, if they did not know who I was, at all events I found out who they were.

"This won't do,' says I, as the room became quite full. I may stick against this wall till daylight comes, I shall never go ahead;' so at last, perceiving a young lady speaking to the daughter of the Secretary of the Navy, after they parted I went up and bowed to her. Having heard her name, I pretended to be an old acquaintanee, and accused her of having forgotten me. As I was very positive and very bold, she presumed it was the case and when I gave her my name, which I refused to do till we had been talking for some minutes, as it happened to be a very good one, she considered that it was all right, and in another quarter of an hour we became very intimate. I then asked her if she knew Miss E——, the daughter of the Secretary of the Navy. She replied that she did, and I requested her to introduce me, and offering her my arm, we walked up to the young lady together, and I was introduced. Now, thought I, I going ahead a little. After the introduction, I commenced a conversation with Miss E——, and a gentleman fortunately relieved me of my first acquaintance, whose arm I had dropped. I continued my attentions to Miss E——, exerted myself to the utmost, and, on the strength of my introduction and my agreeableness I was soon intimate with her and she accepted my arm. I asked he. if she knew the daughter of General S——, who was near us. She replied in the affirmative, and I requested an introduction, which was immediately complied with, and I offered Miss S—— my other arm, and paraded them both up and down the room, making them laugh not a little.

"Now I'm going ahead, thinks I, and my old brown coat looks remarkably well.

"'Here is the President coming up,' said Miss E——; 'do you know him?'

"'I did once, a little, but he must have forgotten me since I have been in South America so long.

"The President came right up to us and addressed the young ladies; I made a sort of half bow.

"'You don't recollect Mr.——?' said Miss S——.

"'I recollect the name well,' replied the President. 'You are well supported, Mr.——, you have the Navy and the Army on each side of you.'

"'And the highest Officer of the State before me,' replied I, with a low bow, 'I ought, indeed to feel proud. It makes amends for all the privation that I underwent in my last campaign with General Bolivar, for the General and his Aid-de-camps fared no better than the meanest soldier.

"That last was a hit. I did not say that I was Aid-de-camp to Bolivar, but they tho't proper to fancy so; the President made a bow, and as it appeared, he wanted to have some information from that quarter; and he asked me many questions, all of which I was able to answer with precision. After a quartet of an hour's conversation, during which the whole room were wondering who it was that was so intimate with the President, and many were trying to catch what was said, the President presuming, as Bolivar's Aid-de-camp, that I could give him information upon a certain point, and not wishing to have the answer public, said to the young ladies, 'I am going to do a very rude thing; I wish to ask a question, which Mr.——would not like to reply except in confidence; I must take him away from you for a minute or two. I beg your pardon, Mr.——, but I feel and shall be truly grateful for the great sacrifice you will make in giving up for one moment such charming society.' 'I fear the loss will only be on my part,' said I to the young ladies, as I dropped their arms and followed the President to a vacant spot near the orchestra. The question which the President put to me was one which I could not answer, but he helped me out of the difficulty by answering it himself according to his own views, and then appealing to me if it was not correct. I replied, that I certainly was not at liberty, although I had left the service of General Bolivar, to repeat all that I knew; 'fortunately,' continued I, bowing, 'where such clear-sightedness is apparent, there is no occasion for the question being answered.' 'You are right, Mr.——; I wish all those about me had your discretion and high sense of honor,' replied the President, who had one of my new brass buttons between his thumb and finger; 'and I perceive by your reply that I was also right in my conjecture. I am much obliged to you, and trust I shall see you at the Government House.' I bowed and retired.

"I am going ahead now, at all events, thought I, as every one was looking at me as I retreated. I had been walking arm-in-arm with the daughters of the two first officers of the State. Ih ad been in confidental communication with the President, and that before all the elite of Washington. I can now venture to order another suit of clothes, but never will I forget you my old brown coat."

"The next day the tailor came to me; he had heard what had taken place at the ball, and I amended my wardrobe. Everybody came to me for orders, and I ordered every thing. Cards were left in showers; I was received every where, the President was my friend, and from that moment I went ahead faster every day, till I am, as you now see, well off, well married, and well up in the world."

"Now I do pertinaciously declare that it was all owing to the old brown coat; and I have kept this cuff, which I show now and then to my wife, to prove I am grateful, for had it not been for the old brown coat I should never have been blessed with her for a companion."

"But,——," said his wife, around whose waist he had gently encircled his arm, "the old brown coat would have done nothing without the velvet collar and new brass buttons."

"Certainly not, my dear."

"And they would not have effected much without they had been backed by——"

"What?"

"Impudence," replied the lady, giving him a slap on the cheek.

From the American Protector.

Stealing Melons.

I always took great pleasure in having a neat garden. I felt larger than common if I succeeded in rasing cucumbers and other vegetables earlier than my neighbors, as if nature favored me especially. I had the earliest and best kind of fruits. But I was greatly perplexed for a long time with thieving boys. Almost every night in the season of fruit, my garden was visited, trees damaged, and rich flowers trampled down. I tried various ways to protect my grounds,—had watch dogs, but they were shot or poisoned—set traps, but they never caught anything except now and then one of my own cats. As John Hobbs says,

"Traps, as every one knows are no safeguard to apples,
Big dogs seldom bite one, and guns never shoot;
The chivalous schoolboy each obstacle grapples,
And never desists till he pockets the fruit."

Finally I built a wall of solid mason work about my garden; but that did not answer. It was only by accident that I found out the way to save one's fruit; and noticing in the papers divers cautions to young rogues--I think it worth while to publish somewhat of my experience.

I have come to the conclusion that boys are as much influenced by malice as by love of good eating in such thieving. If they know a man to be close fisted, they will wrench open his fingers in some way. When I was a Freshman at the University, people about the College complained very much of their fruit being stolen by the students, and only one man escaped—and he was the only one who sent up a cart load of excellent apples and distributed them among the college boys.

I might have known if I had thought of my own boyhood, that the way to manage boys is, to treat them kindly. They have a natural code of honor which forbids them to do him an injury who shows a regard for them. It is no compliment to a man that boys love to vex him. It is a pretty sure sign that he has not any soul to speak of.

"What do you say, Jo? shall we come the grab over them melons to-night? It's going to be dark as thunder. Old Swipes will be snoring like ten men before midnight."

"I should like the melons well enough, but we have got to get over that pesky wall and"——

"Oh, pshaw, Jo! I know a place where it's easy getting over. I know the way like a book.—Come, Jo! will you go it?

Now I dislike extremely, to be an eavesdropper, usually convey myself elsewhere, rather than allow my ears to be a highway for words not intended for me. But the conversation so intimately concerned my melons, which I had taken some pains to raise, that I kept quiet and listened to the whole plan of the young scape-graces—so that I might make it somewhat burthensome for them.

Ned proposed to get over the wall on the south side by the great pear tree, and cut directly across to the summer house—just north of which were the melons.

Jo was a clever, thick-lipped fellow, loved good fruit exceedingly, that is to say, as well as he did to lounge in an opening in summer time in a soft sunny place, and smoke cigars, and obstinate as an ass. Get him once started to do a thing and he would stick to it, like a mud turtle to a negro's toe, in spite of kicks or what not, till he had accomplished it. The other was a fiery dare-devil—didn't care so much for the melons as for the fun of getting them.

I made all needful preparations for the visit; put in brads pretty thick, in the scantling along the wall where they intended going over; uncovered a large water vat that had been filled some time, from which in dry weather I was accustomed to water my garden; dug a trench a foot deep or so, and placed slender boards over it, which were slightly covered with dirt, and just beyond them some little cords fastened tightly—some eight inches from the ground. I picked all the melons I cared to preserve, leaving pumpkins and squashes about the size and shape of melons, in their places.

They were right in supposing that it would be dark; but missed it a little in supposing "Old Swipes," as they called me, would be a-bed, though. The old man loves fun as well as they; and a little sprinkling of gray hairs has not altogether sobered him. I have the honor of being like Washington, in one respect—I can laugh as heartily as any mortal man, I believe. I can roll in a perfect ecstacy; but as the old negro said of our country's Father, "he did all his laughing inside," so do I. One would think 'Ole Swipes' in the last agonies, to see him in a fit of his silent laughter. I expect I am somewhat unfortunate in being permitted to have enjoyment of this sort without hanging out the sign as others do, for I am an old bachelor, and am disposed to believe that if I had had a little more India rubberly phiz, I should have been married some forty times ere this; I mean I should have had so many opportunities or more,—as it is, Ichabod Swipes, Esq., with a flourshing business, an elegant establishment, and some ten thousand dollars ready money, never had a decided nibble in the pond matrimonial. What else could be the reason I cannot imagine, for surely I am not a bad looking specimen of human nature. But—

"Whist Jo! Don't you hear something?"

I think very probably they did; for the words were hardly out of his mouth when there was a sound as of forcibly tearing fustian.

"Get off my coat tail" whispered Jo—"There goes one flap, as sure as——. Why get off Ned." And Ned was off—and one leg of his breeches, too, nearly, as I supposed, for he was ah-ing and oh-ing, and all the time telling Jo he believed there were nails in the side of the walls, for something had scratched him tremendously, and torn his breeches all to pieces. Jo sympathized with him, for he said half his coat was hanging up there somewhere.

The boys were more in earnest than ever thinking that I had driven nails there on purpose to injure people and to tear their clothes.

"The old clost-fisted bloat begrudges a little fruit."

They started on, hand in hand; for Ned believed he knew the way. They had got beyond the trees a little, when something went swash! swash! into the water vat. "Gosh!" was the first exclamation I heard after that, and coughing and sneezing as though some one had the horse distemper—and then—

"By——by thun——thunder! That water smells rather old."

Ned was a little disposed to cut dirt for home, but the other's "puppy-to-a-root-ativeness" was too much excited to listen to any such proposition.

They concluded to stop a little time and listen for fear they had roused some one by their floundering in the water—and be drained of their extra morsture somewhat. I thought I should burst forth into a roar of laughter as I listened to their whispered surprise—at the sudden revelation of a cistern of water there.

"Never heard anything about it before;—how odd that we should both tumble into it so."

"The old people must have fixed it on purpose to drown people in."

They concluded they had not been heard, and shortly pushed on again for the melons. They presently perceived there was something unstable about the ground they were cautiously passing over. They whispered to each other what I could not distinctly hear—something about traps, and started to run to get beyond this suspicions footing. Both were caught by the cords and headlong they went into a heap of briars and thistles and the like, placed there for their especial accommodation.

"Such a gettin' up stairs!" muttered one.

"Nettles and thistles—by Jemima Stotts—how they prick!"

They determined to go on more cautiously.

"How thick they are, Jo! Come here. There's more than a dozen fat ones right here!'

Down they sat in the midst of them, and seemed to conclude that they had gotten pay for their mishaps.

'Here, Jo, take this muskmelon. Isn't it a lunder! Slash into it!

'It cuts tremendous hard, Jim. It's a squash.'

'No it isn't,' said the other. "It's a new kind. Old Swipes sent to Rhode Island for the seed.'

'Well, the old chap got sucked in, that's all.'

'Here, let me gouge into this water melon—there goes half a dollar! I've broken my knife.'

'If I did not know it was a water melon, I should say it was a pumpkin."

What further they did, while I went to the stable and unmuzzled the dog, and let him into the garden, I cannot say. That they took long steps, the onion beds and flower plats revealed in the morning.

I thought that the boys on the whole, must conclude that they had paid dear for the whistle, for they had tasted of a melon, got scratched, clothes torn, were wet as drowned rats, and pretty essentially frightened—so the next morning I sent invitations to all the young people in the village to a feast of melons in the evening—particularly to Ned and Jo—on the principle of returning good for evil—thinking that possibly it might be useful in the treatment of boys as well as men. My rooms were crowded betimes with a brighteyed company; rather shy, though—Old Swipes looked so confounded sour I suppose.

They would not have come, I presume, had it not been that my nephew, a great favorite with them, was spending the summer with me; for they obviously disliked me, and I don't know why they should do otherwise, for I had never noticed them, or appeared towards them as though they were worth noticing.

'I went into my study, and soon such a whirlwind of fun as they raised. It was rich music—their silvery laughter.'

I was well paid for what expense and trouble I had been at in raising the largest, best melons by the rich sound of their hilarous voices. It brought before me the sunny days of my youth and its loved associations. Glorious days! I love to think of them.

My melons were never disturbed again.

THE RECIPE.

Don't be harsh to boys. Treat them as though they were going to be men, honest and true presently. Meet fun with fun, and don't forget them when your nicest fruit is ripe. Newspaper paragraphs, dog-traps, frowns, are not half ao potent for preserving apples and the like, as kindness.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 13, 1845.

War with England.

Most of the political journals are engaged in discussing the probabilities of a war with England on account of Oregon. The evils of such a war, should it take place can scarcely be conceived, whether it be viewed in connection with its disastrous effects in the business, lives or morals of the inhabitants of both countries. The constant state of excitement and alarm in which the whole frontier and seaboard would be kept is one of the least of its evils, but these were sufficiently anoying to our citizens in the late war with Great Britain. Those who remember the scenes of Sept. 1814 when in the night time the dismal cry of 'la-r-r-r-m was heard in our streets, with the ringing of the bells, the beating of drums and the rallying of soldiers with their cartridge boxes filled with ball cartridges, while extravagant rumors of all kinds were in circulation representing the number of British troops landing at from 5 to 20,000 men—may have some conception of the agitated state of the community in time of war. At that time a British fleet lay off in the bay and their vessels would sometimes approach so near to the shore that the uniforms of the men could be distinguished by a glass and sometimes by the naked eye. Our vessels were frequently set on fire and burnt in full view of the people on shore. In consequence of these acts men were drafted from the militia to serve as a coast guard and stationed night and day all along the coasts to give the alarm in the event of danger.

There was also a draft from the Cavalry, of men to act as Videttes whose duty it should be to facilitate communication with different troops of the neighborhood. These men were constantly on duty training their horses to speed and leaping fences, &c. It was at this time that the Danvers Artillery was detached and stationed for more than a month near Hospital point in Beverly.—This company was there under command of Capt. Jesse Putnam and numbered 44 men, every man belonging to the company being on duty except one, who was absent in the country. It was while this company was stationed in Beverly that two false alarms occured caused by the approach of some boats which were now taken for those belonging to the enemy. The alarm was first given by the drafted men from the militia stationed below the Point and it became the duty of Capt. Putnam to repeat the alarm, which he did by three rounds from his brass pieces double loaded. This was the signal agreed upon by which the country should be aroused and the alarm was soon spread and troops on the march for Salem, where it was currently reported that 10 or 15,000 British troops were landing. There were two companies in this village one of them composed of men exempted from military duty on account of their age or other causes, and the other standing company commanded by Capt. Daniel Preston. The company of exempts was commanded by Gen. Gideon Foster and were familiarly called the "Ringbone Rangers." It was composed of a goodly number of citizens mostly past the meridian of life, who had patriotically volunteered their services under their old commander for the defence of the country from invasion. They assembled in front of the house of Dr. J. Shed, then owned and occupied by Gen. Foster.

We recollect at the time of the alarm of the assembling of the "Ringbones," men of all ages and sizes, some lean and some pot-bellied, some with spectacles and some with long ques sticking out from under the rim of their hats, some with breeches and long boots, and others with shoe buckles and all armed with guns and fowling pieces exeept one man, who, in the great scarcity of firearms at that time was only able to provide himself with a pitchfork! This was probably the best representation of the "old continentals" that we shall ever be likely to witness. The exercising of these troops was also strictly after the old continental model their veteran commander ordering his men to "shoulder fire-lock" "order fire-lock" &c. the latter word being pronounced "hu-lock."

Owing to the great demand for musicians at that time the two companies were each only able to obtain one and they marched off separately, one to the music of a pipe and the other with a base drum.

At the second alarm it happened that Capt. Putnam and one or two others of the Artillery Company were in this village on a visit and to obtain some stores which at that time were considered essential to bodily comfort whether on or off military duty. It is said that Capt. P. who is a direct descendant of old Gen. Wolf Putnam, and has never been accused of want of physical courage, started off in his chaise with such rapidity over the pavements that the stores he had with him were in imminent danger, and his full voice was often heard calling to his comrade to "hold on to the jug" while he was busily applying the lash to his horse.

New Railroad from Salem to Boston.

It will be seen by the notice in another column, that a meeting of the friends of a new Railroad from Salem to Boston, is to be held in Salem, on Monday. We look upon the project as one of immense importance to this part of the town at least, and to the other towns through which it will, if constructed, pass. It is a matter of serious regret, that upon such a question, there should be a division of opinion among some of our citizens, and we can but hope that if our friends in the North part of the town will co-operate in the project, that, if successful, a branch can be secured to the Plains. The advantages of the new proposed road from Salem to Boston are, that it will avoid the ferry, and terminate at a more desirable part of Boston and at a fine and commodious Depot. These we believe, are sufficient inducements to interest the people of Salem in its behalf. The fact of its terminating in that city moreover, shows that it will be of great advantage to the city, as such. To the people of Danvers and the other towns through which it will pass, it will afford the additional advantages of a direct route to Boston, nearer in distance than by the Eastern Railroad. We have no doubt but that if the road is built, there will be sufficient travel to support both roads, and we look upon the present as a favorable time to resume operations in favor of a new road. We believe the great unpopularity of the course pursued by the Senate last winter, upon the chartering of Railroads, will not be without its effect upon the Senate of this winter, and that a liberal policy will be pursued.

Factory in Danvers.

Among the different projects started by our enterprising townsmen, we have been surprised that a company has not been formed for the purpose of getting a Steam Cotton Factory in Danvers. We have equal advantages with other manufacturing towns for their support, and if we obtain Railroad facilities, they could be carried on to great advantage. There has been lately some agitation of the subject among our capitalists, and we hope some of them will show their zeal by acting.—There is capital enough in the town, and a right disposition, if some one would only take the lead in the matter.

The Boston Star.—This is a new daily and weekly paper started in Boston. It is edited by Streeter, late of the Richmond Star, known more familiarly by the soubriquet of "the Corporal."—The paper is perfectly rich and racy, and is destined to take the lead of all the penny papers.—Reader just buy and read one, and if you are disappointed in it contents, lay the blame at our door.

☞We have received the fourth number of the "Free State Rally and Texas Chain Breaker," printed by Jordan & Wiley, Boston; it is conducted with ability, and by its manly tone and earnest appeals must, we think, have a tendency to arouse to action every opposer of the unjust and unconstitutional project of annexation.

The Ladies Annual Remembrancer and Literary Forget Me Not. for 1846. We have received a copy of this very neat publication. It contains an Almanac for 1846 with blank leaves after each month for the purpose of recording all recipts and expenditures, also blank memorandum pages with spaces for each day in the year, and several pages devoted to tales, Poetry &c. This must be a very useful book, for the ladies, and may be obtained at the bookstore of G. W. & E. Crafts, Salem.

Preservation of Potatoes.

We have just learned an important fact in relation to the preservation of potatoes from the 'rot,' which ought to be geuerally known, as large quantities of this valuable root may be saved from decay by a very simple expedient. Our informant says that he purchased a load of potatoes all of one kind and from the same field, and put them into flour barrels for future use, excepting a part which were put into a lime cask from which the lime had been recently emptied. On a recent examination of his potatoes he found that those in the lime cask were perfectly sound, while those in the barrels were rapidly decaying and he attributes the difference entirely to the effects of the lime dust remaining in the cask. We have heard that land manured by lime produces sound potatoes from which we have a right to infer that this article is an efficient agent in their preservation. The subject is worthy the attention of all lovers of this valuable esculent.

Population of Danvers.

The population of this town is increasing very fast, and a census taken now would show a very large gain since 1840. New buildings are being erected in all parts of the town, and notwithstanding the temporary depression in the leather business, in which many of our citizens are engaged, all wears the outward garb at least, of prosperity and advancement.

Washington Street.—This street has been built up within a few years, and is now one of the pleasantest and most beautiful in town. The regularity of the buildings and their uniformly neat appearance, show to very good advantage.—We understand there are to be several new buildings erected soon, upon the Western side of the street.

THE TELEGRAPH. Mr. Cave Johnson, the Postmaster General, recommends, in his report, the purchase by government of the patent right of Morse's Telegraph. He says it will prove a dangerous engine in the hands of individuals not under the control of law, and that that the few will be benefitted at the expense of the many.

BOSTON ALMANAC. We have received from Mr. L. CHANDLER, a copy of this valuable Work, which should be in the possession of every person who visits Boston, it being a complete Directory to the business man. It contains an accurate map of the city, and a plan of the routes of all the Railroads entering Boston. If you wish to obtain a perfect copy don't fail to call on Mr. Chandler who has them for sale at 25 cents per copy.

The publishers, (S. N. Dickinson & Co.,) will please accept our thanks for a copy of the above received from them.

☞The members of Howard Tent will see by the notice in another column that their evening of meeting is altered from Monday to Friday evening.

We have received from a correspondent at North Danvers, an anonymous communication, which we must decline publishing, as it is an established rule of ours, to publish nothing without a responsible authorship.

☞According to the Swedenborg doctrine one spirit, in the next world, can read at a glance all the acts done by another spirit while upon Earth Commenting upon this, the Corporal of the Boston Star thinks, that if the doctrine is true, some startling revelations will be made of some people of sanctity, and of great wordly honor, who have been hidden in this world under a broad cloak of hypocrisy.

SOUTHERN MANUFACTURES.—On the 26 ultimo two bills were introduced into the Legislature of South Carolina, which propose to incorporate certain munufacturing companies—one with a capital of $300,000, and another with a capital of $200,000. One of these factories, at least, is designed to be located at Charlestown.

☞The Trustees of the Massachusetts General Hospital have appointed Richard Girdler, Esq., of Marblehead, Superintendent of the Institution, in the place of Col. J. M. Goodwin, deceased. Mr. Girdler has entered on the duties of his office.

COMMUTED.—We learn from the Worcester Spy that the punishment of Reuch, alias Watkins, who was sentenced to be hung, at late session of the Supreme Court, in Worcester, for an aggravated crime, has been commuted by Governor Briggs to imprisonment for life.

REV. DR. BEECHER.—The Cincinnati Gazette of Tuesday says—"It will gratify the numerous friends of this venerable man to learn he has been doing well since his accident, and that he will soon be out again.'

OFFICIAL.

By the Governor and Council.

Albert H. Nelson, of Woburn, is appointed District Attorney for the Northern District, in place of Asahel Huntington, resigned.

Secretary's Office, Dec. 8, 1845.

DEATH OF HON. JOHN COTTON SMITH.—John Cotton Smith, President of the American Bible Society, died at his residence in Sharon, Litchfield county, Ct., on the 7th inst., in the 81st year of his age.

The passenger fare between Boston and New York, has we learn, been raised to five dollars, on the Long Island, or day line, and the Norwich and Stonington steamboat lines.

Congressional Proceedings.

Thursday, Dec. 4.

In the SENATE, after some debate, it was voted that the Standing Committees be appointed by a vote of the Senate, instead of by the Presiding officer, as has been the custom.

In the HOUSE, a resolution was adopted, by which each member's name was placed in a hat and drawn out singly by the Clerk, each member rising and selecting his seat as his name was called. John Quincy Adams was among the last called, but the House in a complimentary manner gave him his old seat by leaving it vacant for his selection.

Both Houses adjourned till Monday.

Monday, Dec. 8.

In the Senate, a memorial was presented by Mr. Benton, from American citizens in Oregon, praying for protection, and one by Mr. Cameron against the admission of Texas as a slave State.

In the House, the committees were appointed: Mr. McKay is again chairman of the Ways and Means; Mr. King is on Revolutionary claims, and on Accounts; C. J. Ingersoll, chairman on Foreign Affairs; Mr. Adams, chairman on Manufactures; Mr. Abbott is on the Militia and on the Post Office Expenses.

Mr. Bowlin of Missouri, gave notice of a bill to organize a Territorial Government in Oregon.

Thursday Dec. 9.

In the Senate there was quite a full attendance.

Several reports from the departments were presented, and among them the annual report of the Commissioner of Pensions.

Mr. Levy gave notice of a Bill for establishing Courts of Justice in Florida.

Mr. Cass submitted resolutions, requiring the Committees on Naval and Military Affairs to report upon the condition and efficiency of these two arms of the public defence.

After the presentation of one or two petitions, the Senate proceeded to the order of the day.

Mr. Dickens was re-elected secretary, of the Senate.

A message was received from the President of the United States, relative to the Texas convention—laid on the table for the present.

The Senators named below, were chosen by ballot, Chairmen of the Committees against which their names are set. Foreign Relations, Mr. Allen. Finance, Mr. Calhoun. Commerce, Mr. Haywood. Manufactures, Mr. Dickenson. Agriculture, Mr. Sturgeon. Military Affairs, Mr. Benton. Militia, Mr. Achinson. Naval Affairs, Mr. Fairfield. Public Lands, Mr. Breese. Private Land Claims, Mr. Levy. Indian Affairs, Mr. Sevier. Claims, Mr. Bagby. Revolutionary Claims, Mr. Semple. Judiciary, Mr. Ashley.

In the House, Mr. Douglass, of Illinois, offered a series of resolutions, refering to the appropriate committees the various subjects to which the attention of Congress had been called in the President's message.

An interesting discussion took place upon these, when they were finally all adopted.

The next business of the morning was the calling for petitions, memorials, &c., in their regular order by States, commencing with that of Maine. Progress was made as far as Massachusetts, and Mr. Adams progressed somewhat in the presenting of various memorials and petitions when the House became impatient for adjournment, and the call was suspended.

The Speaker laid before the House a communication from the President, communicating a copy of the constitution adopted by the citizens of Texas, in view of its becoming one of the States of the Union; referred to committee on territories, and ordered to be printed.

Wednesday, Dec. 10.

In the Senate, the balloting for Chairmen of the Standing Committees was completed.

In the House, a joint resolution to admit Texas into the Union, was made the order of the day for Tuesday next. Hon. J. Q. Adams presented a large number of petitions against the admission of Texas into the Union. The death of Mr. Dawson of La. was announced by Mr. Harmanson.

FOR THE COURIER.

Proposed Railroads.

It seems that three projects of Railroad from Salem through Danvers, are to be presented to the attention of the Legislature at the ensuing Session. One, that prayed for the last year by D. Pingree and others, passing through S. Danvers, Lynn and Saugus to unite with the Maine Extension Road at Malden.—One, starting from the same point and passing on the same track about two miles, then by the Lynnfield Hotel to unite with the Maine Extension Road at South Reading. One, starting from the same point, passing through S. Danvers to the Plains, and thence through Middleton to N. Andover and Methuen. If either of these roads, or the Georgetown Road which has already been chartered, should be built, it would afford to Danvers, what they so much need, that is, a direct Railroad communication with the city of Boston. Such communication is essential to the continued prosperity of the various manufactures of the place. Is there not danger of losing the game, by thus scattering the fire? Would it not be well for those who really desire to accommodate the public in the best manner, to unite their efforts in some one of the projects? If those directly interested cannot make up their minds what will be best, how can it be expected that those who have no interest, and but little knowledge on the subject, will be able to decide? If we are rightly informed, there would not be more than five minutes time difference in passing from Salem to Boston by the Malden Route, or the South Reading Route—one being about sixteen miles and the other about eighteen miles; and that either of these routes could be passed in less time than the E. Railroad, taking into view the usual detention at the ferry. If this be so, it certainly will be important to secure a Railroad passage that shall land us at the Maine Extension Depot, which in every point of view will be preferable to that of the Eastern Railroad—If we could but lay aside sectional and personal jealousies and prejudices, and unite our efforts in the best way to accommodate the public, there might be some hope of success; but until this is done, those who now enjoy the monopoly will continue to laugh at our folly.

A LOOKER ON.

BOSTON MUNICIPAL ELECTION. At the election on Monday last, the Whigs of Boston carried their ticket by a large and triumphant majority. Hon. JOSIAH QUINCY, Jr., was elected Mayor by more than twenty-two hundred votes over all other candidates, and the whole Whig ticket for Aldermen was also successful.

FOR THE COURIER.

Railways No 3.

I now proceed to answer the first question, wh is an atmospheric railway?

In its construction it differs from the common r road only in a continuous iron pipe of suitable dia eter laid in the middle of the track and supported the same cross sleepers to which the chairs and ra are attached. The internal surface of the pipe bei properly prepared by a coating of tallow a travelli piston made air tight by leather packing is introd ed therein and is constructed to the leading carria of each train by an iron plate or coulter. In this sition if part of the air be withdrawn from that leng of pipe in front of the piston by an air pump work from a stationary engine or other mechanical mea placed at a suitable distance a certain amount of pre sure on the back of the piston (being the locomoti force) will take place proportioned to the power e ployed and the piston will move through the who length of the tube so exhausted partially of air. Fo it is found by practice to work economically, it is su ficient to produce an exhaustion of the air in the pi equal to causing a pressure on the piston of 8 poun to the square inch which is only about one half th presure due to a vacuum. The iron coulter being fi ed to the travelling piston within the pipe and also the leading carriage of the train connects them togeth er, moving through an aperture formed in the top an along the whole length of the pipe while one set vertical rollers attached to the piston rod at some littl distance behind the piston, progressively lift up fo the space of a few feet, and another set of rollers a tached to the carriage close down again a portion o a continuous flexible valve or flap of peculiar co struction covering the aperture. These flaps or va ves work on a hinge of leather or other flexible ma terial which is practically air tight the extremity o edge of these valves falling into a trough containin a composition of beeswax and tallow or oil or any sub stance or composition of substances which is solid a the temperature of the atmosphere and fluid whe heated. Stationary steam engines of sufficient powe proportioned to the amount of traffic &c. and to th size of the pipe and speed required work air pumps to exhaust the pipe alternately on either side of thei position are placed at intervals of about three miles The line of atmospheric Railroad between Kingstown and Dalkey is 1 3-4 miles in length in which there is a rise of 1 foot 115 feet towards Dalkey. The main pipe is 15 inches internal diameter. The dimensions of the engine are Cylinder 34 1-4 inches diameter stroke 5 feet 6 inches, speed 242 feet per minute. It works expansively, the steam being admitted into the Cylinder at 40 pounds above the atmosphere and cut off at 1-4 stroke when the engine is at its full load—it is then expanded for the remaining portion of the stroke and condensed in the usual way. The vacuum or air pump is double acting. The dimensions are diameter 67 inches, stroke 5 feet, 6 inches, speed 242 feet per minute. With the above apparatus vacuum is formed in the entire length 1 3-4 miles—

	M	S.
Equal to 1-3 of an atmosphere in	0	56
1-2 do do	1	51
2 3 do do	3	30

The following is the result of some journeys made:

				M.	S.
Journey A	gross load 62 tons	time of journey		4	48
B	do	do	do	5	33
C	do	75 do	do	6	02
D	do	30 do	do	3	24

This apparatus is sufficient to propel trains 50 or 60 miles an hour and will draw on a level 200 tons.

Upon incline of 1 in 160 feet	80	do.
1 in 140 feet	72	do.
1 in 120 feet	65	do.
1 in 100 feet	58	do.
1 in 90 feet	53	do.
1 in 50 feet	33	do.

In my next number I shall briefly answer the principal objections to atmospheric railways and close perhaps with a few miscellaneous observations. N.

We insert the following communication from our persevering correspondent. We think, however, it is now time for us to put down our editorial foot against the continuance of controversy of a sectional or personal character. We must therefore decline the offer to republish the last article, except as an advertisement at the usual price, in which case it shall have a conspicuous place, alongside of "Oak Hall."

In regard to our circulation in that vicinity, we would simply say, that we have now a goodly number of patrons—about 75 at the Neck and the Plains—but have still room for many more and would thank our correspondent, as he seems to be acquainted with those who are not now supplied with our paper, to drop a gentle hint.

Seriously, we are of opinion that there has been of late too much hard feeling existing between the two principal parts of the town, and we have always deprecated its existence and condemned the tone of those articles which seemed to foster its continuance. Now is a favorable time to return to the cordial and united feeling which formerly existed, and all should unite to promote the harmony and business prosperity of all parts of the town. We agree fully in the closing sentiments of the following communication, relating to the tyranny of majorities, without however giving any opinion on their application to recent events in our town affairs.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—We have been much amused here by the perusal of an article in your last from your very amiable correspondent, "One of the 74," there is a strong desire evinced all round to procure a copy; but on account of the limited circulation of your paper here we are unable to gratify the curiosity of our friends, and we must therefore request the favor of you to republish it in your next paper and send us a few hundred papers for distribution—Or if you should think it better please make it a standing article at the head of your paper for a number of months to come, it must be a great help to you in obtaining subscribers, it is certainly a very able document and beautifully illustrates the elevated genius and tallents of the author. Some thinks it is about equal to "a broadside from the 71" but I would not say as to that—don't fail to send a goodly number that all may see, "And catch the manners living as they rise."

In your two last numbers I gave some cursory views as to the means employed by our brother Whigs of S. D. to obtain the aid of the "Democrats," &c., to enable them to elect their Representatives which from the indications round, has met the case pretty essentially, and I will therefore waive that subject—I should like with your leave to offer a few remarks in relation to our duties in using our elective franchise.

Although I fully believe that the principles of our government that gives to the majority the power to rule under certain restrictions is the best to promote the general welfare of the people, yet we have seen enough in our country to show that majorities may be very arbitrary and tyrannical in the exercise of power and act with as little regard for the just rights and interests of minorities as the despotic Monarch of a throne. To promote the interests of minorities as well as majorities should be the object of all who would preserve the existence of our republican institutions.

ONE OF THE SIXTEEN.

☞The Duke of Wellington has sent out orders to abolish Temperance and all other societies in her Majesty's regiments.

☞James Clark, late editor of the Iowa Republican, has been appointed Governor of that territory.

☞Great excitement exists in Manchester N. H. on account of the belief that they have obtained a clue to the murderer of Parker.

The President in his Message, says nothing of appropriations for the improvement of the Western States.

SAD. Mr. John Connor, a constable of Lowell, having in custody two men convicted of drunkenness, and destined to the house of correction, sprang from the platform of the cars at the stopping place in Woburn, without observing the upward train passing. He slipped on the ice and fell across the track; the cars passed over both legs, cutting off one above the knee and the other below. The accident occured on Saturday.

FAILURE OF RAILROAD CONTRACTORS.—We learn that Melvin & Co., contractors for several sections of the Gloucester Railroad, went off the track on Sunday last, carrying with them all their tools, and leaving some two or three hundred laborers and sundry citizens of Beverly and Gloucester minus to the amount of something like 3000 dollars. They had made considerable progress in the fulfilment of their contracts, and a few days previous to their decamping had received from the railroad company all the pay to which they were entitled. Their sudden disappearance created considerable excitement in Gloucester and Beverly, where several storekeepers, bakers, butchers, boarding-house keepers, &c., will be serious sufferers. The Irish laborers, it is said, are left in a very destitute condition.—Traveller.

BOSTON PRICES CURRENT.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON, Dec. 11

Cotton—No material change in the market, and but limited sales. Provisions—But little done more than the usual retail trade, 135 kegs Lard sold at 8 1-2c, 4 mos. Flour—The transactions are quite limited; small sales of Genesee at $6,62. Corn—No alteration in prices since yesterday, and but limited sales. Sugar—Sales to the trade of 50 boxes Cuba brown at 8 2-4 a 8 1-2c. Molasses—Sales of 50 hhds Cardenas at 23c, 6 mos. Coffee—150 bags Rio sold at 7 1-2c; 100 do Java, common, at 8c, 6 mos.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Dec. 8 1845.
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 575 Beef Cattle, 150 Stores, 4300 Sheep, and 500 Swine.

PRICES—BEEF CATTLE—We advance our quotations on the best qualities; viz: Extra $5 25; first quality 4 75 a $5, second qualities $4 25 a 4 50; third quality 3 50 a 4 25.

BARRELLING CATTLE—Mess 3 25; No 1, 2 75.

STORES—Yearling $5 a $7; two year old $8 a $ 15; three year old $ 15 a $25

SHEEP—Dull. Sales from $1 to 2 25.

SWINE—Lots to peddle at 3 1-2c a 4 1-2c. At retail, fm 3 1 2 to 5 1-2c.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem on the 26th ult., by Rev. L. S. Everett, Mr. ORRA C. SARGENT to Miss JUDITH M. Goss of this town. Mr. JOSEPH WALES, of Beverly, to Miss SARAH JANE PORTER, of Salem.

In Lynn, Mr. CHARLES C. ROBERTS, of Danvers, to Miss HANNAH G. FURBUSH of Salem.

In Newburyport, Hon. GEORGE LUNT to Miss EMILY, daughter of John Ashton, Esq.

In Thompson, (Conn.) on Thanksgiving day, Mr. DAVID MEAD, Jr., of Danvers, to Miss MARY HASKELL, of Beverly.

DEATHS.

In Salem, Mr. JONATHAN L. KIMBALL., aged 38 Mr. CHAS. FILLBROWN, aged 41.

In Lynn, Mr. HENRY C. JOHNSON, aged 23.

In Topsfield, Mrs. ELIZABETH L. LANE, the wife of THOMAS L. LANE, aged 24 years.

At Fayal, Azores, 7th ult., Mrs ROXA DABNEY, widow of John B. Dabney, Esq., formerly U. S. Consul for the Azores.

Lyceum Notice.

THE Introductory Lecture before the Institute, will be delivered on THURSDAY EVENING NEXT,

at 7 o'clock, at Upton's Hall, by Prof. FISK, of Amherst College. Subject—"The History and Battles of the Revolution.

Lectures may be expected this season from

Hon. Rufus Choate,	Hon. Horace Mann,
" Caleb Cushing,	" John C. Park,
" Joshua H. Ward,	" Charles Sumner,
Geo. S. Hillard,	Elihu Burritt,

and other distinguished Lecturers, whose names will be duly announced.

Tickets at 75 cents each, may be obtained at the stores of Drs. Joseph Shed, and Sylvester Proctor, jr., and at the Bookstore of Sylvanus Dodge. dec 13

Railroad Meeting!

All those friendly to the adoption of measures to secure a Railroad from Salem, through South Danvers, Lynn, and Saugus, to Maldon, and from thence to Boston, are requested to assemble at the ESSEX HOUSE, in Salem, on MONDAY, the 15th inst. at 10 o'clock, A. M. dec 12.

TEMPERANCE.

Dr. J. A. ROBINSON, of Salem, will lecture on the subject of Temperance, before the Howard Tent, at ASHLAND HALL, on WEDNESDAY evening next, at 7 o'clock. The public generally are invited to attend. dec 13

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

MONUMENT DIVISION—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at SANGER'S HALL, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.

South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.

WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

NEW WORK BY PROF. FROST.—The Book of the Colonies, composing the U. S. from the discovery until the Revolution; 1 vol, with a great many engravings, $1. Extent of the Atonement in its relation to God and the Universe, by Thos. W. Jenkyn, D. D.; second American from the third London edition; 1 vol, cloth.

The New Science Phonography.—The Complete Phonographic Class Book, 37 1-2; and the Phonographic Reader, 6 1-4c; by Andrews & Boyle. With these books any person by practice can become acquainted with the system, without the aid of a teacher. A supply just received from the authors and for sale at their prices at the bookstore of J. P. JEWETT & CO. dec 13

SOMETHING NEW! Goodyear's Gum Elastic Paper Holders. These holders or bands are for placing round papers or parcels of every description. In an instant one can be placed round a bundle or packet of papers holding the same firm, and yet, at all times, allowing of a very great addition or reduction without any loss of compactness or security; they are made of different widths, lengths and thickness. Prices 75 cents per dozen, a supply just received and for sale by the quantity at W. & S. B. IVES' Bookstore, 332 Essex street. dec 13

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beau'iful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 13

Great Attraction for the New Year.

THE ILLUSTRATED

New England Family Magazine!

NEW VOLUMN,--JANUARY, 1846.

Messrs. Bradbury, Soden & Co. will issue on the 20th of December the January Number of this highly popular and valuable Magazine; being the first number of a new volume. The great success which the publishers have met with in commencing a Family Magazine" that should impart to its readers useful knowledge, as well as amusement and recreation, has determined them to make greater efforts to render the work still more valuable and attractive the coming year. They respectfully ask, therefore, the encouragement and patronage of every person who desires to have useful and instructive works take the place of the light and frivolous love tales, calculated to excite the bad passions in the young, which are, under the mask of "cheap Literature," now so widely spread over the land.

Specimen numbers will be freely furnished when sent for, free of expense, and the publishers ask of an enlightened public an examination of their work—Particular attention is drawn to the fact that clubs of ten are supplied with the work at One Dollar a Year, or one copy of the "Family Magazine" and one copy of "Robert Merry's Museum" are supplied one year for Two Dollars—a degree of cheapness, quantity of matter considered, which has no parallel.

The Family Magazine will be published as heretofore on or near the first day of each month, on clear type and fine white paper. Each number will contain forty-eight double pages of reading matter, and be illustrated with from eight to twelve

New And Beautiful Wood Engravings.

Making at the end of the year a splendid pictorial volume of useful and entertaining matter, containing 576 pages, and more than ONE HUNDRED WOOD ENGRAVINGS.

TERMS—One Dollar and Fifty Cents per annum, payable in advance. To clubs, as before, when payments are made strictly in advance,

THREE COPIES ONE YEAR,		FOUR DOLLARS.
FIVE	" " "	SIX	"
TEN	" " "	TEN	"

or only One Dollar a Copy!!

☞One copy of the Family Magazine and one copy of Robert Merry's Museum (a magazine for youth, edited by the famous "Peter Parley,") one year,

TWO DOLLARS IF PAID IN ADVANCE.

Periodical dealers and agents will be supplied with the above work at the most liberal discount. All orders (cash enclosed) must be addressed,

BRADBURY, SODEN & CO.

dec 6 12 School Street, Boston.

NEW STYLES GALA PLAIDS.

Received by the last Steamer.

KEITH & MASON have just opened a lot of new, and very beautiful styles Gala Plaids for Cloaks and Dresses. Also, New embroidering Gimps for trimmings; Wide black Gimp, very rich patterns; Gents and Ladies' Cashmere Gloves of various patterns. dec 13

PHONOGRAPHY. The complete Phonographic class-book, containing a strictly inductive exposition of Pitman's Phonography; intended as a school book, and to afford the fullest instruction to those who have not the assistance of a teacher, by Andrews and Boyle. Price 37 1-5 cts. Also, the first No. of the Phonographic Reader,—price 6 cents. Just received and for sale by W. & S. B. IVES, Stearns' Building. dec 13

NEW JUVENILE MUSIC BOOK

THE JUVENILE CHOIR; a Selection of the Choicest Melodies from the German, Italian, French English and American Composers; designed for Public and Private Schools, and for Young Classes in Academies, and Seminaries, by Geo. Kingsley, Author of Social Choir, Harp of David, &c.

This work appears to be decidedly the best for the Young that has ever been published. Music Teachers, and others interested, are invited to examine it. For sale by the quantity at the publisher's price, at the Music Establishment of JOHN P JEWETT & CO. dec 13

NEW MUSIC, by Dempster and others. When the Night Wind Bewaileth, or Never, More, Never More. Music composed and sung, by Wm. R. Dempster.

Oh, give me a home in a foreign land—sung by the Harmeon Family, as a quartette, composed by Crosby.

Tarentelle, by F. Chapin.

Merrily oh! the Woodsman trudges along, or the Backwoodsman's Carol—by Francis H. Brown.

It was my home in Childhood—Music by Sporle.

The Village Bells—by Millar.

Love Now, an answer to Mrs Norton's Love Not—by Clarkson. Sally in our Alley, by Carey. Oh no, we never mention her—Waltz. I dreamed a dream of Boyhood's days. The Highland Quadrilles. My Grandfather's days. by Sporle.

The above just received. Also, a fresh supply of Dempster's popular song May Queen, 3 parts. The Fine Ould Irish Gintleman. He doeth all things well—by Woodbury, &c &c—at J. P. JEWETT & CO.'s dec 13 Music Store.

BOSTON ALMANACK, 1846.

THE usual neat affair, 25 c; for sale by the hundred dozen, or single copy, at the bookstore of

dec 13 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

The Stewart Improved
Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings, which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.

nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

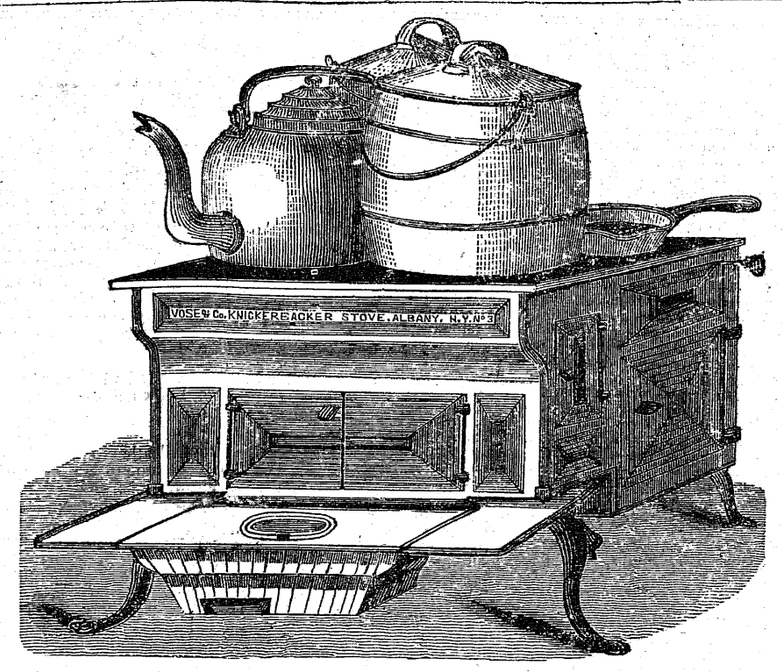
THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.



Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of tke estate of Jonathan Perry,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, gentleman deceased, and has taken upon herself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

REBECKAH PERRY,

Danvers, Dec. 6, 1845 Adm'x.

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;

Rathburn.

The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;

Douglass, which is highly recommended;

Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;

Hathway; The celebrated Railway,

together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following

Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;

Column:

Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus, may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself a No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar; Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

PLEASE call at No. 2 Allen's Building and purchase a Boston Almanac—the best No. yet published, containing in addition to the usual Maps of the City, a Diagram of Railroads diverging from Boston showing the Depots and distances.

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 lawtf

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. ESSEX, ss. Nov. 29, 1845. A warrant has been duty issued against the estate of FRANCIS EVELETH, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. KING, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.

JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,

dec 6 Messenger.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

WINTER GLOVES.

LADIES' Gen's and Children's Cashmere and Woollen Gloves, of all sizes, tor sale at

dec 6 M. T. DOLE.

BROADCLOTHS.

SUPERFINE Black, Blue Black and Brown Cloths, for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 6

WOOD! WOOD!

120 CORDS good Eastern hard Wood, fo sale by G C VARNEY & CO., dec 6 Store's Wharf

---

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

dec 6

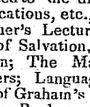
ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.



F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON " oct 25

Periscopic Spectacles.

ALWAYS on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at C. H. MANNING'S,

Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

oct 25

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf. On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The elegant, fast sailing schooner EUROTEAN, Rogers, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. dec 13

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf. On Saturday.

The superior N. York packet brig MOBILE. Bulkley, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAMPL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

dec 13

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.

From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. SISTERS, Gilman, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

dec 13

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't.
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street,

where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies. Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemical Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel, and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS, oct 11 10 Pros's street.

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of

READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.

COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c, &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Celebrated Clothing Establishment,

"Oak Hall Building!"

32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,

OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.

Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.

☞REMEMBER☜

ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,

BOSTON.

nov 8 en3m

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET.

Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

To Let.

A part of a House in Park street. Inquire of oct 25 J. ELLIOTT.

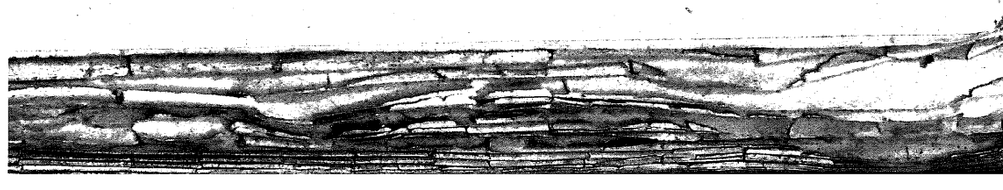
ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building, Danvers, March29th. tf

---

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,



Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of EZRA GOWING,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to the said estate are called upon to make payment to. WILLIAM GOWING,

Salem, Nov. 6th, 1845. Adm'r.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue:

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills! I might name many other cases were the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirefy left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 Brattle Square, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I feel as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs.
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FALL SUPPLY.

1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of
W & S B IVES,
oct 25 Stearns' Building.

SPOONS. SPOONS

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single; Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.
May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at as lowest rates. mch 15

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.
Also—Neck Stocks, Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,
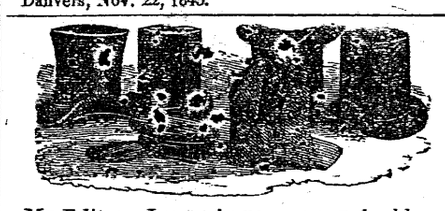
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.



Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.
apr 15 tf

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN OSBORNE, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, potter, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to KENDALL OSBORNE;
Danvers, Nov. 22 * Adm'r.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of
GIDEON FOSTER.
esqnire, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, testate, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: all persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to
SAMUEL W. KING, Adm'r.
Danvers, Nov. 22, 1845.

Mr Editor—I now have many valuable customers from your neighborhood, and feeling desirous of extending my acquaintance, I am not aware of any better way than to ask your aid; and this is to inform the readers o your paper, that I have a stock of HATS, CAPS, and every description of FUR GOODS, equal in variety to any in New England, and at as low prices.

Those who visit the city or are in the way of sending for goods, are respectfully requested to give me a call.

☞Wholesale Rooms, 2d and 3d stories,
No. 173 Washington Street, Boston.
oct 11 WM. M. SHUTE.

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red Ink. Gillott's and other Steel Pens, Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.

Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound, can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.
oct 18 tf

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns, on drab grounds, for sale by M. T. DOLE
nov 14

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a smal Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument. JOSEPH SHED.
july 26

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Copartnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

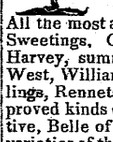
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.



DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens o Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be exceelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.
WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

Fruit and Ornamental TREES,

For sale at GROVE NURSERY, Salem.

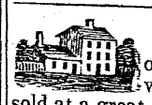
All the most approved kinds of Apples, such as Baldwins, Sweetings, Greenings, Russets, Minister, Portet, Early Harvey, summer Pearmain, Early Bough, Glory of the West, William's Favorite; many varieties of Pippins, Codlings, Rennets and the Nonsuch tribe. Also—the most approved kinds of Pears, such as the Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Belle of Flanders, Easter Beurre, Sickle, &c. Many varieties of the choicest kinds of Plums and Peaches.



Also—a choice assortment of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, such as Mountain Ash, Horse Chestnut, Scotch Larch, Fir Balsam, Arborvitæ, &c. Many varieties of the most splendid kinds of Honeysuckles and climbing Roses, for covering piazzas and lattice work. Also—above twenty varieties of the Tea Rose, Hybrid Perpetuals, Borbons, and many others of those lately introduced from Europe, &c.—As these trees and Plants are raised on poor soil, without high manuring, they will be found to be hardy and healthy, and when removed to richer soil, they cannot fail to make rapid progress.

Also—Buckthorne, for hedges, Strawberry Plants of the best kinds, and a great number of seedling Apples, Pears and Quinces, for stocks.

For further particulars, enquire of THOS. CRUIKSHANK, at the Nursery, or W. D. JOPLIN'S, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers. oct 18

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of
HIRAM GRANT.
Danvers, April 19, 1845,

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or
READY MADE CLOTHING
oct 18

FOR SALE CHEAP.

One good second hand CHAISE,
" " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " LIGHT WAGON.
By THOMAS TRASK, Main street
June 7 tf

EASTERN RAILRO
WINTER ARRANGEMEI

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, } 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2
} 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portl and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots.

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the Easte Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A
" " 8 3-4 " " 9 1-2
" " 9 3-4 " " 11 3-
" " 11 1-4 " " 12 3-4
" " 1 3-4 P M. " " 3 P
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6 1-2
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hou and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS, formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,
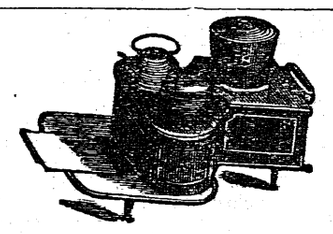
Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)
where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodic and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly New papers, as soon as they appear from the press.



In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes receive the continued patronage of those who have forme received his publications and he pledges himself that he w use his best exertions to procure all New Works promp and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance wi those publishers and others engaged largely in the Bo Trade will enable him to answer orders for parties Works, with great promptness, and at the most favora prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AN MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAU DERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman S near the Railroad Station, Salem.
may 24 3m

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 Bosto ST., will be found constantly on hand, the followi assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes a patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatne and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Stree
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES mad and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHE made as above. oct 15

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Bosto prices, by
Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KEITH & MASON, Washington street, Salem. nov 22

RN RAILROAD, ARRANGEMENT.
13th, 1845, Trains leave daily
7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P.M.
7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2
Great Falls, 7
7 1-4 A.M.
2 1-2
3 1-2, 4 1-2,
3 1-4 P.M.
and Newburyport, 8
7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
3 1-2 P.M.
Falls for Boston, 9
9.25 A.M.
7 1-4, 10
9 3-4
9 1-4, 10
AND BRANCH.
ad for Salem, at 7 1-2,
1-4, P.M.
ad, at
P.M. will leave Boston,
every day.
No. 17 Merchants Row
at the several
JOHN KINSMAN,
Master of Transportation.
Arrangement of the
AND SALEM
COACHES
THE Danvers and Salem
Hourly Coaches
connection with the Railroad, leave
hours,
A.M. Leave Salem
P.M.
Hotel, or at
and at the
at the depot on the
and the
SYMONDS & TEL
Case and Baggage
Hotel, or Blackstone, promptly
S. F. TOWN
1y
Depot!!
ICATIONS, of Stand,
all the Periodicals
and Weekly News-press.
confident who himself
New Works
acquaintance with largely in the orders for at the most ENTS, and SOFA stand, by S. SAL and Norman St.
Salem.
store, No. 129
hand, the following
VES,
Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
Stove;
of other cheap Cooking
Stoves of all sizes and and Box Stoves, of all work done with neatness
CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
MANNING.
MAKER,
Lamb, Main Street
MASS.
on the most reason-
RRIER'S TABLES made GGING BENCHES
oct 15
LES. Just received, a Shadowless Lamps, of
of the different sizes of
of the latest patterns of
three lights, of the Silver,
sale at the lowest Boston
LE, 215 Essex st. Salem.
Just received heavy
Also embroidering
by KEITH & MASON, 91
Jos Carnell

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 20, 1845. NUMBER 40.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

A LAMENT.

There is a voice I shall hear no more:
There are tones whose music for me is o'er;
Sweet as the odors of spring were they—
Precious and rich—but they died away:
They came like peace to my heart and ear—
Never again will they murmur here:
They have gone, like the blush of a summer morn—
Like a crimson cloud, through the sunset borne.

There were eyes that late were lit up for me,
Whose kindly glance was a joy to see:
They revealed the thoughts of a trusting heart,
Untouched by sorrow—untaught by art:
Whose affections were fresh as a stream of spring,
When birds in the vernal branches sing;
They were filled with love that hath passed with them,
And my lyre is breathing their requiem.

I remember a brow, whose serene repose
Seemed to lend a beauty to cheeks of rose;
And lips I remember, whose dewy smile,
As I mused on their eloquent power the while,
Sent a thrill to my bosom, and blest my brain
With raptures that never may dawn again:
Amidst musical accents those smiles were shed—
Alas, for the doom of the early dead!

Alas, for the clod that is resting now,
On those slumbering eyes—on that faded brow!
Wo for the cheek that hath ceased to bloom—
For the lips that are dumb in the noisome tomb;
Their melody broken, their fragrance gone—
Their aspect cold as the Parian stone:
Alas, for the hopes that with thee have died—
Oh, loved-one! would I were by thy side!

Yet the joy of grief it is mine to bear:
I hear thy voice in the twilight air;
Thy smile of sweetness untold I see,
When the visions of evening are borne to me;
Thy kiss on my dreaming lip is warm,
My arm embraceth thy yielding form:
Then I wake in a world that is sad and drear,
To feel, in my bosom,—thou art not here.

Oh, once the summer to me was bright—
The day, like thine eyes, wore a holy light;
There was bliss in existence, when thou wert nigh,—
There was balm in the evening's rosy sigh:
Then earth was an Eden, and thou its guest;
A sabbath of blessings was in my breast:
My heart was full of a sense of love,
Likest, of all things, to heaven above.

Now, thou art laid in that voiceless hall,
Where my budding raptures have perished all;
In that tranquil and holy place of rest,
Where the earth lies damp on the sinless breast:
Thy bright locks all in the vault are hid—
Thy brow is concealed by the coffin-lid:
All that was lovely to me is there—
Mournful is life, and a load to bear!

MISCELLANY

Fortune's Changes.

BY CAROLINE ORNE.

'Ah! little think the gay, licentious proud,
Whom pleasure, power and affluence surround,
——how many drink the cup
Of baleful grief, or eat the bitter bread
Of misery! Sore pierced by wintry winds,
How many shrink into the sordid hut
Of cheerlsss poverty!'—THOMSON.

It was a cold, cheerless day in the dead of winter, that a girl, who might be sixteen or seventeen years old, ascended the door-steps of a splendid looking dwelling, in one of our larger cities, with a reluctant air. She stood for a few seconds hesitating to ring the bell, but a bitter and searching blast that swept by, against which her pelisse and straw bonnet afforded but a feeble defence, conquered her timidity. The door was opened by a servant, just as she was inquiring if she could see Mrs Howell, a young man of very elegant appearance entered the hall, and told her that he would conduct her to the lady's presence. Leading the way, he opened the door of a spacious and magnificently furnished apartment, and with his hand still resting on the latch, invited her to enter.—She was shivering with cold but she stopped near the door, without presuming to approach the glowing anthracite fire; and in truth, there was little occasion for a person who had not recently been exposed to the weather to hover near it, so effectually was the cold excluded by the rich Brussels carpet, that yielded almost like down to the pressure of the feet, the double windows, with their embroidered satin curtains, as well as by the care that was taken to prevent drafts of air from entering beneath the door. The heart of the poor girl almost died within her, as she took a hasty survey of the different inmates of the apartment. Seated, not far from the fire, in a most luxurious looking chair, was a middle aged, haughty, looking lady, whose attention was directed to a young girl who stood near her, and who held, in one of her small white hands, a quantity of rich jewelry. This was Miss Howell. On the sofa sat Ann Huntley, her cousin, a very beautiful girl, who might be two or three years her senior.

"Edgar Huntley,' said Miss Howell,' where have you been all the morning? I have been wanting you to give your opinion of these jewels.—Have you ever seen any more beautiful!

"I dont know that I ever have,' answered Edgar rather coldly.

"I know you never have, and Mr. Upton says he shall charge only a hundred dollars more for the set than for those vulgar looking things I showed you yesterday, and I am sure, mamma, you won't mind that,' said she turning to her mother.

While Miss. Howell was considering, whether she had best mind it or not, Edgar Huntly said, 'Miss Howell, this young girl has some business with you, I believe.'

Miss Howell turned towatds her with an air that seemed to say "you may speak.'

'I have called,' said the poor girl, in a voice scarcely audible, 'to see if it were convenient for you to pay that small bill.'

'I was not aware that you had any demands against me,' said Miss Howell.

'It is for hemstiching a dozen linen handkerchiefs last summer.'

'Oh, yes,—and if I rightly remember, they were done very indifferently.'

The girl did not contradict her assertion, though the crimson spots that agitation had planted upon her cheeks became deeper! but Ann said—

'I am sure, Lucinda, if the handkerchiefs in question are those which you told me Juliet Norton did, I never saw any more neatly done in my life.'

'My name is Juliet Norton,' said the girl.

'Truly an euphonious name,' said Miss Howell, it would sound well in a novel.'

Juliet swallowed to suppress her rising emotion, and unfolding a small bit of paper, which she immediately refolded and handed to Miss Howell, said in an humble tone, 'will you please pay it?'

'Nine shillings?' said Miss Howell, looking at the bill—'it appears to me that you charge high.'

'My price is a shilling a piece for such handkerchiefs, when I work a sprig in each corner, but you told my little sister who called, last month for the pay, that you could not afford to give so much so I altered the price from two dollars to nine shillings, as you may see by the bill.'

'I cannot possibly pay you to-day—you must call again next week.'

Ann perceived that Juliet looked greatly distressed, and said to her, 'cousin, I will lend you the money.'

'No, you must not, Ann. Do you not recollect that I told you this morning that I should be obliged to borrow every cent that you could spare if I concluded to have that splendid ball dress?"

'And you have concluded to have it?' said Ann.

'Yes, I must have it. I am determined not to go to the ball, next week, without it. You may go, turning to Juliet, 'and I will pay you next week, or the week after.

Juliet, with a look of utter hopelessness, which went to the heart of Ann, and was present with her for days afterwards, approached the door and attempted to open it, but did not succeed. The momentary delay was fatal to her self-control, and she burst into tears. Edgar who had remained a silent spectator of the scene, sprang forward, opened the door, and stepping lightly through the hall opened the street door likewise for her to pass out. He then slipped on an overcoat, and taking his hat was determined to see where she went.

'What an artful creature,' said Miss Howell, the moment they had life the room. 'You have not become used to their tricks yet. She saw that she had succeeded in exciting your compassion, and was determined to make an effective exit.—The tears of such people are always at their command.'

'I wonder at your employing such creatures, said Mrs. Howell, they are always so clamorou for their pay.'

"Hunger and cold are enough to make them so," said Ann.

"Nonsense!" said Miss Howell. "A girl who can wear as good a pelisse as this Miss Juliet Norton had on—I like to speak her name, I wish there was an Annabella to it—can never make me believe that she is suffering from either cold or hunger."

"It is true that her pelisse was of fine meterials, but it was very much worn. I was nearer to her than you were, and could see that it was mended in a dozen places. Besides it appeared very thin, and must have been quite insufficient protection against the extreme cold. I longed to follow her and offer her my good warm shawl."

'Oh, no, your elegant cloak would have been the thing—but where is your brother gone?'

'I don't know."

'I rather suspect that he has gone to wait upon this Miss Juliet home. Perhaps he will lend her his cloak. La, I had like to have forgotten my jewels, in a subject so absorbing. Mamma, you must not say nay to my purchasing them, for Edgar likes them—he said so just now.'

'Yes, child, purchase them if you like, though the truth is, I am a little pressed for money at this time.'

'What if you are, mamma? Such a trifling sum cannot make much difference."

Could Miss Howell have read what was passing in the mind of Edgar Huntley, she would probably have done differently; for when, by the invitation of her mother, he and his sister came to spend a few weeks with them, his handsome person and elegant manners, (his large fortune might have had some influence,) appeared so attractive to her, that she no longer hesitated to reject a very unexceptionable offer, then under consideration. At first, he was evidently pleased with her, for without being eminently beautiful, there were few who could appear so well at a party, or in the ballroom. A few traits of disposition, casually disclosed, put him upon his guard, and he determined to study her character before suffering his heart to be irretreievably enthralled by her attractions. The study carried with it its antidote; and after the little scene that had just been enacted, could she have availed herself of charms equal to those which ensnared the sage Ulysses, he would have remained 'fancy free.'—In the evening, Miss Howell being busily employed in preparing for the anticipated ball, Ann took that opportunity to fulfil an engagement she had made with her brother. She met him in the hall ready prepared for a walk.

'It is very cold,' said he as he gave her his arm 'and I hope you have prepared yourself accordingly.'

Ann was a good walker, and her brother conducted her rapidly through several streets, till at last they entered——street, where the mean appearance of the buildings denoted that they had entered upon the precincts of poverty. Edgar at length paused before one of them and said, 'I think this is the house.' He knocked at the door, and in a few seconds it was opened by a meager looking girl, eight or nine years old, who held in her hand a small tin lamp.

'Does Juliet Norton live here?' inquired Edgar.

'Yes sir,—please walk in' and she conducted them into a neat, though very mean looking apartment. Near the fire, if it were indeed worthy to be called a fire, the only fuel being some shavings in a baskets, a handful of which the little girl threw on at intervals—sat a woman, past the prime of life, whose emaciated person, and hollow cough, showed that she was suffering from that lingering, but incurable disease, which has been termed an old fashioned consumption. Her gown had once been black, but age and constant wear had changed it to a rusty brown, and her plain muslin cap, displaying innumerable darns, was tied with a faded black riband; yet notwithstanding her illness and mean attire, there was an ease and politeness in her manners that indicated she had been accustomed to good society. The building being much decayed admitted the cold air on every side, and the place where the invalid was seated was screened by a rug fastened to the ceiling. She was Juliet's maternal aunt, and her name was Hobart.

Juliet, who sat near a small table, engaged with her needle, rose at their entrance and handed the chairs, evincing by a slight discomposure which she could not conceal, that want and wretchedness had not yet had the power to entirely crush that proud sensitiveness of heart which causes it to shrink from displaying its misery to the observation of strangers. Being now without her bonnet, Edgar and his sister had a better opportunity than before to observe her very pale and care-worn features. They perceived too that her hands trembled as she resumed her work, but they did not then know that it was as much in consequence of her not having broken her fast, since the morning, as from agitation at their unexpected visit. But though fatigue, anxiety and privation had impared, even withered her beauty, it had not destroyed it. The outline of her finely chiselled features had become somewhat sharpened, but her brow where the veins were traced as delicately as on the leaf of some snowy flower, and round which her hair, soft as a golden cloud, was wreathed in rich redundancy, retained all its original purity, while her eyes of the hue of a moonlight sky in June, were fringed with long, silky lashes, which enhancing yet softening their brillinncy, made them appear to mirror more deeply, all the mind's sweetest, as its most melancholy musings. In spite of the disadvantage of mean apparel it was evident that her form was exquisitely moulded, and in perfect keeping with her face, which both Edgar and Ann agreed in pronouncing the most lovely they had ever beheld. Such was the being, who shivering by the flickering blaze of their unsubstantial fire, with the wind whistling through crevices on every side, had toiled unremittingly with her needle during the day, except the time she spent in her bootless errand to Miss Howell, without any support save a slight breakfast. After the lapse of a few minutes, Ann produced a muslin cape which she wished to have embroidered, and inquired if she would undertake to complete it in the course of five or six weeks Juliet replied that she would.

'I will pay you now then,' said Ann, depositing twice the amount, on the table, which it was customary to demand for such work,' as I shall possibly leave town before that time."

The poor invalid, who had sustained the privations of that cold and bitter day without a murmur or a tear, when she saw once more within their reach the means of alleviating their sufferings, held up her thin, emaciated hand, and said, in a voice half choked wirh tears, "Surely, dear young lady, the blessing of those ready to perish will rest upon you.' Juliet in the meantime buried her face in her hands, and little Ellen, her sister, wept through sympathy, while Ann endeavored to disguise her emotion by hunting in her reticule for the embroidery pattern, and Edgar by taking out his watch and fixing his eyes upon it as intently as if he were attempting to decipher a circle of hieroglyphics.

'You see,' said Mrs. Hobart, after she had succeeded in calming his feelings, 'that we are all too weak to bear sudden joy with composure. If the gay young lady who sent Juliet away to-day with promises instead of pay, could have known that we had consumed our last mouthful of food, and were without the means to procure more, she would, I think, have paid her, even at the risk of being obliged to appear at the ball she mentioned. less splendidly attired. Perhaps she might tell us that we ought to solicit charity of the town, but it is hard for persons who have once lived in affluence to think of doing that—besides, if those who employ Juliet would pay her promptly, we should, at least, be placed above actual want.'

Young Huntley, and his sister, soon bade them good evening, but neither of them would have slept quietly that night, had not the former, as soon as he had seen Ann home, sent them, by a porter, whatever was necessary to make them comfortable for the present.

Ann, who in a few days afterwards made them another call, was informed, by Mrs. Hobart, that Juliet and Ellen's father while living was thought to be wealthy, but that after his demise the estate was found to be insolvent. The property which had been in his possession, being for the most part personal, all that remained to Mrs. Norton was the right to spend the remainder of her days in a house which her husband had formerly let.—Though a woman of delicate health, she had much energy of character, and by teaching a small school, and executing what ornamental needle-work she could procure, she was able for several years to support herself and children. Her health, however, at length sunk, beneath anxiety of mind and over-exertion, but Miss. Hobart, her sister arriving opportunely from a distant town, where she had formerly resided, assumed the task Mrs. Norton was no longer able to perform, and thus saved her from suffering during the brief remainder of her days. Unfortunately Mrs. Hobart's health yielded, in the course of three years to her unremitting exertions, and Juliet being thought by parents too young to take charge of their children, their only resource was her needle, and a small sum of money Mrs Hobart had brought with her, This, though never resorted to, when by the most painful parsimony they could manage to avoid it, gradually melted away, and they were soon obliged to leave their comfortable tenement for their present wretched abode. On one account Juliet felt glad to make the exchange; for her feelings would be liable to be less frequently wounded by meeting with those, who during her father's life courted her company, but now, did not even recognize her.

Soon afterwards, Edgar and his sister, in pursuance of a plan which they had matured between them, went to look at a small, neat house, which Ann, that no occasion might be given for slander, hired in her own name, and which they caused to be comfortably furnished as expeditiously as possible. When, at last every thing was arranged satisfactorily, Ann directed to have a cheerful fire kindled in the handsome parlor stove, and then called on Juliet, and invited her to walk with her. A faint blush flitted over Juliet's cheeks as she produced her mended pelisse, and weather-beaten straw bonnet, but she made no allusion to them. As they stepped into the street, Ann drew her arm under her own, and as a house at no great distance had been purposely selected, on account of the invalid aunt, a few minutes walk brought them to its door. Ann rang the bell, and they were admitted by a tidy looking girl, who directed looks of much curiosity towards Juliet. Having conducted her into the neat, cheerful looking parlor, Ann disclosed to her what she had done, at the time expresssng a hope that it would meet her approbation.

Juliet could find no language to express her thanks, but there was an eloquence in her looks, far more expressive and affecting than could have been by words. When at length she was able to speak, "I fear,' said she, 'that you have deprived yourself of many luxuries in order to do all this—It must have occasioned you great expense.'

'Yes, the expense has been something, but it has caused me no inconvenience. I am my own mistress, and my annual income has not only permitted me to do this, but will allow me to do more. Edgar would have been both proud and happy to have shared the expense with me, but besides my being desirous to have the whole credit myself, he was restrained by certain reasons which you will understand and appreciate.'

Mrs. Hobart, for whom a comfortable and appropriate apartment had been provided, was the next morning placed in a carriage and conveyed to their new habitation; being accompanied by little Ellen, who had the pleasure of being attired in a new and warm dress. When seated by the fire in her easy chair, the gratitude which she expressed to Ann, who had joined Juliet in order to welcome her, was not the less fervent, nor her smile of happiness the less warm, from being conscious that she could not long remain to participate her bounty; and when in a few months afterwards, she was summoned to take 'Her chamber in the silent halls of death,' ——sustained and soothed

By an unfaltering trust——she drew near the grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.'

More than a year from this event, as Mrs How ell, and her daughter, in company with a party o friends, were sitting in the parlor of the hotel a one of our fashionable watering places, their curi osity was excited by the following conversation be tween two ladies, who were strangers to them.

'Did you see Mr. Edgar Huntley, when he was in town last year,' inquired one of them.

'Yes, I saw him pass our house several times and thought him a remarkable fine looking young man.'

Mr. Allen told my husband this morning that he is just married, and that he is expected here today, or tomorrow.'

'Did he tell him the name of the lady he has married.'

'No, but it is Miss Howell, I suppose—his cousin.'

'Very likely—I remember, now, of hearing that he was engaged to her.'

The ladies, unconscious of their contiguity to Miss Howell, soon afterwards rose and left the room.

'Who is it that Edgar can be married to?' said Mrs. Howell to her daughter as soon as they were gone.

'I, of course, cannot enlighten you upon the subject,' replied Miss Howell, 'and I am certain that is a matter of perfect indifference to me.'

'It is, at least, very odd that we should never have heard a word about it. I should have thought that Ann would have mentioned it in her last letter.'

'My opinion is different from yours. I should imagine that you had had ample opportunity to ascertain Ann's taste for privacy from that Juliet Norton affair. You know that we never knew a word about her renting a house and furnishing it for her, till she and her brother had been gone several weeks.'

Mrs. Howell was prevented from replying by the exclamation of a little girl who stood near the window.

'Only see, mamma,' said she 'what a beautiful lady there is!'

Mrs. Eaton, the child's mother, as well as Mrs. Howell and her daughter hastened to obey the impulse of curiosity. A handsome private carriage stood before the door, from which a gentleman had just handed one lady and was offering his hand to another.

'Why that is certainty Ann Huntley stepping from the carriage, and that must be her brother who is assisting her, from his form and air,' said Mrs. Howell.

The next moment conjecture was exchanged for certainty by her obtaining a view of his face.

'And the other lady, is doubtless Mrs. Edgar Huntley,' said Mrs. Eaton. 'What an admirable form and face.'

'I have certainly,' said Mrs. Howell, 'either seen her before or some person very much resembling her.'

'At any rate,' said Mrs. Eaton, 'we must allow little Myra to be a good judge of beauty. Miss Dermont will now no longer be the cynosure to attract all eyes. Do you think she will, Miss Howell?'

'I am a very indifferent judge of beauty,' replied the lady with a cold, disdainful smile, by which she strove to conceal the chagrin that filled her heart.

'Now, I think Mrs. Eaton judges correctly,' said Mrs. Howell.

'How strange that I cannot remember the person's name she resembles. Cannot you recollect, Lucinda?'

'I am as dull in detecting resemblances as I am in judging of beauty,' replied the daughter, who although she instantly recognized her, could not bring herself to say that the beautiful and elegant Mrs Huntley was no other than the late poor Juliet Norton.

Frightened at a Gong.—We have heard a funny story told of a young fellow; residing in one of the tobacco-growing countries of Virginia, who recently made his first visit to Richmond, the capital of the "Old Dominion," for the purpose of selling his crop, seeing the sights, and rubbing off some of the rust which his backwoods "fetching-up" had thrown upon his manners.

He reached Richmond about the middle of the forenoon, and was fortunate in selling his crop at an advantageous rate and almost immediately. Meeting with an old school-fellow—who had lived in the city long enough to know its ways—he was advised to take up his lodgings at Boyden's, the crack house of the place, and thither he at once went with bag and baggage. Just before dinner his country friend called upon him, and found him comfortably located in a room just at the head of the first stairs. It was closed upon dinner time.

"Supposing we take something to start an appetite," said the chap who had 'just come down.'

"Agreed,' rejoined his city friend, "a glass of wine and bitters for me.

"Let's go down to the bar and get it—dinner's most ready," continued the tobacco grower.

"We might as well have it up here," was the rejoinder.

"Good lick; but how are we to call for it!"

"Ring that bell there."

"What bell?"

"Pull that rope hanging there.

The young fellow laid hold of the rope and gave it a jerk, and just at that moment the gong sounded for dinner. Never had he heard such a sound before, and the rumbling crash came upon his ear with a report that stunned him. He staggered back from the rope, raised both hands in horror, and exclaimed, "Great Jerusalem, what a smash! I've broke every piece of crockery in the house! There aint a whole dish left! You must stick by me, old fellow," addressing his friends, "don't leave me in this scrape, for my whole crop won't half pay the breakage. What did you tell me to touch that cursed rope for?"

But before his friend, who was all but burstting with laughter, could answer, a servant entered the room with

"Did you ring the bell, sir?"

"Bell, no, d—n your bell: I never touched a bell in my life: what bell? I never saw your bell."

"Somebody rung the bell of this room, that's certain, continued the servant;

"No, they didn't. There's nobody here that ever saw a bell"—and turning to his friend exclaimed, aside, "Let's lie him out of it; I shan't have a cent left to get home if I pay the entire amage. What do they set such rascally traps as that for, to take in folks from the country?"

After a violent fit of laughter, the friend was enabled to explain that it was only the gong sounding for dinner—a simple summons to "walk down to soup" got up on the Chinese plan. They made their way to the dining-room; but it was some time before the young tobacco grower could get over the stunning and awful effects of that dreadful gong—"It was a God-send," he said, "that the crash did not turn his hair gray on the spot."—N. O. Pic.

Cabbage Turnep Above Ground.

This valuable vegetable has not as yet received much attention in this state. A few only have cultivated it, and its dissemination has not yet been sufficient to render its merits generally known. It is the Kohl-rabi of the Germans, and the Chou-rave of the French. In the markets of both these countries it is sold in such quantities as to lead to infer that it is highly prized by the people. The following remarks relative to this vegetable, we cut from an exchange.—Maine Cultivator.

"The Cabbage Turnep above ground is another variety of the Cabbage Turnep, and a very singular production. Where this vegetable comes from the ground, it is nearly of the common size of a cabbage, and just above the ground it enlarges into a globular bulb of the size of other turneps. This account as to size may appear to be indefinite as to say the size of a peice of chalk; but it is correct, for like most kinds of productive turneps they grow large under favorable circumstances, and small in a lean soil. We have raised some as large as half peck measure.

The knob, or protuberance which forms this turnep, is covered with a thick fibrous rind, similar to that of a cabbage stump, and leaves come out of it on the sides and top, commencing nearly at its base; the leaves are of a greenish purple, and are scattered over the top of the bulb or turnep, and never form into a head. We have cultivated the Cabbage Turnep above ground in the same manner as the ruta baga, and in the same manner as cabbages; they are hardy and in a good soil succeed well, and are very productive."

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 20, 1845.

War on account of Oregon.

We think there has not been a time within the last twenty years, when we have come so near a war with England, as we are at the present time Both countries arecommitting themselves upon their respective claims to Oregon, in a manner which will hardly admit of an honorable retraction. We are aware that it will be difficult to get up a war spirit in either country, owing to the increased intelligence of the people, and their abhorence of the barbarities of war. And we feel the greatest confidence that if a war could not be declared without the consent of a majority of the people, we should have little to fear from a war at any time. But the power to declare war is vested in the rulers, and all that is left for the people, is to say, whether their homes shall be laid waste, and their towns and villages destroyed, or whether they will fight in their defence. They may in this way be driven into a war.

A war on account of Oregon, as we conceive it, is entirely uncalled for. We have now, as we have had for the last twenty-six years, quiet, joint possession with England, without any decision as to their respective titles. If this shall continue five years longer, there will be, if the present emigration continues, a very large majority of our own citizens possessing the country, and it will be for them to declare what form of government they will have, or with what nation they will connect themselves. The result would be all we could wish, and without war, without bloodshed, Oregon would become an independent nation, similar to our own and most friendly to us, because peopled with our own citizens; or would become a member of this confederacy of States.

We can but look upon the enforcing of our claims now, as injudicious and ill-timed, and if we are involved in a war with England as a consequence, it will be one in which the people will feel slow to engage, and the disastrous effects to our country are hardly to be enumerated.

Anti-Slavery Petitions.

On Wednesday and Thursday of last week, in the the House of Representatives, Mr. Adams presented petitions remonstrating againts the admission of Texas into the Union as a slave-holding state, which were, on motion of Mr. Boyd, laid on the table, by a vote of 115 to 72.

Mr. Adams then remarked, that from the proceedings of the House on these memorials, he inferred that it was their intention that they should not be heard, and that the measure of the admission of Texas should be carried through, without any reference or respect to the remonstrance against it. He had therefore nothing more to do than to submit to the decision of the House, and to present the memorials which had been forwarded to him, and to leave the House to decide upon them as they thought proper. He proceeded to present a large pile of petitions of the above description.

The speaker stated, that inasmuch as the House had decided to lay memorials of this description on the table, the Chair would order the clerk so dispose of them unless otherwise ordered by the House. Amidst cries of 'agreed, agreed' no motion being made, the petitions were thus disposed of.

Similar remonstrances were presented by Mr. Rockwell, Mr. Winthrop, and all the Massachusetts members, and by many other members.

☞The Cambria steamed for Liverpool Tuesday afternoon, with 62 passengers; among them Mr. Henry Burdon of Troy, N. Y., bearer of despatches to our minister at London. She will also carry out the President's Message, the effect of which on public opinion in that country will be known here by the middle of January.

Joshua Silvester, Esq. of this town, goes out in the Cambria with the view of ascertaining the practicability of introducing American leather and the manufacture of shoes from such leather into that market. We hope that abundant success will attend his undertaking.

This is the last semi-monthly steamer of th present season.

PETITIONS.—Among the petitions presented in the U. S. House of Representatives, we notice the following by Hon. DANIEL P. KING:—

The petition of John P. Andrews and 109 others, of Salem, Massachusetts, for a Congress of Nations for the settlement of national disputes. Also the petition of Asahel Huntington and 54 others, for the same object,

Also the remonstrances of J. W. Forniss and 109 others, of Wm. Black and 59 others, of 1,414 citizens of Amesbury, Danvers, Essex, Gloucester, Hamilton, Lynn, Manchester, Marblehead, and Rockport, Massachusetts, against the annexation of Texas to the Union as a slave State.

☞We see by Dickinson's Boston Almanac for 1846 that the Metropolis can boast of 269 Lawyers, 201 Physicians of all kinds including 5 females and 97 Clergymen. There has been an increase the present year of 36 Lawyers, 9 Physicians and 21 Clergymen. The Railroad map in this Almanac represents 577 miles of Railroad within the State, which includes only those already constructed and in process of building.

☞Ole Bull, the Norwegian violinist, has gone back to Europe. The N. Y. Herald says he has received eighty thousand dollars for two years' fiddling in this country.

New Railroad to Boston.

We give below the proceedings of the Meeting in Salem, on Monday last, of those in favor of the Railroad petitioned for last year by David Pingree and others. The indications we understand, are quite favorable for a prompt subscription of the whole of the capital stock which may be required for its construction, and a charter only is wanted to secure to this town as well as to Salem, Lynn and Saugus a direct land conveyance by Railroad into Boston. That a charter can be obtained at the approaching session of the Legisiature, we will not permit ourselves to doubt. If the wishes of many thousands of citizens of Salem, Danvers, Lynn, Saugus, Charlestown and Boston for the success of this undertaking are to have any weight with the Representatives of the people, a charter will be granted. Opposition is to be expected from the Eastern Railroad of course, and this will have a favorable influence on our application.—The ghost of the old Chelsea project will be raised, eminent counsel will be employed, lobby influence used and all the other arts of influence on Legislative bodies will be put in requisition to defeat our project. We shall rejoice at this, as no better proof will be needed that the old corporation are fully awnre of the superior advantages of our route over their own, and that its stock will be far more profitable as an investment. It is a tacit admission that the new road will have the preference of the travelling public, and we shall hear threats of reductions of fare on the old route to deter people from investing in the new stock. All these influences and threats will be regarded by an intelligent committee for just what they are worth, and when a charter is obtained we have no fear from any competition with the old corporation. Such a competition would not only enlist the feelings of the great body of the people in favor of the oppressed party, but it would not fail to be disastrous to the income of the larger corporation, and however its Directors may feel inclined to such petty spite, it would not be submitted to by its stockholders.

Again we say we consider the prospect highly encouraging, and could the whole town be as united in it, as at its commencement, and as its recorded and unrepealed action represent it, we believe a direct road from the north part of the town through the south, and to terminate in the Station of the Maine Railroad would be travelled by locomotives in the year 1846.

A meeting of gentlemen of different town, favorably disposed to a new Railroad from Salem, though South Danvers, Lynn, Saugus and Malden, to Boston, was held in Salem, Monday forenoon.

The meeting was called to order by Robert S. Daniels, of Danvers, and Dr. George Osborn, of Danvers, was chosen President, Andrews Breed, of Lynn, and Benjamin Goodridge, of Danvers, Vice Presidents, and Charles Merritt, of Lynn, Secretary.

On motion of R. S Daniels, of Danvers, it was voted, that a Committee from the different towns on the proposed route, be chosen, to which shall be given full power and discretion to act as they shall think best to promote the object for which the meeting was called.

Henry Poor, of Danvers, David Ellis, of Lynn, Andrew Lunt, of Boston, and Daniel Marston, of Salem, were chosen a Committee, to nominate the above Committee, who reported the names of William Sutton, B. Porter Chamberlain, John W. Treadwell, James C. Stimpson, of Salem; Robert S. Daniels, George Osborn, Benjamin Goodridge Matthew Hooper, Elijah W. Upton, Jonathan Shove, William D. Northend, Lewis Allen, David Daniels, of Danvers; Andrews Breed, Joshua Webster, George Hood, Samuel J. Ireson, Jacob Purinton, of Lynn; Benjamin F. Newhall and George W. Reddin, of Saugus; Mr. Haven, of Malden; Andrew Lunt, Nicholas Little, A. K. Osborn, Robert Steel, of Boston, and they were accordingly chosen.

Addresses in favor of the route were made by George Osburn, Andrew Lunt, W. D. Northend, Robert S. Daniels, Andrews Breed, and Henry Poor.

The Game of the States, or who'll be President?—We can scarcely conceive of a more innocent, instructive and interesting amusement than the above games, which consist of printed cards, on each of which the Coat of Arms of each State is represented; also the name of a State, the number of its electoral votes, its population and several geographical questions. The game may be played by as many as can conveniently sit around a table—not less than three or four being desirable. It may be obtained at the store of M. T. DOLE.

Railroad from Salem to North Andover. We learn that a petition is in circulation in Salem and numerously signed for a charter for this Road, and we see no reason why such a charter should not be obtained. We have before expressed our favorable estimation of the advantages of this road Although it may not offer as favorable inducements for immediate investment as our road via Malden to Boston, its prospective advantages when the new city shall be built on the Merrimack, give it fair claims for the consideration of capitalists.

SUBSTITUTE FOR THE POTATO.—A vegetable, indigenous in New Grenada, the arrachia, is said to be a valuable substitute for the Potato. Each plant furnishes three or four pounds of root, of the nature of carrot and potato united, and is said to be a wholesome food.

The Native Americans in New York.

The American Patriot, the organ of the Native American party in New York has in an editorial article which lately appeared in its columns, accused the leaders of the party as the most corrupt and dishonest pack of scamps that ever humbugged a people. It accused them of having caused the bankruptcy of the paper, and says the developments they will make, if they are enabled to publish any more numbers will far out-do anything that has appeared in Bennett's Herald for the past year. The following are a few specimens of the manner in which the Native 'organ' touches the leaders. The article is headed, 'Forbearance has at length ceased to be a Virtue'—and then follows the quotation, 'Oh! for a whip of scorpions to lash such rascals out of the land.' The managers are termed 'the narrow-minded, short-sighted, penny-wise and pound-foolish savans of the Native American party' in New York; and after detailing a long list of grievances, among which are 'dancing attendance upon the whims and caprices of more old grannies in breeches than we ever saw in petticoats'—'after suffering ourselves to be the bone of contention over which many a hard battle has been lost and won, and been the subject of debate for friends and foes, the drunken and sober, the sage and fool, the honorable and dishonorable, the firm and consistent advocate of our just claims, and the mercenary, malicious, craven hearted, revengeful, reckless and implacable, who have assumed a position in the Native American party which they never could have obtained in any older and better regulated party'—the editor declares, 'we have been constrained, out of respect to ourselves as well as from sheer necessity, to absolve all connection with the leaders of the American party, and to cease from this time forth and forever, to issue a party paper under their auspices, so long at least as the present organization consists and bad men are permitted to bear sway in its councils.'

MAGNETISM.—We notice that some of our exchanges have published a very long statement from Mr. Edgar A. Poe (of some literary note) in which he says that through the power of magnetism, he did on a certain Sunday night, some seven months since, put into a mesmeric trance, one Mr. Valdemar, who was then on the verge of death (it being thought by his physicians that he would expire during the night,) and that he kept him in this state for the space of seven months, during which time at intervals, he conversed with him, or asked him questions, such as "if he still slept' to which he replied in substance that he had been sleeping but was dead. At length at the expiration of about seven months it was thought desirable to awaken him from his trance which Mr. Poe attempted and succeeded in doing so, upon which he (the corpse) was immediately asked to explain his feelings or wishes at that time to which he replied—"For God's sake!—quick! quick!—put me to sleep—or, quick!—waken me! —quick!—I say to you that I am dead!

After similar ejaculations as these from the tongue and not from the lips of the dead man, the process of awakening being fairly completed, he in a moment or less, crumbled away into a mass of loathesome putrescence.

The above is the substance of this statement, and we sincerely hope the stomachs of those who swallow it whole, is very capacious, otherwise they will need also to be mesmerized before they can be made to receive it.

Numbering the Streets.

We have frequently heard suggested the advantage to each resident and strangers visiting town of having our streets numbered. We think if some persevering individual would undertake the task of ascertaining the minds of our citizens in regard to the matter, it would be found that but few if any would object to paying their part of the trifling sum necessary to accomplish this desirable object.

Christmas Eve.

By a notice in another column it will be seen that the Sabbath School connected with Rev. Mr. Prince's Society, intend celebrating the Anniversary of the Birth of Christ, in an appropriate manner, by speaking, singing, etc. Similar exhibitions have been given by this School in years past, and with gratifying success. We cannot but believe that the present school assisted by the untiring and persevering efforts of its faithful and zealous pastor, will fully sustain this reputation, and we therefore cheerfully recommend to every one as a pleasant prelude to Christmas, to pass the evening of Wednesday at the 2d Universalist Church.

☞Decker & Allen's cabinet maker's shop, in Manchester, was destroyed by fire, on Saturday morning last, about half past 2 o'clock, with its contents.—The loss is supposed to be from 5 to 6000 dollars. Insured for $1300 at Holyoke Mutual and $500 at Mechanic's Mutual in Salem. The fire is believed to have originated from a defeat in the chimney

☞The Merrimack Manufacturing Company at Lowell have declared a semi-annual dividend of ten per cent.

☞The Lowell Courier states that the mills in that city are closed on Christmas day,—and most of the churches too!

The December term of the Court of Common Pleas commenced at Ipswich, on Tuesday. Judge Ward presiding.

A project for establishing a line of mail steamers from New York to one of the German ports it is thought will soon be brought before Congress and adopted without much opposition.

National Defences.

The first War Debate took place in the Senate, on Monday last, on the resolutions proposed by Gen. Cass to enquire into the condition of our national defences, which was continued on Tuesday when they were adopted unanimously. The following are the resolutions:—

Resolved, That the Committee on Naval Affairs be instructed to inquire into the condition of the navy of the United States, and into the quantity and condition of naval supplies now on hand; and whether an increase of them is not necessary to the efficient operation of the navy, and to its preservation and augmentation; and generally, into its capacity for defending our coast and our commerce, and for any service the exigencies of the country may probably require.

Resolved, That the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to inquire into the condition of the national fortifications and their armaments, and whether other defensive works are necessary; and into the condition and quantity of the military supplies; and into the state of the means possessed by the government for the defence of the country.

Resolved, That the Committee on the Militia be instructed to inquire into the present condition of that great branch of the public service, and into the state of the militia laws; and that they be further instructed to report such changes in the existing system as will give more experience and efficiency to that arm of defence, and will place it in the best condition for protecting the country, should it be exposed to foreign invasion.

☞Judge Wilde who has been seriously ill, is, we are happy to learn from the Boston Post rapidly gaining health and strength, with every prospect of soon being enabled to resume his seat on the bench of the Supreme Court.

CALIFORNIA.—The New York Courier and Enquirer says that the suggestion made some days ago by a correspondent of that paper, that the object of Mr. Slidell's mission to Mexico was to negociate for the purchase of California, seems to be confirmed by intelligence recently received from Mexico through the Havana papers. It was reported in Vera Cruz that the U. S. Consul at Mexico had been instructed to offer to Mexico four or five millions of dollars, as an indemnification for Texas.

The same paper adds, that a letter from Vera Cruz informs that preparations had been made for the acquisition of New California by the United States, and that the river Gila would be the boundary.

MRS. MARIA BROOKS.—It is with the deepest regret, says the Boston Courier, that we learn the death of Mrs. Maria Brooks, the authoress of "Zophiel." She died on the 11th of November last at Matanzas, in the island of Cuba, from the debility consequent upon a fit of sickness.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald states, unequivocally, that Mr. Packenham, the British Minister, agreeably to instructions received by the Cambria, has again opened negotiations with Mr. Buchanan on the Oregon question, and on a basis, it is intimated, which creates almost a certainty of a successful issue.

THREE HUNDRED SHEEP were drowned at Rome N. Y. last week, by breaking through the ice of a sluice way.

We have received from the author of the "Norseman's Revenge," a poem on the defeat and death of Braddock, which will appear in our next.

THE HON. HENRY CLAY is about to visit New Orleans, and will probably spend the winter in Cuba for his health.

☞The Daily Mail of yesterday publishes the rumor that Tirrell, the supposed murderer of Maria Bickford, has been arrested in New Orleans.

BLACK CODE.—Jeffrey a slave in New Orleans was tried week before last under the Black Code, before a jury of six freeholders on a charge of having attempted to commit a rape upon the person of a white woman named Kunigurida Guindle.—The Jury returned a verdict of guilty and sentenced the prisoner to five years imprisonment in the Penitentiary of Baton Rogue, and to receive one hundred lashes in the following manner, viz: 25 lashes before being sent to Baton Rogue and 75 lashes after his arrival there on three different occasion.

Frank a slave of Mrs. Vennard was next put upon trial under the Black Code, before a jury of freeholders, charged with setting fire to the store of Mr. Vernard, in Gravien street, in the month of June last. His confession was produced, and the Jury returned a verdict of guilty, and sentenced him to ten years imprisonment at hard labor in the Penitentiary; the owner of the slave to pay the costs of the prosecution.

☞The democratic papers are continually carping about retrenchment, and assert that provided their party were in power, things would be quite different. This is all gammon, for when the democrats do get possession of funds, their expenditures always increase. For instance, Mr. Van Buren and his friends ran the government ashore —almost every State where democracy reigns is in debt, and lastly, as a pretty fair specimen of retrenchment we have only to look at the vote just taken in Congress on choosing a Printer to the House;—while there were those competent who offered to do all the printing at from 20 to 33 per cent less than it has usually been done, the democrats voted down the motion to give it to the lowest bidder, because they had promised to old father Ritchie, that fat job if he would move to Washington, and look after the party, and sustain Mr. Polk and his friends. The Printers to Congress have cleared from $50,000 to $100,000 on their jobs, and yet the party talk of economy, just as if such a word meant anything in their vocabulary.—Haverhill Gaz.

A NEW COUNTERFEIT. Spurious $5's of the Attleborough Bank, Mass., have just made their appearance—signed E. Fuller, Cashier; S. Carpenter President—vignette, cattle with railroad cars in the distance—signatures poorly executed Toppan, Carpenter & Co, New York are on the bills as engravers.

Congressional Proceedings.

THURSDAY, Dec. 11th,

The Senate met at 12 o'clock to day, and Mr. Dix presened a memorial of the bankers of New York in favor of the establishment, in that city, of a branch mint of the United States.

Mr. Dix made some remarks in support of the project as tending to increase the circulation of American coin.

The memorial went to the committee of finance.

A message was received from the House, announcing the death of John R. Dawson, member elect from Louisiana.

Mr. Johnson, of Louisiana, delivered a eulogy on the merits of the deceased, and in honor of his memory, the senate adjourned.

Mr. Webster appeared to-day, and took his seat.

In the house, petitions were again called for, and some points of great interest in respect to Texas and the abolition petitions were settled.

There was no business done in Congress on Friday. The Senate did not sit, having adjourned over to Monday. In the House, the death of Dr. Peyton, of Tennessee, was announced, and after the customary resolutions the House adjourned.

Monday, Dec. 15.

In the Senate, the time was chiefly occupied in debating upon the resolutions offered by Gen. Cass, which will be found in another column.

In the House of Representatives, several petitions were presented, amongst others resolutions from the Legislature of Massachusetts against the admission of Texas as a slave-holding state. Mr. Adams moved that they be referred to a select committee and printed. Mr. McConnell that they lie on the table. The latter motion prevailed, 83 to 67.

Mr. Adams then presented resolutions from the Legislature of Massachusetts in relation to the proceedings of South Carolina and Louisiana in reference to the agents sent to those states by the former. He moved their printing and reference to a select committee of one from each state.

Laid on the table, 90 to 68.

Mr. Winthrop presented resolutions from the Legislature of Massachusetts, asking Congress to amend the naturalization law. Laid over, until Tuesday.

December 16. 1845.

Senate—Mr. Allen, of Ohio, gave notice that he would to-morrow offer a joint resolution authorizing the President to inform Great Britain that the United States wish to terminate the joint occupation of Oregon as provided by the treaty of 1826. The debate on Gen. Cass' resolutions was then resumed. The law passed by the House for the admission of Texas was read and referred, and the Senate adjourned.

In the House—The bill for the admission of Texas into the Union was passed in a very hasty manner, all debate being stifled and put down. The vote stood 141 ayes to 56 nays.

Franconia Weather.

By the subjoined letter from Franconia, N. H., it will be seen that this noted place still distances all competitors, in civilized regions, in the matter of cold weather. The spirit thermometer used is an excellent instrument, specially imported from Russia, and the mercury glass is one of the best of its kind.—Salem Reg.

FRANCONIA, Dec. 13, 1845.

We have good sleighing with but little snow. The weather was colder here last Thursday (11th) at noon, than it has been at the same time since the 17th February, 1838. The spirit stood at four degrees below zero—at 4 P. M., six below—at 5 1-2 P. M., sixteen below. The cold increased so rapidly that I expected the mercury would be found congealed on Friday morning; but the spirit fell to TWENTY-EIGHT degrees, and the mercury to THIRTY-THREE degrees below. I believe, had we observed at midnight, it would have been found much lower. At 10 o'clock P. M. the mercury stood at thirty deg. This morning the spirit is down to twenty below; I have not observed the mercury—it is probably five deg. lower.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Patriot—By Telegraph.

MONDAY, Dec. 15—2 P. M.

SUPREME COURT.—Mr. Webster is now (2 P. M.) addressing the Supreme Court, in the case from New York, relative to the State tax on emigrants from foreign ports.

He is even more than usually impressive—lays his points down with great clearness—and is delivering a very able argument, even for him.—There is a large crowd of spectators of ladies and gentlemen in Court.

A NEW STATE.—The Brooklyn Eagle contains the call for a meeting of the people of Long Island to take into consideration the expediency of making a State of Long Island.

ARREST.—Capt. Ludlow, of the barque Oscar, charged with shooting one of his crew at Rio Grande, the particulars of which have been already published, was, at three o'clock, on Wednesday morning, arrested by the deputy U. S. Marshal James Morrison, on board the barque Eunomus, at New York, from Rio Janeiro, and committed for examination.

☞We understand that the subscibers to the fund for the erection of a monument in the Harmony Grove Cemetery, to the memory of Capt. JESSE SMITH, the last survivor of Washington's Life Guard, have ordered from Philadelphia a bust of Washington, in white marble, after the celebrated Prettrich's model, embraced an accurate copy of his military uniform.

It will be thirty inches in hight, on a pedestal of the same material, and is executed by Mr. Carmon, and will be finished and in its place early in the Spring.

We learn, also, that quite a number of monuments will be placed in this Cemetery during the next season; among them will probably be one to the memory of that eminent divine, the Rev. Dr. Bentley.—Salem Gaz.

CHIMNEY TOPS. The very best remedy of all for a smoky chimney, is one of the cheapest, viz.—take a piece of upright stove pipe, nine inches in diameter, made square at the lower end to fit the brick chimney, and connected at the upper end with a piece of horizontal stove pipe, the same size, but considerably enlarged at its two open ends.—The diameter at the ends should be nearly or quite double that of the middle section. The cost of this apparatus will vary from $1 to $2,50. The Albany Cultivator is the authortiy for this.

☞Three children, under twelve years of age, were found in New York on one of the cold nights of last week, sleeping upon a box, having no parents or home to go to.

Latest from Europe.

The Steamship Acadia arrived at Boston at about one o'clock yesterday morning. She brings no news of importance. The news by the Caledonia which arrived out on the 1st inst. somewhat cooled the war panic in England, which had previously been somewhat excited.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—I saw in your last a notice calling a meeting in Salem to adopt measures to secure a Railroad from Salem through South Danvers, Lynn and Saugus to Malden. You had also two communications apparently designed to advance the objects of this meeting. Is the claims of "New Mills" so soon forgotten?

ANOTHER LOOKER ON.

We are under repeated obligations to Hon. D. P. King for interesting papers.

☞ The Polishing Powder, advertised by Mr. C. R. STORY, recommends itself to all good housekeepers. It is considered to be vastly superior to "Bristol Brick," and requires but a trifle of labor in its application.—Salem Gaz.

☞ A man was whipping his horse at Louisville a few days ago, when the animal fell upon him and crushed him to death.

☞ The mills at Fort Wayne, Ind. are turning out 250 barrels of flour per day, and are to continue at that rate during the winter.

SHOCKING ACCIDENT. We learn that a young lad named Smith, employed at the Peg Manufactory Establishment at Goffstown, was killed on Tuesday, by getting caught in the machinery. It is stated that he was a minute in the machinery, which performs two hundred revolutions in that time. He was shockingly mangled.—Manchester (N. H.) Amer.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Dec., 16 1845.
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 625 Beef Cattle, 100, Stores, 4000 Sheep, and 520 Swine;

PRICES—BEEF CATTLE—We quote to correspond with last week, viz; Extra $5 25; first quality 4 75 a $5; second quality $4 25 a 4 50; third quality 3 50 a 4 25.

SHEEP—Dull. Sales from $1 to 2 25. A few extra Cosset Wethers. $5 each.

SWINE—Two lots small Shoats, 3 1-2c and 4 1-2c; two lots large Shoats, 3 1-2c and 4 1-2c. At retail, from 4 to 5 1 2c.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, on Thursday evening, by Rev. J. Prince. Mr. WILLIAM BROWN to Mrs. SUSAN COLE.

In Salem, Mr. WILLIAM E. PERKINS to Miss ELIZABETH SAWYER Mr WM. GOODHUE, jr. to Miss ELIZA KEHEW.—Mr GEORGE A. FARNUM to Miss ABIGAIL DOW, of Seabrook, N. H. Mr. FRANCIS A. FELTON to Miss SARAH E. CHURCHILL.

In Lexington, Dec. 12, Mr ARTEMAS REED, of Woburn, to Miss ELIZABETH A. WINN, of Salem.

In New York, Mr. JOSEPH S. MOULTON, of Danvers, to MARY E. JOHNSON, of New York.

DEATHS.

In Salem, Mrs. ELIZABETH HINMAN, widow of the late Mr. Benja. Hinman, 73. Miss. SARAH C. Ross wife of Mr. William Ross and daughter of Mr Stephen Whitmore aged 22 years. Mrs. MARTHA D. GOODHUE, wife of Mr. Benjamin Goodhue, jr., aged 38. Mr. ALONZO HINSMAN, aged 25. Mrs PEGGY DODGE, aged 70.

In Ipswich, Miss MARTHA E. WADE, daughter of Wm. F. Wade, Esq.

In Newburyport, JOHN A. BRIGGS, M. D., aged 29.

In Hingham, Mr. REUBEN HERSEY, 83. Mr H. was one of the seven oldest men in H. of whom three were older and three younger than himself, and all of whom bore arms in the Revolutionary war. Mr. H. was a lineal descendant, in the fourth generation, from William Hersey, who was born in England, and died in Hingham, March 22 1657-8. His ancestors have been remarkable for longevity.—His farther died at the age of 82—his grand-father, 84—and his great-grand-father, 81

In Newport, Mr. Wm. D. CALLAHAN, Editor and Publisher of the Rhode Islander, 39.

In Reswick, England, SARAH, relict of Mr. W. Thompson. The deceased was twice married, and, singular as it may soom, her first husband was the son of her second husband.

Sabbath School Exhibition.

Services in commemoration of the birth of Jesus, will be held in the Universalist Church,

in the South Parish of this town, on the evening of WEDNESDAY, 24th inst., (Christmas Eve,) commencing at 6 o'clock. The exercises will consist of the recitation of several dialogues, (some of them written for the occasion) and a variety of single pieces, by the scholars of the 2d Universalist Sabbath School, interspersed with appropriate singing.

Tickets of admission, 12 1-2 cents, to be obtained at the stores of Dr. Shed, S. Proctor, Jr., S. Dodge, and at the door.
dec 20

DANCING SCHOOL.

The next Dancing School at ASHLAND HALL, will be on the evening of MONDAY, Dec 22d.

JORDAN LODGE.

There will be a special meeting of this Lodge for the Installation of Officers, on THURSDAY evening, the 25th inst. Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

By vote of the Lodge, each of the brethren may invite three of his friends—ladies or gentlemen—to witness the Installation.
N. P. C. PATTERSON, Sec.
Danvers, Dec. 18, 5845.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

MONUMENT DIVISION—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at SANGER'S HALL, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.
South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R. Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,
SALEM, MASS.
DEALERS IN
WATCHES,
OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,
JEWELRY REPAIRED
aug 17 3m

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.
oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.
dec 15 J. FERRIN.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2.
S. DODGE.

New Stove

Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.
dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

COTTONS. COTTONS.

A LOT of heavy Brown Cottons, just received and for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

GOLD MIX'D TWEEDS.

A FASHIONABLE article for Overcoats and Sacks, for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

A BOOK FOR "RECHABITES." The Beauties of Rechabism, by a Rechabite—bound, 25 cents—Just rec'd at the Bookstore of
dec 30 J P JEWETT & CO.

NEW WORKS. Prescott's Biographieal and Critical Miscellanies, 1 vol $2.

New Book by Prof. Frost. The Book of Good Examples, drawn from history, to illustrate the beneficial effects of Virtuous Conduct—with many engravings—$1

The Temperance Offering—a Monthly Publication. by Rev. N. Hervey, editor—12 back Nos, for 1845. bound in one neat gilt vol—67 cts with many plates. For sale by dec 20 J P. JEWETT & CO.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by dec 20 CHARLES R. STORY,
No. 9, Washington street, Salem.

NEW COOK BOOK. The Young Housekeeper's Friend, or a Guide to Domestic Economy and Comfort—by Mrs. Cornelius—40 cents.

New Sabbath School Singing Book, by Prof. Woodbury. 40 pages of Music, and over 100 hymns—12 1-2 c.
For sale at the Music Store of
dec 16 J P JEWETT & CO.

PROF. UPHAM'S NEW WORK. The Life of Faith, in Three Parts, embracing some of the Scriptural Principles, or Doctrines of Faith; the power or effects of Faith in the Regulation of Man's Inward Nature: and the relation of Faith to the Divine Guidance—by Thomas C Upham—1 vol. 12mo—neatly bound in calf, with an engraving—$1.

Also—A supply of Third Stereotyped edition of. The Interiot Life—and Catherine Adorna—by the same author: just received at the Bookstore of dec 20 J P JEWETT & CO.

Lyceum Notice.

Lectures may be expected this season from

Hon. Rufus Choate,		Hon. Horace Mann,
" Caleb Cushing,		" John C. Park,
" Joshua H. Ward,		" Charles Sumner,
Geo. S. Hillard,		Elihu Burritt,

and other distinguished Lecturers, whose names will be duly announced.

Tickets at 75 cents each, may be obtained at the stores of Drs. Joseph Shed, and Sylvester Proctor, jr., and at the Bookstore of Sylvanus Dodge. dec 13

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade.
dec 13

NEW STYLES GALA PLAIDS.

Received by the last Steamer.

KEITH & MASON have just opened a lot of new, and very beautiful styles Gala Plaids for Cloaks and Dresses. Also, New embroidering Gimps for trimmings; Wide black Gimp, very rich patterns; Gents and Ladies' Cashmere Gloves of various patterns. dec 13

The Stewart Improved

Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings, which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.
nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, IXIAS, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.
Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining. now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable.
I. & T. HARDY.
july 26 tf

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.
oct 25

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.
dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

LITTLEFIELD'S

Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)
SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance.
A. LITTLEFIELD.
dec 6 lawtf

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call.

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of Jonathan Perry,
late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, gentleman deceased, and has taken upon herself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

REBECKAH PERRY,
Danvers, Dec. 6, 1845 Adm'x.

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. ESSEX, ss. Nov. 29. 1845. A warrant has been duty issued against the estate of FRANCIS EVELETH, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. KING, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.
JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,
dec 6 Messenger.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing A 1 packet ship ST PETERSBURG. Rogers, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. dec 20

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Saturday.

The superior N. York packet brig MOBILE, Bulkley, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
Steam taken at the Balize.
Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
dec 13

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.
From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. SISTERS, Gilman, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
dec 13

MUSIC from the Opera of the Enchantress, by Balf—6 songs for 25 cts, viz: The Young Naider—Song of the Enchantress—She loves him—Who has not heard o'er valley and hill—The happy days of life are o'er The Pirate's Chorus.

NEW NOVELS, etc.

The Squire, a novel, by Miss Pickering. The Charity Sister, a tale, by Hon. Mrs. Erskine Norton 25 cts.—Arthur's Magazine, with 4 steel engravings, for Jan. 1846—25 cts. Just received and for sale by dec 20 W & S B IVES.

NEW BOOKS. The Artist, the Merchant, and the Statesman, of the age of the Medici and of our own times—in two volumes, by C. Edwards Lester. The 2d vol. just received.

Rambles by land and water: or notes of travel in Cuba and Mexico; including a Canoe voyage up the river Panuco, and researches among the ruins of Tamaulipas, &c., by B. M. Norman, author of Rambles in Yucatan, &c.—Just published by dec 20 W & S B IVES.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th. tf

☞ DOMESTIC HOSIERY. ☜

R. H. CHAMBERLAIN respectfully informs the citizens of Danvers and its vicinity, that he has just opened at his Hosiery and Glove Store,
No. 235 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

300 doz of Hosiery and Gloves, of Foreign and Domestic manufacture, comprising the largest variety ever before offered in Salem, viz:

LADIES' Yarn, Alpacca, Segovia, Lamb's Wool, Merino and Cashmere HOSE, in white, black, mixed and mode colors.

GENT'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, HOSE and Half Hose, some extra size.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, and Cashmere Hose and Half Hase; also, Jonian, Royal Coburg, Ceylon, and Grecian Boots, for infants.

GLOVES, in great variety, comprising all the different styles, sizes and qualities, for ladies, gents, children and misses.

LADIES' VESTS AND PANTS—a beautiful article of Ladies' Merino and Cotton Vests and Pants.

GENT'S SHIRTS AND DRAWERS—Merino, Lamb's wool, Yarn, Scotch wool, Portsmouth, Ipswich and country knit Shirts and Drawers.

SHIRTS, BOSOMS AND COLLARS—A large assortment o Cotton Shirts, Linen Bosoms and Collars, Dickeys, Stocks, Scarfs, Cravats, Suspenders, Pocket Hdkfs, &c.

WOOLLEN YARN—300 lbs of black, mixed, white, scarlet, Random, and mode colored Woolen Yarn, from the Portsmouth manufactory.

CASSIMERES—A large lot of Cassimeres and Sattinetts constantly on hand.

MOUSSELINE DE LAINES—2 cases Mousseline de Laines, of newpatterns, just opened and for sale cheap.

Also—Red, white and yellow Flannels, rich styles of Prints, from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Tickings, bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings; Scotch, Bird's Eye and Russia Diapers; bleached, unbleached, and colored Table Covers; white and colored Linens; Silk, Cotton and Linen Cambric Hdkfs; Linen Lawns; Pins. Tapes. Needles, Purses, Scissors, Thimbles, Combs. Eyelets, silk and Cotton Bindings. Ginips and Fringes, Knitting Pins, Ribbons, Silk and Cotton Braids; Linen Bobbins and Tapes, Stay Backs and Bindings. Knitting Cotton. Sewing Cotton, Sewing Silk and Twist, Silk and Cotton Cords Saddler's Silk, Buttons, etc.
sept 22 is2m

Paper Hangings

VERY CHEAP.

SAMUEL B. FOSTER, being desirous of reducing his present stock of Paper Hangings, offers them for sale at reduced prices. 2100 Rolls of New Patterns, have been added this fall. One of the most fashionable and best assortments of Paper Hanging that can be found. is thus offered at very low prices. Call and see for yourselves at the extensive Paper Hanging Establishment,
No 30 Lawrence Place,
near the Rail Road Depot. Recollect, 30 is the number and FOSTER is the man.
Salem, Nov 1, 1845. 1m

NOTICE.

IN consequence of a change in our business, we have sold at public Auction the balance of our Stock of Groceries, Crockery, Glass and Stone Ware, at No. 13 Front street.

For the benefit of many interested, we would give particular notice that we are still on hand, and can be found on our Wharf in rear of the Store, where we have on hand and for sale at the lowest prices,

200 Cords best Eastern Hard Wood.
100 " Tanning Bark.
25 " Burning "
300 Bundles first quality pressed Hay.
25 Barrels Chenango Potatoes, best quality,

with all other kinds of Eastern produce, which we should be happy to dispose of to our many friends and patrons n reasonable terms,

nov 29 GEO. C. VARNEY, & CO.,
Stone's Whf.

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their SALOON on Monday, Oct, 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Flowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound; Tobias' Liniment; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.
Danvers, May 31, 1845.

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.
dec 6

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

Periscopic Spectacles.

ALWAYS on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

PLEASE call at No. 2 Allen's Building and purchase a Boston Almanac—the best No. yet published, containing in addition to the usual Maps of the City, a Diagram of Railroads diverging from Boston showing the Depots and distances.

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting roems. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemical Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,
oct 11 10 Front street

WOOD! WOOD!

120 CORDS good Eastern hard Wood, for sale by G C VARNEY & CO., dec 6 Stone's Wharf

HALF A Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND
FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.
THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS. SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been abte to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price tht I will
DEFY TH WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞ REMEMBER ☜
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.
nov 8 ep3m

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,
Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

SHAWLS—At Reduced Prices.

KEITH & MASON will offer their excellent assortment of Shawls at decided bargains, in order to close off their fall stock. nov 22

BEAUTIFUL styles of Muslins, for evening Dresses. Also, embroidered Dresses, received at 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

WIDE FRINGES AND GIMPS. Just received by KEITH & MASON, a lot of new styles Wide Fringes and Gimps for trimming Cloaks. nov 15

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston. entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can ee him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivo' Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands. Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,

No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

G. W & E. CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,

174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

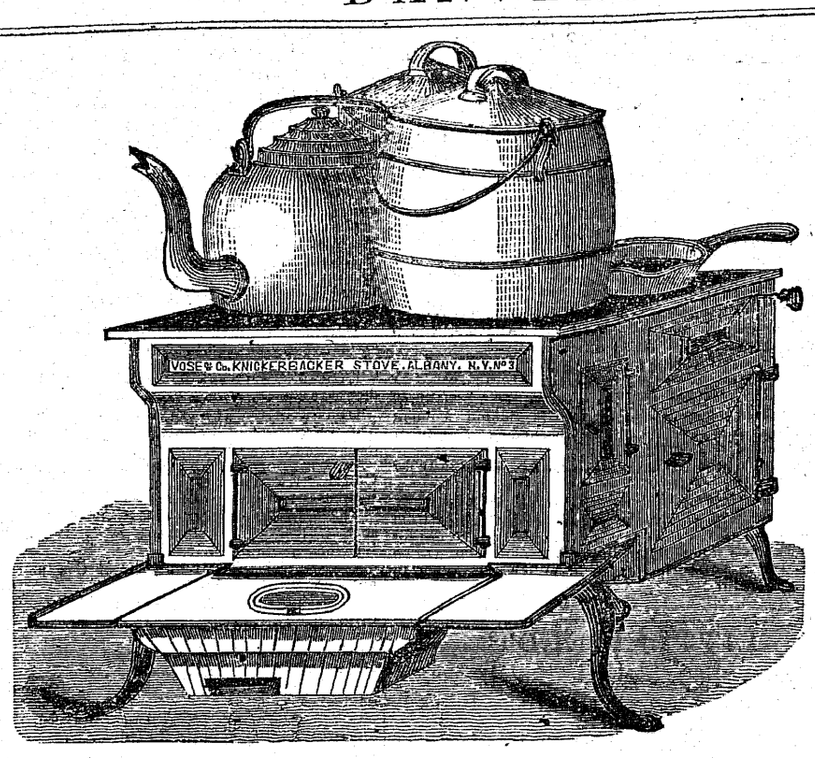
A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE.



MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF

Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,

NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,

march 15

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.
The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.
We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus, may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN

HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,

Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,

WINDOW GLASS,

CAMPHENE,

CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,

Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,

CARPENTER'S TOOLS,

HOUSE TRIMMINGS,

Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,

BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,

Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.

No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,

DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of

BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks. Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon the establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a smal Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Iuquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument. JOSEPH SHED.

july 26

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF

TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.

SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

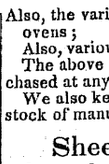
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch 29 1y

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,



aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

SPECTACLES.

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

Fruit and Ornamental

TREES,

For sale at GROVE NURSERY, Salem.

All the most approved kinds of Apples, such as Baldwius, Sweetings, Greenings, Russets, Minister, Portet, Early Harvey, summer Pearmain, Early Bough, Glory of the West, William's Favorite; many varieties of Pippins, Codlings, Rennets and the Nonsuch tribe. Also—the most approved kinds of Pears, such as the Bartlett, Belle Lucrative, Belle of Flanders, Easter Bourre, Sickle, &c. Many varieties of the choicest kinds of Plums and Peaches.

Also—a choice assortment of Ornamental Trees and Shrubs, such as Mountain Ash, Horse Chestnut, Scotch Larch, Fir Balsam, Arborvitæ, &c. Many varieties of the most splendid kinds of Honeysuckles and climbing Roses, for covering piazzas and lattice work. Also—above twenty varieties of the Tea Rose, Hybrid Perpetuals, Borbons, and many others of those lately introduced from Europe, &c.—As these trees and Plants are raised on poor soil, without high manuring, they will be found to be hardy and healthy, and when removed to richer soil, they cannot fail to make rapid progress.

Also—Buckthorne, for hedges, Strawberry Plants of the best kinds, and a great number of seedling Apples, Pears and Quinces, for stocks.

For further particulars, enquire of THOS. CRUIKSHANK, at the Nursery, or W. D. JOPLIN'S, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers. oct 18

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens o Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if not superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Salem, March 12 tf

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,

july 12 27 Water street.

BOOKS AND STATIONARY.

M. T. DOLE has just received and has now ready for sale a good asortment of School and Miscellaneous Books, Writing and Blank Books, Ruled and Plain Cap, Pot and Letter Paper; best quality blue, black and red Ink, Gillott's and other Steel Pens, Quills, covered Slates, (a neat and convenient article;) Slate Pencils, Pencil Leads, Sealing Wax, Wafer, Writing sand sand boxes, Ink stands, &c.

Also—a good assortment of Ives's and other popular Games.

All the above articles will be sold as low as they can be purchased elsewhere. All the new Publications of standard value, received as soon as published, and any work not on hand, will be immediately procured if desired.

Persons having Magazines or Books which they may wish bound or rebound, can have them done in a neat and durable manner, at the lowest prices, by leaving them as above. Main street, a few doors east from Foster st.

oct 18 tf

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns, on drab grounds, for sale by M. T. DOLE

nov 14

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of JOHN OSBORNE, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, potter, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to KENDALL OSBORNE;

Danvers, Nov. 22 * Adm'r.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator with the will annexed, of the estate of

GIDEON FOSTER.

esqnire, late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, testate, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs: all persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

SAMUEL W. KING, Adm'r.

Danvers, Nov. 22, 1845.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,

200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;

—Also, in store—

100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,

At the old and well known stand on the Plains.

North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by

jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

FOR SALE CHEAP.

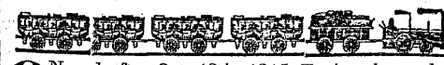
One good second hand CHAISE,
" " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " LIGHT WAGON.

By THOMAS TRASK, Main street

june 7 tf

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, of different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.



FALL SUPPLY.

1000 ROLLS of Cheap Room Papers, just opened, consisting of new and very desirable patterns, at the Book and Stationery Store of W & S BIVES,

oct 25 Stearns' Building.

EASTERN RAILROAD,

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave da (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 a 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, } 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A. M. a 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portla and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Ro and on the line of the road at the several Depots.

JOHN KINSMAN,

oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the

DANVERS AND SALEM

HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sale Hourly Coaches will connection with the Easter Railroad, leave Danvers ar Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A.
" " 8 3-4 " " 9 1-2
" " 9 3-4 " " 11 3-4
" " 11 1-4 " " 12 3-4
" " 1 3-4 P M. " " 3 P.M
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6 1-2
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Josep G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hous and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the a rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.

apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & J cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended t

Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.

April 19, 1845. 1y

Periodical Depot!!

REMOVAL.

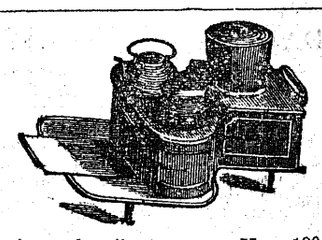
LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS, formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washingto street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,

(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodica and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly New papers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes receive the continued patronage of those who have former received his publications and he pledges himself that he wi use his best exertions to procure all New Works prompt and sell them at the lowest prices.



His long experience and extensive acquaintance wit those publishers and others engaged largely in the Boo Trade will enable him to answer orders for particula Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorabl prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AN MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUN DERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTO ST., will be found constantly on hand, the followin assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;

The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes an patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of a sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatnes and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

CHARLES H. MANNING,

CABINET MAKER,

Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Stree

DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reaso able terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES mad and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHE made as above. oct 15

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to an nounce that he has taken the shop on Main St. A few doors South of Park Street,

where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Ston Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (Mass.) SATURDAY MORNING, DECEMBER 27, 1845. NUMBER 41

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FOR THE COURIER.

Braddock's Defeat.

A BALLAD.

By the Author of "The Norseman's Revenge."

I.

Merrily rolls Ohio's tide,
Gay sparkling in the beam
That July's sun flings far and wide,
O'er the majestic stream;
Wave after wave bounds blithe along,—
There's music in their flow,
But, mingled with the silvery song,
Are heard sad notes of woe.

II.

For yestermorn, those gladsome rays
That gild the billows now,
Had fallen upon forest maze,
And kissed each topmost bough,
Which in the gentle breezes swaying,
Continual openings made—
Through which the golden light down straying
Dispersed night's lingering shade.

III.

Those joyous gleams smiled on the flower
Within its humble nook,
And on the bird amid his bower,
And fawn beside the brook.
But not on fawn or flower alone,
Or bird upon the spray,
The dawning glories grateful shone
Of that deceitful day.

IV.

They flashed upon the glittering blade
And bristly bayonet,
Where through a leaf-besprinkled glade,
With early dews yet wet—
An host of armed men are marching
With silent, quickened pace,
Hid by the foliage overarching
Their pathway's narrow space.

V.

'Tis a brave pageant, and entrancing,—
A goodly show, I ween,
To see that tide of plumes go dancing
Amid the woodland green;
To see the polished weapons gleaming
Along the sylvan aisles,
And silken banners brightly streaming
In morn's refulgent smiles.

VI.

Proud England's chivalry is here,
Well tried in many a field;
Bold hearts who know not flight or fear,—
Unused of old to yield:
Beneath a gallant leader's eye,
Whose fame is rife afar,
For courage and for valor high
In Britain's foreign war.

VII.

Ill-fated Braddock, hapless Chief!
Who could have read thy doom,
That saw thee where Death bound his sheaf,
Gigantic for the tomb,—
In other climes that thou should'st die,
Like leaguered wolf or deer,
In strife obscure, 'neath Western sky,
'Mong thickets wild and drear!

VIII

Where Fort du Quesne's grim front upsprings
In stern embattled pride,
And its dark, sombrous shadow flings
Across the Ohio's tide,
Soars hostile flag of Gallia's land,
In the free zephyr dancing,
And thitherward the forest band,
To storm it are advancing.

IX.

Onward among the shades profound,
That phalanx urge their way,
Hushed every note of martial sound,
And silence holds her sway,
Save when at times, the slackening breeze
Reveals a stifled hum,
Like to the murmurings of bees,
From flowery beds that come.

X.

It is the tramping feet of men,
That sound so faint, so low,
As, far away through glade and glen,
And tangled brake they go.
Time speeds: the sun gains noonday stage,
And they have reached a dell,
Of aspect wild, and dark presage,
Where scarcely sunbeam fell:

XI.

For dense the canopy above
Of blackening verdure hung,
And countless vines their mazes wove
The bending boughs among.
Here darkness holds eternal throne,
Here, here are never heard,
Telling of life and joy the tone,
Or melody of bird.

XII.

Unbroken stillness seems to keep
With chains inviolate,
Her dark domain bound in a sleep,
Which nought might dissipate.
Oppressive is the solemn spell,
That reigns on all around,
And now those steps ring as a knell,
Upon the echoing ground.

XIII.

It is an awe-inspiring scene,
And well might waken dread
In souls where dread had never been
One moment nursed or fed.
Yet heedless, fearless on they go,
Bold Braddock and his men,
Unconscious of the lurking foe
In that sepulchral den.

XIV.

On, on, but lo! a sudden pause,—
What is it bars the way?
Their startled ears proclaim the cause,
And onward strike dismay:
At once, forth from the darksome dell,
Sonorous, shrill and clear,
Rings out the warhoop's cardling yell—
Signal of ambush near.

XV.

The circling eagle hears that sound,
And, screaming in affright,
Far o'er the mighty forest's bound
Wings rapidly his flight.
The trembling deer to covert fled,
When rose that shriek in air,
The prowling fox, and gaunt wolf sped,
Each to his several lair.

XVI.

Scarce had the dismal war note died,
In distant echoes lost,
When burst th' impetuous battle tide
On the devoted host.
Front, flank, and rear, abrupt it came,
The volleying musketry,—
A fiery zone of sheeted flame,
From rock and bush and tree.

XVII.

The gleaming hatchet hissing flies,
With fatal aim and sure,
Through clouds of curling smoke that rise
From sacrifice impure.
And swift the whistling bullets speed
On ministry of death,
And fast the prisoned English bleed,
And falling, yield their breath.

XVIII.

Surprised, bewildered, in amaze,
They strive to face the storm;
In vain they turn, in vain they gaze,
They see no warrior's form;
Or have but partial glimpse and dim
Through sulphurous drapery
Of flitting, painted phantom grim,
Gliding from tree to tree.

XIX.

Yet by their Chieftain cheered they stand
Amid the carnage dire,
And through the copse on every hand,
Return their random fire.
Useless and vain—the futile shot,
Erring finds bloodless mark;
Th' impervious foe it reaches not,
Secure in covert dark.

XX.

Braddock, unskilled in border strife,
Ill-judging, follows rules
That guide the wars of polished life,
Drawn from the martial schools;
And blindly forms his vast array,
As though on open plain,
On equal terms his foemen lay—
Folly most weak and vain!

XXI.

And fast and furious and unceasing,
Yet pours the vengeful shower.
Fast, fast those soldiers are decreasing,
And havoc marks the hour.
Loud o'er the pealing vollies rise;
Filling the troubled air,
Shouts, yells, and dying groans and cries
Of wrath, pain and despair.

XXII.

Five steeds beneath brave Braddock fall,
And still he mounts again;
At last there came a fatal ball—
His hand forsakes the rein:
He reels, he totters from his seat
Headlong upon the ground,
He sinks amid the trampling feet,
Gasping with mortal wound.

XXIII.

No longer such unequal fight,
The English can sustain,
Panic ensues and aimless flight
Which may not safety gain.
For on their flying footsteps press
The stern relentless foe,
And through the savage wilderness,
Re-echo sounds of woe.

XXIV.

Ohio's billows gaily sweep
Along their banks so fair,
In the bright ray rejoicing leap,—
But doleful news they bear.
They bear to distant homes the story,
Of friends and relatives who lie
'Neath forest copse, all stiff and gory,
Unseen, save by Heaven's pitying eye.

MISCELLANY

The Wayfarers.

BY ROBERT HAMILTON.

From the first peep of dawn, I had been wandering on the banks of the Carra, a little streamlet in Cornwall, in pursuit of my favorite amusement, angling, and was only compelled to relinquish it, from the sky being left without a cloud, and a summer sun pouring almost vertically his rays upon the waters rendering their speckled tenants cautious to a fault and myself languid and listless. I therefore resolved, for a few hours, to seek shelter at the nearest habitation, which, fortunately, at no great distance, presented itself in the cottage of a miller.

The scene was one of peculiar beauty, partaking of a mixture of the sylvan and rugged features of nature, such only as are to be found in "Merry England," and more especially in the counties of Cornwall and Devonshire.

On a gently acclivity, not far from the cottage, stood the mill; one of those picturesque objects, almost indigenous, (if I may be permitted the expression,) to this part of the country, with its white sails, and rough conical body, grown grey in the service of generations, as well as from the ravages of time and tempest.

The Carra, which swept swiftly round the base of the acclivity, after shooting in a direct line for a few yards, like a line of molten silver, passed under a little bridge, (if a stone arch may be so pompously designated,) and was shortly after lost to the view in the bosom or a deep and verdant valley.

As I reached this spot, my notice was attracted to a group of sun-browned urchins, reposing on the soft greensward of the banks of the streamlet.—Their habiliments were those of children of poverty; while their whole wealth apparently consisted of a little canine companion, that lay cozily couched between a boy and a girl. To the opposite bank, one of the party had crossed, a bluff, and ruddy looking lad, who stretched at his full length upon the mossy turf, with his head over the stream, was, in the palm of his hand, greedily conveying the cool and sparkling waters to the lips, with a relish that never did bacchanalian enjoy in the richest draught drained from the the ripest vine that ever bloomed beneath Italia's sky.

My person being observed by him, he uttered a shout to his companions, which was responded to by a short bark, and surly growl, from their friend the terrier. At the same time, the youngest of the party, a rosy cheeked and smiling girl, about seven years of age, came timorously towards me and dropping a courtesy solicited my charity.

Drawing from my pocket a small piece of silver I held it up to her view. Her deep blue eyes sparkled with delight, and again courtesying, she extended her tiny hand in the hope that I would drop within its palm the coveted treasure; but I was anxious to make her acquaintance a little farther, and still retaining the coin in my posession, I said, "What is your name, my darling?"

'Patty, good gentleman,' she replied in a soft and silvery voice.

'And the other little folks, are they your friends?' I continued.

'Oh, no sir,' she answered smilingly, 'they are only my brothers and sisters.'

'Indeed?' I exclaimed.

'Oh, yes sir! Here! Ned, George Mary!' shouted the little beauty, and waving her bonnet for them to approach, they did so, in a meek and respectful manner, that at once betokened that they were not the tutored offspring of the mendicant.

'And whither are you journeying, my pretty ones?'

Little Patty looked enquiringly at her sister Mary, the eldest of the party, whose face became deeply crimsoned, and her eyes filled with tears. Twice she essayed to speak, but utterance failed her, and her answer only found its passage in a deep drawn sigh.

I kindly took her hand, and in words of encouragement, repeated my question. The poor girl by degrees mastered her grief, and in a melancholy voice, replied—

'Alas, sir, it is difficult to tell.'

'Where is your home, my pretty one?' I continued.

'The world, sir—the wide and heartless world sir,' was her reply—and she turned aside and wept bitterly.

The grief of the girl gave great pain to the others, who now clung closely around her, and by their artless endearments, and affectionate words, endeavored to soothe and share her grief: even the little dog showed a feeling in the scene, and whined, and leaped about the sorrowing wayfarers.

'Weep not, my poor girl—dry up your tears—take comfort—confide in me—perhaps I may be able to alleviate, if not entirely relieve your sorrows;' I cheerfully replied.

'Heaven bless you, sir; it is not for myself I weep, but for those you see around me,' and she clasped the latter to her breast, covering her rosy and innocent face with kisses. 'It is for these, sir,' she continued, 'that I sorrow. I am young, it is certain, but of age and strength sufficient to earn a subsistence; but they, God bless them, are helpless, with a cold world before them, and no parent to guard and guide their footsteps.'

'You are orphans, then,' I hesitatingly said.

'Alas! yes, sir.'

'And how long have you been deprived of your parents, my good girl?'

'Poor mother died about a year since, and three weeks ago I received intelligence of father's death.'

'And where did he die?'

'In France, sir, on the plains of Waterloo.'

My heart heart heavily in my bosom,—a dimness rose before my eyes—I drew my hand across them; they ware filled with tears.

Blood-stained Waterloo—grave of two mighty nations—dread altar of man's ambition, alas! how many homes hast thou rendered desolate! how many widows and orphans hast thou cast upon the cold and heartless world!

'But tell me, have you no friends—no one to whom you can apply for support and protection?'

'I have a grandfather, sir; but poor mother told me we had nothing to hope from him.'

'No! and wherefore?'

'Because, it appears, she had disobeyed his commands in marrying father, and he had driven her, forever, from his heart and home.'

'But, my poor girl," I continued, "the human heart is not so callous as to be deaf to the appeals of its offspring; and you are assuredly the children of that old man's blood. He cannot, dare not, refuse you. Where does he reside?'

'Even that I do not know, sir,'

'That is strange. Have you no remembrance of aught that ever fell from your mother's lips that can lead to a clue of his discovery?'

'None sir; I fear there remains for us now, no home but the workhouse. My mother, my dear mother, let me again behold your grave, and I will pray to your blessed spirit that my heart may break beside it." And she fell almost fainting at my feet.

At this moment, a laughing, ruddy boy, came bounding from the miller's house towards us, with a basket filled with his mother's bounty, but the Wayfarers were too busily employed in condoling with poor Mary to observe his approach.

'Go child,' I said, taking the basket from his hand, 'and tell your mother a stranger desires to see her.' The little fellow was off like an arrow, and in a few minutes the dame stood before me.

'My good woman, can you favor me by affording food and shelter to these poor orphans that you see before you, until the morning. I am willing to remunerate you for whatever trouble they may occasion, and—'

I was about to proceed in my request, but she gave me a look that at once showed I had mistaken her character in announcing a recompense for an act of hospitality. I felt rebuked, and was about to stammer out an apology, but she gently waved her hand to forbid reply, and gazing affectionately upon the children, I saw that the fount of pity was swelling in her heart.

'Such as I have, sir,' she answered, "they are welcome to. I am a parent myself, and won't refuse assistance to the orphan and the needy.—Here Alfred,' she cried to her little son, 'go tell Jessie to prepare the dinner;" and assisting to raise the unhappy girl, we proceeded to the house. As we approached its porch a man, the snows of whose head told he had numbered more years than are usually allotted to the span of humanity, came forth to receive us, and at the same time the jolly miller having stopped his mill, joined the party.

"Look husband,' said the wife, "I've brought a few friends to dinner with us—I am certain you will bid them welcome.'

"Ay, that I will," said the manly yeoman, good humor and generosity mingled in his rosy countenance, "and I know that Mr. Daville," placing his hand on the old man's shoulder, "will also make them welcome; he is always a friend to the poor and distressed,"

The old man replied not, but it was evident that something had struck a chord that sounded strangely in his bosom. He leaned heavily upon his staff; his frame became agitated, and he pressed his withered hand upon his eyes to impede the tears that began to course rapidly down his furrowed face.

'This gentleman,' continued the good woman, 'informs me they are orphans, and—

'Then they are doubly welcome, dame,' said the miller, interrupting her. 'Come in my pretty ones—come in, wife—we shall make this an idle day. I have stopped the mill, because there is no wind, and no more work shall be done. Neighbor Hodges is the only one who wants his flour, and I know he has enough in his bin to last him till the morning. I shall rise with the lark, and get all in readiness, and he trolled out the following verse that made the welkin ring:

"The lark in the morning as he rises from his nest,
And mounts in sky with the dew on his breast;
And he whistles and he sings to the jolly hearted swain,
And at night he descends to his nest again."

'Come in, come in—a mug of ale. Jessie, our young friends must be thirsty;' and lifting up the little girl in his arms, and kissing her heartily, led the way to his dwelling.

The old man remained. His head had fallen upon his breast, and his eyes were fixed intently upon a little locket, which the girl had dropped as the miller had caught her up in his arms. Twice he essayed to lift it, but his strength failed, and he hung trembling above it. 'Can it be,' he muttered to himself, 'can it be the very bauble which my own hand placed upon the bosom of my daughter?

No, no, she was unworthy of the name. She forsook father, kindred, home, to wed with the man of my hatred; and yet, I cannot be mistaken; it is the same. O God, these children; perhaps they are my—' The word choked in its utterance, and he fell prostrate upon the turf.

The scene was observed by the party from the window of the cottage, and the miller and his wife came quickly to her assistance. As they raised him, one hand held with a desperate grasp, the locket, and with the other, he pointed towards the house. They were at a loss to comprehend his meaning, till he faintly ejaculated, 'The children, where are they? Bring them to me.' The good dame lost no time in executing his wish.

Seated on the ground, the old man received the wayfarers.

'Come near me,' said he, faintly to the eldest.—The girl shrunk back, alarmed at the wild and anxious look he cast upon her.

'Come near me, I say!' he repeated; 'what ear you? I will not harm you,—do you know this?' he continued, holding before her the l

'Yes,' exclaimed the girl, 'It is my sister ty's; it was placed around her neek by poor er on the evening of her death.

'Your mother—tell me—yet be certain—d deceive me—your mother she was called—'

'Huntly, sir; Alice Huntley!'

The old man uttered a shriek and clasped girl frantically to his bosom.

'I was not deceived; here are her featur yes, yes, the soft blue eyes, the sweet smil God forgive me for deserting my daughter. ren come to me—kiss me!' and as they hun round him, he wept aloud in the agony o heart.

The sequel is soon told. Alice, the old only child, as has been already narrated, had offence by her marrying with a poor, but h yeoman, and from that moment had been dis ed from her father's home and affections. ten years of sorrow and suffering, in a fatal William Huntley enlisted in a regiment on th of embarkation for the Peninsula War, wher ter acquitting himself with distinguished bra he was doomed to lay down his life on the dec and sanguinary field of Waterloo.

About a year before this event, Alice had de ed to another and a better world, leaving her spring to faint hope, that their father might return. Through the kind offices of a few o inhabitants of the village, the children were plied with the meagre necessaries of life, till intelligence of Huntley's death rendered that li tomb, the work-house, their only shelter. Bu pretty Mary, in the pride of her heart, determ that with her brothers and sisters, she would er trust to the uncertain bread of charity, than come the inmate of its walls; and it was journeying on their pilgrimage of poverty, God, in his inscrutable wisdom, had discovere them their grandsire, who now sought to m atonement to the orphans, for the suffering he cast upon their parents.

Some years after this meeting, chance led m the scene again. The honest miller and his sp were still in the same abode: On inquiry, I fo that the pretty Mary had been wedded to a yo and industrious yeoman; and with her brot and sister, Ned, George, and the cherry-chee Patty, the other juvenile characters, were liv happily, on a small, but fertile farm, purcha with the wealth that old Darville had bequea to them at his decease; an event that transpi five years afrer his meeting with his grandchild In company with the miller and his wife, I p them a visit; and I need hardly add, I was ki ly received and hospitably entertained by family of the wayfares.

Romance of Real Life.

It has been truly remarked that many of the vents of real life would surpass the pages of mance if told with the same pathos and feeli The Birmingham (Eng.) Advertiser states that that town and neighborhood has lately been theatre of deeds as romantic as any novelist co conceive, though invested with all the true sob ty of matters of fact. A young American plan named Da Costa, of good family and immense fortune, without any incumbrances and almost wi out living relatives, had lately, it appears, gone England in search of a wife—rather a roman errand, considering the number of ladies to whi the United States have given birth; but one r specting which he had only one person to plea and that one himself. After visiting some of t most fashionable cities of the kingdom, and 'spen ing his money like a prince,' without meeting th object of his search, he paid a visit to Birmingha and was standing one day at the door of the 'He and Chickens,' when, as old wives would say, (a circumstances have in this case proved the tru of this saying,) the very person he went to Engla to look for walked across New Street, nearly o posite where he stood. Struck by her appearan with those peculiar sensations which lovers w best understand, but which we have not yet qui forgotten, he followed the lady, and with mu politeness, (in words we will not pretend to d tail,) expressed a wish for a better acquaintanc and a desire to see her home. The young lad a Miss Rimmer, of Alcester, was at that time o a visit at Mr. Heeley's, Bristol road, to whos house the stranger accompanied her, but his par ner in life not quite liking such a romantic visito to a young lady then under her matronly protec tion, with due sense of propriety discouraged th gentleman, and referred him to her parents. Th traveller, however, was not to be diverted from a object in search of whom he had travelled so fa and the little town of Alcester was shortly afte well nigh frightened from its propriety by a car riage and four driving up full speed to the hous of Mr. Rimmer.

After many guesses among the inhabitants wh it could be, it turned out that it was Mr. Da Costa come in the most gentlemanly and honorabl manner to request of the parents' permission to pay his addresses to their daughter. Advice was asked of those with whom they usually advised on other matters, and all circumstances duly weigh ed, and consent was very naturally given; and th stranger gave such evidence of the sincerity of hi attachment that he was not long finding his way to the heart of Miss Rimmer; and then—well what then? why, what think you, gentle reader he neither abandoned her to a broken heart, nor seduced her and left her to comfort herself with a dose of prussic acid, though many tales were a-float of what the modern 'blue beard' would do but married her at Alcester Church! Three carriages and four conveying the parties who graced the nuptial ceremony with their presence. You see we are not writing a tragedy, but an opera; and an opera we trust it will be, as far as the characteristic goes of all ending happily, for the people whose daughter has thus become a wife are good, worthy, honest people, in moderate circumstances, the lady possesses good sense as well as personal attractions, and the stranger has shown himself, by his munificent presents, and by various acts of kindness, as delicate as they were generous, to be really what he passed for—a man of vast wealth, and a gentleman. We understand that the eldest brother of Miss Rimmer is to accompany her to her new residence on this side the Atlantic, when his fortune, as well as hers, will be made. And so ends our romance of real life.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC 27, 1845.

The close of the Year.

The last sands of Time's year glass are fast running out and before we present ourselves with our weekly offering to our readers, another year will have commenced. It is not our purpose now to read a homily to our patrons on the value and fleeting nature of time, but to thank them most cordially for the kind indulgence extended to us during that portion of the year in which we have had our weekly chat together. Of the hundreds of our fellow citizens with whom we have so long been in weekly converse, only one has withdrawn himself from our companionship before the time stipulated for the continuance of our journey together. Most heartily do we stretch forth the right hand editorial to one and all of our kind friends for their countenance and support to our infant establishment and extend to them our benediction and wish them all and singly a "HAPPY NEW YEAR." Already in anticipation do we seem to hear the response from hundreds of ringing voices "Mr. Courier, we wish you a good many."—We hear them say, "We have travelled with you to the end of the year and have felt an interest in your success. We have made our acquaintance with your views, local, political and practical. We have conversed with your correspondents from "Newman Noggs" down through all the windings of Railroad controversy to the latest contribution and we have sympathised with you in your trials and difficulties while catering for a many-opinioned public."

For all these proofs of good will and encouragement we again express our thanks. We came among you a stranger and you, in the best sense of the expression 'took us in.' We are now your fellow citizen, fairly initiated, having opinions and interests in common with other citizens of this good town and deeply solicitons for its welfare.—We are all together a joint stock company, whose object it is by promoting harmony and union, bringing forth the talent and developing the resources of the town, to obtain for it its proper place among its sister corporations in the Commonwealth. We therefore call on each subscriber to aid the mutual effort we are making for this good end, to induce others to become partners in the concern. Ask neighbor A. and neighbor B. to become a subscriber and thus aid the common object. Now is the good time, the beginning of the year—the time for making good resolutions and for carrying them into effect. Let it not be said that a press cannot be well sustained in Danvers, but give it that encouragement which will enable it to do much for the prosperity and to spread the good name for which Danvers has so long been distinguished.

Masonic Installation.

A public Installation of the officers of Jordan Lodge took place on the evening of Christmas day, at Ashland Hall, by a deputation, representing the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts. The Hall was densely filled and the exercises which consisted of devotional services, singing by a select choir and the ceremonies of Installation, were of a very interesting character. The singing was under the direction of Mr. Hubbard and part of the Hymns were those used at the first organization of Jordan Lodge more than thirty years ago and were then composed by a member of the Lodge and one of ths principal officers now installed. The ceremonies of Installation conducted by Rev. Mr Bartlett, of Marblehead, were exceedingly solemn and impressive. The charges to the Master elect and to the other officers, the investiture of badges and the address to the Lodge were all performed with a dignity of manner and aptness of illustration which were well adapted to make a favorable impression on a mixed auditory and remove the prejudices existing in some minds adverse to the institution. In his opening address, the Rev. presiding officer alluding to the uses of emblamatic devices addressed to the eye, quoted an old Latin adage very much to the point, the sentiment of which we have somewhere met with in the following lines.

> "Sounds which address the ear are lost and die
> In one short hour; but that which strikes the eye > Lives long upon the mind. The faithful sight
> Engraves the blessing with a beam of light."

We have the highest authority for adopting emblems of a familiar kind to impress important truths deeply on the mind. We may take as an instance, and we do it with reverence, the command of the great author of our religion who directed his disciples to adopt certain visible signs in remembrance of him. This command has ever since been obeyed although there are those who can see nothing but childish folly in the array of costly vessels, the broken bread and poured out wine which conveys to the humble and pious recipient such vivid impressions of the spiritual presence of his divine Master. The application of a few drops of water under a solemn form or the more impressive act of the immersion of the whole body is a beautiful emblem of an inward and spiritual cleansing from earthly pollution, which only strikes those who 'sit in the seats of the scornful' as an idle form. This is wholly owing to their 'not discerning' the thing signified;—the deeper meaning of the outward act.

After the Installation, the Chair was taken by the Master who expressed, in behalf of the members of Jordan Lodge their thanks to the deputation of Installing officers, to the choir and the visitors.—The exercises closed by a fervent prayer, offered by Rev. Mr. Colyer of the Methodist Church, and the whole repaired to the refreshment room where ample provision was made by the stewards for their bodily comfort. This part of the entertainment was under the especial care of Mr Charles Simonds, who, by his skilful management and untiring exertions contributed in no small degree to the general comfort and happiness of the numerous gathering.

Covert & Dodge.

We are gratified to learn that these favorite vocalists intend soon to give another of their Concerts in this place and one at Granite Hall. They were induced to come again in consequence of the very unfavorable weather at their last visit which prevented our citizens from enjoying the fine treat then offered. They will be assisted by Master BARTON whose unrivalled musical powers have been highly extoled wherever he has performed. Mr. Covert will produce some of his best and newest peices and Mr. DODGE is ready with his quizical phiz to shake the sides of the audience with his comic songs and recitations.

These gentlemen have always been favorably received here not only on account of their excellent performances, but their strictly temperate habit and unexceptionable private characters give them claims to our support beyond those of most of his vocalists who offer themselves to our notice.—We hope they will be greeted with a full house both here and in the North part of the town.

New Railroad to Boston.

We understand that the Committee chosen last week to take measures for presenting the claims of a new Railroad from Salem to Boston, to the next Legislature, are busily at work, and that no pains will be spared to have the matter properly presented, and the claims for a charter duly enforced. The petition being referred from the last, to the next Legislature, will of course be called up very early in the Session, and will be among the first, if not the first, entitled to the attention of ths Railroad Committee.

The License Law Case at Washington.

We learn that A. Huntington, Esq., of Salem, started for Washington yesterday to argue the case of Commonwealth of Massachusetts vs. Thurlow, in the U. S. Supreme Court, it having been assigned for next week. It is a case of the greatest importance to the interests of this State, as well as of most every other State in the Union.—If it is decided that the present law is unconstitutional, no law in the least regulating, i. e. restricting the sale of spirituous liquors will be constitutional, and the traffickers in liquid poison can with impunity set up their booths at every corner of the streets. But we suspect there is little fear of such a result, as it was well understood that a majority of the Court last winter, favored the Law, and the new incumbent is said to be a believer in its constitutionality. The Counsel in the case are

A. Huntington and John Davis for Commonwealth.

Daniel Webster and Benj. F. Hallett for Def't.

Alfred A. Abbott, Esq., of this town, has been appointed by the Governor and Council, a Justice of the Peace in and for the County of Essex.

Ephraim Brown, 3d, of Salem, has also been appointed by the Governor and Council Justice of the Peace in Essex County.

Graham's Magazine for January.—This number commences a new volumn, and is one of the best ever published. It contains a beautiful mezzotint—"The young Cavalier"—A splendid engrav- of the Battle of Princetown," Plate of Fashions, with the usual variety of reading. Mr. L. Chandler is agent for this town and will be happy to receive subscriptions.

☞Two officers left Boston for New Orleans on Tuesday last, to take charge of and bring on Tirrell, the supposed murderer of Maria A. Bickford.

The City Government of Salem has refused to grant Mr. Buffum a license for running a steam planing mill on Front street, in that city.

The Congressional proceedings of the past week are unimportant, but we shall probably hear of further action on the Oregon question in a few days.

☞The vote on the Texas Question in the House of Representatives was as follows:—141 yeas, 56 nays;

Of the Yeas, 64 were Northern Locos, 56 Southern Locos—1 Illinois Whig, 19 Southern Whigs, 1 Northern Native.

Of the Nays, 46 were Northern Whigs, 2 Southern Whigs, 3 N. York Locos, 5 Northern Natives.

☞We understand that Mr. Frank P. Appleton has accepted the invitation of the Unitarian Church of this town to become their pastor, and that his ordination will take place on Wednesday, the 14th of January.

The Pilgrim Festival.—The 225th Anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims was celebrated at Plymouth on Monday, with much spirit and enthusiasm by the Pilgrim Society. A procession was formed which repaired to the Unitarian Church, where an Ode written for the occasion by Judge Davis was sung by the choir, selections from scripture read, prayer offered, a hymn sung; and the procession re-formed, and proceeded to the car house, when tables for 500 had been arranged.—Judge Warren President of the Society presided at the dinner, which passed off in an agreeable and very pleasant manner, being enlivened by toasts speeches, singing, &c.

Death from Rum.—An inquest was held in Boston, on Sunday afternoon, on the body of Daniel Regan. They returned a verdict of 'death from effects of excessive drinking of ardent spirits.'—He had been sick about 12 hours previous to his death.

☞At Rochester, N. Y., Thursday morning, last, the dwelling of Mrs Robinson, a widow lady, was partly destroyed by fire. Her children, two boys and a girl, aged eight, five and three years respectively, slept in the upper part of the building, and were consumed in the flames.

A colored boy has been whipped to death by his inhuman master (Alfred Beaufeau,) in New Orleans, who has been held to bail.

The Acadia's news reached Philadelphia on Saturday, and produced a fall in the price of cotton and flour.

Hon. John C. Calhoun has arrived at Washington and taken his seat in the Senate.

Installation. Rev. W. H. Ryder was installed Pastor of the First Universalist Society in Nashua on Tuursday last, Sermon by Rev. A. A. Miner, of Lowell.

Mr. Ewing, (Whig) has been elected to Congress in the Nashville District, Tenn., by about 1200 majority.

☞The Americans have six hundred vessels in the Pacific Ocean, engaged in the whale fishery. In case of a war with England, the Pacific would present a nice field for plunder to British armed vessels.

SLAVERY IN OREGON.—Mr. Burnet, a citizen of Oregon in a letter, writes; 'The Legislature have passed an act that slavery shall not exist in Oregon. The owners of slaves who bring them here are allowed two years to take them out of the country, and in default they are declared free.

SHOCKING DEATH! About eleven o'clock on Wednesday, as one of the firemen employed about the machinery of Isaac Tirrill's box making and planing establishment, on Harrison Avenue, south of Dover street, was about to start the machinery, the head of a large boiler suddenly burst, killing the fireman, William Ford, and also a son of Mr. Tirrill, who was at work in the shop. The boiler, which was twenty-four feet long, was driven through the front of the building, across the street, and through the brass foundry of Isaac Babbitt in the opposite side, making a distance of about one hundred feet—but fortunately no other persons were injured.

The building was completely shattered by the concussion, the walls and roof were torn off, and the machinery nearly destroyed. Mr. Ford, the fireman, was about 28 years of age, and an unmarried man. Young Tirrill was about 18 years of age; and the parents of both the young men, are in much affliction, having each lost another child quite recently. Bost. Pap.

☞At a meeting of the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Co. on Tuesday, Gen. Wm. Sutton presiding, it was voted unanimously to authorize the Directors to apply to the Legislature for such an alteration in the charter as will enable the company to establish their capital at a million of dollars.—Guz.

☞The new meeting house of the East Church and Society in Salem, (Rev. Dr. Flint's), will be dedicated on Thursday, January 1.

☞An election of a member of Congress in the Nashville district, Tennessee, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr Peyton, took place on Thursday, the 11th inst., and has probably resulted in the choice of Mr. Ewing, Whig.

ACCIDENT TO BISHOP POTTER. The Right Rev. Bishop Potter, met with a serious accident on Sunday, at Philadelphia, by which one of his legs was broken. Surgical skill was immediately in attendance, and the Bishop at last accounts was doing well.

☞Mr. Asa Marean, of Hubbardston, who some weeks since disappeared, was found in Pennsylvania with some of his relatives, in a state of insanity; and he has been returned to the hospital in Worcester.

DROWNED.—On Wednesday last, Joseph Long, of Andover, in crossing Middleton pond, fell into an opening of the ice, and was drowned. His body was found, on Thursday. His age was about 30 years.—Salem Gazette.

THE LARGEST YET—who beats?—Mr. Jas. Ray, of Auburn, sold in this place, on Monday, a round Hog—weighing 634 lbs.—Manchester Democrat.

☞Benjamin Parker, Esq., of this town, slaughtered a Hog last week, weighing 639 1-2 lbs.—N. H. Patriot.

☞John Gray, Esq., of the Washington House, slaughtered a Hog last week, weighing seven hundred and fifty pounds, when dressed. The largest porker we ever saw.—Nashua Oasis.

A letter received in Washington, from Clark co., Missouri, gives the distressing intelligence of the burning to death of the mother and brother of Mrs Amos Kendall, in endeavoring to save their crop of grain from a destructive fire on the prairies.

FOR THE COURIER.

Old Meeting Houses.

The approaching demolition of the old Church recently occupied by Rev. Dr. Flint's Society in Salem, and this being the only specimen remaining in this vicinity, of those ancient structures, affords an appropriate opportunity to call to mind associations connected with worship in those ancient tabernacles.

The style of building churches appears to have continued with but little alteration for more than half a century. The same two or three story plain exterior, the tower at one end and sometimes a porch at the other, the steeple and weather cock after the same time-honored pattern, seem to have continued until a very recent date. In the interior there was also but little change. The pulpit on the broad side of the house—the sounding board suspended over it—the gallery on the remaining three sides—the square pews with high railings, and the deacons' seat in front of the pulpit—all these make a very correct description of the interior of almost any meeting house built in the last century in New England.

The furnishing of those old temples was as simple as their style of architecture. Who does not remember the cheerless and uncomfortable appearance of the interior of one of those barn-like structures, especially in winter, when the clattering windows gave token of the raging blast without, in unison with the shivering congregation within? In those good old days it was considered sinful to worship in a house made comfortable by artificial heat, except by the tin foot stoves which were carried by the boys for the use of their mothers and grandmothers. At the time of the introduction of stoves into the Old South Meeting House in this town, although they were purchased by subscription, a parish meeting was called to see if the society would permit individuals to put these stoves into the house. The services at that time were also unreasonably long and were never abreviated on account of the severity of the weather or the uneasiness of a shivering people. Perhaps this circumstance may account for a complimentary term formerly often used in describing a minister as a laborious and painful preacher. This was, be it remembered, long before the wholesome "one hour rule" was introduced into our legislative halls or the pulpit and lecture room.

The pews were also, so constructed as to be inconvenient and attended with great loss of room besides obliging nearly half the occupants to sit with their backs to the pulpit. The seats were hung on hinges to turn up in prayer time, and when this exercise was over they were thrown down with a simultaneous slam like a discharge of musketry. It was a favorite amusement with the young urchins of the congregation to prolong the fire by an extra slam or two of their seats making the whole a pretty exact resemblance to the slovenly firing of a militia company on a training day. Another favorite pastime of the boys during prayer time was to turn the loose balisters which supported the top railing of the pews until the young rogues were discovered by a loud squeaking noise caused by their ungreased friction.

On the pulpit there was usually some attempt at ornament without much attempt at originality, as every pulpit was an exact copy of the style of its own age. At one time they were all of oak unpainted, as were also the pews, and at a later date they were of pine and painted white. At a later age the pulpit window was hung with silk or damask curtains. The deacons' seats were abandoned, their occupants first retreating to the pews on each side of the pulpit and afterwards seating themselves among the rest of the people without regard to location.

The singing in these old times was as primitive as any other department of their worship, and in the earlier times was performed by the whole congregation, the deacons 'reading or deaconing off two lines of the hymn which were sung and another instalment given out in the same manner until the whole was completed. At a later period a company of singers occupied the gallery in front of the pulpit, hired their own teacher, found their own books and performed the music without compensation. The music at the time was entirely vocal, the introduction of the bass-viol afterwards causing as much excitement as the discovery of a new error in doctrine. The more rigid denounced the new instrument as the introduction of the "devil" into the meeting house, and it is related of one such person that he quit the society in this town where he had always been connected, and went to Salem where to his most holy horror he found not only the "devil" in the singing seats, but also two "little devils" as he called two violins which made part of the instrumental music of the Salem congregation. When this instrument had fairly overcome the scruples of the people it was followed by others, such as the violin, flute, bazoon, &c. until some choirs presented quite a row of martial musicians with distended cheeks blowing out their accompaniment to the voices of the choir. These instruments were also the property of the performers whose services were gratuitous. There were some evils connected with the gratuitous performances of the choir, among the least of which was a frequent deficiency of books. In these cases it was not uncommon to see three or four heads together, over one fragment of a hymn book, forming a group that would make a capital study for a Hogarth. But the greatest evil of this system was the liability of the choir to be broken up by some real or imaginary cause such as singers in our day are so sensitive about, and the seats would thus often be deserted until the breach could be healed. The loss of the services of a choir was generally temporarily supplied by a party of venerable volunteers from below who supplied with their cracked voices what from courtesy was called music, until the deserters returned to their posts.

The galleries were usually the resort of those who from want of ability or inclination did not provide themselves with seats below. One side was occupied by the women and the other by males, mostly boys, over whom a watchful guard was kept by the sexton or tythingmen who often found it difficult to preserve order as does the Speaker of the House of Representatives, among the larger boys at Washington. The punishments were quite summary, generally by seizing the culprit and carrying him away to be imprisoned in the "lobby" or conveying him to a seat apart from his mischievous companions, after a good shaking or box on the ear, in the presence of the whole congregation. It was always the custom of those in the galleries to wear their hats until the minister got into the desk, and every attempt made by the Committee and influential members of the Society to enforce a more decorous behavior was unsuccessful.

The uneasiness with which the infliction of those long sermons was borne, was often seen by the movements of the older as well as the younger members of the congregation. It was not uncommon to see perhaps a dozen elderly men in different parts of the house standing bolt upright seeking comfort from this change of position. This was often the case before the preacher had arrived in the divisions and subdivisions of his discourse farther than sixteenthly. The younger part of the audience manifested their uneasiness by more restlessness and noise, and when the final Amen was expected it usually found them hat in hand at the door of the pew, which was thrown open with a slam in the midst of the Benediction; and before the wished for word had been fairly pronounced by the preacher, a simultaneous rush was made for the open air.

We might lengthen to almost any extent, with reminiscences of those ancient structures which are so fast disappearing, but we have already occupied too much of your space.

Correspondence of the Danvers Courier.

Law of Libel.

ESSEX CO. C. C. P., Dec. T, 1845.
Com. vs. Henry Clapp, Jr.

The defendants, Editor and publishers of a weekly paper in the town of Lynn called 'the Pioneer' was indicted for publishing a libel on Aaron Lummus Esq.

It appeared from the examination of the case; that at one of the Temperance Mass Meetings holden the past season near the public house kept by William Perley in Lynn, that a person by the name of Vissa from Boston drove among the crowd assembled, in such manner, as to induce a complaint against him before Justice Lummus. At the time appointed for the hearing the complainant signified in writing his willingness that the matter should be adjusted on payment of costs, which being done, the magistrate, as he had a right to do, ended the prosecution. The defendant Clapp, without knowing what had been done or how the case had been disposed of, spoke of the trial as a farce and mockery, and of the magistrate as having been influenced by improper motives in the discharge of his duty. In the opinion of the Court, the language used was calculated to bring Mr. Lummus into contempt as a magistrate, and was such as the law deems libellous. But the Court, in kindness to the defendant, with the consent of the prosecuting officer, submitted to the Jury the entire question of law and facts; and the Jury returned a verdict of guilty, thereby affirming the publication by the defendant, and that the language used was false and libellous. The defendant managed his own case with an ability worthy of a better cause. He argued that he could not be found guilty of libelling Mr. Lummus, because he had no personal acquaintance with him, and but very little personal knowledge of him. That what he said was mere common report and rumor, and it could not be supposed that he was moved by malice in repeating what every body said. He said that he should not attempt to prove that what he said was true; but still it was universally known that the wealthy and those of high standing in society were treated with more favor at Court, than the indigent and degraded. He avowed himself opposed to all human laws and institutions of Government.—He illustrated many of his points with much ingenuity, and quoted from Shakespeare, Burns and other beautiful passages, that their authors little suspected would be used for such a purpose. Whatever may be the opinion of Mr. Clapp, and of the sect to which he professes to belong (commonly called Come-outers) of Courts in general, we think he or they cannot complain, but that every reasonable indulgence was given him by this Court, and that the Jury honestly and fearlessly did, what by their oaths they were bound to do. When people enter into Society they are bound to surrender a part of their own rights for the common benefit of the whole; and there is no way of determining to what extent this surrender shall be made, except by consulting the will of the majority, which is done by obedience to the laws.

Congressional Proceedings.

FRIDAY, Dec. 19.

The Senate did not sit to-day.

In the House, the Massachusetts resolutions for the revision of the naturalization laws were the first business in order, but they were passed over, by consent, for the purpose of calling the states for resolutions.

Mr Douglass reported a bill from the Committee on territories, to provide for the protection of Oregon settlers, and for terminating the joint occupancy of Oregon territory; and, on his motion, it was referred to the committee of the whole on the state of the Union, and made the special order for the second Tuesday in January.

Mr Winthrop offered a resolution, which was agreed to, calling upon the President for copies of all the correspondence between the Government of the United States and Great Britain during the last two years in relation to the Washington treaty, the territorial fund, and the free navigation of the St Johns.

Neither House was in session on Saturday.

MONDAY, Dec. 22

In Senate.—After some preliminary business, Mr Ashley reported from the Judiciary Committee, without amendment, the resolutions from the House for the admission of Texas into the Union.

Mr. Webster rose and gave in brief the reason why, in obedience to the unanimous instructions of the Legislature of Massachusetts, and confirmatory to his own feelings, he should vote against the resolution.

Mr. Berrien explained why he should vote for the resolutions, although he had opposed the measure of admitting Texas into the Union, when it came before the Senate as a new question. The faith of the United States had been pledged to Texas, and he should support the resolution for fulfilling it.

Mr. Niles explained and defended his vote, last session, for admitting Texas, and controverted the resolution of the Legislature of Connecticut, censuring him for that vote.

The law admitting Texas to the Union as a state was passed, 21 to 13. Adjourned.

The bill was signed forthwith and notice despatched by an express messenger so as to get Representatives but especially Senators upon the ground at the earliest possible moment. It is feared that the fate of the tariff will be sealed by the two senators from Texas.

TUESDAY, Dec. 23,

SENATE—Mr Webster rose with a mass of papers in his hands, which he said were memorials from many thousand signers, received by this morning's mail, remonstrating against the annexation of Texas—they were too late—the Bill was passed yesterday; perhaps, however, they might do for Cuba, so he desired that they might be laid on the table.

The Senate next proceeded to elect a Chaplain. The vote was as follows: Mr Tuston 28, Mr Sprole 5, Mr Gurley 4, and Mr Matthews 4—Mr Tuston was re-elected.

The Senate adjourned until Saturday.

At 12 M. the Speaker called the House to order, when the "Blind Preacher" appeared and discharged the duties of Chaplain, to which office he was on Monday elected. His manner was dignified, and his language, in invoking the blessings of Heaven on the deliberations of the House, appropriate, while he gave utterance to the emotions of his soul in a subdued but effective emphasis.

MOTHER OF ROCHESTER—The venerable Mrs Rochester, from whose family the flourishing city of Rochester, N. Y., derived its name, died in that city last week. The authorities and citizens honored her memory by a public funeral, which was attended on Thursday. Such is the rapid growth of our country, that the settlers of the wilderness live to see large and flourishing cities spring up around them. Hence the great wealth of many early settlers in the west, whose lands have increased in value as population increases—N. Y. Sun.

A GOOD WIFE.—Andrew Johnson, a member of the House of Representatives from Tennessee, was taught by his wife to read after his marriage! He is a tailor by trade, and is said to be an estimable and intelligent man.—N. Y. Sun.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—We like your plan to place "One of the 74" by the side of "Oak Hall" as an advertisement to gain patronage but it seems to me you are rather too hard to require us to pay the price of advertising when it is to inure so largely to your benefit and we are to lend you our assistance to help it along, but we would not stand about that if we were not so short of funds. I think there must have been some thing left of that large fund that your folks said they had raised to carry on the late Election and if there is I have no doubt they would let us have it for this purpose.

I see you have put down your Editorial foot against anything personal or sectional, seriously I do not think you need to be so alarmed at the very first gun from the "74"! Is there not some danger that your paper will get to be rather dull if you do not have a little spice of this kind once in a while?

ONE OF THE SIXTEEN.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Dec. 22, 1845.

At market, 900 Beef Cattle, 38 yokes Working Oxen, 50 Cows and Calves, 3200 Sheep, and about 270 Swine.

Prices—Beef Cattle—Sales of extra, $5 25; first $5 00; second quality $4 25; third quality, $3 25 a 4 00.

Working Oxen—Sales noticed at $58, 61, 64, 69. 74, 80 and $105.

Cows and Calves—Sales were noticed at $14, 17, 20, 21, 26, and 38 80.

Sheep—Sales were noticed at 92c, $1 00, 1 12, 1 63 and 2 13.

Swine—Lots at wholesale, 3 1-2 for Sows, and 4 3-4 for Barrows; at retail from 4 1-2 to 5 and 5 1-2 c.

About 150 Cattle remain unsold.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, by Rev. J. Prince, Mr. JOHN MILES to Miss ELIZABETH VERY. Mr. BENJ. G. BRIDGES, of Beverly, to Miss ELIZABETH A M. FIFE. Mr WILLIAM BROWN to Miss SUSAN COLE. Mr WM H. COATS to Miss HARRIET A. SNOW.

By Rev. Mr. Eaton, Mr. J. C. FERRIN to Miss MARY UPTON.

In Salem, Mr. AUGUSTUS HUTCHINS to Miss SUSAN B. REEVES. Mr. GEORGE W. COPELAND to Miss ELIZABETH AUSTIN.

In Lynn, Mr. SAMUEL B. BREED, of Lynn, to Miss SARAH JANE FLINT, of Reading.

DEATHS.

In this town, MARY ELLEN, youngest daughter of Henry and Hannah M. Sayward, aged 9 months.

Sweet is the scene when children die;
When infant souls retire to rest:
How mildly beams the closing eye!
How gently heaves the expiring breast.

So fades a summer cloud away;
So sinks the gale when storms are o'er,
So gently shuts the eye of day;
So dies a wave along the shore.—Com.

At the Alms House, Mr. JOHN TRASK, aged 70.

In Salem, Mrs. GILLIN, widow of the late Mr. Enos Hood, of Ghelsea, Vt., aged 72. Capt. JOHN EDWARDS, aged 77. Mrs JULIA S. WILLIAMS, wife of Mr. Andrew Williams, aged 33.

In Lynn, Mrs. PHILENDA, widow of the late John Ingersoll, Esq., aged 57

In St. Louis, Mr. John Walsh, formerly a Judge of some Court in Essex county—a son of Michael Walsh, the author of the well known arithmetic—and a native of Marblehead.

SOCIAL REFORM.

UNION AND PROGRESS.

A meeting of the Friends of Social Reform and Progress will be held at UPTON HALL,

THIS EVENING,

at 6 1-2 o'clock. The elevation of the Laboring classes—the true relation of Labor and Capital—the means of securing wealth, education and social happiness to every individual, will be the prominent subjects of discussion. The meeting will be addressed by John Allen and John Orvis, of Brook Farm Association.

The friends of a a better order of society, and the public in general are respectfully invited to attend.

dec 27

Institute Lyceum.

Lecture next Monday evening, at 6 1-2 o'clock, by Rev CALES STETSON, of Medford. dec 26

SONS OF TEMPERANCE.

MONUMENT DIVISION—No 5.

Regular meetings held on MONDAY Evenings, at half past 7 o'clock, at SANGER'S HALL, Park St.

Members of the Order generally, are respectfully invited to attend.

R. W. BURNHAM, R. S.

South Danvers, Sept 4, 1845. tf

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.

WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

FOUND.

On Friday, Dec. 19th, on Andover street, a BOA or THIBET. The owner can have the same on application at this office dec 27

CHEAP GOODS.

FINE Linen Combric Hdkfs for 12 1-2 cts.
do hem stitch do 37 1-2 "
Wrought Collars from 25 to 50 cents.
Alpaeca Hose, 28 cents per pair.
Ladies Cravats, 28 cts.
Blue Mixed Yarn, 75 cents per lb.
Calicoes and Patches, 6 1-4 cts. per yd. For sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 27

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Pongee Silk Hdkfs, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

WHITE MUSLINS.

JUST received a few pieces of the Goods, suitable for Dresses, prices from 25 to 50 cts.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J. C FERRIN.

For Christmas and New Year.

THE subscriber has just received an assortment of FANCY GOODS, particularly adapted to the season, consisting in part of—

Gold Guard and Fob Chains;
Gold and Silver Pencils;
Gold and Stone Finger Rings;
Lockets. Bracelets;
Music boxes, inlaid and plain;
Card Cases do do
Pocket Books;
Steel mounted velvet bags;
Purses—double and single;
Buffalo back combs;
Jet and steel ornamented combs;
Ivory fine tooth; do
Pocket mirrors;
Hair brushes—hard and soft;
Tooth brushes—English and American;
Steel vest chains;
Letter clips; Letter stamps;
Patent letter balances;
Mantle thermometers, &c.

which are offered for sale very low for cash, at 222 Essex Street, opposite the First Church.

dec 24 WILLIAM ARCHER.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2. S. DODGE.

New Stove

Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for th sale of the above stove in this town.

dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

NEW JUVENILE. The Cardinal Flower and other Tales, by Joseph Alden, D. D. author of th Light Hearted Girl.

Ascanio, or the Sculptor's Apprentices, a tale of the sixteenth century. Just published.

No. 43 Harper's Bible—received by.

dec 27 W & S B IVES 232 Essex st.

MAKE OUT YOUR BILLS Bill Paper, of superior quality and various rulings, just finished, and for sale by the ream or quire, at the Book and Stationery store of

dec 27 W & S B IVES.

MORRIS & WILLIS'S LIBRARY. A Library of the Prose and Poetry of Europe and America; consisting of literary gems and curiosities and containing the choice and beautiful productions of many of the most popular writers, of the past and present age; compiled by Geo. P. Morris, and N. P. Willis, complete in one vol. price $2 50. Just received and for sale by W & S B IVES.

dec 27 232 Essex street.

NEW NO. of Paine & Burgess' Library—Montezuma, the Last of the Axtees, a romance, by Edward Matwin, in two volumes, price $1, Just received and for sale by W & S B IVES. dec 27,

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be exceelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

Lyceum Notice.

Lectures may be expected this season from

Hon. Rufus Choate,		Hon. Horace Mann,
"	Caleb Cushing,	"	John C. Park,
"	Joshua H. Ward,	"	Charles Sumner,
	Geo. S. Hillard,		Elihu Burritt,

and other distinguished Lecturers, whose names will be duly announced.

Tickets at 75 cents each, may be obtained at the stores of Drs. Joseph Shed, and Sylvester Proctor, jr., and at the Bookstore of Sylvanus Dodge. dec 13

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at C. H. MANNING'S,

Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers. oct 25

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 lawtf

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call,

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

DEALERS IN

WATCHES,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,

JEWELRY REPAIRED

aug 17 3m

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 13

NEW STYLES GALA PLAIDS.

Received by the last Steamer.

KEITH & MASON have just opened a lot of new, and very beautiful styles Gala Plaids for Cloaks and Dresses. Also, New embroidering Gimps for trimmings; Wide black Gimp, very rich patterns; Gents and Ladies' Cashmere Gloves of various patterns. dec 13

The Stewart Improved
Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings, which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.

nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Irias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

FOR SALE

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable.

I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of Jonathan Perry,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, gentleman deceased, and has taken upon herself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

REBECKAH PERRY,

Danvers, Dec. 6, 1845 Adm'x.

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. ESSEX, ss. Nov. 29, 1845. A warrant has been duly issued against the estate of FRANCIS EVELETH, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. KING, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.

JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,

dec 6 Messenger.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,

aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

HALF A
Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of

READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.

COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Briliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothcng and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims,—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL,"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY TH WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Celebrated Clothing Establishment,

"Oak Hall Building!"

32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,

OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.

Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.

☞REMEMBER☜

ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,

BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.

On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The fast sailing A I packet ship St PETERSBURG. Rogers, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. dec 20

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.

On Saturday.

The superior N. York packet brig MOBILE, Bulkley, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

dec 13

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.

From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. SISTERS, Gilman, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

dec 13

FOR SALE CHEAP.

One good second hand CHAISE,
" " " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " " LIGHT WAGON.

By THOMAS TRASK, Main street

june 7

DOMESTIC HOSIERY.

R. H. CHAMBERLAIN respectfully informs the citizens of Danvers and its vicinity, that he has just opened at his Hosiery and Glove Store,

No. 236 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

300 doz of Hosiery and Gloves, of Foreign and Domestic manufacture, comprising the largest variety ever before offered in Salem, viz:

LADIES' Yarn, Alpacca, Segovia, Lamb's Wool, Merino and Cashmere HOSE, in white, black, mixed and mode colors.

GENT'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, HOSE and Half Hose, some extra size.

MISSES AND CHILDREN'S Yarn, Merino, Lamb's Wool, Alpacca, Segovia, and Cashmere Hose and Half Hose; also, Jonian, Royal Coburg, Ceylon, and Grecian Boots, for infants.

GLOVES, in great variety, comprising all the different styles, sizes and qualities, for ladies, gents, children and misses.

LADIES' VESTS AND PANTS—a beautiful article of Ladies' Merino and Cotton Vests and Pants.

GENT'S SHIRTS AND DRAWERS—Merino, Lamb's wool, Yarn, Scotch wool, Portsmouth, Ipswich and country knit Shirts and Drawers.

SHIRTS, BOSOMS AND COLLARS—A large assortment of Cotton Shirts, Linen Bosoms and Collars, Dickeys, Stocks, Scarfs, Cravats, Suspenders, Pocket Hdkfs, &c.

WOOLLEN YARN—300 lbs of black, mixed, white, scarlet, Random, and mode colored Woolen Yarn, from the Portsmouth manufactory.

CASSIMERES—A large lot of Cassimeres and Sattinetts constantly on hand.

MOUSELINE DE LAINES—2 cases Mousseline de Laines, of newpatterns, just opened and for sale cheap.

Also—Red, white and yellow Flannels, rich styles of Prints, from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Tickings, bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings; Scotch, Bird's Eye and Russia Diapers; bleached, unbleached, and colored Table Covers; white and colored Linens; Silk, Cotton and Linen Cambric Hdkfs; Linen Lawns; Pins, Tapes, Needles, Purses, Scissors, Thimbles, Combs, Eyelets, silk and Cotton Bindings, Gimps and Fringes, Knitting Pins, Ribbons, Silk and Cotton Braids; Linen Bobbins and Tapes, Stay Backs and Bindings, Knitting Cotton, Sewing Cotton, Sewing Silk and Twist, Silk and Cotton Cords Saddler's Silk, Buttons, etc.

sept 22 is2m

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

Paper Hangings

VERY CHEAP.

SAMUEL B. FOSTER, being desirous of reducing his present stock of Paper Hangings, offers them for sale at reduced prices. 2100 Rolls of New Patterns, have been added this fall. One of the most fashionable and best assortments of Paper Hanging that can be found, is thus offered at very low prices. Call and see for yourselves at the extensive Paper Hanging Establishment,

No 30 Lawrence Place,

near the Rail Road Depot. Recollect, 30 is the number and FOSTER is the man.

Salem, Nov 1, 1845. 1m

NOTICE.

IN consequence of a change in our business, we have sold at public Auction the balance of our Stock of Groceries, Crockery, Glass and Stone Ware, at No. 13 Front street.

For the benefit of many interested, we would give particular notice that we are still on hand, and can be found on our Wharf in rear of the Store, where we have on hand and for sale at the lowest prices,

200 Cords best Eastern Hard Wood.
100 " Tanning Bark.
25 " Burning "
300 Bundles first quality pressed Hay.

25 Barrels Chenango Potatoes, best quality, with all other kinds of Eastern produce, which we should be happy to dispose of to our many friends and patrons n reasonable terms.

GEO. C. VARNEY, & CO.,

nov 29 Stone's Whf.

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,

Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Agt.)

(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound; Tobias' Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeck; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Lees, Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills, Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

dec 6

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "

oct 25

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemica, Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by oct 11 EDWARDS, 10 Front street

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK

Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neith er do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue.

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase —they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them fiuds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yonrs respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

—

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

—

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

—

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such, effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

—

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

—

A hacking cough coustantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

—

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E.Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERE S AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks, Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimps by KEITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

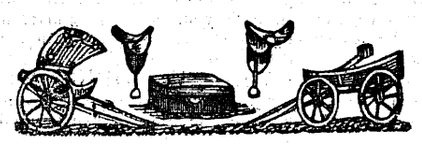
Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr. Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.



Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING.

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

J. & H. HALE
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

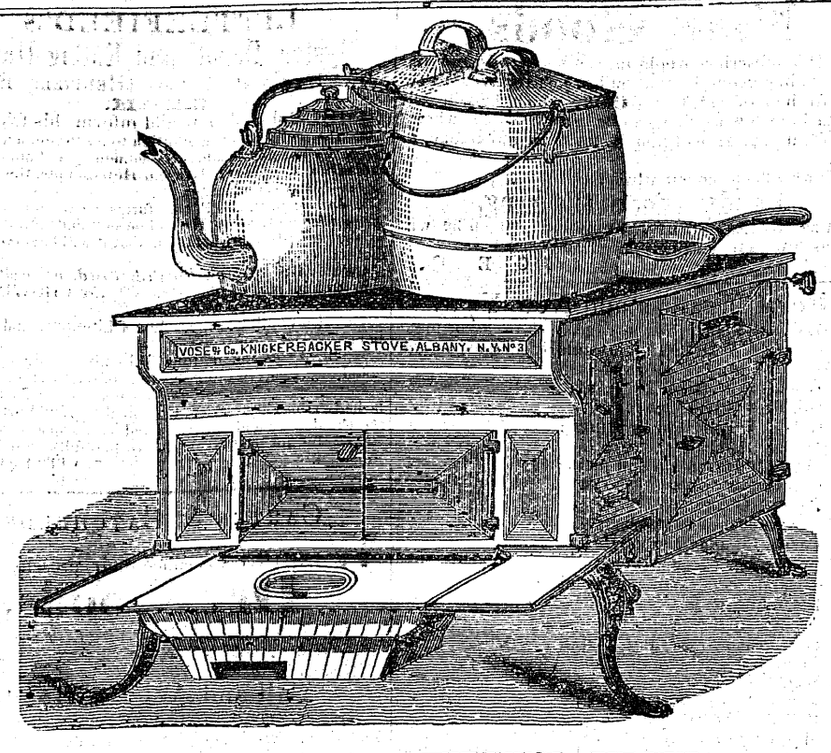
SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.



CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, o different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by
Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

WIDE FRINGES AND GIMPS. Just received by KEITH & MASON, a lot of new styles Wide Fringes and Gimps for trimming Cloaks. nov 15

LORD & WILEY,
OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o
STOVES,
of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.
The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.
We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortment of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,
No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21 1845.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or
READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns; on drab grounds, for sale by M. T. DOLE
nov 14

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Copartnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the
Painting, Glazing & Papering
business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of
OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch 29 1y

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
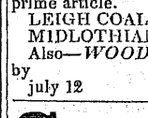
july 12 27 Water street.



Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of evt ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of
HIRAM GRANT.
Danvers, April 19, 1845,

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to thos now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

COTTONS. COTTONS.

A LOT of heavy Brown Cottons, just received and for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

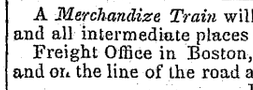
GOLD MIX'D TWEEDS.

A FASHIONABLE article for Overcoats and Sacks, for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave da (Sundays excepted,)
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A 2 1 4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.



Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portla and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Ro and on the line of the road at the several Depots.

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sale Hourly Coaches will connection with the Easter Railroad, leave Danvers a Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A.
" " 8 3-4 " " 9 1-2
" " 9 3-4 " " 11 3-" " 11 1-4 " " 12 3-4
" " 1 3-4 P M. " " 3 P.
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6 1-2
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hou and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reason ble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays e cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Je cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE Subscriber would inform the citizens of Dan vers and vicinity, that he has established himself at
No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,
for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

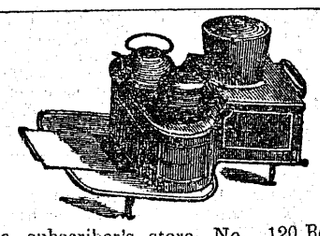
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor o the Depot for PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS, formerly kept at No. 3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,
Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)
where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.



In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts. near the Railroad Station, Salem.
may 24 3m

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cooking Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a small Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument. JOSEPH SHED.
july 26

---

300 BUNDLES of Hay, of very prime quality, and in good order; for sale by dec 6 c & s J. DIKE, 27 Water-st.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 3, 1846. NUMBER 42.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any papers of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FOR THE COURIER.

SONNET.

A FILIAL TRIBUTE.

FONDLY, my Mother! do I think of thee,
As now, in thy life's quiet afternoon,
My mind recounts thy early care for me—
Thy smiles, thy soothing voice, each little boon
That charmed the hour of Being's early day,
And chased each cloud of childish grief away;
Thy fond maternal counsels—valued still—
Bestowed to guard my youthful steps from ill.
The lustre of thine eye is scarcely dimmed,
Amid thy hair no whitened locks we trace;
And Time hath on thy features only limned,
With pensive tinges, age and matron grace.
Less roughly still may each change o'er thee steal,
And each some added, tranquil joy reveal!

PHILOMATH.

Danvers, Jan. 1st.

WE ARE GROWING OLD.

We are growing old—how the thought will rise
When a glance is backward cast n some long-remembered spot that lies
In the silence of the past:
It may be the shrine of our early vows,
Or the tomb of early tears;
But it seems like a far-off isle to us,
In the stormy sea of years.
Oh wide and wild are the waves that part
Our steps from its greenness now,
And we miss the joy of many a heart,
And the light of many a brow;
For deep o'er many a stately bark
Have the whelming billows rolled
That steered with us from that early mark—
Oh, friends! we are growing old!

Old in the dimness of the dust
Of our daily toils and cares—
Old in the wrecks of love and trust
Which our burthened memory bears.
Each form may wear to the passing gaze
The bloom of life's freshness yet,
And beams may brighten our latter days
Which the morning never met.
But Oh! the changes we have seen
In the far and winding way,
The graves in our paths that have grown green
And the locks that have grown grey!
The winters still on our own may spare
The sable or the gold;
But we see their snows upon brighter hair,
And, friends, we are growing old!

We have gained the world's cold wisdom now,
We have learned to pause and fear,
But where are living founts whose flow
Was a joy of heart to hear?
We have won the wealth of many a clime,
And the lore of many a page;
But where is the hope that saw in time
But its boundless heritage?
Will it come again when the violet wakes
And the woods their youth renew?
We have stood in the light of sunny brakes
Where the bloom is deep and blue;
And our souls might join in the spring time then,
But the joy was faint and cold;
For it never could give us the youth again
Of hearts that are growing old!

MISCELLANY.

What the Boy did come to.

BY FANNY FORRESTER.

'Rachel,' said a young farmer to his wife, as he entered the house, leading by the hand a curly-headed little fellow with a particularly bright eye, and a mouth with a peculiarly roguish curl to it, —'Rachel you were wishing yesterday you had a boy; I have brought one home to you.'

The young woman dropped the broom which she was wielding with much spirit, and turning short round placed her two bare arms akimbo.—'Well, Eben Howe, you are just the strangest man that I ever saw. What do you suppose I can do with a boy, when I have every thing under the sun to do, and nobody to help?'

'Why, it is to help you that I have brought him home, Rachel.'

'Help! yes I'll warrant me, such help as I get from every body that comes into this house. You brought grand mamma to help me too, I suppose and—

'Rachel!'

'Not that I mind the trouble with her,' resumed the wife not abashed; but you've no idea Eben, of the wear and tear of slavish life I lead. Here's the baby has done nothing but cry all day long——'

'Well, well, Rachel, never mind——'

'Never mind! Oh, yes, that's always the way. If I should kill myself, you'd say never mind!'

'I mean don't mind any thing about the boy.—I obtained him to assist you; but if you think he would make trouble——'

'Make trouble, Eben? Why I would rather do every chore myself, than have the trouble of following after a boy, watching to see if things were done right, and slaving myself to death to do his washing and mending.'

'Very well, Rachel, I can take him back to-morrow. I wish you would contrive some way of lightening your cares though. If you would only consent to hire a girl——'

'Hire! No—no; I'm not the lazy woman you take me for, Eben Howe. Hire, indeed! Why the whole neighborhood would be laughing at me, as they are at that shiftless Mrs. Wood. No; I'll work my fingers off, before I'll have it said that Rachel Ellis set up for a lady as soon as she got married, and ruined her husband by her extravagance.'

'Nobody would say that Rachel. But supposing we adopt a little girl, would she make as much trouble as a boy?'

'A thousand times more. I would'nt bring up a girl for the world.'

Mr. Howe glanced at the cradle.

'One not my own I mean. A girl could'nt cut the wood, and take care of the cattle when you were gone.'

'And a boy could.'

'Yes; and he could look after the baby.'

'Certainly.'

'And help scrub the floor.'

'Of course.'

'And run all sorts of errands.'

'And bring water from the spring.'

'And—oh—oh, a boy could do a great deal;—then I could alter all your old clothes for him, and we never have a scant table; so the keeping would'nt be much.'

'A mere trifle. But consider the trouble to yourself, Rachel.'

'Why as to that, I am pretty strong yet, and should not mind a little more work, if the boy was faithful, and willing.

'What kind of a bargain have you made Eben?'

'If we conclude it is best, we can have him three months on trial——'

'Three months—and haying and harvesting all over! Why a baby could do all the chores we shall have to do.'

'Oh, that is of no great consequence——'

'I tell you, Eben Howe, it is a great deal of consequence when you take any one on trial, that there be plenty of work to do, and that of the right kind.'

'Yes, I know it, Rachel; if three months don't satisfy us, I presume we can try him a year; we can keep him as long as we please, and send him away when we please. Poor woman, she hasn't the power to choose,' he added in an under tone.

'Ah, that is something like. What then?'

'Why if we conclude to keep him, we are to consider him as our own boy, treat him well——'

'I hope we are not the folks to treat ill.'

'I am sure you will not Rachel. Then we are to feed and clothe him only——'

'Only! I guess you'd not say only if you knew what that would be; he'll wear out clothes faster than you can make them, I'll warrant, and eat as much as a man.'

'So you think it will be very expensive to keep him?'

'No. not expensive exactly. I told you that you could manage the clothing part nicely, and one mouth in a family, where there's always plenty, don't make much difference.'

'But the trouble to you?'

'Oh, I should'nt mind that much. I suppose we can keep him till he's twenty one?'

'Yes, if he's bound. We are to send him to school three months every year.'

'To school indeed! And where's the money to come from, and the—and the—? Now, Eben Howe can you think of doing such a foolish thing as that?—Three mouths every year! A quarter of the time idled away, books torn and money spent, and all for nothing but to keep a lazy good for nothing boy away from his work.'

"I shouldn't like to have any one about my house that couldn't read.'

'Mercy on me, I hope not; that couldn't read the bible! We are not quite such heathens yet. But do tell wh: t the use of so much schooling?'

'It is no more than I hope all American boys however poor, will be able to receive Rachel.—Education you know the lecturer told us last evening, is the freeman's birthright. What say you, Rachel, shall we keep him?'

'Well, I don't know as we shall do any better. Have you had your supper, boy?'

During this long dialogue the little fellow, now for the first time addressed, had stood digging with his bare toes into a crack between the boards of the floor, his roguish black eye fixed upon a curly dog that lay stretched in the corner, and his fore finger very intent on poking itself through the braids of his straw hat. Thus called upon however, he turned his little round face for the first time upon Mrs. Howe, and while his cherry cheek became purple and his plump pouting lips rolled back still farther, very diliberately answered—'I guess I shan't stay here; I don't like to be scolded at.'

'Robert,' exclamed Mr. Howe, in alarm—'Robert!'

'Well taught, 'indeed!' began his wife in an angry tone. Well—well, Eben Howe——'

'My name is'nt 'Well Eben Howe,' said the little fellow, straightening himself up, and drawing down the corners of his mouth as though he had received a great insult.—'My name is Robert Fleming.'

'Robert Flemiug, eh?' laughed Mrs Howe, excited to mirth in spite of herself, by the look of offended dignity which accompanied the boy's disclaimer. 'Master Robert Fleming, I suppose we must call you, and—— Bless me the child is eating up his own hat! Ha, ha!'

The boy looked up into the face of the speaker, as though unable to comprehend such a singular character, then apparently satisfied with his scrutiny, joined his clear silvery voice with hers in a very merry laugh; and springing forward, laid his curly head on the neck of the dog, and a moment after was rolling on the floor, engaged in a rare frolic with his new companion.—The baby, as a child nearly a year old was called, hearing the racket, raised its little nightcapped head from the cradle, and clapped together its dimpled hands, and crowed with infinite delight; while grandmamma, crippled with age and rheumatism, hobbled forward and stood in the doorway joining with her cracked, hollow voice, in general expression of mirth. Mr. Howe, too, laughed, amused at the turn affairs had taken no less than by the gambols of the boy and dog, 'till at last, recollecting himself, he called Jowler away, and patting Robert affectionately on the head, bade him bring his bundle from the cart, and stow it away in the loft, which was to be his sleeping place.

Robert Fleming was a beautiful boy of eight, possessed of his full share of animal spirits, his young head overshadowed by a cloud of an unusually dark fortune, but with a heart that bounded as lightly in his bosom as ever heart could bound. His mother was a delicate young creature, who had been made a before she was capable of comprehending the duties and responsibilities of the station; and now her loving heart was well nigh crushed beneath the weight of her many cares, and she labored and wept from morning to night, and all night long upon her pillow strained her sorrowing mind and aching head with visionary projects that the coming light was sure to dissipate. The father of little Robert was one of those who, perhaps as often as better men, lead to the altar the gentle and pure hearted,—a man of gross appetites and feelings, devoid of that refinement which nature herself grants most of her children, a slave to his passions and a hopeless drunkard.

Ebenezer Howe had known Mrs. Fleming in the days of her childhood, and his own benevolent heart induced him to relieve her of her heaviest burthen, the care of a bold-spirited boy, who would soon grow beyond her influence. Yet the poor mother notwithstanding her own destitute circumstances, had stipulated for the usual privileges allowed a boy in his situation, and gained a promise that his education should not be neglected.—'For,' said she, 'he is a wild boy and a careless boy, though a better heart never beat; but I don't know what the poor little fellow will come to at last. I have taught him to read myself while I sat sewing for bread, and I would work still harder and send him to school, rather than to have him grow up in ignorance.'

Mr. Howe too well understood his wife's foibles, to make known to her the true reason of his taking the boy to "bring up," and so he treated it as a matter of interest and convenience merely, trusting that the child himself would soon enlist her better feelings in his welfare. Mrs. Howe was not an unkind woman as far as action was concerned, but owned a tongue that was incorrigible. Never human being was so difficult to please if fault finding were left to herself, and yet she was a wonderful adept at smoothing away difficulties, and removing even her own objections to a plan, when she heard them from the lips of another. Her benevolence, which oftentimes real and heartfelt, was subject to the whimsical variations of her fitful nature—for she was always capricious and sometimes unreasonably exacting. But of all good housewives, Mrs. Howe was the very best. Her table linen was as white as the driven snow, on the table—oh, it would have gladdened any stomach not perverted by French cookery to look upon it. Then her house—she would not have such a dirty thing as a carpet—not she, was scrubbed with soap and sand every morning, and her chairs bottomed with basket work, her pine mantel piece and cubboard shelves had entirely lost the yellow hue peculiar to wood, and vied with her carefully bleached window curtains in whiteness. Now all this could not be accomplished without a vast amount of labor, and hence Mrs. Howe's cares, of which her husband had spoken so feelingly.—Yet no one who had once looked on the plump, rosy face and robust figure of the young wife, would fail to laugh at the idea of her being careworn.

Mrs. Howe soon began to love Robert very dearly, though he kept her in constant fear by his carelessness, and every day she was heard to wonder what the boy would come to. If he attempted to bring the castor on the table he was sure to drop it; the meat always got burned when he was stationed to watch it; the wood that he cut was either too small or too large, or made into fine splinters; and when he milked, if the cow neglected to set her foot in the pail, Jowler, who was ever by his side, in field, house or barn-yard, substituted his nose and paw, placing it in the condition of the country maid in the spelling book. Yet Robert was not an ungrateful lad; and when Mr. Howe talked to him seriously of his carelessness, he would make—oh such firm resolves never, never to cause his kind benefactor another moment of trouble, that no one could these resolves have been rendered visible, would have doubted his reformation. But alas for Robert! no sooner did Jowler rub his cold nose against his hand, or little Hetty crow from the cradle, than the admonitory voice of his master was drowned in his own mirthful shout, and his admonitions entirely obliterated from memory. Mrs. Howe scolded and fluttered by turns, now threatening to send him home, again raising her hand to give him a blow, which the little fellow always contrived to dodge, and at other times laughing immoderately at the amusing nature of his blunders. If Robert could have been spoiled, this was of all others, the very place for doing it; somehow every influence over him seemed powerless either to corrupt or sober his heart. So it still remained a great mystery to Mrs. Howe and Mr. Howe, and to some of their less interested neighbors, what that boy would come to at last.

What an oddity is a country newspaper!—always retailing second-hand news that is news no longer, relating anecdotes that have been fifty times repeated; and reviving old worn-out tales which would otherwise go down to oblivion.—And yet somehow, this news is always worth hearing, these anecdotes are at least as witty as some of the new ones, and these tales are very apt to be sensible and moral. But one thing is certain; no where will you find better informed people—that is, who better understand all the principal movements of the day, whether political, moral or religious, than the readers of a country newspaper. The reason may be that they have so little else to read. At any rate that was why little Robert Fleming pored so untiringly over the two sheets, that weekly found their way into Mr. Howe's dwelling. About the time the newspaper was expected to arrive, it was in vain that Mr. Howe issued his orders and Mrs. Howe scolded, in vain did Jowler jump and Hetty crow. Robert responded to each, but not heartily! He said, 'I will sir,' to Mr. Howe, 'Yes'em,' to Mrs. Howe; twisted Jowler's collar about his unconscious hands, till the poor dog was half choked; cried 'bo-peep' to Hetty through his fingers when his head was turned the other way, and in the midst of the whole darted off to the road to look for the post boy.

'Well,' said Mrs. Howe one day when this had occurred precisely at the moment when she was requiring a pail of water. 'Well, if this isn't enough to wear out the patience of Job! I don't know what that boy will come to at last; but—' then followed a solemn shake of the head. 'He is the worst boy in the neighborhood, and I can't bear any longer with him, I am sure I can't. I wish all the newspapers were burnt up.'

'I was just thinking,' was the quiet response, 'that the year will soon be out, and——'

'You don't think of stopping the paper?'

'It might be well to stop it for a quarter, for Robert is getting very troublesome, and we should neither of us like to part with him just now.'

'Really, Eben Howe, I shouldn't think that of you, after your grand notions about schooling and such like things. Why you don't think I would keep house without as much as one paper? Its but little time I get to read to be sure, such a dog's life I lead of it; but I should be ashamed to own we were such heathens as not to take a newspaper.'

'Well, what shall we do, Rachel?'

'Do? Why its pretty government that you have, to let a boy like that ride over you rough shod! I'd tie him to the bed post if I couldn't do anything else with him.'

'I don't know of anything that would be likely to please him better.'

'Now, Eben, that's going a little too far. I know Robert's faults as well as any body, but it can't be said he is a lazy boy. He does twice as much work as Joseph Smith, and Joe is four years older than he. No, no; let Robert be what he may, he is industrious, I will say that for him.'

'Yes, industrious enough when he takes the fit; but look at him now;' and Mr. Howe pointed to the road side, where Robert, perched upon a fence was eagerly unfolding the damp paper.

This was the signal for attack upon the poor boy, and his capricious mistress wheeled about as readily as was her wont. Robert obeyed her boisterous call; though rather hesitatingly; and being in the midst of a spirited description of a tiger hunt, he did not raise his eyes, but read as he walked slowly to the house.

'Come, go to work, you good for nothing blockhead!' exclaimed the vixen. 'Do you suppose we can give you a good home, and clothe and feed you for nothing?'

'Yes 'em,' replied Robert mechanically; for the tiger had just turned about for a spring upon her pursuers, and the story had become intensely interesting.

This time Robert's art as a dodger failed, or it may be that he neglected to use it, for Mrs. Howe's hand came down certainly not very gently on his ear, which so surprised the absent minded young gentleman, that he gave a scream and a leap, alighting at last on poor Jowler's jaw. The yell of the dog, together with the instability of his footing, induced Robert to take another step, which brought him in contact with the cradle, and the next moment he found himself on the other side, little Hetty kicking and screaming beside him, and Jowler noising about and frolicking in the midst, as though all was to him rare sport. The entrance of a neighbor at this juncture, was like slipping from the hands of a hangman to Master Robert, for Mrs Howe was obliged to soothe the baby, and Mr. Howe to entertain the visiter. 'I dont know what that boy will come to yet,' was all he heard, as he made his exit, grasping the unfortunate cause of all his difficulties with both hands.

Robert profited wonderfully by his three months at school, and Mrs Howe felt almost a mother's joy while listening to his praises. Yet morning, noon and night, as regular as the recurrence of his meals came the scolding, so that in process of time, he became quite accustomed to it, and would have felt much surprise at its omission. But notwithstanding Robert gained honors in the District school, it would balance the dishonor he gained out of it; for was'nt it he that coaxed the boys away to the pond to slide, the day they all fell in and got such a wetting? and was'nt it he that lamed poor Squire White's poney, when he made the poor, awkward beast enact Bucephalus, to the terror as well as admiration of the whole school? To be sure, in the first case he risked his own life and displayed as much presence of mind as ingenuity in saving his companions; and in the other, he took untiring care of the injured limb, till it was quite well again—But what had he to do with the matter? The mischief was done, and done by Robert, and every body wondered what that shockingly bad, hair brained boy would come to. But the worst of it was, they wondered what made Mr. Howe keep him—a wonder which, since Mr. Howe himself joined in it, was likely to prove a serious affair to the young scape grace. To be sure he was always contriving improvements—some useful—some of them complete failures; but what did Mr. Howe want of a boy to make windmills, plant trees in the yard, find all the boys in the neighborhood in hand sleds and balls, and ride the unbroken colt without a saddle? Robert was industrious nobody could gainsay, but such industry! He declared it was the dullest thing in the world to saw wood all day, unless he might be allowed to spoil the saw, by his diversions in favor of a line of beauty, which he knew even in boyhood was not a straight line; and picking stones in the meadow, when no opportunity offered for building palaces and pyramids, was employment he detested. Mr. Howe was of the opinion that boys should never think of anything but what they were bidden to do, and so Robert's extra services, particularly when they encroached upon the time which should have been devoted to other things, all went for nothing; yet he could not bear to send the boy away, for he was the best hearted little fellow in the world, and in one case if no other, showed that he could be careful. Little Hetty, no longer a baby, followed him about almost as constantly as did old Jowler, and carefully indeed did he lift her over the mud, finding a safe spot for her tiny foot on the dry ground, or seating her on the soft moss, while he gathered butter cups and daisies for her; and then led her gently by the hand, and pulled down the berry bushes that she might pick the fruit with her own fingers, while he warned her against the thorns, and drew her little red blanket about her shoulders, lest she should suffer from the cold air.

Remainder in our next.

Change of Food.

All living beings seem to possess a natural disposition frequently to change their food.—This propensity is strikingly observable in man, and is perhaps not less remarkable in animals and vegetables, though with reference to them we are not in possession of the means necessary to enable us to decide with the same accuracy as in reference to the former. In the case of MAN, this propensity is apparent to all, and its gratification, within reasonable limits, is highly conducive both to the pleasures of appetite and the promotion of health. Where confined for a long time to one diet he is much liable to disease; a fact witnessable in the maladies which so often attend long voyages where he is compelled to subsist for months together on one kind of food. On this subject a writer remarks:

"The disposition of animals to change their food, is evidenced by their habits, and their disposition to pluck a variety of herbage, and to select that which is new to them. That a change is conducive, and indispensable to health, has been proved by repeated experiments. Dogs and other animals, who have been confined to one kind of food, although of a kind naturally suited to their wants, have sickened and died."

Sinclair instances a case of two adjoining pastures, "one containing only white clover and a patch of orchard grass—and the other stocked with five or six kinds of grass, and among them the orchard grass. In the first, the sheep resorted for a change, to the orchard grass, which they ate to the stump, culms and all, and some time after this was exhausted, many of the sheep became affected with the red water, and many of them died. In the adjoining pasture, in which there were six or eight species of grass, the sheep were wholly exempt from disease."

The same writer has also demonstrated the fact, that a variety or multiplicity of grasses, sown together, not only contribute powerfully to the promotion of health of animals pastured upon it, but that the yield is considerably greater than were there is but one kind, or only a few. Groom observes that out of "more than 200 grasses suitable to England, only one genius, the rye-grass, has yet received general culture that of 60 species of clover, only three or four have received attention. The presumtion is that many indigenious, which have hitherto escaped the notice of our farmers, would be improved by the culture to as great an extent as the wild carrot, parsnip, cabbage, potato, apple, plum, peach, &c."

Vegetables also are benefited by a change of food. "By means of new varieties," says Bishop, "the produce of our gardens and fields are not only increased in a ten fold degree, but the quality of produce is increased in a still greater proportion, and the difference between varieties that have sprung from the same species, fit them for different purposes, different soils, situations and climates. Thus in edible plants and fruits, we are supplied with an agreeable change throughout the year, from a difference in varieties that have sprung from the same species.—Nothing is more obvious upon comparing original species with their varieties produced by culture, than that we, by means of the latter, enjoy a vegetable food far preferable to that of our forefathers; and as it is probably beyond the power of man, of cultivation, or of time, to determine the degree of excellence attainable by varieties over the species whence they have sprung, and as that degree is unknown, we are justfied in regarding it as progressive, and to consider the production of a good variety the sign or harbinger of a better."

Maine Cultivator.

Oliver Smith, of Hatfield, the wealthiest man in the Western counties of Massachusetts, who died last week, was a bachelor, and has left nearly the whole of his large fortune to public and charitable uses.

We learn from the Northampton Gazette, that he has given $300,000 to eight towns, viz:—Northampton, Hadley, Amherst, Hatfield, Williamsburg, Deerfield, Greenfield and Whately, as a permanent fund for the benefit of Orphan Children and children of the poorer classes. The fund is managed by trustees.

Another and rather novel bequest is made to the same number of towns and probably the same towns, to be paid to each young and worthy man or woman within the same, upon the event of his or her marriage.

$200,000 is given to Northampton for the establishment of an Agricultural School, but not to go into operation until the above named sum is doubled.

$10,000 is to go to the Colonization Society for the abolition of slavery.

An itinerant preacher, when discoursing on the goodness of Providence, said, "But, my brethren, even death itself, which, for our many offences, we have all merited, Providence has wisely placed at the end of our lives; for, oh! what would life be worth were death at the beginning?" In another part he remarked, "It is another instance of the goodness of Providence that large rivers always flow by large towns.

DANVERS COUIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN 3, 1846.

Among the vexations and troubles attending the management of a public print, none are more common than those arising from the unreasonable expectations of correspondents. The Editor of a paper always feels under great obligations to those who are so kind as to furnish him with interesting matter for his columns, and submits without complaint to many inconveniences to afford them early opportunities of having their articles appear before the public. It is perfectly natural that they should feel desirous to have their productions in print as soon as possible after they are prepared and while they themselves feel a particular interest in the subjects on which they treat. In this anxiety they are too apt to forget, if indeed they know, that the printer sometimes has other and pressing engagements which may delay or even forbid the publication of the proffered communication. The article presented may come to the office too late, when the columns, of the paper have been preoccupied and room cannot be spared for its insertion.

This is particularly likely to be the case if the article is a long one and no alternative is left but to defer its insertion until the next number of the paper. If the writer is a reasonable man he submits with good grace to the disappointment which is shared by the printer, perhaps equally with himself. Sometimes an Editor is obliged to reject entirely an article which under other circumstances he would be glad to insert. Several articles are offered on one subject and he cannot insert them all but is obliged to select. In doing this he usually takes the one which he considers the best and if two are alike able, he accepts the shortest;—space to him being more important than is generally understood by correspondents.

A still more unpleasant duty often devolves on an editor and one from which he cannot escape.—It is the rejection of communications of valued correspondents on account of their prolixity, personality, the uninteresting nature of the subjects; or unsuitableness from any other cause, of which from the nature of the case he is to be the judge. It is proper that he should make the decision, as from his position he sees the bearings of an article and its probable effect on the feelings of his subscribers better than the most intelligent correspondent can do. He hears their complaints and sometimes their commendations. He hears himself accused of partiality from both sides of a controversial question and both condemn him for favoritism to the opposite party. He sometimes hears the threat of 'stopping the paper' which, however he is not apt to regard, as he is sure that for every snarling subscriber lost by pursuing an independent course, he will gain two or three good names to his subscription list. He has the means of making his appeal to an enlightened and generous public where it will be heard and where he may calculate with the utmost certainty upon a fair award.

Our Railroad.

Among the favorable circumstances attending the efforts to procure a Charter for the Railroad via Malden to Boston, one of the most encouraging is the engagement by the Committee of RUFUS CHOATE to advocate the claims of the petitioners before the Legislative Committee. The high standing, commanding eloquence and personal influence of this eminent advocate cannot fail to have a most favorable effect in the approaching trial for chartered privileges. We may safely expect that the early recollections and cherished associations connected with the place where he first commenced his brilliant career and where he has always had hosts of devoted friends, will prompt him to a most powerful effort. It will be the delight of our citizens to witness the manner with which his powerful arm will be raised in behalf of the rights of the people against the interested struggles of a powerful monopoly.

Steam Carpet Factory.

The new Carpet Factory recently erected by the Messrs Tapley in the place of the one destroyed by fire, has just commenced operations. It is a large building 152 feet long by 30 wide and the machinery is driven by a steam engine of 25 horse power. It has 30 hand looms and when the factory is in full operation it will employ 60 hands and work up more than 2000 lbs of wool per week. Its enterprising proprietors are about furnishing machinery for the manufacture of worsted yarn in an apartment in the same building. The looms are from Lowell, and it is the intention of the proprietors to produce carpets equal in quality and finish to any made in the celebrated establishment in that city.

LICENSE LAW. We understand that we were in error in stating in our last, that Mr. Huntington had left Salem for Washington. It was however his intention to have left on the day mentioned, but by a subsequent arrangement, his departure has been postponed.

The late Gen. Foster.—We learn that Mr. King's Eulogy delivered at the burial of Gen Foster and a copy of which was asked of the author for publication, is in press and will be published in a few weeks.

☞The alarm of fire on Thursday night, was occasioned by the burning of the Rockaway House in Marblehead, which together with the adjoining buildings, was entirely consumed.

Social Reform.

A Meeting of the friends of Social Reform and Progress was held at Upton's Hall on Saturday evening last, and addressed by Messrs John Allen and John Orvis of the Brook Farm Fourier Association at Roxbury. It was the design of the speakers to exhibit the evils of the present state of Society and propose a remedy which is to be a total re-organization on the principles of mutual association and labor in communities.

In the first part of their design they were eminently successful, as no one presumes to deny the existence of such evils but all deplore as well as acknowledge them. In this portion of the addresses many extravagant statements in relation to what were called the non-producing portion of the community were made, in connection with the admitted existence of great and unnecessary inequality in the distribution of the proceeds of labor. One of the speakers declared that the laborer in the tannery only received one dollar out of every five that he earned, but we could not discover by an attentive listening to his argument what became of the other four dollars. We think the experience of the tanners in this place will show that but a very small portion of the four fifths ever finds its way into the employer's pocket. One object of the addresses was to show that in the present state of Society all its relations were antagonistic,—that the professions of medicine, law and divinity were necessarily opposed to the interests of society and a useless burden—that of the merchants at least 99 in a hundred were entirely useless and that there should be but one storekeeper in Danvers instead of the present number. When the statement was made we could not help a feeling of wonder at the amazing activity and industry that would be required in a man who should undertake to do all the work of all our traders.

We have neither time nor room to follow further the speakers in their statements and arguments in which we thought we could see much to commend as well as some to condemn. Their enterprise is evidently one of benevolence, its aim being to correct the monster evils of inequality of condition in a highly artificial state of society. The remedy they propose we regard as chimerical. We have heard of many attempts to carry it into effect and never with distinguished success except in the case of the Shakers, who are only enabled to do it under the influence of a pure despotism. It is beautiful in theory but fails in practice. It removes the incentives to exertion which exists in the encounters and competitions of out door life and instead of the 'Progress,' we fear it would tend to a stand-still state of society.

Carriers' Address.

Our readers will find in an other column an address adopted to the season, for which no fee will be expected. We have chosen not to follow the prevailing custom of sending round the Carriers of our paper on a begging excursion New Year's Day as we have long thought it a practice more "honored in the breach than in the observance." We have long considered it not only a great bore but positively unjust to the subscribers of a paper to tax them with this annual tribute.—Although it is not obligatory on the person who receives the begging application, he feels it to be a kind of rudeness not to draw forth the reluctant change, and so pays for a few lines of miserable doggerel which he never reads, just to get rid of the applicant. We know of many individuals who are in the way of receiving such numbers of these missives as to amount to a serious tax if they fulfil the expectations of those who bring them. We think the evil is likely to work its own cure as subscribers to newspapers will take distant papers by mail rather than be exposed to such inflictions from the neighboring press.

The Temperance Offering and Youth's Cascade. This is the title of a monthly publication, edited by N. Hervey, of Salem. It is neatly printed in octavo form and contains 32 pages of interesting reading. The subscription price is only 50 cents a year, and a new volume commences with this number. Subscriptions received by G. W. & E. Crafts, Salem.

Sabbath School Exhibition.

It will be seen by a notice in another column that the Sabbath School connected with the first Universalist Society, in this town, (New Mills) will give an entertainment on Sunday evening next, by speaking, singing, etc.

☞The Exhibition given by the scholars of the Universalist Sabbath School in the South Parish of this town, will be repeated (with omissions and variations) on Tuesday evening next, commencing at 6 1-2 o'clock. Admission, as heretofore.

☞McNulty has been cleared from the charge of embezzlement, by the Superior Court. He has been remanded back to prison to await the action of the government upon the remaining four cases. They will be abandoned of course.

☞The town of Roxbury has voted to adopt the city form of government.

☞Mr Henry Witt, of Lynn, fell dead in that place, on Saturday last, from apoplexy.

HON. J. Q. ADAMS, it is said, is ready to give a hearty impulse to the war spirit. His idea probably is, that a war with England must prove the death blow of slavery in this country; and that would compensate for all the horrors of a long and bloody war.

DEDICATION.

The elegant church near Washington Square in Salem just built for Rev Dr. Flint's society was dedicated on New Year's Day. The Sermon, by the pastor, was very appropriate to the occasion and was listened to with deep attention by a crowded auditory.

Dr. Flint gave two favorable discourses last Sunday on leaving the ancient house so long occupied by his society, in which he gave a historical account of the several pastors and of the changes undergone by the house and the people worshiping in it. The discourse in the afternoon was from the words 'This is the last time' We are informed by a friend who was present that the historical facts were highly interesting and worthy of preservation in a printed form, as they doubtless will be, in connection with the dedication Sermon. Among other facts he stated at the time of the separation from the 1st church there were 11 male members of the church and at the settlement of Dr. Bently only ten, eight of whom voted for him. Dr Flint attributed the small number to the circumstance that most of the members of the society were sea-faring men.

We have often heard an anecdote related illustrative of the state of this society at the time of the death of Dr. Bently whose memory is still warmly cherished by his surviving parishioners. The society was composed principally of active and retired sea captains who were more familiar with the rigging and management of a ship than the eclesiastical forms and usages of a church.—At the time of the invitation given to the present incumbent an interview took place between him and three or four 'old salts' to arrange preliminaries for the settlement. To a question relating to the number of male members of the church, one of them said he thought he was one and so was Capt. ———. Another said he believed Bently put down his name too. The third could not exactly tell whether he belonged to it or not but he rather thought his wife could.

The conversation then turning to the subject of Church government, covenants &c., the new pastor asked if they adhered to the old platform. One of them, supposing he referred to the little area in front of the pulpit, immediately replied—that the old oak platform had been moved long ago and they had got a good pine one. The minister seeing the slight error into which their spokesman had fallen, told them that he wished to know if they had adopted the Cambridge platform of—"Cambridge platform ?"—quickly replied the half indignant speaker—"do you suppose we went to Cambridge after a platform?—Why, bless your good soul,—old Adze the carpenter made it and I know it, for I paid the bill."

We would not vouch for the truth of this anecdote, nor do we know whether any or what foundation there may have been for it, but we have frequently heard it related and the substantial facts never questioned.

Congressional Proceedings.

Saturday Dec 20.

CONGRESS.—In the House of Representatives the bill from the Senate to extend the laws of the United States over the State of Texas was taken up. The Previous question was moved, and notwithstanding a suggestion by Mr Rathburn, that the bill was erroneous, and a motion to refer it to the Committee on the Judiciary, the bill was passed. The debate in regard to the folding room was resumed, but before the taking of any question thereon, the House adjourned.

In the Senate, Mr Bright of Indiana, appeared and was qualified. Mr Levy withdrew his motion for an inquiry into the expediency of annexing Cuba to the Union,

The Senate went into Executive Session. The appointment of Judge Woodbury was confirmed.

The Texan Resolutions from the Senate were finally passed by the House, signed by the Speaker and sent to the President for approval.

Monday, Dec. 29th.

Congress did not distinguish itself by anything very interesting to-day. Mr. Hannegan introduced the following resolutions which lie over under the rule.

Resolved—That the country included within the parrallels of 42 and 54, North Latitude, and extending from the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific Ocean, known as the Territory of Oregon, is the property and part and parcel of the territories of the United States.

Resolved—That there exists no power in this government to transfer its soil and the allegiance of its citizens, to the dominion, authority, control and subjection of any foreign power, Prince, State, or Sovereignty.

Resolved—That the abandonment or surrender of any portion of the territory of Oregon, would be an abandonment of the honor, character and best interests of the American people.

A message from the House informing the Senate that the President of the United States had signed the Joint Resolution for the admission of Texas into the Union, was received.

The Senate then went into Executive Session, to act—as it is supposed—upon some nominations of custom house officers for the State of Texas.

Nearly the whole of the day was consumed in the House in a contemptible and ridiculous squabble about the manner of electing the assistant doorkeeper. This great business, after a long debate, was referred to a Select Committee.

The order of the day—the resolutions in favor of a change of the naturalization laws, were then taken up and debated the remainder of the day.

Tuesday, Dec. 30.

SENATE. An important debate unexpectedly occurred in the Senate to-day. The occasion was the resolutions of Mr. Hannegan of Ia., submitted yesterday, with regard to Oregon.

Mr. Archer suggested to Mr. H. that he should name some distant day for their consideration, to which the latter consented, and was about to move their postponement to the third Monday in January, when Mr. Calhoun requested him to withdraw the motion for a moment, and allow him to offer certain amendments. Mr. C's amendments are a series of resolutions, the reverse of those of Mr. Hannegan; declaring that the President has the power, with the advice of the Senate, to make treaties, and that the settlement of boundary lines is embraced in this power; that in offering, in a spirit of peace and harmony, the 49th parallel as the dividing line between this Government and Great Britain, the President exercised powers rightfully belonging to him, and acted for the best interests of the country. These resolutions Mr. Calhoun enforced with a very few remarks, declining to discuss the general subject.

Mr Hannegan said that, as for the censure of the President, he designed no such thing. For one he hoped that they would never stop short of the cannon's mouth. A singular state of things existed in the course pursued with regard to Oregon, as contrasted with that of Texas, yet both these had their birth at the same time—both were cradled by the Baltimore Convention.

A spirited discussion here ensued upon the resolutions which were finally laid upon the table, to be called up, when the report is made upon the subject of giving the notice.

HOUSE.—In the House, Messrs Douglass, Bedinger Sims, Dixon, and J R Ingersoll continued the debate upon the naturalization question. The subject was finally referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr Garret Davis moved a series of resolutions having for their object an enquiry, by the Judiciary Com. into McNulty's defalcation. They were adopted.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—What is the matter? what a terrible commotion! what an agitation of the public mind! Glorious times are coming. I do not refer to the annexation of Texas, nor the prospect which the present state of our national affairs seems to indicate of a war with England. But I was really in extacies when I heard it gravely announced, that the public were to be accommodated with Railroad facilities to Boston without paying anything for it. And then again that we are to have a beautiful Railroad to North Andover, and that we shall probably ride over that equally cheap; but I thought there was one thing to be regretted about this, for that single solitary stageman, who has travelled over the road between Salem and Andover the last ten years, will probably be run down. He has been accommodating, and scrabbled hard for a livelihood. He never had less than one passenger at a time. Poor fellow! He ought to stand upon his Vested Rights. However, there is a tremendous sight of business between Salem and North Andover. Besides, the great city which is in embryo at Methuen, where some twenty thousand of the next generation will reside, will need Railroad accommodation to Salem. Thither will come all the manufactures of this great place. Their goods, no doubt, will all be sold at Salem, in the same manner as the immense cargoes now imported by the Salem Merchants are knocked off to the highest bidder in their great Commercial Marts. And again, we can have no objections to this road for another important reason, for it will afford the people of North Danvers, with what they so much desire, Railroad accommodation by way of the ferry, certain resolutions to the contrary notwithstanding. But we should not forget that these are changeable times, money and self interest are powerful arguments. It is astonishing how such influences will remove objections. It will sometimes convince people that what appeared to be sound and solid arguments, was a mere phantom of the imagination. Well, we must submit to all these changes as gracefully as we can. Mr. Editor—I was really congratulating myself that one considerable item of my expenditures was to be annihilated—viz, my bill for horse and carriage hire for myself and family; for I had concluded that all my pleasure excursions should be over the Eastern Railroad, where it would cost nothing. I began to think what glorious fellows these Eastern Railroad Managers were. How they had changed; and for the better too. I really thought Abby Folsom was not so bad a woman after all, for people were really reforming. Only think of the change! for when I wanted to attend the great Convention at Boston in 1844, I had to start at 5 o'clock in the morning, and return at 10 in the evening, and be conveyed in baggage or dirt cars, and pay 25 cents. I thought it was grand times then. But now we are to be carried in splendid cars, and sit upon soft cushions and go for nothing, or pay only ten cents for that is the highest price I have heard named. As I was relating these glowing prospects to one of my neighbors, he evidently became agitated, his eye sparkled, his cheek flushed, and he instantly pronounced me a great flat. He told me this grand scheme of mine was all a humbug. These stories, he stated, were all put in circulation to defeat the efforts which were being made by the hardy, industrious mechanics of Danvers, to secure Railroad accommodation direct from their own town to Malden and thence to Boston, He stated in a concise and clear manner, the advantages to be expected from such a road to the business and property of the citizens of Danvers. I stated to him what a man of property, and a stockholder in the Eastern Railroad had publicly announced in the cars—that if the Danvers road was built, they could and would carry passengers to Boston for 10 cents until they had run down the Danvers road, and that they could make a dividend of 6 per cent out of the earnings of the remainder of the road. He made no reply to this statement but took from his pocket Mr. Loring's argument made last winter, in opposition to the Danvers Road, and read the following statement.

"Out of 497,758 being the whole number which travelled over the Eastern Railroad in 1844—333,726 were between Beverly and Boston, being more than two thirds of the number of passengers.—And out of the receipts of their transportation the total of which was $188,325, 80 cents, those between Beverly and Boston paid $92,885, 44 cents, being more than one half the net receipts, and this being only one eighth in length of the Road; while with all this travel the net income has never amounted to six per cent upon the investment. It follows therefore that the diversion of this travel from this portion of the Road will prove entirely destructive of the value of the whole line."

After he had read this statement without waiting for any remarks from me, he inquired when I thought I should ride over the Eastern Railroad for nothing; and if I thought the stockholders were more liberal and generous than other people; and if a majority of them would consent to injure themselves for the sake of destroying other people's property; and whether an enlightened community would sanction a course of proceedings like that proclaimed by the gentleman in the cars. After these enquiries, without waiting for an answer, he turned upon his heel and left me. I noticed a smile of contempt upon his countenance; whether it was intended for the humbugger or the humbug'd, I cannot tell. But really, Mr. Editor, I felt cheap, and I am ashamed of the position in which I placed myself. I swallowed the bait, hook and all, and I know many others who are in the like predicament. Please, Mr. Editor, prescribe for us and relieve us, or we shall become the laughing stock of the whole community.—Under these circumstances I choose to subscribe myself

A FLAT.

☞The Lowell Courier says that Mr. Conner, who met with a dreadful accident at the rail road depot in Woburn, about three weeks ago, and was obliged to have his legs amputated, (one of them twice), was out to church on Christmas day

New Year's Address.

JANUARY 1st, 1846.

According to a custom
Made reverend by age,
Of each year's dawn reviewing
In rhyme profound and sage,
The one that just has left us,
Its varied aspects all—
Its divers faults and merits,
With truth, whate'er befall.

I have essayed this office,
(Moreover by request,)
And without further flourish
Will try to do my best.
The late old gentleman, however,
Of whom I now shall sing,
Had nothing strange about him
To strengthen Fancy's wing.

He was a christian passable,
And equal, I'll be bound—
To any one whom we can meet
Amid life's daily round:
Having the same admixture still
Of good, which all possess,—
Redeeming, better qualities,
Where else were barrenness.

Still he had errors manifold,
Which I must not conceal;
But with stern, rigid equity,
For public good reveal:
Thus, he did take delusive dreams
Bequeathed him by his brothers,
And spread them o'er the land, and so
Slew some and ruined others.

And with these fatal legacies,
Recorded in the will
Were many more of evil sort—
A budget dark of ill,
Such as Oppression. Strife and Wrong,
Disputing and Destruction,
But why the catalogue prolong,—
Too numerous to mention.

These things are only the beginning,—
Small blemishes in truth,
Compared with some, in point of sinning,
The old man did in youth.
For he an 'itching palm' possessed,
With sticky fingers bad,
That spurred him on to grabbing what
His weaker neighbors had.

He played his sister Mexico
A most infernal joke,
Yea, openly, in broad daylight
His thieving hands did poke (Polk)
Into her pockets, and abstracted
A kingdom fair from thence,
And then laughed in her face in scorn,
And jeered her impotence.

O deed of darkness! 'giant wrong,'
Enough to quench a name
That all the train of ages past,
Had blazoned with proud fame.
Scarce had the old scamp bagged this prize
And rendered thanks to God,
For blessings national, vouchsafed,
When, once more, he abroad,

Began to look for other booty,
And fixed on Oregon—
A small farm held in common
By him and Brother John:
But Brother John had open eyes,
And being on the look out,
Soon as he saw him slyly coming,—
With such a growling broke out,

You would have thought ten thousand bears
Had for a caucus met,
And every one with might and main,
Trying, the floor to get.
But nothing daunted at the din,
Th' old gentleman thought best
To use the selfsame weapons too,—
And growled as well 's the rest.

Both of these mad belligerents
Cut many a funny caper,
And strove together manfully
With blow and thrust—on paper.
'Twas wonderful to hear and see
Our old man snarl and bite,
With hardly any teeth at all,
And those in sorry plight.

But in the richest of the tug,
When 't was most desperate,
Our Hero fell—subdued by Time
And lengthened age, and fate—
Yet, to his Heir, bequeathed the feud
Like Scottish chiefs of old;
Bidding him grab as he did grab,
Get all he could, and hold.

I gladly now portray the good,
That brightened his career;
For many a worthy deed he did,
Which herein doth appear:
He was a man of business,
As well as war and panic;
And [illegible] he 'aborer,
The tradesman and mechanic.

Full many a goodly mansion,
He reared within our town,
For which the sons of industry
Will hold him in renown.
He also backed each movement,
Whith had for its design
Our wealth, health and improvement,
With other projects fine,

As draining stagnant mill ponds—
And Railroad operation;
He of the latter many a mile
Built in imagination—
Who knows but in reality,
These vagaries will end?
What the dark future hath in store,
None now can comprehend.

And last, not least of all his acts,
I shall enumerate—
Was one of local enterprise,
I view as truly great.
This was to start a weekly sheet
That promptly should appear
Each Saturday, and printed so,
That all could tell most clear,

When they had opened, what was in it,
And what the letters meant,
With perfect ease, the very minute
Their eyes were on it bent.
That such a paper now is going,
Our friends know very well;
'Their heart's delight and chiefest joy,'
As they will gladly tell.

What now remains for us to say,
But that we still will strive
To make it worth your countenance,
And better grow and thrive?
Another word—it is to wish
In hearty truthfulness,
That you may live a thousand years—
'Your shadows never waxing less.'

NINTH DISTRICT—NO CHOICE. Returns have been received from 25 towns in the Ninth District. The majority against Hale, in those towns, at the last trial, was 1,115. The majority against him at the present trial is 408. Hale, the whig candidate, has made a net gain of 707.

Daring Robbery. On Tuesday night, the Jewelry Store of Mr. Henry Cogswell, No. 201 Essex street—well known as the stand occupied so long by Mr. Caleb Warner, and now in part occupied by him—was entered, probably by means of false keys, and a large portion of valuable stock, to the amount of seventeen or eighteen hundred dollars' worth, subsequently abstracted. The robbery was not discovered until Wednesday morning, when Mr. Cogswell opened his store. It appears that the villian or villians must have entered the front door by a false key and proceeded very deliberately in the operations, having every thing fitted for the purpose, of including a key for the safe, where the most valuable articles were kept. The safe was found opened and the jewel drawers laid out in regular order on the counters or show cases, so that the rascals could make their selection with the greatest ease and deliberation. The articles taken were gold and silver watches, gold chains, finger rings, bracelets, silver spoons, &c. &c., valued at from seventeen hundred to two thousand dollars. The more bulky articles were left undisturbed, but the scoundrels had the cunning to take the memorandum book containing the numbers and description of the watches, so as to avoid detection by that means. Nothing appears to have been broken, and the roguery was so deliberately perpetrated, that the small bar and padlock of the front door were re-placed properly, and, apparently every thing is as it should be on the outside.—The robbery must have been some time in the contemplation, and every precaution taken to ensure success.

A reward of three hundred dollars is offered.—Salem Reg.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—Can you inform the public whether there has been any survey for a Railroad from South Danvers through New Mills to Danvers Plains, and if so who caused it to be made? Have the petitioners for the Malden Branch ever done anything of this kind or made any survey to ascertain the feasibility of such a road? if not I would question whether it would not have been a wise measure for them to have done so in order to show the sincerity of their pretensions that they would "guarantee" the making of such a road? "NEW MILLS."

MARRIAGES.

In Salem, by Rev. J. Prince, of this town, Mr. ASA SAWYER, of Danvers, (New Mills.) to Miss ABBY M. FERGUSON. Mr. JOHN BAGLEY Jr., of this town, to Miss JUDITH ANN STONE, of Salem.

Mr. DAVID MOORE, Jr., to Miss MARTHA E. SECCOMB. Mr. FRANCIS W. TUTTLE to Miss FRANCES GOODHUE. Mr. JOSEPH CORNING, of this town, to Miss MARTHA E. daughter of Mr. TIMOTHY WALTON, of Salem.

In Thompson, Conn., Mr. DANIEL W. POOR, of Danvers, to Miss SOPHRONIA E. FOWLER, of Seabrook, N H.

In Sutton, Vt., by Elder Woodman, Mr. F. HOLMAN, o. this town, to Miss EMILY, daughter of Stephen Blake, Esq.

DEATHS.

In this town, on Thursday, REBECCA, eldest daughter of Mr. LEVI PRESTON, aged 16. Funeral this afternoon, at half past 2 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

Beloved in life, thy early tomb
Watered with many tears shall be,
Whilst thou enjoy an angel's home,
The pure in heart thy company,
Forever blessed, forever free—
Free—for no sin, no care, no pain
Can bind the ransomed soul again.—Com.

On Friday, after a long and painful illness, which he bore with exemplary patience, Mr. JOSEPH GRIFFIN aged 70. Funeral on Monday P. M. at 2 o'clock. Friends and relatives are invited to attend.

On the 18th ult., of pulmonary consumption, Miss MARY B. FRANCIS. In Ipswich, of the same disease, Mrs. MARTHA B., wife of Mr. George B. Warner—twin daughters of Mr. William Francis, of Danvers.

In Salem, Mrs ELIZABETH WHITTEMORE, aged 74. Mr. JESSE JOHNSON, aged 67. Mr. THOMAS BANCROFT, aged 67. WM. AUGUSTUS, only child of William Archer, Jr., aged 2 years and 4 months.

SABBATH SCHCOL EXHIBITION.

The Sabbath School connected with the 1s. Universalist Society (at New Mills) will have a public Exhibition on Sabbath evening next, Jan. 4th, commencing at 6 o'clock. Tickets for admission 12 1-2 cents.
Danvers, Jan 3d, 1846.

INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday Evening next, by Rev Caleb Stetson, of Medford, at 6 1-2 o'clock.

The Annual Meeting of the Institute will be held immediately after the Lecture. Jan 3 1846.

SINGING SCHOOL.

Mr. Hubbard's second Term will commence on Friday Evening January 9th. at 7 o'clock, at the vestry of the Unitarian Church. A thorough course of instruction will be given in the elements of Vocal Music, together with observation on Style, &c. Terms—Ladies, $1,00, Gentlemen, $1 50
Jan 3.

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. D.

Having receivd their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Wednesday Evening at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited. MOSES R. SAWYER R S.
S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

MASONIC NOTICE.

A Regular meeting of JORDAN LODGE, will be held on WEDNESDAY evening next. Brethren of the Order are respectfully invited to attend.
N. P. C. PATTERSON, Sec.
Danvers, Jan. 3, A. L. 5846.

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

FOUND.

On Friday, Dec. 19th, on Andover street, a BOA or THIBET. The owner can have the same on application at this office. dec 27

New Stove

Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.
dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ne warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.
Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Danvers Post Office, January 1st, 1846.

N. B. Under the present Post Office Law, there is an additional charge of two cents on all letters advertised,

Anable & Kinsman		Mooney Amos W.
Adams Samuel	2	Munroe Harris
Anderson William	2	Morrill Frederic	4
Arnold E. B.		Mellin Daniel
Abbott Benjamin		Marsh Hannah F.
Allen Ed. A. H.		Merrill R. W.
Brown William		Marshall Eliza A.
Batchelder Henry	2	Martin George B.
Blaisdell Jacob		Nayson Daniel
Bancroft James or Capen		Nichols Andrew
Baker John		Osborne Moses
Buxton John jr.		O'Neal Patrick
Barry Eliza C.		Osborne George
Burkin John and Jacob		Phelps Francis
Caverly Mary		Proctor William H.
Currier G. S.		Perley & Emerson
Carey Michael		Pool Eben
Chenery Moses		Putney Eben
Cross Ruth		Pettengill Rebecca S.
Clark Martha S.		Pierce Mary F.
Cleaveland Annette D.		Perkins Nathaniel
Cushman George		Poor William
Carrell L.		Parker Thomas O.
Colcord Eben P.		Parker Josiah W.
Danvers		Poole Joshua H.
Doughby Abigail		Putnam David
Dickinson O. H.		Proctor Lydia
Davis Elzaphen P.		Patterson Rebecca
Dykes Samuel H.		Pilsbury Parker
Dalton Richard		Pearson Nathan
Dexter Mary H.		Porter Mary E.
Elliott Richard		Poor Enoch Jr.
Elwell William		Riardon Michael
Farnham Joseph		Russell John B.	11
Frye Mary		Rice & Gardner
Fuller Daniel		Standley Francis L.
Fellows Eliza		Smalley Nathan
Frye Joseph S.		Sears Jonathan
Foster Gorham P.		Sanborn J.
Foss Daniel W.		Southwick Orlando
Flagg Samuel A.		Symonds Benjamin
Ford Sophia		Sullivan Simeon
Goss Polly		Sawyer Asa
Gray Emily		Stevens John
Galloup D. B.		Southwick Platts
Goodale William		Southwick Lucy
Gardner Sally		Tapley Asa
Griffin William A.		Taylor Oliver
Hart John		Thurston Leonard
Holman Field		Tibbets Benjamin
Hackett Henry		Tate Hannah
Herbert Henry		Trofeter John
Hawes Thomas P.		Trow Ann Maria
Haragan Jerry		Trask Moses
Hurd Hafford		Thompson Catharine L.
Hutchinson James L.		Twiss Jonathan
Hyde Elisha J. G.		Torr Andrew
Jewett Warren		Urann F. W.
Knight John Jr.		Very Joseph or Benjamin
Kelty & Tapley		Woodbury Jonas
Lunt B. S.		Wilson Jona jr.
Larrabee William & Co.		Webber Moses
Langley John R.		White Dexter
Little Wm R.		Wentworth Lewis
Lovett John L.		Weatherbee Eliphalet

Jan 3 S. DODGE, P. M.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Post Office at North Danvers, Quarter ending Dec. 1845.

Andersen William		Lane Benjamin T.
Allen Edward A.		Lander Mrs.
Brown Miss Mariett		Mastin L. D.
Bates John		Mardin Miss Martha Ann
Coffin Mvry Ann		Moer Janet
Dunnels John M.		Nells Gilbert
Dennet George		Pearl John
Davis Sophia		Phelps Francis
Egan Patrick		Page Charles
Edgercomb Ivory		Putnam Heirs of Eli
Fisher Charles R.		Proctor H. B.
Forbes Sophia E.		Payson Edward
Fuller Edward		Reed Samuel H.
Grovesner Dr. D. A.		Swan S. B.
Glidden Mark		Strout Benjamin
Goodwin Moses		Simns Daniel
Goodale Ebenezer		Shackley James D.
Goodwin Theodore		Tyler George N.
Holt Benjamin		Towne Daniel
Hook John Jr.		Trout Mary in care of P. B. Francies
Hoyt Susan M.		Tepley Eliza Jane
Hunt Israel		Webber Tristam D.
Hutcherson Abigail		Wheeler Benjamin
Jessup Louisa		Whitehouse H. M.
King Thomas		Wheeler Alden
Kelley Israel H.		Webb George
Kelley J. B.		Whitemore Jonathan
Littlefield Ralph H.		White Ann
Ladd Sarah A.		Wallace H. C.
Lawrence Charles

Jan 3 THOMAS BOWEN, P. M.

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.
Dec. 56th, 1846 4tis,

SELLING OFF.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.
Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

GAMES FOR THE SEASON—MORAL and INTERESTING. Among them are the following: Mansion of Happiness—Dr. Busby—American Eagle—Master Rodbury—Characteristics—Game of Heroes—Scripture History—Picture Alphabet—Pope and Pagan—Biographical Game—Historical Amusements—Game of Kings—New World—What d'ye buy—Robinson Crusoe—Pickwick Cards—American Revolution—Christmas Cards—Merry Cards—Game of the States—Who'll be President—The Picture Pass Word—Cards of Magi—Game of the Monkeys—Race of Improvement—The Fount or Letters of the Alphabet—New York Counting Cards, etc. etc. For sale at the Central Bookstore of dec 30 W & S B IVES.

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Pongee Silk Hdkfs, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

WHITE MUSLINS.

JUST received a few pieces of the Goods, suitable for Dresses, prices from 25 to 50 cts.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.
Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

The Stewart Improved
Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.
nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

For Christmas and New Year.

THE subscriber has just received an assortment of FANCY GOODS, particularly adapted to the season, consisting in part of—

Gold Guard and Fob Chains;
Gold and Silver Pencils;
Gold and Stone Finger Rings;
Lockets. Bracelets;
Music boxes, inlaid and plain;
Card Cases do do
Pocket Books;
Steel mounted velvet bags;
Purses—double and single;
Jet and steel ornamented combs;
Ivory fine tooth; do
Pocket mirrors;
Hair brushes—hard and soft;
Tooth brushes—English and American;
Steel vest chains;
Letter clips; Letter stamps;
Patent letter balances;
Mantle thermometers, &c.

which are offered for sale very low for cash, at 222 Essex Street, opposite the First Church.
dec 24 WILLIAM ARCHER.

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 1

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.
dec 15 J. C. FARRIN.

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.
dec 6 1awtf

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.
WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. ESSEX, ss. Nov. 29. 1845. A warrant has been duly issued against the estate of FRANCIS EVELETH, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. KING, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.

JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,
dec 6 Messenger.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hsndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemica, Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing apparel and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by oct 11 EDWARDS,
10 Front street

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

HALF A
Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my nnmerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Briliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL,"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY TH WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞ REMEMBER
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.
nov 8 ep3m

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet sch EMILY KNIGHT, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. jan 8

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Saturday.

The superiorfast sailing bark LUZON, Goodrich, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
jan 3

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.
From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. SISTERS, Gilman, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
dec 13

FOR SALE CHEAP.

One good second hand CHAISE.
" " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " LIGHT WAGON.
By THOMAS TRASK, Main street
June 7 tf

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.
dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,
Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound; Pooh Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.
Danvers, May 31, 1845.

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.
dec 6

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2.
S. DODGE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

Flannels.

RED, Yellow, Black, White and Orange colours, for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to
Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th. tf

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly—Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

Lyceum Notice.

Lectures may be expected this season from

Hon. Rufus Choate,		Hon. Horace Mann,
" Caleb Cushing,		" John C. Park,
" Joshua H. Ward,		" Charles Sumner,
Geo. S. Hillard,		Elihu Burritt,

and other distinguished Lecturers, whose names will be duly announced.

Tickets at 75 cents each, may be obtained at the stores of Drs. Joseph Shed, and Sylvester Proctor, jr., and at the Bookstore of Sylvanus Dodge. dec 13

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue; up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr. Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted to refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to call and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,

DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of

BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERE S AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks, Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

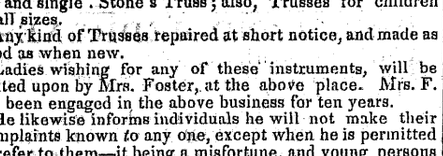
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.



Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon the establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,

174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at the lowest rates. mch 15

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN

HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,

Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,

WINDOW GLASS,

CAMPHENE,

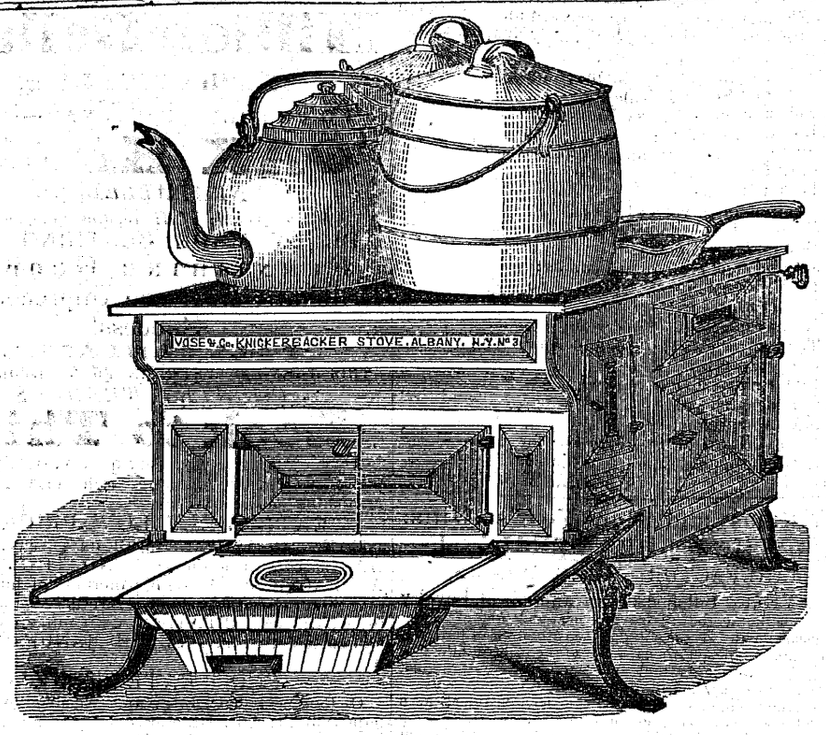
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,

Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,

CARPENTER'S TOOLS,

HOUSE TRIMMINGS,

Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,



BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,

Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.

No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.
The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS; in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF

Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,

NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

Embossed Table Covers.

A VARIETY of beautiful patterns, on drab grounds, for sale by M. T. DOLE
nov 14

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Copartnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch 29 1y

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of evt ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF

TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.

SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21: 1845.

CHARLES H. MANNING,

CABINET MAKER,

Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street

DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call,

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

DEALERS IN

WATCHES,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,

CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,

JEWELRY REPAIRED

aug 17 3m

NOTICE.

IN consequence of a change in our business, we have sold at public Auction the balance of our Stock of Groceries, Crockery, Glass and Stone Ware, at No. 13 Front street.

For the benefit of many interested, we would give particular notice that we are still on hand, and can be found on our Wharf in rear of the Store, where we have on hand and for sale at the lowest prices,

200 Cords best Eastern Hard Wood.
100 " Tanning Bark.
25 " Burning "
300 Bundles first quality pressed Hay.
25 Barrels Chenango Potatoes, best quality,

with all other kinds of Eastern produce, which we should be happy to dispose of to our many friends and patrons n reasonable terms.

GEO. C. VARNEY, & CO.,
nov 29 Stone's Whf.

Flonr, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,

200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;

—Also, in store—

100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,

At the old and well known stand on the Plains.

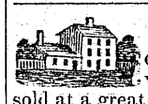
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.



PLEASE call at No. 2 Allen's Building and purchase a Boston Almanac—the best No. yet published, containing in addition to the usual Maps of the City, a Diagram of Railroads diverging from Boston showing the Depots and distances.

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just received at 222 Essex street, Salem.

oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

MILLINERY SALOON. The Ladies of this town & vicinity are respectfully informed that Messrs KEITH & MASON will open their SALOON on Monday, Oct. 6th. The Fall style of Bonnets will be opened on that day, as well as the largest variety of rich Millinery Goods to be found in this city—such as Ribbons, Flowers, Tabs, Caps, Head Dresses, Evening Dresses, Silk, Satins, and every desirable material for Bonnets.

The Lady who will superintend this department of our business, was present at the opening of the first Millinery in New York, and has secured all the latest and best styles We can with confidence assure our customers that our assortment of goods will be the very best, and no pains will be spared to please all who favor us with a call sept 19

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to thos now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by

jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

COTTONS. COTTONS.

A LOT of heavy Brown Cottons, just received and for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

GOLD MIX'D TWEEDS.

A FASHIONABLE article for Overcoats and Sacks, for sale by M. T. DOLE. dec 20

Printed Salisbury Flannels.

A FEW pieces of the above Goods for sale by M. T. DOLE. nov 15

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, o different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN, sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FOR SALE

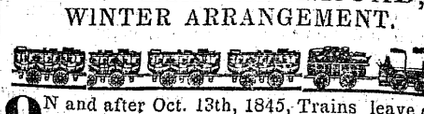
The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administratrix of the estate of Jonathan Perry,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, gentleman deceased, and has taken upon herself that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs. All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased, are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to

REBECKAH PERRY,
Danvers, Dec. 6, 1845 Adm'x.



NEW STYLES GALA PLAIDS.

Received by the last Steamer.

KEITH & MASON have just opened a lot of new, and very beautiful styles Gala Plaids for Cloaks and Dresses. Also, New embroidering Gimps for trimmings; Wide black Gimp, very rich patterns; Gents and Ladies' Cashmere Gloves of various patterns. dec 15

EASTERN RAILROAD,

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-4 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portl and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the

DANVERS AND SALEM

HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sal Hourly Coaches will connection with the Easte Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A
" " 8 3-4 " " 9 1-" " 9 3-4 " " 11 3
" " 11 1-4 " " 12 3-4
" " 1 3-4 P M. " " 3 P.
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6 1-2
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Ho and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reaso ble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL

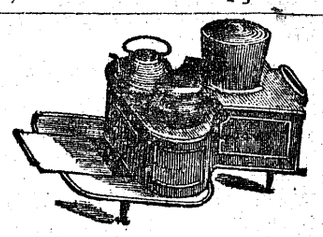
apr 19 tf



Danvers Express and Baggag Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended

Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN
April 19, 1845. 1 y

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 Bost ST., will be found constantly on hand, the follow assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves;
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes a patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of a sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatne and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Da vers and vicinity, that he has established hi self at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Cloc Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention business, and doing his work well, to merit a share patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a goo assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly o hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

Periodical Depot!!

REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor o the Depot for

PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS, formerly kept at No. 3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodica and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly News papers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes receive the continued patronage of those who have former received his publications and he pledges himself that he wi use his best exertions to procure all New Works prompt and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance wi those publishers and others engaged largely in the Boo Trade will enable him to answer orders for particula Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorabl prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AN MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUN DERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a sma Store, and a room for an office, on the Main stree n Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Mon ment. JOSEPH SHED.

july 26

---

300 BUNDLES of Hay, of very prime qua ity, and in good order; for sale by dec 6 & J. DIKE, 27 Water-st.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 10, 1846. NUMBER 43.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FOR THE COURIER.

ON PARTING.

Have not all past human beings parted—
And must not all the present one day part?—BYRON.

THERE is a melancholy when we part
From friends and all in life we hold most dear;
There is a silent throbbing of the heart
When the last ling'ring voice of love we hear.

For then come recollections of the past—
The joyous days of childhood swift sweep by;
And each remembered word and look how fast
Before the mind on sadden'd wing they fly.

We leave them all, we know not for how long
Mid other scenes and other joys to dwell;
And oh, too big for utterance and strong
Are the sad feelings which the bosom swell.

Perchance a mother with her gentle smile,
The purest language of a mother's love,
And gentle look, doth gaze on thee the while
With that affection naught on earth can move.

Or a fond sister with a mournful look
Bids thee farewell, and turns to shed a tear;
For her young loving heart can hardly brook
To part with one whom it has held so dear.

O it is sad to part—to break the ties
Which time with fairest fingers has entwined;
Enchanting hope within the bosom dies—
The future like a shadow clouds the mind.

Yes, it is sad to part—but there will come
A parting sadder to the stricken soul;
When friends shall leave us for their changeless home,
There to exist though countless ages roll.

LOVE'S LANGUAGE.

There's a language that's mute, there's a silence that speaks
There's something that cannot be told,
There are words that can only be read in the cheeks,
And thoughts, but the eyes can unfold.

There's a look so expressive, so timid, so kind,
So conscious, so quick to impart;
Though dumb, in an instant it speaks out the mind,
And strikes in an instant the heart.

This eloquent silence, this converse of soul,
In vain we attempt to suppress:
More prompt it appears from the wish to control,
More apt the fond truth to impress.

And oh, the delights in the features that shine,
The raptures the bosom that melt,
When blest with each other this converse divine,
Is mutually spoken and felt.

MISCELLANY.

What that Boy did come to!

BY FANNY FORRESTER.

CONCLUDED.

But the time at last arrived when Robert Flemming was to take leave of his kind master and benefactor. To be sure he was not twenty-one, but the farmer concluded as he had set his heart on going, there was no use in detaining him, though the sacrifice was much greater than he had anticipated. 'But it is my mind, Robert, that you had better stick to farming,' he remarked, shaking his head gravely; 'it is the most honorable and honest of all callings, and can never disgrace anybody.'

Mrs Howe thought him an ungrateful wretch, to forsake the house that had sheltered him so many years; talked pathetically of the unsatisfying nature of the world that he was going out to try, and, at last, concluded by a burst of tears and a speech, in which were mingled so much of invective, affection and sad apprehensions for the future, that even Robert, accustomed as he was to her moods, felt confused, and could only say—'You will get a better boy, Mrs Howe. I have made you a great deal of trouble.'

From little Hetty, as she was still called, the parting was yet more difficult. Hetty had all her mother's spirit, but the disagreeable example continually before her eyes had prevented her from displaying it in the same manner, and her look of sorrowful reproach went to Robert's heart. He knew how sad his little favorite would be if he left her alone, and for a moment his resolution was shaken. Why should he go away from the friends that loved him dearly, that had befriended him in his worse than orphan state? But Robert hesitated only a moment. It was no idle caprice that took him away, but there was a necessity in the case—his future prospects, his personal independence depended on it. So he led his little playmate to the top of the hill that looked down upon the neighboring village, and there, promising that he would see her very, very often, and would always bring her something nice from the town, he kissed her forehead, eyes and lips, over and over again; then dashing away the tears that he thought quite unmanly in a youth of sixteen, he trudged steadly down the hill, not trusting himself to look back, for he knew that the child would maintain her position there till he was quite out of sight.

In choosing a profession, Robert Flemming was true to his early preference; and, with the flattering credential furnished him by Mr. Howe and his old schoolmaster, it was not difficult for him to gain admission into a printing establishment, where he could read of tiger hunts and other wondrous things to his heart's content. We have no inclination to follow our hero through five years of apprenticeship—not dull, oh, no;—time never hung heavily on Robert Flemming's hands; but sometimes laborious and never without its peculiar trials. The indignities to which a sensitive nature is subjected by its inferiors, when fortune obliges them to come in contact, are not borne without an effort. But at last his term of service expired, and then, pennyless, but by no means friendless, he had another long probation to undergo ere he could feel himself quite a man among other men. But one truth had been indelibly impressed on the mind of the boy by his sensible master, which many young men of promise have been ruined by not understanding. Young Flemming knew that in this every-day world, few could step at once into fortune—that persevering industry is the only sure ladder to preferment.

A country wedding is an affair of importance; and when it was noised throughout a certain neighborhood that 'that wild boy, Robert, had returned to marry Hetty,' it created as great a sensation as the arrival of a foreign danseuse would have produced in other circles. The young men thought the handsome Miss Hester Howe, heiress to all her father's broad lands, very foolish to throw herself away in such a manner; the young misses pursed up their mouths, both pretty and ugly, and declared that these proud folks never made out very well, and to their minds she deserved nothing better, while the old people all agreed that it was a 'pretty risky business.' However, the Howes acted with becoming independence on the occasion—Mrs Howe even going so far as to give some of the most impertinent of the meddlers 'a piece of her mind;' and the wedding went off at last to the admiration of everybody. Robert Flemming's cheerful, manly face and commanding figure, did much to turn the current of public opinion in his favor, and the hearty grasp of the hand with which he met his old acquaintance, together with the political information that he furnished Squire White, who had not seen the late papers, completed his conquest over their hearts. Busily wagged many a tongue on the morning of the wedding, though, strange as it may seem, nearly everybody had foreseen how matters would turn out from the very first, particularly those who had thrown up their indignant hands the highest and wondered the loudest what that boy would come to.

'And now you are one of us in earnest,' said Mr Howe, wringing the tough hand of the bridegroom; 'and I shall be almost as proud to call you my son as I should if you had been a farmer.'

"And I as proud to call you father as though you were a king,' returned the young man, warmly.

'President, you mean—say president!' exclaimed old Squire White, warmly, who, from having beena 'seventy-sixer,' thought that kings should be classed with 'other pirates and robbers,' and never let slip an opportunity to lift up his voice against them 'It's a shame for American boys to be talking after this sort of the oppressor who sets his heel on—

'But presidents and presidents' sons should n't be proud, you know; that would be anti-republican,' interrupted Robert Fleming, good-humoredly, 'and so the comparison would n't be in point.'

'Proud!—no, no, that they shouldn't,' muttered the old man, while Robert turned again to his father-in-law.

'It shall be the study of my life to repay the kindness shown to an untaught, friendless boy, who without you—

'Would have done well, Robert;—I see it, I know it now, though there was a time when I used to have my fears of what you would come to at last.'

'Now, Eben Howe, do get out of the way!' exclaimed a shrill voice close at hand; 'how can the dear boy speak to his mother while you stand mumbling and fumbling at this rate, owing yourself the half-hearted man that you are, never seeing an inch ahead. It is well that everybody wasn't so blind, Robert, or else——' The old lady finished the sentence by a knowing glance towards the bevy of peony-cheeked damsels surrounding her daughter. 'And yet here you stand talking with the old man and shaking hands with everybody as though you hadn't a word for your mother.'

'My mother truly—doubly so!' said the young man, imprinting a hearty kiss upon the cheek, which, although somewhat withered, now glowed with the excitement of the moment; 'and the very kindest of mothers have you been to me, from the moment of my frolic with Jowler (poor old Jowler! it seemed like losing a human friend when he died) up to the present time.'

'Ay—ay, so you say; but it is little you act as though you thought you had ever received the least kindness from the poor creature you have come to rob of all she ever had to love.'

The raised tone of voice could not fail to reach the ears of the bride, and such an entreating look! It might have melted a sterner heart than Mrs. Howe's—that is, if stern hearts were furnished with eyes to see it with.

'I have certainly caused you no small degree of trouble,' Robert Flemming began, but he was interrupted.

'No—no, you never made any trouble, Robert not the least; but I do think you might just come and live with us on the farm, where there's thousands to support us all——'

'Mother—mother,' whispered the bride, touching her arm with a finger all in a quiver—'mother, don't; everybody is hearing you;—don't I entreat!'

'And what if everybody is hearing me? What have I said to be ashamed of? I say there's thousands for us all, and it's a shame, and a sin, and a disgrace for Robert Flemming——'

'But, mother dear, that has been all settled, you know,' again interposed the bride, in a tremulous whisper.

'Yes, I know it has been all settled; but who settled it, Hetty Howe—Mistress Hetty Flemming, as I suppose I must say after this—who settled it, and——'

'We will unsettle it, Rachel,' said Mr. Howe, with a glance which added—'What a pity nobody but me knows how to manage her'—'we will unsettle it, and Robert shall live with us willy nilly.'

'Shall! you don't mean shall, I hope? Robert has always had his own way, and I'm the last one to interfere with his doings, though he does take the heart out of me and leave the old house desolate. It is a sad thing—a sad——. There, the very papers of cake I had put up for the Thompsons! I never! The idea of Becky's bringing such a troop of children with her!'

Year on year had passed, and each, as is the custom with years, left a token—a great one with the great, and a simpler one with the lowly. Even old Time is an aristocrat. A church, a new school-house, and a cluster of dwelling-houses had been erected in the neighborhood of Mr. Howe; while another Robert Flemming, as roguish, as heedless and as fond of newspapers as the first, had grown almost as tall as his father, and so undertaken the management of his grandfather's farm. Everything was changed. Even a new generation of beings had sprung up around the old farmer and his still wrangling but kind-hearted spouse,

It was a bitingly cold night. Ugh! what a shiver the swinging of a door sent over pleasant fire-lit rooms; how thankful thinking people were for the roof that reflected back the blaze upon them. But the fireside, lavishly comfortable as it was, was not all-powerful. Affairs of importance were to be discussed, and so all the men in the neighborhood were collected in the school house. A thin-faced man had taken the chair, and a fair-haired one beside him was about unfolding a paper, probably fraught with weighty matters, when the door opened and in hobbled old Squire White. He held in his hand a crushed newspaper, his long silvery hair, which was usually braided over his bald crown, was straggling about his shoulders and floating off on every puff of air; his spectacles were across his forehead instead of his nose, and the Sunday hat of his grandson was stuck jauntly (as hats too small must be) on one side of his head.

'Hurra, boys!' exclaimed the old man, tottering towards the middle of the room and flourishing his cane with an arm not yet quite nerveless; 'returns from all the principal counties, and the 'lection is sartin. Three cheers for Robert Flemming, the best governor that ever set foot in York state, The blood of '76 is a-stirring yet, I can tell ye, boys. Why don't ye shout? Hurra—hurra—a—a!' and as the successive peals died away, the old man raised his palsied hands and exclaimed—'Well, the ways of Providence are marvelous! Who would have thought when little Bobby Flemming lamed my pony, that he would ever come to this?'

It is possible that some knowing politician may attempt to dispute the accuracy of my veritable history; but I defy his ingenuity, except with regard to the name of Robert Flemming. There I will plead guilty to romancing, it being only a veil hung by the hand of propriety over one as widely known and dearly loved as any on whom the Empire state has ever bestowed her honors.

January and May: or, Age and Youth.

Caroline St. Clair was sitting in a bower, on a terrace overlooking the lake of Geneva, her whole soul occupied in sketching the magnificent prospect that lay extended before her: the light was suddenly obscured; and looking up surprised, she beheld the opake form of Lord Lumbercourt standing directly before her—his back to the view, and his large grey eyes fixed with extraordinary seriousness full upon her face. She smiled; 'Won't you sit down, my lord? I did not expect' 'You did not expect such an interruption.' 'Such a foreground,' said Caroline, laughing; 'for I was just considering what I should introduce in the foreground of my picture.' 'I fear, Miss St. Clair, I have no chance of ever being in the foreground of your picture, said the peer, sitting down close to her. 'Very little, certainly at present,' said Caroline; coloring, 'for I fancied that a donkey would be the most picturesque animal, and I was longing for one just at the moment your lordship appeared; but it is really impossible to take or mistake you for a donkey.' 'Then you really don't think me quite an ass?' said he. 'It would be the surest proof that I was one myself, if I did,' said Caroline; and she began to talk upon trifling ordinary topics; but all the labor of supporting this talk devolved upon herself. He answered only in short and absent phrases of rejoinder or assent, and sat twirling and rolling a piece of drawing paper, with that hasty nervous trepidation which marks great internal embarrassment and agitation, and which people so often feel, when they have formed a determination to do or say something of vast importance, that they know not how to set about.

'You seem very uneasy, my lord,' said Caroline, 'I am afraid you are suffering.' 'I am, indeed,' said he, with a sigh. 'Indeed! and is it in your toe?' 'Hang the toe!' he hastily exclaimed.—'Is it so bad?' said the lady, quite tenderly thinking his vehemence arose from the twinge. 'It is here!' said his lordship emphatically, laying his hand on his heart; but Caroline, who was looking at her drawing, mistook this motion. 'In your stomach! the gout in your stomach?' 'Hang the gout! Can a man have no other complaint than that cursed gout?' 'Indeed,' said Caroline, looking up astonished, and beginning to think the gout had reached his head, 'I did not know you had any other complaint, my Lord.' 'It is not the gout, Miss St. Clair. Don't talk of the gout—forget it, I pray you.' 'I am very glad you can forget it, I am sure—it is a sign it is going off;—but what then is the matter, my lord? Is it your head?' 'It is my heart!' 'Is that all? exclaimed the lively girl, laughing. 'Nay, Miss St. Clair, don't laugh at me, at least.' 'Everybody will laugh at you, my lord. Every body laughs at complaints of the heart. Expect no pity.'—'From you I did expect it,' said he in a tone and with a look that brought a blush over her lovely laughing face:—'from you only I wish it.'—'No one wishes to be pitied, I think,' said Caroline, looking confused.—'I do—I wish for your pity; for pity is akin to love.'—'A little more than kin and less than kind, perhaps,' said the lady, not knowing very well what she was saying. 'Kind! yes, you are kind! kind to all—kindness itself! Do not be unkind only to me.' Her blushes betrayed her internal embarrassment; but, rallying her spirits, she playfully said, 'No! I will be very kind to you, my lord! for look what I have delivered you from!'—shaking an ear-wig from the sleeve of his coat. 'O! Miss St. Clair! I wish you could read my heart, and see'—See all the pangs you talk of! I have no pleasure in seeing pangs, nor yet in hearing of them; and the pangs of the heart are nothing compared to real pangs, to the gout for instance.' 'You speak from experience, I presume,' said his lordship, rather in a tone of pique. 'Of the gout, my lord?' 'Of the heart, Miss St Clair.' 'Then if you think me a sufferer under those terrible pangs of the heart,' said Caroline, laughing, 'at least admire the uncomplaining patience with which I bear them. "Dearest Miss St. Clair! I do admire—adore you!"—She looked frightened, and was hastily attempting to effect her retreat, but he detained her. "Nay, do not go! do not fly from me! at least tell me!"—he hesitated, and seemed unable to speak out—tell me, since you seem to understand complaints of the heart so well—tell me that you will cure mine.'—'O! they will cure themselves! Only let them alone, and never mind them. Think on something else; and above all, never talk of them. Complaints of the heart soon go away.'—'O! you little know what some hearts endure.'—'O! all hearts can endure a great deal without the slightest damage. Hearts are hard things.'—'Is yours so hard?' 'Yes, impenetrably hard,' she said with a look and tone of such meaning, that he felt the ice closing over him, and relapsing into silence and nervous perturbation, betook himself, with more assiduity than ever, to rolling up the drawing paper.

Caroline herself felt very awkward and uneasy, and the more silent he became, the more incessantly did she talk; though certainly without eliciting much attention from his lordship who very evidently did not know what she was saying; neither indeed did she well know herself. He looked so mortified and miserable, that, pitying his uncomfortable feelings, she aaid with great sweetness, 'You don't look at my little sketch, and this is one of my first attempts in drawing from nature. I want to know if you think it like'—'Like every thing you do; like yourself, perfection.' 'Nay, said Caroline laughing, 'You said I took you for a great ass; but it is me you take for a little ass.'

He seized her hand, but coloring all over, she hastily withdrew it, and starting up, exclaimed in great confusion, 'I must go, I forgot something.' 'No, no, dearest Miss St. Clair! do not leave me, stay one moment.' 'I cannot, my lord!' said Caroline, breaking from him, 'I forgot! I left a paper, a letter open on the table; I must go and get it' and she would have fled, but he took hold of her dress and held it firmly. 'At least let me go with you,' he said very gravely and respectfully: 'do not fly from me thus. Surely you are not afraid of me?' 'O no! no! I only forgot—I had left a paper very foolishly;' and stooping to pull a rose, and smelling it with great diligence, she again made an attempt, as they walked toward the house, to talk upon common subjects, but in a very embarrassed manner, and with no better success than before. They entered the drawing-room, where there certainly were divers pieces of paper upon the table, one of which Caroline hastily seized, and would as hastily have run off with, though it was only an invitation to a soiree, had he not prevented her. 'Miss—St. Clair!' gasped his lordship, quite out of breath with the laborious exertions he made to keep pace with her along the terrace—'You—must—not go.' 'I want to get my drawing things,' said Caroline. 'Never mind them,' gasped his lordship. Never mind his lordship rather, would have been her determination, if he had not held her hand—she could not escape. 'Let me get you some wine and water, my lord. Let me ring for Gregory,' trying to disengage herself. 'No—you—you only can be'—'Have some rasberry vinegar'—'My sole restorative,' he uttered, continuing his own speech with difficulty, and not attending in the least to the vinegar proposition—'Only to give me time' —'And me patience,' thought Caroline, who plainly saw what she had to undergo; and as he puffed and wiped his brows, and puffed still more with vexation, because he puffed so much, she had no resource but resignation and sitting still. It was now her turn to twist and twirl between her fingers the peice of paper she had picked up, and to be silent—though not absent—and it was his turn, as soon as he recovered his breath to speak. He told her, with all the earnestness and sincerity of truth, and with all the embarrassment and difficulty that mark a true attachment, how truly and devotedly and irrevocable he loved her; how entirely the whole happiness of his future life depended upon her; and how exclusively her happiness should be the whole object of his, if she would allow him to devote it to her.

Rallying her spirits, she attempted to interrupt him, and to laugh it off, by treating it en badinage—as a jest. 'You don't really think me in jest,' said he, pressing her hand, and fixing his eyes upon her. She coloured crimson; the mantling blush rushed over her beautiful polished brow and cheeks, she raised her eyes, with one glance of conscious self-convicted acknowledgment, then instantly dropped them beneath his 'Affectation—O how unlike you! dearest Miss St Clair!'—he murmured, again seizing her reluctant hand. 'You know that I am sincere, you know that my whole heart and soul are yours, that I love you as I never loved woman. O do not trifle with me!' 'I will not trifle with you, my lord! You do not deserve that I should—I only wished to have spared you, to have spared myself this scene. I feel your preference most gratefully, but I never can return it.'

His supplications, and protestations, and lamentations, may easily be conceived. He could not bear to relinquish his suit; he petitioned hard for the smallest hope, for time, for permission only to try to alter her determination against him by patient perseverance, to recommend himself to her affection by any sacrifices, to become what she would wish him. She was gentle, but inexorable; till at last, in despair, he went down upon his knees, in order to melt her obduracy. She could scarcely refrain from laughing, he looked so inexpressibly ridiculous. The awkward constraint and painful posture of the stiff swelled limbs, the odd contortions he involuntarily made, and the absurd figure of this unwieldy, infirm, gouty old man, in this attitude, would really have overset the gravity of a judge. But she behaved admirably, and without a visible smile besought him to rise. He remained, however, rooted to the spot, and speechless. Having implored him to rise till her patience was exhausted, she said,—'I must insist upon it that you rise!' 'But I can't!' said the unfortunate peer. At this confession, and the rueful face with which it was uttered, her gravity was utterly overcome, and she was seized with a fit of laughter, which, from her attempts to suppress it, shook her internally so violently, as to render her incapable of assisting her noble lover to get upon his legs. In vain she tried to push him up by the shoulders; the half-smothered laughter which nearly convulsed her, and which he had the mortification of hearing, made her powerless as an infant, so that her exertions, united with his own, utterly failed to accomplish the erection of his ponderous body; and she was obliged, at last, to ring the bell for some more able arm. She then ran out of the room, and gave free vent to the mirth she could no longer restrain.

A BLIND CHAPLAIN. The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post gives the following account of Mr Milburn, of Kentucky, the Methodist clergyman, lately elected Chaplain of the U. S House of Representatives:—

Mr Milburn, the successful candidate, is a blind preacher from the west, and the circumstances connected with his election are a little curious. He was on his way to the city of New York, where he intended to submit to a surgical operaton, in the hope of making a last experiment for the restoration of his eyesight. On board the boat, after leaving Lexington, on a fine Sabbath morning, he was requested by a few of the passengers to conduct religious exercises. He consented——sung a hymn, offered up a prayer, and preached a sermon. The audience was not only delighted, but irresistably enchained, by his rich and extemporaneous eloquence, and at the conclusion of the services they came forward, as it were, en masse, to learn his past history and future intentions. Among the number were several senators and representatives from the west, who begged the blind preacher to tarry a few days at Washington, and they would endeavor to elect him the Chaplain of the House. He consented, and they have kept their word. That he will, in all respcts, fully justify the generous confidence of his friends, does admit of doubt.

Liberty. The "Razor Strop Man" says: "When I first got acquainted with strong drink, it promised to do a great many things for me. It promised me liberty, and I got liberty. I had the liberty to see my toes poke out of my boots; the water had the liberty to go in at the toes and go out at the heels; my knees had the liberty to come out of my pants; my elbows had the liberty to come out of my coat; I had the liberty to lift the crown of my hat and scratch my head without taking my hat off. Not only liberty I got, but I got music. When I walked along on a windy day, the crown of

My hat would go flipperty flap,
And the wind whistle "how do you do."

Auction Sale of Ladies. An auction of unmarried ladies takes place annually in Babylon.—In every district they assemble on a certain day of every year, all the virgins of marriageable age. The most beautiful are first put up, and the man who bids the largest sum of money gains possession of her. The second in personal appearance follows, the bidders gratify themselves with handsome wives according to the depths of their purses. There are in Babylon some ladies for which no bid is offered, yet these are also disposed of, so provident are the Babylonians. When all the beautiful girls are sold, the crier orders the most deformed to stand up and after he has openly demanded who will marry her with a small sum, she is at length adjudged to the man who is satisfied with the least; and in this manner the money arising from the sales of the handsome, serves as portions to those who are of either disagreeable looks or have any other imperfection. The custom prevailed about five hundred years before Christ.

A country gentleman, who had taken some pains to instruct the rustic inhabitants in proper signs of respect due to him, being lately on a horse somewhat given to shy, and observing a lad walking before him, called out, 'Boy, don't take off your hat.' The youth, turning his head, very inocently replied, 'I worn't agoin' to, sir.'

Inconsistent Ladies.

How often do we see a lady who cannot walk, cannot rise in the morning, cannot tie her bonnet strings, faints if she has to lace her boots, never in her life brushed out her beautiful hair, would not, for the world, prick her finger with plain sewing, but who can work harder than a factory girl upon a lamb shepherdess, dance like a dervish in a ballroom, and whilst every breath of air gives her cold in her father's house, and she cannot think how people endure the climate, she can go out to dinner parties in January and February, with an inch of sleeve and half a quarter of boddice.

DANVERS COUIER.

SATURDAY MORNING JAN 10, 1846.

The Legislature.

On Wednesday last commenced the political year of our Commonwealth, and the Executive and Legislative officers of the State assembled at the State House, in Boston. After the organization by filling the vacancies in the Senate board, the Governor will be elected, and the business of the session will go on in its usual routine. The great business of this year will be the consideration of the various petitions for Railroad Charters. The history of the legislative action on these petitions last year is fresh in the recollection of our readers. They remember that the almost unanimous voice of the popular branch was in their favor, while that body called by courtesy the 'upper house' was almost as unanimously against them. Since that time the popular indignation has vented itself by an almost entire change in the Senate, and only a very few of those who made themselves obnoxious to the public will, and those few, under expressed or implied promises of a more liberal feeling in regard to Railroads—have been or are likely to be re-elected. We therefore look with confidence to the new Legislature for such a liberal and enlarged view of the question of granting Railroad facilities as shall be satisfactory to the public at large, however it may be to those interested in existing lines. The immense power of these mammoth corporations will be wielded with all the subtlety and skill with which their self interest aided by a liberal expenditure of money, they are capable of exerting against competition with themselves. All kinds of indirect management and flattery as well as feasting may be expected to be brought into requisition to sustain their sinking cause, and the people will look with a jealous eye to the organization of committees before whom the several hearings are to come.

The friends of liberal action in regard to this subject have great confidence that all this management will be of no avail and that the rights of the people will have a preference over the interests of corporations. They know that the political power of the State is in the hands of the WHIGS, and that they are not so regardless of right and the popular voice as to refuse what justice imperatively requires and thus throw political power into the hands of their adversaries. They know that if such a restrictive course should again be pursued as was adopted last winter, Massachusetts is gone from the Whigs. The power of a hateful monopoly would be too plainly seen to be endured and the people would throw off its bands. They would no longer submit to a monopoly in principle as oppressive as the English Corn laws, if not at present so disastrous in its results.

Mr. Adams and Oregon.

The late speech of Mr. Adams in relation to Oregon has excited considerable attention, as it was been thought that the expression of such views from such a source would be likely to strengthen the war feeling of the country. It will however be observed by those who have read his remarks, that he made them under the feeling that in the event of giving notice to Great Britain of the termination of joint occupancy, there would still be no danger of war. All then that we can judge from the views expressed in the speech is, that he is willing and desirous to have the country take that lofty stand in the assertion of its rights as shall be likely to result in negotiation and finally an honorable and peaceful adjustment of the controversy. After making all due allowances for the ultra view of Mr. Adams and the eccentric course he sometimes pursues to the astonishment of his friends, we think we ought to accord to him honest motives and place some reliance on the wisdom and knowledge of the mode of making effective treaties between nations which he has acquired by long residence in foreign courts and intercourse with the greatest statesmen of both hemispheres.

It will be seen that Mr. Winthrop expresses opinions directly the reverse of those of Mr. Adams, and this no doubt represents more truly the present views of Massachusetts on this question.

☞We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the Transactions of the Essex Agricultural Society for the year 1845. It is a neatly printed pamphlet of about 130 pages. It embodies much useful instruction to farmers. It contains the results of the experience of practical men, in a form that will readily be comprehended and understood. Without any attempt at display, it concentrates the essence of the best practical observations of the best farmers. We cannot doubt that the plan pursued by this Society for the last fifteen years, of bringing together the results of their experiments at the close of the year, and circulating them among all the members, has done much for the advancement of Agricultural Science. We hope that the wise suggestions of the last Legislature, in requiring of the Secretary of State the publication of the best information obtained from the Counties of the State, will be followed up in such manner, as to make our Massachusetts Agricultural Reports worthy a place on the same shelf with those of the Empire State of New York.

Dr S. G. Howe.—This eminent philanthropist has recently received through the Prussian Minister, a gold medal from the King of Prussia.

WAR WITH ENGLAND.

There seems to be but little apprehension, now, of a war with England on account of Oregon, although the next Steamer may bring news of a more belligerent character. From a brief examination of the diplomatic correspondence on the subject, we cannot see that England has any substantial claim to any part of the territory, and it would be folly in her to engage in a war with U. States where her rights are at best so doubtful. England is better prepared at the present time than we are to carry on a war, but if long continued, as one undoubtedly would be, she would suffer infinitely more in the end than we should. Her debt now so enormous, would be increased so that with all her present sources of revenue, she could not pay the interest on it, and her suffering population would have to be taxed, if possible, more exorbitantly than they now are. Her citizens all desire peace, and it is the best policy for the Government.

The United States, though not now prepared for war, could, in the event of one, soon get in the proper trim, and the debt which it would be necessary for them to incur, would be quickly wiped off, on the coming of peace. But to either country the bloodshed, devastation and ruin, the prostration of religion and morals, which a war creates, would be more to be mourned over than any debt. The spirit of this age is peaceful, and we trust the time has gone by when nations will rush blindly into war for petty differences and to gratify selfish prejudices.

CALIFORNIA.

The Salem Gazette publishes from the journal of a sea captain, a description of this territory, which it is confidently asserted, and generally understood, measures are now being taken to procure. This writer describes the country west of the Sirreria mountains, as fertile and the climate delightful. The raising of cattle is the principal business. Horses are abundant and very fine animals, and can be bought for $2 or $3, and a colt of 2 years can be obtained for 75 cents. It is also a fine wheat-growing country. Corn grows with but little care, and yields well. Vegetables are to be had in great abundance. In some of the missions many more are raised than in others. The population is composed of whites, mixed bloods, and Indians—about two-thirds are Indians. The Californians are descendants of the Spanish settlers from Old Spain; they are generally an indolent, dissipated, gambling, and drinking set, possessing many bad qualities and vices not common to the Old Spaniards.

☞We have received from Hon. D. P. KING, a copy of the speech of Hon. Julius Rockwell of this state, upon the question of the admission of Texas as a state into the Union, delivered in the House of Representatives Dec. 16. Mr. Rockwell embraced the only opportunity which was afforded to any member to oppose the consummation of this unconstitutional and unholy measure, and from a careful perusal of his speech we are satisfied that had there existed in the bosoms of those members by whose special agency these resolutions were pushed through the House, a solitary spark of patriotism or virtue, they would have seen most clearly the injustice and wrong which was shown to a very large and highly respectable portion of the citizens of the United States, whose petitions and remonstrances against the admission of Texas as a Slave State were entirely disregarded.

Coat of Arms.

We notice that the Salem Rigister has commenced the year with a new head dress by which its appearance is much improved. It has discarded the lady who has presided so long over its columns and substituted the coat of arms of the city representing a figure in Chinese costume and surrounded by an appropriate latin inscription.—

We have some intention of exchanging our 'bow-arrow-man' for the coat of arms of Danvers. This will represent in the back ground, 'one Simon a tanner by the sea side' drawing hides from the water,—denoting the antiquity of our staple business. In another part a currier's splitting machine, a bunch of onions, a shoe last and a bark mill,—the whole surmounted by an earthen milk pan. In the foreground is seen a locomotive and full train of cars bearing—

A banner with the strange device
"EXCELSIOR."

GOOD. The Salem Advertiser, which is the principal organ of the Democratic party in Essex County pleasantly informs its readers that the Democratic candidate for President of the Senate has not yet been selected! As there is no Senator of that party elected—or likely to be—the joke is a rich one. We always like to see an unsuccessful party good humored. It takes off the wire edge of defeat and tends to prevent the exultations of the opposite party.

☞There is probably no County in the State, in which gentlemen of education and distinction have interested themselves in agricultural pursuits more than in Essex County. Hon Timothy Pickering was the first President of the Agricultural Society of the County, and held the office for ten years. He was succeeded in the office by the following gentlemen in the following order. Frederick Howes, Esq., Hon. Ebenezer Mosely, Hon. James H. Duncan, Hon Joseph Kittredge, Hon. Leverett Saltonstall, John W. Proctor, Esq.

Chelsea Railroad.

The Railroad Commissioners have this project before them this week, and will probably report in its favor, as we do not learn that it meets with opposition from any quarter, unless from the landholders on its route. Last year the application for such a road proved a miserable abortion as nobody was found to desire such an avenue to Boston, and everybody connected with it, even the men of straw who petitioned for it, as well as the Eastern Railroad, were heartily ashamed of it.—It is now said that the above named corporation will make a show of advocating it.

RURAL LAYS AND SKETCHES: BY JOHN PRINCE.—We have perused with much pleasure, a little volume of poems under the above title, printed by the author for circulation among his friends—but which appear to us well calculated independently of their associations with their respected author, to make friends of their own among all lovers of the 'sweet simplicity of nature' pictured forth by a kindred spirit, in melodious and flowing verse. The author's descriptions are vivid and truthful and seem the natural, unforced outpourings of a soul ardent and enthusiastic in its admiration of the beautiful in the scenes of rural life. His subjects appear to have been well chosen—such only as he could do justice to—for there is a healthfulness pervading his verse which seems to show that it is heartfelt. We doubt not that these productions have answered the intent of their publication in whatever enjoyment they have afforded his friends—nor are we singular in our opinion that they have gained for him new friends in those who have made his acquaintance only through his unpretending little volume, where he has 'left no mood

But love for all things pure and good.'

School Pic-nic.

We had the pleasure on Thursday evening, of attending a public exhibition of the pupils at the Epes School in Aborn St., Salem under the charge of Mr. Charles Northend. There was a large gathering of the parents and invited guests who must have been highly gratified with the deportment and proficiency of the School. Addresses were made by Hon. J. S. Cabot, Hon S. C. Phillips, and the teacher. After the exercises, the whole company repaired to the Primary School room where tables were found loaded with delicacies sent in by the inhabitants of the district, to which ample justice was done, after which at about nine o'clock the company separated apparently much delighted with the evening's entertainment.

Ordination

The Ordination of Mr. Frank P. Appleton, over the first Unitarian Church in this town, will take place on Wednesday next, the 14th Inst.—Services to commence at 11 o'clock, A. M., in the following order:—

Sermon—by Rev. Nath Hall jr., of Dorchester.

Ordaining Prayer—Rev. James Flint, D D., of Salem.

Charge—Rev. Ezra S. Gannett, D D, of Boston.

Right hand of Fellowship—Rev. Hiram Withington. of Leominster.

Address to the Society—Rev John T Sargent of Summerville.

If the weather should prove favorable, Services may be expected in the evening, commencing at 6 o'clock, conducted by some of the most distinguished clergymen of the denomination.

Railroad Petitions.

The following petitions intended to be presented during the present session of the Legislature, have been handed to us with a request to have them published. It will be seen that the first is somewhat similar to one presented last year, a printed copy of which was left in the seats of all the members.

To the Senators and Representatives of Massachusetts in General Court assembled,

The petition of the undersigned, poor and distressed capitalists, humbly sheweth—That we are large stockholders in a Railroad terminating in Boston, and from the business of which after investing a portion of the profits in wharf property, hotel and lands, we are now receiving good dividends. We understand that some evil disposed persons have petitioned your honorable body for liberty to construct another Railroad by a different route which will take part of the travel rightfully belonging to us, for which they give no other reason than that the people prefer a more convenient and better route to and from the Metropolis, and that those evil minded persons aforesaid are willing and desirous to build such new road for the public accommodation and such chance of profit as they may be able to realize in competition with the old road.

Your petitioners are deeply solicitous for the honor of the Commonwealth and fully believe that the granting of a Charter for a new road would be worse than Repudiation, sully the fair fame of the State as well as diminish the profits of the widows and fatherless,* and produce unheard of distress among all needy capitalists.

Your petitioners request your honorable bodies to take immediate measures for restraining those evil minded persons who are obstinately persisting in the belief that they know their own wants and can provide for them better than your petitioners.

Your petitioners further represent, that we have used every endeavor to make these unreasonable people satisfied with our route, but without success. We have made all sorts of curves and crooks and double tracks to satisfy them.—We have used the best of locomotives as well as the worst of other motives, and offered to run our spurs anywhere. We have made tuunels and other bores,—turn-outs and turnabouts innumerable, but all to no purpose. We have tried to make them easy in our seats by the softest plush and the best of stuffing but with no better success. Failing in all this, we have tried all kinds of railing and thrashed them with parallel lines to make them give up their own line, but they are still as obstinate as ever.—We therefore humbly request that your honorable bodies will in your wisdom provide some means of preventing them and ourselves from any danger of collision lest it should unfortunately result in our own explosion: And as in duty bound will ever pray.

Signed by Erastus Plum and fourteen others.

To the Hon. Senate and House of Representatives In General Court assembled:

The petition of John Carter humbly sheweth—That your petitioner is the sole owner of a horse and wagon with which for the last seven years he has followed the business of teaming to the city of Boston. That he has invested all his capital in said horse and wagon by which he has so far been able to obtain a good living for himself and family including his brother's widow and two small children. Your petitioner has lately heard with much concern that one John Dobbs is about to purchase a horse and cart and set up the business of teaming ou the same road, by which a part of my business will be taken away, and I shall thereby suffer much loss and damage.

Your petitioner therefore prays that the said John Dobbs may not be permitted to use his horse and cart in any manner to interfere with the business of your petitioner. Your petitioner does not claim an absolute vested right to all the teaming on said route, but having invested all his capital in his horse and wagon under existing laws of the State, and the support of his family as well as a widow and two small children being dependent on the success of the business in which he is at present engaged, your petitioner feels that by permitting another horse and cart to take the same business, the capital invested in the horse and wagon will suffer great depreciation. your petitioner be deprived of a large portion of his livelihood, the widow and orphan be made to suffer, and the honor and good name of the Commonwealth be sullied by an act worse than Repudiation; and all these evils will be brought upon your petitioner and the community by allowing the absurd claim of John Dobbs.

Your petitioner therefore asks your honorable bodies to respect his implied vested rights and not permit the said John Dobbs under any plea of Public Good to use his horse and cart. And as in duty bound will ever pray.

Signed, JOHN CARTER.

*Footnote: This is evidently a mistake: it should read—"the fathers and the widowless."—PR. DEV.

Congressional Proceedings

Friday Jan 2

The Senate did not sit to-day.

In the House—Mr. Cunningham, of Ohio, offered a resolution with reference to Oregon—declaring that as all negotiation was at end, and as we owned the whole Territory, it was our duty, at once, to take measures for the defence of our citizens in that quarter. On the motion to suspend the rules, for the purpose of considering this resolution, the yeas and nays were called, and stood—ayes 75, noes 89.—

After some conversational debate, as to the time fixed for the special consideration of the Oregon Bill, reported b the Committee on Territories, Mr. Douglass moved to change the period assigned from the 1st and 2d Tuesday in January, which was agreed to.

On the motion a debate arose, and the merits of the Oregon question were discussed.

Mr. Holmes, of S. C. commenced a speech in which he avowed his belief that war would be the result of these movements; but that, instead of the paltry preparations proposed, it would be necessary to vote the sum of $20,000,000 at the outset. Here Mr. H. was called to order for irrelevancy, and took his seat.

Mr. Adams rose and there was a general sensation throughout the Chamber. By some fiction of the rules he was allowed to deliver his sentiments upon the Oregon controversy, which all seemed extremly anxious to hear. These were in substance as follows:

He was in favor of giving the notice to Great Britain, and he moved it last session. He did not believe that war would be the result—there was no necessity for war. He would not vote any bill, to take possession of the Territory, until after the twelve months' notice, nor for any bill to raise a regiment of riflemen, or sappers and pontoniers (laughter) until after notice was given. But he would vote for giving the notice immediately; and he regretted that the Committee on Foreign Relations would not report it. [Here Mr C J Ingersoll said he (Mr. A.) had no authority from the committee for saying that they would not.] Perhaps not, said Mr A., but every body says so, and if they delay much longer, he should begin to think that what everybody said was true. (Laughter.) He would vote for the notice to-day; and if, which God forbid! war should grow out of it, he hoped the country would go into the war with one heart, and one great hand; and then, his word for it, the war would not last long, nor would the possessions of Great Britain on this Continent be worth much after it.

The above were the important points of Mr. A's brief remarks. There was some tumult and clapping during their delivery. As soon as Mr. A. ceased, some member wished to have the rules suspended in order to submit a resolution for terminating the joint occupancy, but the House had heard enough, and adjourned.

Saturday Jan. 3

The Senate was in session but a few minutes and did no business.

The House resumed the consideration of the Oregon subject, this morning.

Mr C J Ingersoll expressed his pleasure at the course of remark taken by Mr Adams yesterday. He coincided with that gentleman in his view of the matter.

The previous question was moved and refused. So the debate went on.

Mr Darragh mentioned that the best sort of notice to give would be to make such preparation as would show Great Britain that we intended to take all Oregon

Mr Preston King and Mr Douglass followed with a few remarks, and Hon R C WINTHROP took the floor.

Mr. WINTHROP said he had voted, at the last session, against the notice, and should do so again. He had offered resolutions expressing his opinion on the state of our foreign affairs, but he hourly expected that they would come up, and if they did, he would not wish to involve the House in another debate on peace and war. The opinion has gained ground that there is much unanimity of sentiment here as to this question. He believed all were united on some points—all believed that we had rights in Oregon;—rights which were to be maintained;—all believed that we were in a critical condition as to this question,—and all agreed that it was necessary to bestow something more than our ordinary attention—or rather inattention—upon our military defences. He did not believe that the dramatic exhibition made by Sir Robert Peel and Lord John Russell in the British Parliament produced much alarm here; nor did he think that our speeches would much startle the British Government. He did not deem it necessary, therefore, to adopt the harsh policy—this was a matter fully to be talked about. He did not think that patriotism was to be measured by the desire to plunge the country into a war.—There wanted only firmness to make an appeal to the intelligence of the people, and it would be responded to.—It would be easy for us (said Mr. W.) to cast back the party reproaches which were thrown upon us, as the peace party; and to taunt the President and the Secretary of State upon their abandonment of claims which they had vaunted as clear and unquestionable. But he was unwilling that the peace of this country should be dealt as a form on the political chess-board. From the bottom of his heart he thanked the President for whatever steps he had taken for the peaceable adjustment of this question, and he held him responsible for having abondoned it, if he had done so. Still he was rejoiced to find that no one here had professed a disregard for the public peace. The Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs had told us that the measure of peace, and his honorable colleague (Mr. A.) whose remarks would do more than any thing that had been done to endanger the peace of the country, had deprecated a war and expressed his opinion that the notice would not lead to one. Peace was desired, then, by all, provided it should be an "honorable peace." Peace (said Mr. W) is in itself the highest honor and the greatest blessing that any nation can enjoy; and it belonged to the other side to show that a liberal compromise of this question would be dishonorable to the country.

He believed that the notice given to Great Britain of the termination of the Convention would almost inevitably result in war;—followed as it would be, by immediate occupation, there would be no chance for an escape from war!

There was nothing in the terms of the joint occupation to prevent us from settling Oregon. Why should we attempt to terminate it? Perhaps, if we waited a few years, we should be better able to assert our title.

The cry was now the "whole of Oregon or none." and echo answered, none.

Mr Baker, of Illinois, followed, claiming the whole of Oregon, and said the echo would be the downfall of the British throne.

The House adjourned without taking the question

Monday, Jan 5

The Senate adjourned after a session of ten minu—Senators appearing anxious to listen to the deba in the House, which, under Mr Adams's lead on day last, has been made to assume the greatest portance.

In the House the Debate on the Oregon question continued, in which several members took part. are obliged however for want of room to omit most the details of this debate.

Mr. C. J. Ingersoll, from the Committee on Forei Affairs, reported a joint resolution to authorize President to give Great Britain the twelve months tice required to put an end to the Oregon joint occ pancy treaty.

The resolution having been read,

Mr. Ingersoll moved that it be printed made the spec order of the day for the first Monday in February.

Mr. G. Davis, from the same committee, made a min ty report on the subject, maintaining that said noticed longed to the treaty-making power—that is to the Presid and the Senate, and that the House had no jurisdiction the matter and concluding with a resolution declaring inexpedient for the House to take any action in relation it.

Mr Rhett of South Carolina, (a member of the Comm tee on Foreign Relations, and one of the peculiar frie of Mr Calhoun) replied to the ultra members of his pa

He charged Mr Adams with being opposed to the war, a charge which Mr A. repelled with characteris energy and peculiarity.

The Secretary of the Treasury has taken his first s for destroying the tariff, by inviting a committee of Cust House officers here to prepare a new tariff bill. Gen men are already here from Boston New York, Philadelp and Baltimore, and the work of mischief is to comme at once.

Tuesday, Jan

SENATE—There was little done by this body toda They have literally nothing before them.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES was occupied w the debate on Oregon.

Mr McConnel, of Ala., moved a series of Resolutions the Annexation of Ireland to this country! No action taken upon them, but they were read from the Clerk desk.

Mr P King, of N. Y., made some explanation of Speech. He asserted that there was strong ground for lief that Mr Calhoun had promised to surrender part Oregon to England, if England withdrew her opposition the Annexation of Texas.

Mr Rhett said that if rumor had said that Mr. Calho had openly made this bargain or stipulation, it was false.

Mr Hilliard, of Ala., proposed to amend the Resoluti of the Committee on Foreign Affairs by making it read t the President be empowered to give notice of the termi tion of joint occupancy whenever he shall deem the pub safety demands.

The House then voted on the motion to make it the der of the day for the first Monday in February. Yeas Nays 88. Not two-thirds, so it was not referred.

Mr Yancey having obtained the floor, the House adjourned.

Massachusetts Legislature.

The Legislature assembled on Wednesday las and both branches were called to order at 11 clock.

After the usual preliminary business, qualific tions of members, &c., the Senate (9 present) w temporarily organized by the choice of Hon. Jo C. GRAY, of Suffolk, as President pro tem., and o'clock assigned as time of meeting.

In the House, Hon. SAMUEL H. WALLEY w re-elected Speaker, and Charles W. Story, Es Clerk.

The usual bnsiness of the first day having be disposed of, at one o'clock, the House adjourn and immediately after, the two branches, und the escort of the Independent Company of Cadet proceeded to the Old South Church, to hear the lection sermon, by Rev. George Putnam, of Ro bury.

THURSDAY, January 8,

In the Senate. At 11 o'clock the Senate w called to order by the President pro tem, the Jou nal of yesterday was read, and the Senate adjour ed.

In the House. The journal having been re prayer was offered by Mr. Adams, of Boston.

The following gentlemen were announced the Speaker as the Committee on Elections: Messrs Tolman of Boston, Ladd of Cambrid Mayo of Orange, Baker of Beverly, Rider Dartmoth, Morton of Hadley, and Burrows of B nardston.

On motion of Mr. Page of New Bedford, Me srs. Page, Chandler of Beston, Byington of Stoc bridge, Stevens of Andover, and Lawrence of Pe erel, were appointed a Cemmittee to prepare rul and orders for the House.

Benjamin Stevens, Esq., having the who number of votes cast, 231, was declared to be unanimously elected Seargeant at arms.

The House now proceeded to the election Chaplain; Rev. S. D. Robbins and Rev. Dr. Jen having the highest number of votes it was orde on motion of Mr. Wales, of Boston, that they requested to act as Chaplains, alternately.

On motion of Mr. Taylor, of Granby, at twe ty-five minutes to 1 o'clock, the House was journed.

☞The Lynn News, (formerly the Essex C Whig) and the Haverhill Gazette come to us in enlarged form. As good Whig journals they ha our best wishes for their success, and prosperit ☞Rev. Theodore Parker was, on Saturd morning last, installed as pastor of the Socie worshipping at the Melodeon, in Boston.

☞The following, from the Worcester Tra cript, is a kind of testimony which the popular C der of Odd Fellows are entitled to regard w pride. Theory is very good—but practice is b ter. Here is practice.—Boston Star.

A CARD.—The undersigned, widow of the l Mr. Whipple Bigelow, takes this method o pressing her gratitude to the members of Quins amond Lodge of the Independent Order of O Fellows, of the town of Worcester, for their sy pathy and kindness to their brother member, late husband, and for their assistance to her her children, at her husband's decease, and continuance of it to the present time. She a desires in so far as words can, to express he gratitude for their kindness and assistance duri the sickness of her little son, and for furnishi every thing necessary for her comfort, and the pense of the burial of her little one. She invok the blessing of heaven upon the members of Lodge,—they have relieved the distressed, been a father to the fatherless, a friend to the wido and caused her heart to rejoice.

AMY BIGELOW.

European Intelligence.—The next intelligen from Europe will be received by the New Yo or Boston packets, as the steam ships leave once month, until April. The ships which may looked for to bring the next intelligence are, New York, the Rochester, from Liverpool 6 Dec; the Garrick, do 11th; Montezuma, do 2 and at Boston, the Joshua Bates, from Liverpo 20th Dec.

Great Fire in Concord N. H! By a slip from Hill's Patriot, we learn that a little past 12 o'clock on Wednesday morning a fire broke out in the large Railroad buildings occupied by Gilmore & Clapp, as a wholesale W. I. Goods establishment, and by the R. R. Co. as a Carhouse, which, with all their contents, were totally destroyed.

Mesrs. Gilmore & Clapp had recently finished taking account of their stock, which they valued at $56,000. On this $10,000 was insured in the Hartford Fire Insurance Co. at Hartford, Ct., and $15,000 in three different Companies in Boston—$5000 in each. The Railroad company have lost $10,000—including the building worth $4000 or $5000, and cars worth $6000, on which there is no insurance. The total loss will doubtless reach $66,000.

The fire is supposed to have taken from the stove in one of the cars. The contents of the safe were found to be uninjured.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—In one of your late papers, we are informed that "the recorded and unrepealed action of the town" was in favor of a road from Salem through South Danvers to Lynn and Malden. The last "recorded and unrepealed action of the town" on the Railroad subject was in favor of allowing the E. R. R. Company to build a branch through South Danvers to North Danvers, and according to certain notions lately promulgated from high authority our representatives are instructed by this action of the town to use their best exertions to obtain this branch from the E. R Road. Will our Representatives obey these "instructions" of the town? This must be taken as the deliberate action of the town because it was after the subject had been investigated—the old "Instructions" (as they are called) were before investigation had been had. We shall see how the rule works!

By the way, Mr Editor, I was strongly impressed with the appropriateness of the signature of a communication in your last signed "A Flat." I presume the author was not a resident of "Blubber Hollow"!

ANOTHER LOOKER-ON.

We learn that Rev. Mr. Streeter in the course of his sermon yesterday afternoon, remarked that during the past year he had united in marriage, 158 couple; had attended 98 funerals, of which 39 were males, and 59 were females, 31 being heads of families. He also observed that during his ministry he had solemnized two thousand two hundred and twenty eight marriages.—Journal, ☞John Bromfield, Esq., of Boston, has presented $25,000 to the Boston Athenæum. The sum is to be invested, and three fourths of the annual income appropriated to the increase of the Library. The Library now comprises 35,000 volumes.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Jan 5, 1846
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 620 Beef Cattle, and 950 Sheep. 150 Beef Cattle unsold.

PRICES—Beef Cattle—We quote to correspond with last week—extra 5 25; first quality 4 50 a $5; second $4 a 4 25; third 3 25 a $4.

Sheep—Sales from $1 25 to 2 50.

Swine—None at market except a few from the immediate neighborhood. At retail from 4 1-2 to 6c.

BOSTON MARKET--Thursday, Jan. 9th

Cotton—Nothing of consequence done to-day. Provisions—100 bbls prime Pork sold a $11, 4 mos. Flour—The market is quiet. Moderate sales of Genesee a $5,94 a 6. Corn—The market is dull. Several cargoes afloat unsold. Yellow flat is held at 76c; white, 74 a 75c. Sugar—Sales of 55 boxes Cuba brown, at 3 5-8 a 3 3-4c. Coffee—Sales to the trade of Cape at 7c, 6 mos.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, Thursday evening, by Rev. J. Prince, Mr. CHARLES H. MANNING to Miss ELIZABETH BERRY, both of Salem.

In Salem, Mr HENRY B. HILL, to Miss MARY LOUISA SAUL. Dr. JAMES STONE, Jr., to Miss ELIZABETH SHREVE. Mr. OLIVER POLAND to Miss TRYPENA F RENNARD. Mr JOSHUA S. PRIME to Miss ELIZABETH COOK. Prof. I. B WOODBURY, of Boston, to Miss MARY ABBY, daughter of Rufus Putnam, Esq., of Salem. Mr. CHARLES H. MARSDEN to Miss ELLEN FOLLEY.

In Newburyport, Mr. ELISHA G. HYDE to Miss CAROLINE W. CHANDLER, both of this town.

In Wenham, Mr. FRANCIS A. MONARCH to Miss THEODOSA MOULTON, both of Salem

DEATHS.

In this town, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. GEORGE SOUTHWICK, aged 72 years and 7 months.

In Salem, MARTHA ELLEN, wife of Mr. Henry J. Reed, aged 22 years. Mrs. ANNA CHADWICK, aged 80. Mrs. MARGARET BERRY, aged 65. Miss SARAH KNIGHT, ag. 59 Miss ABIGAIL ROPES, aged 61. ASA, son of David Pingree, Esq., aged 12 years. MARY ANN, eldest daughter of Mr. JOSIAH WALTON, Jr. Mr JOHN LEE, aged 40.

In Topsfield, Mrs. CAROLINE HART, aged 34. Mrs. MARY TOWNE, aged 76.

In Vermillion Co., Ind., Dec 4, Rev. REUBEN RANSOM, aged 48, late of this town.

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. D.

Having receiv their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Wednesday Evening at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES R. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday evening.

The Sabbath School connected with the Universalist Society, (New Mills) will repeat their Exhibition on Monday Evening, January 12th, at 6 1-2 o'clock. Tickets 12 1-2 cents.

One half of the proceeds will be given for the benefit of a poor young woman who has been confined on a bed of sickness for twelve years. The object is a purely benevolent one, and it is hoped that there will be a crowded house. that a handsome sum may be obtained to assist distressed humanity. jan 10

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 13

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

TO LET.

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.
Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceased, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges:—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for considering said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers. that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate.

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.
jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGATE MERRILL, Guardian.
Danvers. Jan. 10, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

Zerubbabel Porter,

late of Danvers, in said county of Essex, esquire, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to WARREN PORTER, Executor.
Danvers, January 10th, 1846.

HARPERS NEW LIBRARY. VOL. 5. The Practical Astronomer containing Illustrations of Lights and Colors—descriptions of all kinds of Telescopes. &c &c., by Thos Dick LLD. with 100 engavings—bound in cloth—only 50 cts. Just published and for sale by JOHN P. JEWETT & CO. jan 6

SUPERIOR BLANK BOOKS. J. P. JEWETT & CO., have just manufactured a Splendid Assortment of Blank Books, consisting of Legers, Journals, Day Books, Factory and Memo. Books, &c. &c., in various styles of Binding, and of the best paper. For sale at Wholesale or Retail at the lowest prices opposite the Mansion House. jan 10

DUNBAR'S BLACK INK. Just received a large invoice of the various sizes of the above most superior Ink For sale at wholesale and retail at the Central Bookstore of W. & S. B. IVES. jan 10

HARPER'S FAMILY LIBRARY, Vol 5.—The Practical Astronomer, containing illustrations of Lights and Colors—descriptions of all kinds of Telescopes, &c., by Thos. Dick, LL D., with 100 engravings—bound in cloth—only 50 cents. Just published and for sale by JOHN P. JEWETT & CO. jan 10

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Saturday.

The superior fast sailing bark LUZON, Goodrich, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
jan 10

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet sch EMILY KNIGHT, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. jan 8

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PCKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf,
On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr HENRY, Paine, master, is now loading, and will will sail as above.

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah. jan 10

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this morning, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Danvers Post Office, January 1st, 1846.

N. B. Under the present Post Office Law, there is an additional charge of two cents on all letters advertised,

Anable & Kinsman		Mooney Amos W.
Adams Samuel	2	Munroe Harris
Anderson William	2	Morrill Frederic	4
Arnold E. B.		Mellin Daniel
Abbott Benjamin		Marsh Hannah F.
Allen Ed. A. H.		Merrill R. W.
Brown William		Marshall Eliza A.
Batchelder Henry	2	Martin George B.
Blaisdell Jacob		Nayson Daniel
Bancroft James or Capen		Nichols Andrew
Baker John		Osborne Moses
Buxton John jr.		O'Neal Patrick
Barry Eliza C.		Osborne George
Burkin John and Jacob		Phelps Francis
Caverly Mary		Proctor William H.
Currier G. S.		Perley & Emerson
Carey Michael		Pool Eben
Chenery Moses		Putney Eben
Cross Ruth		Pettengill Rebecca S.
Clark Martha S.		Pierce Mary F.
Cleaveland Annette D.		Perkins Nathaniel
Cushman George		Poor William
Carroll L.		Parker Thomas O.
Colcord Eben P.		Parker Josiah W.
Danvers		Poole Joshua H.
Doughby Abigail		Putnam David
Dickinson O. H.		Proctor Lydia
Davis Elzaphen P.		Patterson Rebecca
Dykes Samuel H.		Pilsbury Parker
Dalton Richard		Pearson Nathan
Dexter Mary H.		Porter Mary E.
Elliott Richard		Poor Enoch Jr.
Elwell William		Riardon Michael
Farnham Joseph		Russell John B.	11
Frye Mary		Rice & Gardner
Fuller Daniel		Standley Francis L.
Fellows Eliza		Smalley Nathan
Frye Joseph S.		Sears Jonathan
Foster Gorham P.		Sanborn J.
Foss Daniel W.		Southwick Orlando
Flagg Samuel A.		Symonds Benjamin
Ford Sophia		Sullivan Simeon
Goss Polly		Sawyer Asa
Gray Emily		Stevens John
Galloup D. B.		Southwick Platts
Goodale William		Southwick Lucy
Gardner Sally		Tapley Asa
Griffin William A.		Taylor Oliver
Hart John		Thurston Leonard
Holman Field		Tibbets Benjamin
Hackett Henry		Tate Hannah
Herbert Henry		Trofftter John
Hawes Thomas P.		Trow Ann Maria
Haragan Jerry		Trask Moses
Hurd Hafford		Thompson Catharine L.
Hutchinson James L.		Twiss Jonathan
Hyde Elisha J. G.		Torr Andrew
Jewett Warren		Uram F. W.
Knight John Jr.		Very Joseph or Benjamin
Kelty & Tapley		Woodbury Jonas
Lunt B. S.		Wilson Jona jr.
Larrabee William & Co.		Webber Moses
Langley John R.		White Dexter
Little Wm R.		Wentworth Lewis
Lovett John L.		Weatherbee Eliphalet

Jan 3 S. DODGE, P. M.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Post Office at North Danvers, Quarter ending Dec. 1845.

Anderson William	Lane Benjamin T.
Allen Edward A.	Lander Mrs.
Brown Miss Mariett	Mastin L. D.
Bates John	Mardin Miss Martha Ann
Coffin Myry Ann	Moer Janet
Dunnels John M.	Nells Gilbert
Dennet George	Pearl John
Davis Sophia	Phelps Francis
Egan Patrick	Page Charles
Edgercomb Ivory	Putnam Heirs of Eli
Fisher Charles R.	Proctor H. B.
Forbes Sophia E.	Payson Edward
Fuller Edward	Reed Samuel H.
Grovesner Dr. D. A.	Swan S. B.
Glidden Mark	Strout Benjamin
Goodwin Moses	Simns Daniel
Goodale Ebenezer	Shackley James D.
Goodwin Theodore	Tyler George N.
Holt Benjamin	Towne Daniel
Hook John Jr.	Trout Mary in care of P. B. Francies
Hoyt Susan M.	Tupley Eliza Jane
Hunt Israel	Webber Tristam D.
Hutcherson Abigail	Wheeler Benjamin
Jessup Louisa	Whitehouse H. M.
King Thomas	Wheeler Alden
Kelley Israel H.	Webb George
Kelley J. B.	Whitemore Jonathan
Littlefield Ralph H.	White Ann
Ladd Sarah A.	Wallace H. C.
Lawrence Charles

Jan 3. THOMAS BOWEN, P. M.

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)
SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.
dec 6 lawtf

New Stove
Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.

dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.

Dec. 56th, 1846 4tis,

For Christmas and New Year.

THE subscriber has just received an assortment of FANCY GOODS, particularly adapted to the season, consisting in part of—

Gold Guard and Fob Chains;
Gold and Silver Pencils;
Gold and Stone Finger Rings;
Lockets. Bracelets;
Music boxes, inlaid and plain;
Card Cases do do
Pocket Books;
Steel mounted velvet bags;
Purses—double and single;
Buffalo back combs;
Jet and steel ornamented combs;
Ivory fine tooth; do
Pocket mirrors;
Hair brushes—hard and soft;
Tooth brushes—English and American;
Steel vest chains;
Letter clips; Letter stamps;
Patent letter balances;
Mantle thermometers, &c.

which are offered for sale very low for cash, at 222 Essex Street, opposite the First Church.

dec 24 WILLIAM ARCHER.

SELLING OFF.
GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.
Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J. C FERRIN

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability eannot be exeelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

MESSENGER'S NOTICE. ESSEX, ss. Nov. 29. 1845. A warrant has been duty issued against the estate of FRANCIS EVELETH, of Danvers, in said county, housewright, and insolvent debtor;—and the payment of any debts, or the delivery of any property of said insolvent to him or for his use, and the transfer of any property by him, are forbidden by law. The first meeting of his creditors will be held at the Office of J. G. KING, Esq. Master in Chancery, No. 235 Essex street, Salem, on the second Monday of January next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for proof of debts and choice of assignee.

JOSEPH E SPRAGUE, Sheriff,
dec 6 Messenger.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at

C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Pongee Silk Hdkfs, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeck; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable; Beewithe, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

Splendid Furs!!

AT 183 ESSEX STREET,
Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars, &c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2. S. DODGE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article,

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
27 Water street.
july 12

W. D. JOPLIN,
AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.
Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,
TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.
'OAK HALL!'
UNPARALLELLED.

In the Annals of History as to prices of READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low, as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845. "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY TH WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this.

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS.

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.
nov 8 ep3m

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th. tf

PLEASE call at No. 2 Allen's Building and purchase a Boston Almanac—the best No. yet published, containing in addition to the usua Maps of the City, a Diagram of Railroads diverging from Boston showing the Depots and distances,

---

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.
dec 6

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue.

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea, Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above; but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good! At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I feel as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly.. Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

CARTER & BATCHELDER

WISHING to reduce their present Stock of

Dry Goods,

consisting in part of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, SATTINETS, VESTINGS, and a large assortment of

Fall and Winter Goods,

Calicoes, Flannels, Hosiery, Gloves, Country Flannel and Yarn, Sheetings and Shirtings, &c., will sell for two months, at a very small advance on the first cost.

Persons wishing to purchase, will find it for their interest to call.

Danvers, Oct 11, 1845.

BALCH & LAMSON,

At the Old Stand, corner of Essex and Washington Street,

SALEM, MASS.

DEALERS IN

WATCHES,

OF EVERY DESCRIPTION,
CLOCKS, SPOONS, SPECTACLES, CHAINS, KEYS, &c. &c.

Watches, Clocks and Music Boxes repaired and warranted.

MARKING ATTENDED TO,
JEWELRY REPAIRED

aug 17 3m

CHARLES H. MANNING,

CABINET MAKER,

Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street
DANVERS, Mass.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made repaired cheap.

OE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES
le as above. oct 15

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted orefer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establishment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, Jr.

Salem, March 12 tf

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

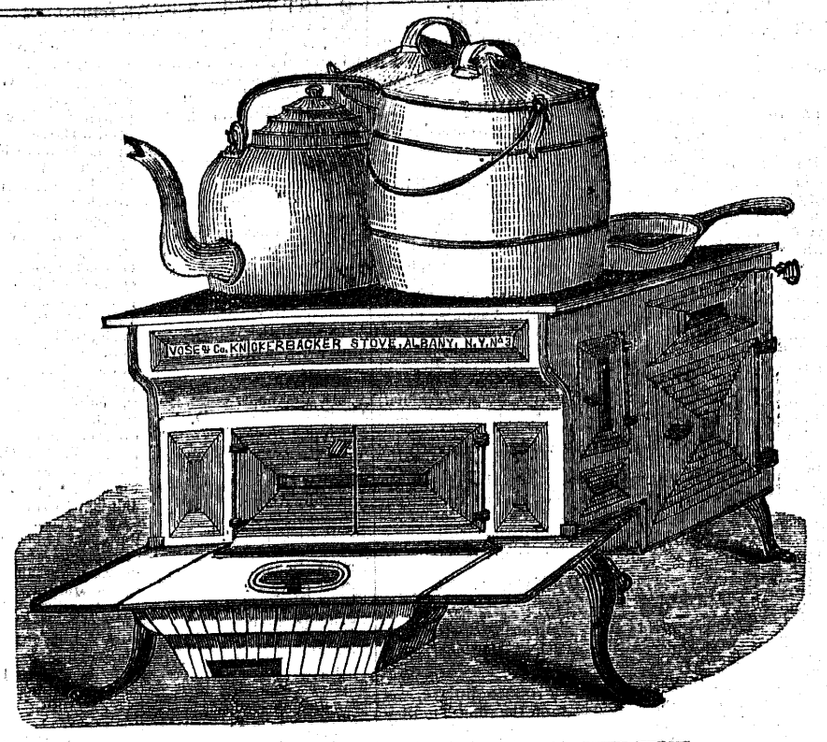
For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.



Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

TO LET.

A CONVENIENT Tenement for a smal Store, and a room for an office, on the Main street in Danvers. Inquire of the subscriber, opposite the Monument. JOSEPH SHED.

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of.

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend, Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,

together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
mproved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured:

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass; Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other esthblishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co. partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch 29 1y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

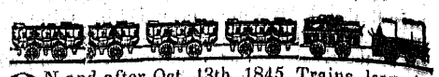
WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

REMOVAL.



EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.

oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1-2, 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M; 4.55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P. M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8	A.M.
" "	8 3-4		" "	9 1-2
" "	9 3-4		" "	11 3-4
" "	11 1-4		" "	12 3-4
" "	1 3-4	P M.	" "	3	P.M.
" "	2 3-4		" "	4
" "	4 1-2		" "	6
" "	5 1-2		" "	6 1-2
" "	6 1-2		" "	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.

apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

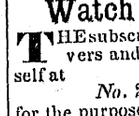
All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to

Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.

April 19, 1845. 1 y

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 Boston ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of



STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cook Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem.

june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of Pebbleonic and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN

sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem

FOR SALE

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Front street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARD

july 26 tf

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps of different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles, with one, two and three lights, of the Solar, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem

ASTERN RAILROAD
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

Leave Salem at

HEAD BRANCH.

AND SALEM

Express and Baggage Waggon

Boston, daily (Sundays

Ham's Hotel, or Poole &
No. 14 Blackstone, and N
will be promptly attended with care.
S. F. TOWN

rther's store, No. 120 Boston constantly on hand the following

TOVES,

Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves
Stove;
's Friend;
variety of other cheap Cooking
Parlor Stoves of all sizes and Box Stoves, of a
work done with neatness
CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

FOR SALE.
story house and lot of land
The House is very two families and will be Inquire of
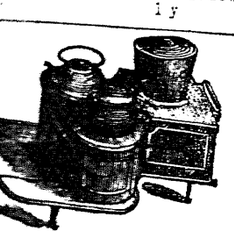
H. RAM GRANT.



Curtain Fixtures.
articles of Curtain Fix-manufacture, for superior to those out of order. For sale manufacturer's prices, at the store, Salem, by
R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

Clock Repairing.
the citizens of Dan
that he has established him
NS BUILDING,
the Watch and Clock
for strict attention to
to merit a share of
N. CONANT.
REPAIRED, and a good
GLASSES, constantly on

TACLES
customers and the
we have received from the
and common Specie
as can be bought in the
R. H. & CHAMBERLAIN,
241 Essex street, Salem.

R SALE
for sale the three story and adjoining, now shop, situated on Foster
Terms reasona-
and repair.
I. & T. HARDY.

LES. Just received, a Shadowless Lamps, o
of the different sizes of
of the latest patterns of
three lights, of the Silver,
at the lowest Boston
215 Essex st. Salem.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 17, 1846. NUMBER 11.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

THE OLD CLOCK ON THE STAIRS.

BY LONGFELLOW.

Somewhat back from the village street
Stands the old fashioned country seat.
Across its antique portico
Tall poplar trees their shadows throw;
And from its station in the hall
An ancient time-piece says to all,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

Halfway up the stairs it stands,
And points and beckons with its hands
From its case of massive oak,
Like a monk, who under his cloak
Crosses himself, and sighs, alas!
With sorrowful voice to all who pass,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

By day its voice is low and light,
But in the silent dead of night,
Distinct as a passing footstep's fall,
It echoes along the vacant hall,
Along the ceiling, along the floor,
And seems to say at each chamber door,
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

In that mansion used to be Free hearted Hospitality,
His great fires up the chimney roared,
The stranger feasted at his board;
But like the skeleton at the feast,
That warning time-piece never ceased,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

There groups of merry children played,
There youths and maidens dreaming strayed,
Oh, precious hours! O, golden prime
And affluence of love and time!
Even as a miser counts his gold,
Those hours the ancient time-piece told,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

From that chamber, clothed in white,
The bride came forth on her wedding night,
There in that silent room below,
The dead lay in his shroud of snow;
And in the hush that followed the prayer
Was heard the old clock on the stair,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

All are scattered now and fled,
Some are married, some are dead;
And when I ask, with throbs of pain,
"Ah, when shall they all meet again
As in the days long since gone by,"
The ancient time-piece makes reply,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

Never here, forever there,
Where all parting, pain and care,
And death, and time shall disappear,—
Forever there, but never here!
The horologe of Eternity
Sayeth this incessantly,—
"Forever—never!
Never—forever!"

COMMUNICATION.

Mr. Editor—The following extracts from the Journal of a young man of this town, now abroad, were not written with any view of being published, and are chiefly interesting as containing the fresh first impressions of a landsman on his first voyage to a foreign port. In the absence of events which to a seaman would not be thought at all remarkable, the romance of a sea life may possess some interest ro those who prefer a residence on 'terra firma.'

Stray Leaves from a Journal at Sea.

Friday, Oct. 24. Discharged pilot just as we could see our way clear of the islands. Wind light, and we move along slowly and smoothly. A beautiful morning but it was a little hazy and we soon lost sight of Boston. At noon no shore was visible, nothing but the "blue above and the blue below" except a slight sprinkling of sails in the distance. The day was so clear and comfortable that we spent most of the time on deck. Towards evening the wind increased and at supper time was N. E. Cape Cod in sight at 5 o' clock and the Cape and revolving lights at 6. Every thing loose stowed away for fear of a blow. The vessel rocks more and more and the timbers creak.—Have been much struck to-day with the immensity of the ocean and the apparent insignificancy of man upon its ample bosom. I never before perceived the benefit science has confered on navigation—to think that a vessel can steer its way so directly on a trackless ocean where all looks so exactly alike, by means of compass, quadrant and a few figures.

7 o'clock, P. M. Have just been upon deck. Wind blowing strong from the N. E., and the brig dashing along nobly on the same course as before. Waves high and I find it difficult to walk the deck. Phosphoresence of the sea exhibited finely. The prow dashes off a mass of white foam, and as it passes back along the sides of the vessel it sparkles like gold. It is a most splendid sight that I cannot describe but I have been gazing at it a long while from the cabin window. We are just now passing Cape Cod which brings us fairly into the Atlantic ocean. By tomorrow morning we shall have left the Cape far behind not to rest our eyes upon land again until we reach Turk's Island near Cuba. The Captain gives the Cape a wide berth for fear of being driven nearer to it than would be agreeable in case of a blow. Am well and hearty,—with no signs of sea sickness, and if it does not attack me by to-morrow morning I shall cherish a slight hope of escape. Retired to my berth at 8.

Saturday, Oct. 25. Was "rocked in the cradle of the deep" till I slept soundly. At about 2 in the morning was awakened by a hubbub above. The blow predicted by the Captain and the barometer had come. The brig rocked tremendously and I could not get asleep again. At 3, with the least possible sensation of sea sickness I emptied the contents of my stomach of the more indigestible portion of last night's supper. As we had been sailing pretty "close hauled" and the wind high, we shortened sail and double reefed top-sail, still we were driving ahead at the rate of 8 knots, large. Feeling no appetite for breakfast, I thought it prudent to keep my berth till the worst was over. When the breeze slackened I crawled out of my berth and went on deck. The billows were rolling beautifully and hundreds of stormy petrels—Mother Carey's chickens—were skimming over the water. Why they have legs is a puzzle to me for they never seem to have use for them. Felt rather sickish during the forenoon, not having got used to the motion of the vessel I did not enjoy the sight as I otherwise should.

Afternoon, felt nicely although the other passengers were all confined to their berths from sea sickness.—Two or three little blue birds from the land alighted on the vessel to rest their weary wings. The poor things must have been driven off the shore to sea.—Never before had any idea of the sublimity of the ocean scenery. It greatly surpasses anything one can imagine on land. There, we have nothing to compare with it. Nothing is here visible but the boundless ocean, the little birds and our noble brig dashing along—except a cloudy sky above. Others may not find much that is beautiful in a "home on the rolling deep," but I find more of the sublime than I expected and more than I can describe. Now that I have got my "sea legs" on, I can view the fine prospect with more complacency than I could in the morning. In fact I like the rolling of the vessel better than smoother sailing. It is after 7 and all are in their berths but James the cabin boy and myself, and I must soon retire. This afternoon brings us "off soundings" and launches us on the "fathomless deep."

Sunday, Oct. 26. This morning brings us into the Gulf Stream where the water is warmer and of a more beautiful blue, and a strong current northerly. Capt M. hauled up some of the water in a bucket for me to put my hand in and it felt quite warm. There is a heavy sea and as we go with a light wind against the current we get along slowly. No stormy petrels or anything else on the water but plenty of sea plants which they call Gulf weeds are floating by us We had roast turkey for dinner, and Mrs M. and I took ours on deck. The rest of the passengers are better of their sickness but I have seemed to fare the best in this respect.

This afternoon the wind blows fresher and the swell is still greater than before. Such fine foam-crested waves it would make you leap to see. If I had known how much there was to see and learn on the ocean I could hardly have been contented on the land. Everything there seems so commonplace, and here so majestic!

This has been quite a pleasant Sabbath to me although outwardly so unlike our Sundays at home.—I have tried to pass the time as I ought and it seems as if nothing was more calculated to awaken religious feelings than to be placed in the midst of the ocean in a frail bark like ours. I have sat out on the bowsprit for hours with my books, and with plenty of food for meditation about me. I can sit there as comfortably as in my rocking chair at home.

The Captain tested the temperature of the Gulf stream by the thermometer, and found it 74°, rather cooler than common. Shall be through the stream tomorrow morning.

MISCELLANY.

The Muff.

OR, KNOW YOUR OWN MIND.

FROM THE FRENCH.

The first cold day which announces the close of autumn and the approach of winter, is a solemn epoch to a lady of fashion. She must then make due preparations for the coming season. Winter is on its way, accompanied by concerts, routes and balls! What pleasure, what triumphs brings he in his train? What dresses shall we invent to do him fitting honor? These are momentous questions, but cannot be decided until the reigning deities have issued their fiat, fixing the fashion for the season—until then, we must content ourselves with our last winter's velvet mantle, and thick cashmeres and comfortable furs.

So thought Madam Dubreuil, one of the most celebrated of the elegantes of Paris. On that day—it was the early part of last November—winter had suddenly announced himself, and with more asperity than usual; Madam Dubreuil was making her arrangements against this sudden and unforeseen attack of the white headed old gentleman, she could not help reflecting, while occupied in these matters, on the rapid progress of time, on the happy days which had flown so quickly by and on her own twenty-eighth year which was drawing near its close.

'Twenty-eight' certainly cannot be considered a despairing, or even a desponding age, and Madam Dubreuil, as she glanced at one of mirrors in her boudoir, was right in thinking that she had never been more lovely than at that moment. Up to that time, every day appeared only to have added to her beauty, to have furnished her with some new charm; but now she had reached a perfection which she could not hope long to retain. It is not therefore, to be wondered at, if the sight of her last winter's habiliments produced such various thoughts in the mind of Madam Dubreuil; as, one by one, she drew them from their snug retreats. In a box of sandal wood, reposed one of the most lovely muffs ever produced from Siberian Sables. The fair lady looked at it with a melancholy smile, and asked herself, 'how many things have happened since the the last day I wore that muff? and what will be my fate before I again deposite it in that box?'

From these philosophical reflections, my readers will already have imagined that Madam Dubreuil is a widow. It is true; she had been married to a man much older than herself; he was immensely rich, lived in a magnificent style; his house was visited by the first people. He had not been a kind or attentive husband, and by way of making his wife lament his loss, he just before his death made a will, by which he left the great bulk of his property to distant relations, with whom he had scarcely exchanged a word. To his wife he bequeathed a sum which would not produce more than about eight thousand francs per annum.—This will be an effectual method to make her regret,' thought this good man as he penned his last wishes. 'I have habituated my wife to luxury, to spending large sums of money; how will my widow weep for me, when she finds herself reduced to mediocrity, and is compelled to observe the most rigid economy. If I left her all my fortune, she would, perhaps, marry some one for whom she has an affection, and the comparison might not be to my advantage.'

Thus was Madam Dubreuil made a victim of the self love and posthumous jealousy of her amiable spouse. To renounce the pleasure of fashionable life was impossible, they had become a necessity with her; to shine in the great world was her only happiness, and the widow did what many young dandies do; her income not being equal to her expenses, she encroached upon the capital, and continued living in grand style. She calculated upon the future, upon her charms, and upon her accomplishments, marriage was a resource that could not fail her; so many admirers thronged around her, all of whom were prodigal of the most fervent protestations.

The day had however arrived, when Madam Dubreuil perceived that it was absolutely necessary she should bring her widowhood to its term.—Her capital had seriously diminished,—time was running on, and although her looking glass still gave her the most brilliant assurance—although her admirers still poured their ardent vows and adulations into her ear, she must now listen to the voice of reason, or be exposed to the dread alternative of finding herself without a Louis—These considerations had led her to exclaim so philosophically—'how many things have happened since the last day I wore that muff?

She took a rapid view of past events. Two incidents had occured which might seriously influence her future life; with these were connected two names, the recollection of one produced a smile, the other a slight knitting of the brows.—These names were Theobald and the Baron de Grany.

Madam Debreuil had an excellent memory—remembered perfectly that the last time she wore her muff, was on a fine day in the month of April; the night before she had been at a grand ball given by her banker. Her dress on that occasion was of a most beautiful description; a lace robe, a necklace of large pearls, and a natural camelia in her hair. She had never had such a crowd of admirers, her coquetry had never been more attractive or more killing; but in the midst of the great triumph her heart had been severely scathed. A timid and amiable young man, whom she had tormented, for her own amusement, during the whole of the winter, had at last obtained grace in her eyes, and she had confessed to herself and then but whispered, 'I love him.' To acknowledge this to him, it was necessary to wait a more suitable place and opportunity; such an avowal could not be made during the intervals of a quadrille or gallop. And Madam Dubreuil well knew that Theobald de S——was too assiduous to allow her to wait long for the opportunity she desired.

As chance would have it she met him the next day, the last appearance of the Muff, at the Marchioness de L——'s, one of her intimate friends; she had gone there to make a morning call. The drawing room was full of company, and Theobald could only express his admiration by the eloquence of his looks; however, at the moment Madam Dubreuil rose to take leave, and as she took her muff from the table on which she had laid it. Theobald approached, and whispered to her with mysterious emotion—Remember! I await my sentence.'

'Poor young man,' thought the compassionate widow, 'he suffered so long! The first time I can see him alone he shall know that he has gained his cause.'

That evening Madam Dubreuil remained at home to repose herself after the fatigue of the ball. Her sleep was attended with the most enchanting dreams,—on waking, her first thoughts were of Theobald. 'Shall I see him to-day?' said she musingly, 'it would be very silly of him not to call.'

The weather was most beautiful; it was the first day of Spring; Madam Dubreuil walked out with the hope of meeting Theobald. In the evening, she went to the opera, where he was a constant attendant. In vain she directed her opera glasses to the stalls and to the boxes. Between the acts, a gentleman visited Madam Dubreuil in her box, and talked over the occurrences of the day and amongst other matters he said—

'By the by, Madam, are you aware, that you have lost one of your most indefatigable dancers? fortunately the season for balls draws near its close.'

'And who is this deserter?' asked Madam Dubreuil.

'It is Mr Theobald de S——, who has set off this morning for Italy?'

Gone! and at such a moment—without waiting for his sentence! this was the most poignant grief that Madam Dubreuil had ever suffered. In what way could she account for this precipitate departure?' He must have felt terrified at the decisive moment! He was so modest, so timid!

Sometimes after this event, which made a deep impression on the mind of Madam Dubreuil, she left Paris. Since her widowhood, she usually passed the summer at a country-house of one of her aunts who had dignified it with the title of Chateau. Madam Bonneval did not receive much company—her country guests were generally very grave personages, some old friends of hers. On the present occasion the youngest of the society was a certain Baron de Grany, who was only fifty years old; he was a complete original, proud of his nobility, which was, to say the best of it, but doubtful; and of some military exploits that he took care to recount to every new comer, and which were still more apocryphal. The Baron had great pretensions both to military glory and to gallantry. He affected the frankness and rudeness of an old soldier; and whenever he had forgotten himself so far as to make use of terms not generally admitted into society, he excused himself by saying—'you need not expect that an old warrior, bred in camps, can have the soft tones and effeminate manners of the city fop.'

Nothing could be more ludicrous than his mode of expressing his admiration for Madam Dubreuil; for he had become desperately in love with her, and took every opportunity of paying her attention. The lovely widow laughed at his awkward declarations, and appeared to consider them as in jest. This went on for some time, but one morning, the Baron, finding Madam Dubreuil alone in the saloon, made her a formal tender of his hand and fortune, and by way of convincing her, en militaire, that he was really in earnest, threw his arms around her and insisted upon sealing the contract, which he thought too advantageous to be refused, with a salute. Madame Dubreuil incensed at his rude conduct, violently rang the bell, called for her aunt, declared to her that if M. de Grany remained there, she would leave the house. The Baron, who had cooly seated himself in an arm chair, appeared much surprised at the unnecessary alarm evinced by the lady, said, 'that he would give her time to consider the folly of her conduct, and that he should proceed to Paris, where he should expect to receive a more favorable reply to his proposals.'—He then very quietly took leave of Madame Bonneval, kissed his hand to the widow and then left the house.

'Why should you not marry him?' asked Madame Bonneval, 'I grant to you he is uncouth and insolent, but he is a good hearted creature, besides he has an income of thirty thousand francs!'

Madame Dubreuil had at first said no; after that she reflected seriously upon the matter, and had almost made up her mind to say yes, before she returned to Paris.

These were the reminiscences which presented themselves to the mind of Madame Dubreuil; these were the adventures which had occured since the day on which the muff had been put out at service.

'Juliette,' said Madame Dubreuil to her waiting maid, 'I am going out; is the carriage ready?'

'Yes, Madame, but here is a gentleman to visit you.'

'Say I am not at home.'

'But Madame, it is the Baron!'

'Myself!' added the Baron, with all its coolness and familiarity of an invincible warrior.

'A thousand pardons, Baron,' said Madame Dubreuil, 'but I cannot now grant you a long interview. I am absolutely obliged to go out—some indispensible affairs.'

'There is one more indispensible than all the rest—and it is precisely that which I am come about. But I will be brief: I will speak to you with the frankness of a soldier, when is our marriage to take place?'

'We can talk of that another time.'

'Excuse me! My love cannot accommodate itself to these indefinite delays. I have already waited four months. I have resolved upon being married within the next three weeks; consider if that will suit you. I must, however, with the candor of a soldier, warn you that should you not consent, I have another party quite ready! She is a widow, not compared with you, certainly, but stil will make a very agreeable substitute. You have the first offer, but I must have your prompt determination, and I give you till six o'clock this evening, when I shall expect your irrevocable answer.'

'Very well,, replied Madam Dubreuil.

'Do you authorize me to hope?'

'Have I not till to night to decide? Juliete, take my muff and put it into the carriage.'

'That would make a magnificent cap for a grenadier,' said M. de Grany; ,what a pity that it should be employed for idle show. But you like these muffs, you ladies; they serve you for hiding places! it is into these things your love letters are slipped; oh! take care and not let me catch you at it—when I am your husband I shall inspect your muff.'

When Madame Dubreuil had got rid of the Baron, who accompanied her to the carriage, she looked after him with a contemptuous smile, and exclaimed, 'the simpleton.'

But she did not mean to say by that she would not marry him! Men with thirty thousand francs a year are not easily found, and a woman who must live in luxury, who must have her carriage, must learn to tolerate even a ridiculous husband.

Theobald was rich also, but Madame Dubreuil had not seen him again, and doubtless he had forgotten her.

These reflections made her melancholy, and to divert her attention she ordered the coachman to drive her to a sumptuous shop in the Rue Montmartre. Here they enrolled before her peices of costly stuffs, which she turned over with a careless and disdainful air. After having purchased some five or six dresses, she looked round to discover were she had laid her muff. At that moment she observed a young man going out of the shop, who strongly reminded her of Theobald.—Unfortunately she could not see his face. Should it be him?

Agitated, distressed, she regained her carriage and whether it was mechanically, or whether she felt cold, she put both her hands, which she had not done before, into her muff; here she found a paper—it was a letter, which she early read:

'You know my love for you. It is time to put an end to torments which I can no longer endure. If you have any pity for me, if you do not reject the offer of my hand, come to night to my sister's where I will wait for you. One word will save me from despair. Should you not come I shall know how to consider your absence, and you will hear no more from the unhappy THEOBALD.

'It was Theobald! I was not deceived!' exclaimed Madame Dubreuil. At his sister's this evening—I will be there.'

And in the meantime, in order to prevent all disagreeable reconoitres, and to prepare properly for her coming happiness, she at once wrote to the Baron these words: 'I will not marry you.'

And then at the appointed time, she went to Madame de Merange's house, who happened to be alone, and received her with the cordiality of an old friend. 'It is an age since I saw you, lovely widow. Have you only just arrived from the country? They say that this winter is to be very brilliant. Shall I tell you a secret? I am quite tired of being a widow, am thinking quite seriously of marrying again. What do you think of it? By the by have you received a letter from my brother, from poor Theobald?'

'Certainly, and it is that letter which has brought me here.'

'To offer your congratulation? Yes, he has made a capital match—she is a country girl, but she is worth a million of francs.'

'What can you mean?'

'Oh, you must know, as you have received the letter from Bordeaux, where Theobald has just married a rich heiress.'

Madame Dubreuil was petrified.

'Ah!' continued Madame de Merauge, 'he had other projects formerly, and I did think that I should have you for a sister-in-law. One evening last spring the poor fellow was waiting for you here until past midnight. The next morning he set off for Italy, and you know the rest.'

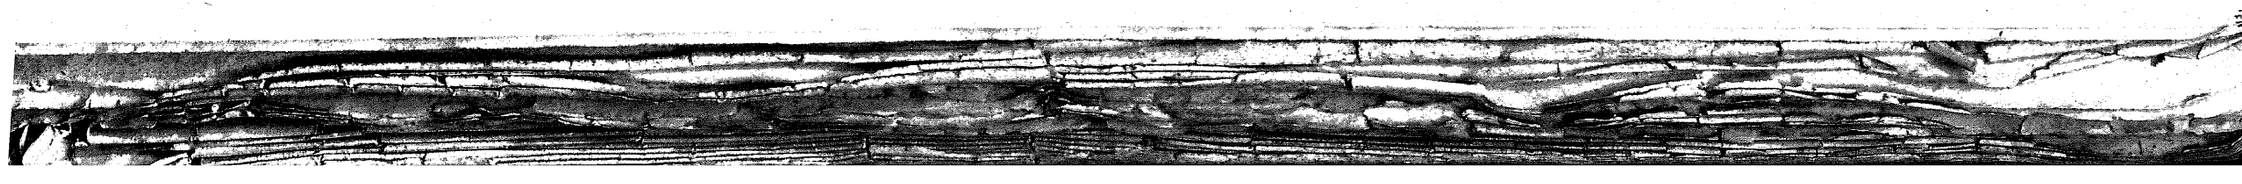
Madame Dubreuil understood in a moment that the letter had remained in her muff since the last day of last winter. Theobald had placed it there while it lay on the table at the Marchioness de L's, and the weather was unfortunately so very fine that Madame Dubreuil had no occasion to make use of it—she hardly put the ends of her fingers into it. Odious spring! why didst thou come a day too soon?

Madame Dubreuil passed an agitated night, and the next morning, very early, having reflected maturely that there was no remedy for an evil that had already occurred, she made up her mind to write again to the Baron.

'I wished to try you last night. If you are not dead, from despair, come and receive my consent to your proposal.'

'I am not dead,' replied the Baron, 'but I did not understand that you meant only to try me; and not having any time to lose, I have just now officially addressed a letter to the other widow, Madame de Merange—you are therefore too late, I have pledged my word, and an old soldier does not trifle with that.'

Two husbands lost!! This will teach the ladies not to lay by their muffs without examination, and to take care that nothing unread is left in them.



Slavery in Massachusetts. In old times, when slavery was sanctioned in Massachusetts, a wealthy lady residing in Gloucester was in the habit of giving away the infants of her female slaves, a few days after they were born, as people are accustomed to dispose of a litter of kittens. One of her neighbors begged an infant, which, in those days of comparitive simplicity, she nourished with her own milk, and reared among her own children. This woman had an earnest desire for a brocade gown; and her husband not feeling able to purchase one, she sent her little nursling to Virginia and sold her, when she was about seven years old.—Mrs. Child's History of Woman.

BLACK SEA WHEAT. A letter from the American Consul at Odessa, says the stock of wheat in port is 440,000 bushels, and though there were about 120 sails of vessels in port, of different flags, they had not only nearly all engaged cargoes, but there was a scarcity of north continental shipping, and high rates of freight were paying to England, Holland and Belgium.

FLOUR. The quantity of flour received at Boston, during the last eight years, is given in the Courier, as follows:—1845, 730,138 barrels; 1844, 686,586 do; 1843, 610,964 do; 1842, 609,460 do; 1841, 574,223 do; 1840, 619,261 do; 1839, 451,667 do; 1838, 379,704 do.

☞A Connecticut Jonathan, in taking a walk with his dearest, came to a toll bridge, when he, as candid and honest as he was wont to be, said, after paying his toll, (which was one cent)—'Come, Suke, you must pay your own toll, for just as like as not I shan't have you after all.'

PROGRESS OF IMPROVEMENT.—A young woman in a country town, thus addressed a young man: 'John——you have been paying your distresses to me long enough, I want to know what your intensions are, I don't mean to be kept in dispense any longer.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN 17, 1846.

"Old things have passed away, and all things become new."

Our readers will find in another column, an account of the ordination services at the Unitarian Church on Wednesday last, on the settlement of Rev. F. P. Appleton as Pastor of the Society.—We had the pleasure of witnessing the impressive exercises of the morning, and of partaking in the cheerful festivities of the afternoon, and can bear our willing testimony that every thing was done decently and in order, and that all passed off in the happiest manner. But this is not to our purpose. Our design was to hint at the thoughts which were suggested by what we saw and heard on the occasion, and which are embodied in the heading of our paragraph. We are not alone of those who remember an old-fashioned ordination. But its glories are long since gone. We look in vain for the gaping crowds pouring in from all the towns around, for the tents and booths, the eggnogg, the rum punch and the ginger-bread, the long procession, the martial music and the sermon uniting the length of the one with the wind of the other—all these have passed away with the cocked hats and leather breeches, and a new order of things has arisen. We know not how better to illustrate the customs of the ecclesiastical conventions of olden days, while at the same time we commemorate the racy humor and admirable good sense of one of our own ancestors, than by relating an incident set forth in the chronicles of a town not more than a thousand miles distant from where we write. That ancestor's name—venerabile nomen—was Obed. Obed .—Obed was the son of George, who was our great-great-great-grandfather Nehemiah's brother. But to our story. Obed was on the committee to attend the council at the ordination of the Rev. Mr. Penniman. When the council assembled, Mr. C. objected against Mr. E. sitting in council.—The council entered into conversation on the subject, and delayed so long, that the people were apprehensive that the ordination would not be performed that day. Obed called for a bowl, lemons, sugar, and rum, made a bowl full of punch, carried it to the council chamber, begged leave to call the attention of the gentlemen a moment, said that they had been laboring a long time and needed refreshment, and hoped they would receive it kindly; and if perchance they should discover a fly in the punch, they would carefully remove it without spilling all the punch or breaking the bowl. The gentlemen with good humor drank the punch, took the hint, and proceeded immediately to the business of the ordination.—There, reader. Our family has produced many notable men—devout deacons whose praise was in all the churches, puissant militia captains, and weighty members of the General Court—but most dearly of all do we delight in the memory of that Obed, that truly Pickwickian Obed, whose history must have suggested to Dickens the outlines of the most illustrious character in all modern fiction, Samuel Pickwick, Esq. But family pride has led us from our subject, and at the same time nearly filled up our allotted space with its vain gossip. We have room to say but a few words more. The change which time has wrought in the habits and doings, the eatings and drinkings of ecclesiastical bodies, has extended itself to other things. The old barn-like structure called a meeting-house has given place to the modern church, a more fitting temple of worship; and the fearful rule of the tythingman and lobby yielded to the gentler but stronger influence of a moral sense of propriety and decorum. Meanwhile has there been no corresponding change in that of which all else is but the semblance and the show, the spirit of religion? Indeed, there has. Polemics, the polemics of our fathers, whose disputes had no other end than the meaning of an empty word or the manner of an idle ceremony, is no longer a science. Men now talk about fundamentals. No longer is the follower of another school regarded as an outcast and a heretic, or a difference in mere rites as prejudicial to the salvation of the soul. To be sure, here and there are to be found those who yet think that some particular creed can alone point out the sure path to Heaven; but such are few—they stand like the tottering ruins of an ancient barbarism to tell more forcibly the triumphant progress of civilization and truth. The animosities of differing sects, the anathemas of warring theologies, the rage of a wicked and cruel bigotry, have all been calmed and hushed before the voice of a holier spirit and beneath the influence of a purer zeal. Let us thank God that it is so—that intolerance and strife have yielded to sweet charity and love—and let us remember that we are all at the best weak mortals, equally subject to error and sin, but bound together by one chain of humanity, having a common origin, united by common sorrows, and approaching a common destiny.

☞The Rev. John T. Sargent, of Boston, formerly minister of Suffolk street Chapel, has received and accepted an unanimous invitation of the First Congregational society in Summerville, to become their pastor.

☞The ship Brooklyn, Capt. Richardson, at New York, loading for Columbia river, among other Christians will take on board 150 Mormons who have engaged a passage in her. She is advertised to sail on the 24th inst.

☞The Michigan Telegraph says, Flour is $4,-50 in Detroit and still declining in price.

The War News.

All eyes are now looking with much anxiety towards Washington and across the Atlantic, for the expected intelligence of the effect of the President's Message on the feelings of the British nation. It has long been our opinion that on the latter news will hang the decision of this important question between the two countries. As Parliament is not now in session, we can have no indication of the feelings of the government, unless the Privy Council should be called together to act upon the subject. The popular feeling by which the government will be compelled to be guided, will only be known, and that will appear by the voice of the press. We may safely anticipate much serious denunciation of our course upon the Oregon question from the respectable and influential presses, while Professor Punch will use the powerful weapon of ridicule in caracaturing the universal yankee nation. Although there may be much noise and bluster and alarm on both sides of the Atlantic, well meaning and sagacious statesmen will find means to effect an honorable rescue of their respective countries from the evils of war. It may be after all, that we have more to fear from the batteries of Punch than from the soldiery and wooden walls of old England.

No War on account of Orregon, unless first provoked on the part of Great Britain—and then no peace while anything English remains on this continent.

The above sentiment was sent by C. J. Ingersol, member of Congress from Philadelphia, to an Eighth of January Celebration in New York.—The latter part is a sweeping clause, and if it is to be understood literally, and Mr. Ingersol's wish is carried into effect, we need have no apprehensions about the Tariff so far as English manufactures are concerned, for Mr. I. would have nothing English on the Western continent. Perhaps the patriotic Mr. Ingersol would also deprive us of English literature and by one more step compel the disuse of the English language." In this case we might adopt the language of some of his constituents, and record our legislative acts and scold at John Bull in high Dutch.

Annexation to Salem.

We see that a petition has been presented to the Legislature, by W. F. Nichols and 27 others, in aid of that of C. A. Dearborn and others for the addition of part of our territory to Salem. This "disputed territory" is that portion of the north side of Main St. from the Salem line up to opposite Gen. Sutton's brick store. This includes all of Grove St. except a slight section near the bridge and the estates on 'back lane.' There is a large amount of taxable property in dispute which our Salem neighbors would be glad to obtain, but which we are not desirous to part with. Danvers will oppose it, and Lewis Allen, Elias Putnam and John Page, Esq's, were appointed a Committee to look after for the rights of the town, before the Legislature.

Levee.

We understand that the second Annual Levee of the D M. Institute is to take place on some evening of week after next, at Upton's Hall. Each member of the Institute will be entitled to a free ticket, and a limited number will be at the disposal of the managers at a moderate price, notice of which will be given hereafter.

Settling Bills.—This is the season when "little bills" are presented in such number that to satisfy them all seems to require a long purse well filled with the 'needful.' We have however heard of a poor but conscientious man of this town who informed one of his neighbors on the 1st of January that he had had presented to him that morning no less than 28 Bills (8 of them being large) and he had satisfied them all. The neighbor was not so much surprised that so many bills had been presented as to hear that they had all been paid, knowing as he did his friend's lack of coin. He therefore questioned him more particularly and found that the fortunate holders of these bills were 20 chickens and eight young ducks!

Freedom of the Press. Our Salem friends, if no others, will be interested to know, that the editors of this paper were called into Court this morning to answer to the charge of a libel against John A. Innis, of Salem. The head and front of our offending will be found in the Traveller of the 28th and 30th of Oct last.—Boston Traveller.

We have some recollection of the articles referred to above, which intimated that Mr. I. had got himself into trouble by his own love of notoriety. Such a charge in relation to a person of Mr. Innis's retiring and unobtrusive habits, deserves all the punishment that will be likely to be inflicted under the decision of any jury who may be acquainted with both the parties. We have always been wont to regard the Traveller as one of the best papers on our exchange list, and been highly pleased with the elevated tone of its editorials as well as the excellence of its selections. Notwithstanding all this, we are bound to believe there is something peculiarly malicious and atrocious about that journal, to induce a man of such excessive modesty as Mr. Innis, to drag himself from the dignified retirement in which he has so long lived and appear as a prosecutor against its editors.

Among the new appointments, confirmed by the Senate is that of Stephen Ilsley, to be postmaster at Newburyport, in place of Benjamin W. Hale, whose commission has expired.

☞There is to be a "Convention of the Working Men of New England" at Lynn on Friday the 16th inst., at which all who feel an interest in the elevation of this portion of humanity are invited to be present.

ORDINATION.

Mr. Frank P. Appleton was ordained pastor of the Unitarian Society in this town, on Wednesday last. It was a beautiful day for the occasion, and the church was filled to overflowing. The exercises were of a very high order. The Introductory prayer was by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Salem. Selections from the scriptures were read by Rev. Joseph H. Allen. The Sermon was by Rev. Nathaniel Hall, jr., of Dorchester. It was a strong and well written discourse, containing many very excellent suggestions. The Prayer of Ordination was by Rev. Dr. Flint, of Salem. The Charge by Dr. Gannet of, Boston, was the finest and noblest charge we ever heard given, embracing in it nothing of a sectarian character, but defining in a clear and very forcible manner the duties of a clergyman. It was listened to with admiration by all present. The Right Hand of Fellowship by Rev. Hiram Withington, of Leominster, was very well performed. The Address to the Society, by Rev. J. T. Sargent, of Dorchester was very well written and delivered. The Concluding Prayer was by Rev. Mr. Bartlett, of Marblehead. Benediction by the Pastor, The singing was very fine, and altogether the occasion was one of more than ordinary interest. Immediately after the services at the Church, the Council, and several clergymen of various denominations, together with a large number of invited guests repaired to Mr. Ham's hotel, where ample provision had been made for satisfying the cravings of appetite, of which about 125 persons of both sexes partook.

A Sermon was preached in the evening, by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Salem.

Dr. Darling's Lecture. The experiments at Dr. Darling's chemical Lecture on Monday evening last were very successful. The great experiment of the evening was the solidification of carbonic acid gas by condensation. This produced a degree of cold sufficient to make mercury (or quicksilver) solid, so that it may be run into bullets. It requires greater cold to do this than any ever yet known even in Franconia. We heard the suggestion made that the Doctor ought to be employed to freeze over the East Boston Ferry some feet in thickness by which he would essentially aid our efforts for a land avenue to Boston. Our own opinion is that Nature has often enough closed up that passage to make the nuisance easy of proof.

Donation Visit.

On Friday evening of last week, the Methodist Episcopal Society of this village, held a friendly social meeting to contribute to the comfort and support of their respected minister as well as to their own enjoyment. Tables, well provided with refreshments were spread in their spacious new vestry, and the time was passed in hearing addresses, singing and social friendly greeting. Apart from the pecuniary aid received, their pastor Rev Mr Collyer must have been pleasantly impressed with the kindness and sympathy which prompted his people to this generous method of testifying their appreciation of his labors among them. This Society deserves great credit for the zeal and self sacrifice by which they have sustained gospel ordinances under many discouraging circumstances, but we are happy to learn that a brighter prospect appears before them, and hope that the unfavorable seed time may yet result in an abundant harvest.

CARD.

We desire through the medium of your paper to acknowledge our obligation to the numerous friends who visited us on the evening of the 9th inst.; for the many tangible tokens of their friendship, amounting in value, to about eighty-two dollars. This early expression of their affection and kindness, has not only a tendency to endear us to them, (for the evening was spent in a very affectionate manner) but also to make us pledge our hearts and powers to their everlasting interests; and, as we believe somewhat in the old adage—"he that giveth should at once forget, but he that receiveth never—our unceasing prayer to God is, that when he shall make up His jewels, these benevolent donors may be found among them.

Isaac P. and M. L Collyer.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

Mr. Field's Lectures on the History of the Church.

We were present, last Tuesday eve. at the delivery of the first of a series of Lectures on Church History, by Rev. Mr. Field. This lecture was merely introductory, showing in a clear and distinct manner the situation and condition of the world at the coming of Christ. We have rarely listened to a lecture with more interest and pleasure. In it was embodied a vast deal of valuable information which showed much study and research on the part of the lecturer. It is a noble subject, involving as it does so much of interest to all denominations. We dare prediet that the remainder of the series will not be less interesting than the introductory, and that they will be listened to with much pleasure and profit by large audiences.

Mexico and Texas.

The hopes of a peaceable termination of our troubleswith Mexico are again overclouded. A Mexican force is reported to have taken up a defensive position on the southern or western bank of the Rio Grande. It looks as though the Mexicans intend to strike a blow when the least expected.

☞Albert J. Tirrell is out with a letter in the New Orleans Picayune, denying that he is under personal restraint, for fear he should commit suicide.

☞Nineteen hands were discharged from the engineer department at the Washington Navy Yard on Friday. This does not look much like war.

Two Days Later from Europe.

The packet ship Oxford, arrived at New York, on Wednesday night. She sailed from Liverpool on the 6th of December.

The commercial news is of much importance, as will be seen by the following paragraph:—

Alleged Intention of Government to Repeal the Corn Laws.—The London Times of Thursday, had the following announcment:—"The decision of the Cabinet is no longer a secret. Parliament it is confidently reported, is to be summoned for the first week in January; and the Royal Speech will, it is added, recommend an immediate consideration of the corn laws, preparatory to their total repeal. Sir Robert Peel in one house, and the Duke of Wellington in the other, will, we are told, be prepared to give immediate effect to the recommendation thus conveyed."

The London Standard, declares the above announcement to be an "attrocious fabrication."—The opinion is, however, that the Times obtained its information from the foreign office; that the American representative was cognizant of the fact, and that if the information did not arrive through that channel at Printing-house-square, it came direct from the ministry themselves, who may have had a motive in speedy publicity.

Covert & Dodge.

It will be seen by the announcement in another place that these favorite performers are to have a Concert on Monday Evening at Upton's Hall.—After the next week we learn they start for Washington to make their southern professional tour. For several reasons this Concert will probably be superior to any entertainment they have before given and a crowded hall may be expected. They are accompanied by the talented Master Barton whose fine vocal powers have excited much applause wherever he has performed. He will also preside at the piano by which the effect of the vocal performance will be much enhanced.—They have many new songs and recitations some of them composed by Mr Dodge, and well adopted tohis peculiar talent. We hope our citizens will not fail to be present

"To take a peep
At the magnetic sleep,
And attend the magnetic Lecture."

The Governor's Address.

This excellent state paper was read to both houses of the Legislature on Tuesday last. It is of moderate length yet gives a full statement of the condition and resources of the state, with many recommendations as to its future policy.

He represents the finances of the state to be in such condition that no State tax will be needed to meet the expenditures.

It speaks encouragingly of the success of the Railroads of the State of which there are now built 700 miles within its limits the whole paying more than 6 per cent on their cost.

It maintains by argument and documentary proof the constitutionality as well as expediency of protection by a well regulated Tariff, and in this connection exposes the duplicity of those who would protect the institution of slavery by annexing 30,000 foreign slaves to the country in palpable violation of the Constitution.

It represents the State prison as in successful operation and recommends an addition to the Library of the institution as a means of moral improvement to the inmates.

It recommends a milder penal code, by reducing the number of capital offences and in cases of murder, to establish degrees of guilt, in that crime, substituting imprisonment for life instead of death as the peralty for the second degree of this crime.

It speaks of the enlargement of the State Lunatic Hospital and commends the humane policy of the Commonwealth, for its care of the Deaf and Dumb, the Blind and the Insane.

A considerable portion of the Address is devoted to the subject of Education and the improvement of our schools. His Excellency says—

Our district school-houses are the moral and intellectual laboratories, where, under the fostering care of the State, and the blessings of Providence, the minds and characters of the rising generation, as they succeed each other, are to be fitted for the enjoyment of freedom, and for performing the high duties of freemen, or their neglect is to sink those generations to the condition of slaves, whether they continue to live under the name of liberty or not. No expedient should be left untried which the wisdom of the Legislature can suggest, or the vigilance of school committees, or other citizens invent, to fill our school-houses and give to every child the benefit of the liberal and free provisions made for him. To perfect our system of Common Schools, higher qualifications in teachers more permanency in their employment, and better wages for their services, are demanded. These are subjects which, in your parental care for the present and future children of the Commonwealth, you cannot with safety overlook. I am happy to believe that at this time there exists among the thousands of teachers in the State, a truer estimate of the dignity and magnitude of their employment, and more zeal to fit themselves for it, than has ever before existed. The Normal Schools begin to make themselves beneficially in this respect, in those parts of the State where they have been longest in operation. Within the last few months, a new element has been introduced, calculated to awaken a new interest among instructers of youth. I allude to Teachers' Institutes At these meetings those persons who are, or who expect to be, teachers, assemble together, and spend their time in taking lessons, and hearing lectures from experienced and accomplished masters, on those subjects which are connected with school teaching.—These meetings have been for some time in operation in the State of New York, and have been attended with signal success. For the purpose of making the experiment here, a distinguished and patriotic citizen of Boston, who, a few years since, gave ten thousand dollars, to aid in the introduction of Normal Schools, with the same spirit of liberality, offered a thousand dollars for defraying the expences of the experiment. Under the direction and personal superintendence of the enlightened and persevering Secretary of the Board of Education, four Institutes were assembled in different sections of the Commonwealth. In every instance, the result was most satisfactory and auspicious. I had the pleasure of witnessing the exercises and proceedings of one of those interesting assemblages. The lessons and lectures of those who conducted the Institute, were in the highest degree i tive. The punctuality, attention, improveme entire devotion to the great purpose for whic came together, on the part of the members, we thy of all praise. I hope, before another year, plan may be matured, by which all the teach the State may be able to participate in those i tions. May not some legislative aid and enco ment be given to a measure which looks entir the increased qualifications of teachers, and t provement of Common Schools? I commen great subject, which involves the character and tiny of the Commonwealth, in all its branches, with all its interests, to your wise deliberations.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Friday Jan

The two Houses met in convention at 12 o to fill the vacancies in the Senate by ballot.
were 31 vacancies and they were all filled by W
The successful candidates received from 175 t votes each, and the candidates of the Locofocos 48 to 64 votes.

This is a fair statement of the relative streng
the two parties in the Legislature.

The Essex Senators were elected by the follo vote, viz;—

The whole number was Necessary to a choice
George Wheatland had	18
Edmund Kimball, jr,	19
George Hodges,	193
Henry Poor,	193
Dennis Condry,	193

The Loco candidates had 48 votes.

The Senate consisting of 20 members being complete, the Convention was dissolved.

On Saturday the Senate was permanently org
ed by the choice of Hon Wm B Calhoun, of Sp field, as President, by 33 votes out of 35, and Ch
Calhoun as Clerk.

In the House. George N Briggs was selected a first candidate for Governor, and Isaac Davis the ond; and John Reed, the first for Lieut. Gover and Geo Savary the second, to be sent to the Sen

Monday, Jan

In the Senate. Rev Amos Smith was elected C lain on the second ballot, having received 24 o 34 votes.

Gov Briggs and Lieut Gov Reed was elected the votes of each branch.

In the House. The Speaker announced the sev gentlemen composing the several Standing Com tees of the House.

On Wednesday, in the Senate, the Standing C
mittees were announced.

At 11 1-2 o'clock the two branches met in Con
tion for the choice of Councillors, Secretary
Treasurer. The following gentlemen were ele
Councillors—John P Bigelow, of Boston; Edmu
Trleston, of Dorchester; Samuel Hoar, of Conc Ebenezer Bradbury, of Newburyport; Charles F sell, of Princetown; Edward Dickinson, of Amher Daniel N Dewey, of Williamstown; James C Sta weather, of Pawtucket; Charles Marston, of Barn ble.

John G Palfrey was chosen Secretary.

Mr Barrett was re-elected Treasurer and Rece General.

The following petitions were presented, and ref
ed;—S O Richardson and others, for Rail Road fr Salem to South Reading. Benjamin Thomson others, for the passage of a law making the crime seduction a penal offence. The inhabitants of P ton Corner, to be set off from the State of Massac setts.

The petitions of David Pingree and others, fo
Rail Road from Salem to Malden, and Dennis C drey and others, for a Rail Road from Newburypo to Georgetown, were ordered to be taken from t files and referred.

Thursday Jan 15

Several petitions were presented in both branch of the Legislature among others the following sundry Railroads. &c., viz; for a Branch Railro from Framingham to Weston; one from the easte part of Wareham to Easton Four Corners; one fr Sandwich to East Wareham; one from Woonsock
R I to Boston; one of the Maine Railroad Corpo tion, for a change of location and a branch of the road to Methuen; one from the State line in Woo socket, to intersect the Worcester Railroad in Fra ingham; one from Hanover Four Corners to Abbin ton; one from Boston to Woonsocket Falls, R I.

FOR THE COURIER.

Danvers Railroad.

A renewed effort for Railroad accommodatio seems to be in contemplation, and we hope it wi be so conducted as to ensure its accomplishmen
We have ever been of the opinion, that a dire Railroad communication with the City of Bosto on which we could be certain of going or returnin in three quarters of an hour would be of incalcula ble value to this place; and that such commun cation is indispensible to the continued growth an prosperity of our business. It now takes, on a average, one and a half hours, to go from Danver to Boston, by the Eastern Railroad. It take more than one day, ordinarily, to forward any con siderable quantity of merchandise; in consequenc of the frequent changes it has to undergo in i passage. We have the name of a Railroad, an that is about all that can be said of our present ac commodation. To enable us then to carry on business with all the advantages, to which by po sition we are entitled, we must go directly to and from the City, without change of cars and engines and without any detention by bridges, or ferries or otherwise. Whether this shall be done, on one or the other routes, either East or West, is of little consequence, if it can be directly done, at times certain, without any unreasonable detention on the way.

If we are to go from here to Salem, and there wait the movements of the long trains (so called) and then be delayed ten or fifteen minutes in cross ing the ferry, these embarrassments would mate rially impair the Railroad privileges. If on the other hand, we are to run our own cars to Malden, and there be under the necessity of changing cars or changing the motive power; in either of these cases, but little accommodation would be secured by a Railroad Charter. We hope the wisdom and perseverance of the managers will remove all imaginary obstacles.

☞Elder Knapp has accepted a call to preach in the new baptist church in Albany. Elder Swan is also preaching in that city.

Sudden Death. Mr. Isaac Short, of West Newbury, met with his death in a very sudden and solemn manner, on Monday last. He was on his way to the market, and while walking, to relieve his horse, up Pipe-Stave Hill, fell, and probably broke a blood vessel. He survived but a short time after the accident. Mr. S., was well known in this town, having been, for a great number of years, a constant attendant upon our market. He was between 70 and 80 years of age. —Newburyport Watchtower.

☞Gen. Walter H. Overton, who commanded the defence of Point St. Philip with heroic bravery at the battle of New Orleans, died at Alexandria, La. a few days ago.

Congressional Proceedings

Wednesday, Jan. 7.

Senate. The bill for raising regiments of mounted riflemen was taken up amended and ordered to a third reading.

Mr. Webster has returned from the East and resumed his seat in the Senate.

House. Mr. Rhett made an exblanation of his charge that Mr J. Q. Adams had opposed the last war, and read from Mr. A.'s published sentiments at the time.

Mr Adams replied at length and with striking severity. He gave a most interesting history of his whole course in relation to the last war, and proved that if he was opposed to the war, because he wished the arbitration to be left with Alexander of Russia, then was Madison and his Cabinet, and the Congress which supported Mr. Madison in what he did.

Mr Hamlin of Me., from the Committee on Elections, reported a resolution taking the seat from Mr. Cabell, the sitting member from Florida, and giving it to Mr Brockenbrough.

Thursday, Jan. 8.

Senate. Mr Allen gave notice of an amendment to his bill for terminating the Joint Occupancy making the action of Congress final without the action of the President. After being in sesion a short time the Senate went into a secret session.

House. The committee of Ways and Means reported the usual appropriation bills for the Army, Navy, Indian Department, and Diplomatic Expenses for the year ending June 30, 1847.

After some other less important transactions the House went into Committee of the whole on the Oregon question.

Friday, Jan. 9.

Senate. Not in session to-day.

House. The House spent an hour in receiving and disposing of notices, reports, &c.

Mr. Norris introduced a bill to repeal the second section of the apportionment act, which establishes the district system. Referred.

Mr. Bowlin introduced a bill, similar to the bill of the last sessions, for extending a territorial government over Oregon.

Mr. Giles, of Maryland, took the floor and addressed the committee in favor of the notice, [of termination of joint occupany,] and asserting the right of the U. S. to all Oregon and policy of taking and keeping it.

Mr. Levin got the floor next. He considered this a question of national independence. Our rights had been established so strongly that the most devoted slave to foreign interest would not question it.

Saturday, Jan. 10.

House. The House was occupied for nearly two hours to-day on a question of privilege, by Mr Hudson of Mass.

After some unimportant reports from committees, Mr Hudson sent a copy of Thursday's Union to the Clerk's desk where it was read. The attack was signed by J. P. Heiss, one of the editors.

Mr Hudson made some remarks defending himself in attacks he had made, on Thursday, about the delay in printing the Public Documents. He was frequently interupted by McConnell of Ala.—Mr Hudson said he would leave his case to the House whether an officer of the House should make such charges upon a member of this House.

Mr Davis of Ky. introduced a resolution that J. P. Heiss, a person employed in the service of this House, having made an attack upon one of its members, be dismissed from said service.

Mr Davis was proceeding to speak on this question when Mr McConnell called him to order.—This was a dirty business in dirty hands. The Speaker called him to order.

Mr Davis said that he would not "reply to a drunken blackguard."

Some points of order were raised whether this was a question of privilege. Decided by Yeas 118—Nays 57.

Mr. Bayly of Va. then defended the Public Printers and concluded by moving to lay the questions on the table.

Yeas and Nays ordered. Yeas 101—Nays 85. So the question was laid on the table.

Monday, Jan. 12.

Mr Fairfied, chairman of the Committee on Commerce, this morning reported a bill, making appropriations of ten millions one hundred and ninety thousand dollars for increasing the naval establishment of the United States. The bill was laid upon the table.

The Oregon Resolution, reported from the Committee on Foreign Relations, was then made the order of the day, after a brief discussion, for Tuesday the 10th of February. Mr. Allen called up his Resolution, and no objections were made to its consideration.

Mr. Allen moved that it be made the special order of the day for the last Tuesday in January—the 27th instant.

Mr. Haywood named Tuesday, the 3d of February.

Mr Westcott, of Florida, in order, as he said, to afford the Texas Senators an opportunity upon this momentous question, named Tuesday the 10th of February.

The Senate sustained Mr Westcott's amendment until the latest day.—Yeas 32—Nays 18.

The resolutions of Mr. Hannegan were made a special order for the same day.

Mr. Benton reported a bill to abolish the duty on salt.

There was a little variety in the business proceedings of the house, this morning,—the Speaker deciding that memorials were in order.

Mr. Adams presented remonstrances against the annexation of Texas,—a great number of them and from all parts of the country.

A motion was then made to go into the Committee on the Whole on the State of the Union, when the Oregon question was resumed.

The Committee having risen, Mr. Douglass, of Illinois, moved that the Committee of the Whole be discharged from his Oregon territorial bill, and that it be referred back to the committee on territories for the purpose of making some alteration.

Tuesday, Jan. 13th.

In the Senate, Mr Benton produced some documents to prove what he had before asserted, that the manner in which the fund of the Washington Monument Association were collected, was shameful, and wasteful, and corrupt in the extreme.

He was opposed, therefore, to the proposition to grant a lot of public land to the Association, for the erection of the monument.

The House wes called for petitions and resolutions.

There was a resolution of inquiry into the tenure by which the members from New Hampshire hold there seats, they being elected by general ticket. This was lost.

Mr Ashmun also moved the following resolution. Debate arising, it was laid over under the rule.

Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the expediency and necessity of diminishing the corrupting patronage of the Executive of the United States.

The day was chiefly taken up in calling the yeas and nays on resolutions and notices.

Washington, Jan. 24.

In the Senate this morning, Mr. Allen asked leave to introduce a resolution, censuring the conduct of England and France, &c., which was refused by a vote of 28 nays to 23 yeas.

The following notice was intended for our last, but was received too late for insertion.

Obituary Notice—Extra.

It becomes our painful duty this week, to record the death of the Learned Pig who has been astonishing our citizens in the north part of the town, by his wonderful acquirements. He was able to tell the time of day by looking at a watch, and would inform his audience by selecting from a parcel of cards, one having the proper number on it. He would count the number of persons in the room and inform them in the same manner. He would spell words by selecting moveable letters, and when asked who was the best President, would select the name of Washington, and that of Tyler for the worst. We are not able to state half the wonderful feats he could perform but we are told that one of the latest before his death was to turn out a whole religious congregation from their vestry and usurp the place of the minister. This swinish genius was actually a four legged, long snouted, genuine grunter and none of your two legged learned pigs. He was to have made a visit to this part of the town early last week, and it is said that some of his cards were sent here but those who held them were much disappointed and grieved to hear of his sudden and unexpected death. Our feelings at this time will not permit us to render to the departed that tribute of praise so justly his due, and which always ought to be accorded to distinguished worth,

For every dog must have his day,
And why not Hogs as well as they?

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Jan 11, 1846
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At Market 700 Beef Cattle, 1800 Sheep, and 180 Swine. 50 Beef Cattle unsold.

Prices—Beef Cattle—We quote to correspond with last week—extra 5 25 ; first quality 4 50 a $5 ; second $4 a 4 25; third 3 25 a $4.

Sheep—Sales from 1 25 a 2 50. Wethers from $3 to 3 75

Swine—One or two small lots of Barrows at 5c. At retail from 4 1-2 a 5c.

BOSTON MARKET--Thursday, Jan. 13th.

Flour—Market inactive and sales light—Genesee, common brands, 5 87 a $6 ; 500 bbls Michigan, a prime brand, sold at 5 81 ; 400 bbls Georgetowu, on private terms ; two parcels Baltimore City Mills, one at 5 68 3-4, cash, and one at 5 87, 4ms.

Grain—Corn dull ; prices declining, and cargoes being stored for better prices ; Sales Southern white at 70 a 71c and yellow 75c.

The Temperance Lecture that was expected to be delivered in Rev. Mr Fields Church to-morrow evening, is postponed for the present. Jan 17

MARRIAGES.

In this town Mr. Samuel D Pender, of Danvers, to Miss Martha B. West, of Salem.

At North Parish by Rev Mr Braman, Mr Horatio Perry to Miss Serena Putnam.

At (New Mills) on Saturday evening last, by Rev Mr Eaton, Mr Joseph Mace to Mrs Mary Sawyer, both of Danvers.

In Lynn, on Thursday evening, by Rev Mr Driver, Mr Amos Thomson, of Lynn, to Miss Matilda Ball, of Salem.

DEATHS.

In this town, on Sunday last, Jan 11th, of Consumption, Hannah Wood wife of George Wood aged 36. On Monday, the mother of said George Wood aged 75.

In Lynnfield, Mr William Mitchell, aged 24.

In Newburyport, Capt Hector Coffin, aged 63.

In Newton, Mrs Sarah Ann, wife of Mr Wm Page, formerly of Salem, aged 31.

NOTICE

Is hereby given to the inhabitants of the Town of Danvers, qualified to vote in town affairs, thht the meeting at Granite Hall, in the North Parish, on WEDNESDAY the 14th inst., stands adjourned to MONDAY, the 19th inst., at 2 o'clock, P. M.

JOSEPH SHED, Town Clerk.

Danvers, January 17, 1846.

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture next week, on Tuesnay evening, by Prof. Haddock, of Dartmouth College. Subject—The Cultivation of a taste for letters, by men of business.

☞The managers have made arrangements with Messrs COVERT & DODGE, by which the members of the Lyceum may be admitted to their

CONCERT,

on MONDAY Evening next, by exhibiting their tickets, and paying 6 cents at the door. jan 17

Mechanic Institute.

The Annual Meeting stands adjourned to THIS EVENING, at 8 o'clock, at the Library Room.

☞Those who would like to become members, will please hand in their names to the Secretary or either of the managers, previous to that time. jan 17

Unity Division No. 9, S. D.

Having receiv their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed

Their regular meetings will be held on Wednesday Evening at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited. MOSES R. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. of R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
Wm. Price, Sec. nov 8

WE, the subscribers, having been duly appointed commissioners, to examine the claims of the creditors to the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, represented insolvent, hereby give notice, that six months from the sixth day of January instant, are allowed said creditors to bring in and prove their claims ; and that we shall attend to that service on the last Monday of this and each of the four following months, at 3 o'clock, P. M., at the office of Joseph Shed, Esq., opposite the Monument, in Danvers. JOSEPH SHED, ALFRED A ABBOTT, } Commissioners.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed administrators of the estate of

Jonathan Dustin,

late of Salem, in the county of Essex, gentleman, deceased, and have taken upon themselves that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs ; all persons having damands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to

HAZEN AYER, or } Administrators.
EBEN SUTTON. }

Salem, Jan. 17, 1846.

EXPLANATIONS ; a Sequel to "Vestiges of the Natural History of the Creation,' by the author of that work. Just published and for sale by jan 17 W. & S. B. IVES, Salem.

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent. All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to Samuel Carter, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

NEW BOOKS. The citizens of Prague, translated by Mary Howitt. Poetry for Home and School, part second ; selected by the author of "Theory of Teaching," &c. Wanderings of a Pilgrim in the shadow of Mount Blanc, by George B. Cheever. DD. Just received by W. & S. B. IVES, jan 17 Stearns' Building, Salem.

NEW ARTICLE. Gold and Silver Perforated Board ; also the common, various colors, coarse and fine. A fresh supply just received and for sale by W. & S B. IVES, Salem. jan 17

TO LET.

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street. Inquire of LEONARD POOL E.

Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceaaed, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents ; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges :—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for consideriag said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county ; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers, that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate.

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.

jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same ; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGATE MERRILL, Guardian.

Danvers, Jan. 10, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

Zerubbabel Porter,

late of Danvers, in said county of Essex, esquire, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs : All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same ; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to WARREN PORTER, Executor.

Danvers, January 10th, 1846.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made. W. & S. B. IVES,

Bookstore and Bindery,

jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

Allen & Welch's Line, From Commercial Whf.

On Saturday.

The superiorfast sailing bark LUZON, Goodrich, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. Weld & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

jan 10

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—Allen & Welch's Line—From Commercial Wharf.

On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet sch EMILY KNIGHT, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

John Phillips Agent at Mobile. jan 8

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PCKETS—Allen & Welch's Line—From Commercial wharf,

On Wedneday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr HENRY, Paine, master, is now loading, and will will sail as above.

D. Baldwin & Co. Agents at Savannah. jan 10

SELLING OFF.

☞Great Bargains.☜

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz ; Rept Cashmeres ; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard ; Ginghams, Patches ; Alepines ; Alpaccas ; Cassimeres ; Sattinetts ; Red, White and Yellow Flannels ; Plain and Checked Cambrics ; Lace Muslins ; Shawls ; Tickings ; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the Warren Bank

Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Danvers Post Office, January 1st, 1846.

N. B. Under the present Post Office Law, there is an additional charge of two cents on all letters advertised.

Anable & Kinsman		Mooney Amos W.
Adams Samuel	2	Munroe Harris
Anderson William	2	Morrill Frederic	4
Arnold E. B.		Mellin Daniel
Abbott Benjamin		Marsh Hannah F.
Allen Ed. A. H.		Merrill R. W.
Brown William		Marshall Eliza A.
Batchelder Henry	2	Martin George B.
Blaisdell Jacob		Nayson Daniel
Bancroft James or Capen		Nichols Andrew
Baker John		Osborne Moses
Buxton John jr.		O'Neal Patrick
Barry Eliza C.		Osborne George
Burkin John and Jacob		Phelps Francis
Caverly Mary		Proctor William H.
Currier G. S.		Perley & Emerson
Carey Michael		Pool Eben
Chenery Moses		Putney Eben
Cross Ruth		Pettengill Rebecca S.
Clark Martha S.		Pierce Mary F.
Cleaveland Annette D.		Perkins Nathaniel
Cushman George		Poor William
Carroll L.		Parker Thomas O.
Colcord Eben P.		Parker Josiah W.
Danvers		Poole Joshua H.
Doughby Abigail		Putnam David
Dickinson O. H.		Proctor Lydia
Davis Elzaphen P.		Patterson Rebecca
Dykes Samuel H.		Pilsbury Parker
Dalton Richard		Pearson Nathan
Dexter Mary H.		Porter Mary E.
Elliott Richard		Poor Enoch Jr.
Elwell William		Riardon Michael
Farnham Joseph		Russell John B.	11
Frye Mary		Rice & Gardner
Fuller Daniel		Standley Francis L.
Fellows Eliza		Smalley Nathan
Frye Joseph S.		Sears Jonathan
Foster Gorham P.		Sanborn J.
Foss Daniel W.		Southwick Orlando
Flagg Samuel A.		Symonds Benjamin
Ford Sophia		Sullivan Simeon
Goss Polly		Sawyer Asa
Gray Emily		Stevens John
Galloup D. B.		Southwick Platts
Goodale William		Southwick Lucy
Gardner Sally		Tapley Asa
Griffin William A.		Taylor Oliver
Hart John		Thurston Leonard
Holman Field		Tibbets Benjamin
Hackett Henry		Tate Hannah
Herbert Henry		Trofftter John
Hawes Thomas P.		Trow Ann Maria
Haragan Jerry		Trask Moses
Hurd Hafford		Thompson Catharine L.
Hutchinson James L.		Twiss Jonathan
Hyde Elisha J. G.		Torr Andrew
Jewett Warren		Uraan F. W.
Knight John Jr.		Very Joseph or Benjamin
Kelty & Tapley		Woodbury Jonas
Lunt B. S.		Wilson Jona jr.
Larrabee William & Co.		Webber Moses
Langley John R.		White Dexter
Little Wm R.		Wentworth Lewis
Lovett John L.		Weatherbee Eliphalet

Jan 3 S. DODGE, P. M.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Post Office at North Danvers, Quarter ending Dec. 1845.

Anderson William		Lane Benjamin T.
Allen Edward A.		Lander Mrs.
Brown Miss Mariett		Mastin L. D.
Bates John		Mardin Miss Martha Ann
Coffin Myry Ann		Moer Janet
Dunnels John M.		Nells Gilbert
Dennet George		Pearl John
Davis Sophia		Phelps Francis
Egan Patrick		Page Charles
Edgercomb Ivory		Putnam Heirs of Eli
Fisher Charles R.		Proctor H. B.
Forbes Sophia E.		Payson Edward
Fuller Edward		Reed Samuel H.
Grovesner Dr. D. A.		Swan S. B.
Glidden Mark		Strout Benjamin
Goodwin Moses		Simns Daniel
Goodale Ebenezer		Shackley James D.
Goodwin Theodore		Tyler George N.
Holt Benjamin		Towne Daniel
Hook John Jr.		Trout Mary in care of P. B. Francies
Hoyt Susan M.		Tapley Eliza Jane
Hunt Israel		Webber Tristam D.
Hutcherson Abigail		Wheeler Benjamin
Jessup Louisa		Whitehouse H. M.
King Thomas		Wheeler Alden
Kelley Israel H.		Webb George
Kelley J. B.		Whitemore Jonathan
Littlefield Ralph H.		White Ann
Ladd Sarah A.		Wallace H. C.
Lawrence Charles

Jan 3 THOMAS BOWEN, P. M.

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.

Dec. 56th, 1846 4tis,

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (Henfield Block.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general Eating House, upon the European plan,—Meals, Cuts, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scalloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City, Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 1awtf

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J C FERRIN

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses ; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded,

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Pongee Silk Hdkfs, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

W. D. JOPLIN,

AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 Lawrence Place.

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. Fabens, Esq., Boston,
G. G. Newhall, "
John Henfield, Salem,
James Kimball, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. Harrison "

oct 25

HALF A
Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

To be sold this Year—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of

READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.

COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS,

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low as to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worih of Ready Made clothcng and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL,"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been abte to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"Oak Hall!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills,

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Celebrated Clothing Establishment,

"Oak Hall Building!"

32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,

OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW,

Entrance No, 32, Wooden Building.

☞REMEMBER☜

ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,

BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

NOTICE. The Essex Mechanic Mutual Fire Insurance Company give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. Joseph A. Goldthwait, duly authorized Agent of said Company,

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. Brooks, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above,

Sept 13.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

Office in Felton's (late Osborne's) Building,

Danvers, March 29th. tf

CHARLES H. MANNING.

CABINET MAKER,

Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street

DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

Periodical Depot!!

REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor o the Depot for

PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,

formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,

(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hsndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

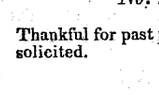
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemica Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing appare, and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,

oct 11 10 Front street

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at



SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,

aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

FOR SALE CHEAP.

One good second hand CHAISE,
" " " BUGGY WAGON.
" " " LIGHT WAGON.

By THOMAS TRASK, Main street

june 7 tf

CLOAK TRIMMINGS. Just received heavy Cloak Fringes and Gimps Also embroidering Braid and embroidering Gimp, by KITH & MASON, 24 Washington street, Salem. nov 22

Flonr, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,

200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;

—Also, in store—

100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,

At the old and well known stand on the Plains.

North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF

TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.

SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21 1845.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of ev ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Salem, March 12 tf

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN

HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,

Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,

WINDOW GLASS,

CAMPHENE,

CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,

Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,

CARPENTER'S TOOLS,

HOUSE TRIMMINGS,

Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,

BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,

Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.

No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

dec 6

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can ee him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' expetience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on nand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted orefer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,

DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of

BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks. Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

For Christmas and New Year.

THE subscriber has just received an assortment of FANCY GOODS, particularly adapted to the season, consisting in part of—

Gold Guard and Fob Chains;
Gold and Silver Pencils;
Gold and Stone Finger Rings;
Lockets. Bracelets;
Music boxes, inlaid and plain;
Card Cases do do
Pocket Books;
Steel mounted velvet bags;
Purses—double and single;
Buffalo back combs;
Jet and steel ornamented combs;
Ivory fine tooth; do
Pocket mirrors;
Hair brushes—hard and soft;
Tooth brushes—English and American;
Steel vest chains;
Letter clips; Letter stamps;
Patent letter balances;
Mantle thermometers, &c.

which are offered for sale very low for cash, at 222 Essex Street, opposite the First Church.

dec 24 WILLIAM ARCHER.

Christmas and New Year's Gifts.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. d. c 13

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,

july 12 27 Water street.

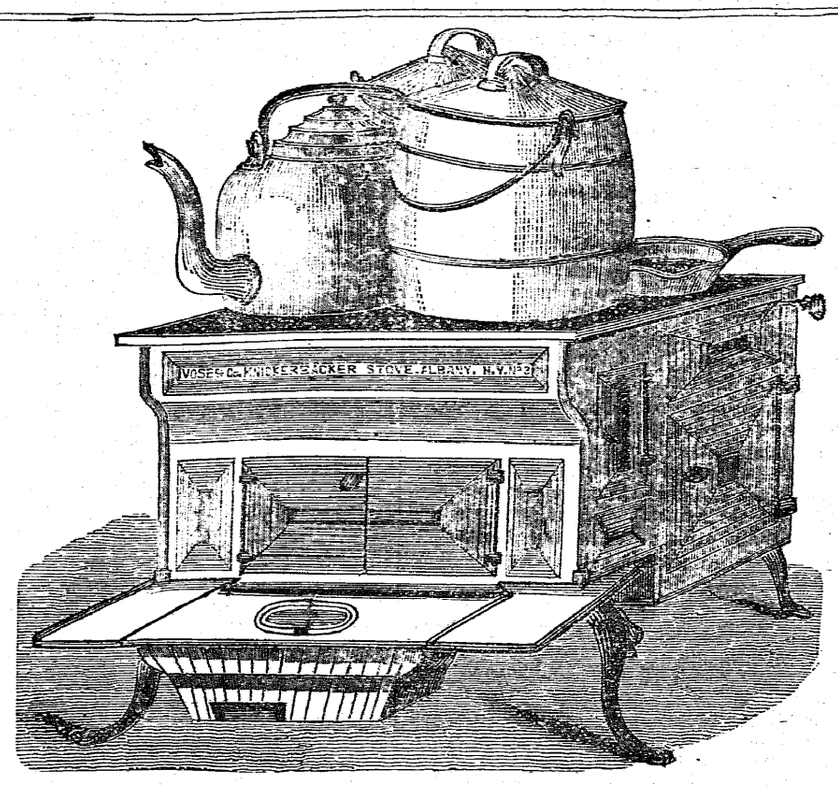
New Stove

Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.

dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

The Stewart Improved



Cooking Stove.

THE subscribers have received several Stoves of the above pattern, and of superior castings, which they offer for sale TEN PER CENT cheaper than they can be obtained at any other Warehouse.

nov 8 LORD & WILEY.

COMBS. A beautiful article of Buffalo Horn Combs, for sale at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAINS',

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR ALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks., Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch29 1y

G. W & E. CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,

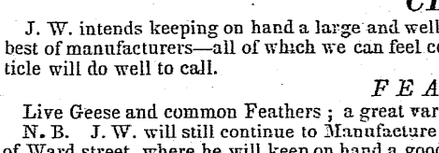
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,



of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,

No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Sherry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF

Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,

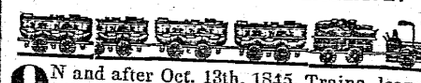
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson, }

march 15 tf

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or



READY MADE CLOTHING oct 18

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just recived at 222 Essex street, Salem.

oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

EASTERN RAILROAD

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, } 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.

Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P M.

Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.

Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.

Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A. M 4 1-4 P.M.

South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M

Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*

Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

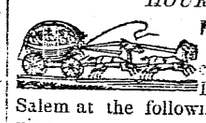
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.



Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN

oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the

DANVERS AND SALEM HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the East Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8 A
" "	8 3-4		" "	9 1-
" "	9 3-4		" "	11 3
" "	11 1-4		" "	12 3-
" "	1 3-4	P M.	" "	3 P.
" "	2 3-4		" "	4
" "	4 1-2		" "	5
" "	5 1-2		" "	6 1-2
" "	6 1-2		" "	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hou and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reaso ble terms

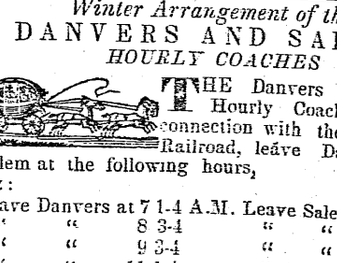
apr 19 SYMONDS & TEEL tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Wagon



LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays Excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended

Goods handled with care.

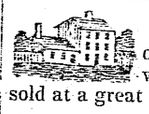
S. F. TOWN

April 19, 1845. 1 y

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 Bost ST., will be found constantly on hand, the follow assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—



Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves.
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;

The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves. Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes an patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of a sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatnes and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of lan on Holten street. The House is con venient for two families and will b sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to thos now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by

jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers. Aug 30. 1845.

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN, sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

FOR SALE

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

LAMPS & GIRANDOLES. Just received, a complete assortment of the Shadowless Lamps, o different sizes, for camphene. Also of the different sizes of the Side Lamps. Also a new supply of the latest patterns of the Girandoles. with one, two and three lights, of the Silver, Ormolu and Olive colors. For sale at the lowest Boston prices, by

Aug 23 J. & H. HALE, 215 Essex st, Salem.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (Mass.) SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 24, 1846. NUMBER 45.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

MATRIMONY.

1—The man must lead a happy life
2—Who's free from matrimonial claims.
3—Who is directed by a wife,
4—Is sure to suffer for his pains.

1—Adam could find no solid peace,
2—When Eve was given for a mate,
3—Until he saw a woman's face,
4—Adam was in a happy state.

1—In all the female face appear
2—Hypocrisy, deceit and pride;
3—Truth, darling of a heart sincere,
4—Ne'er known in woman to abide.

1—What tongue is able to unfold,
2—The falsehood that in woman dwell;
3—The worth in woman we behold,
4—Is almost imperceptible.

1—Cursed be the foolish man I say,
2—Who changes from his singleness,
3—Who will not yield to woman's sway,
4—Is sure of perfect blessedness.

☞To advocate the untrue cause, you will read the 1st and 3d, and the 2d and 4th lines together.

COMMUNICATION.

FOR THE COURIER.

Old Prints and Pictures.

It is an amusing contrast to those who are accustomed in these palmy days of lithographic art, to feast their eyes on the beautiful specimens of pictorial skill exhibited in the Magazines and other illustrated works of the present time, to revert for a moment to those wretched caricatures of men and objects, by which engraving was distinguished at a former period. And, in doing so, we are led to wonder, yea, marvel in our hearts, at the amazing, perverted ingenuity, displayed by ancient artists, in their crude productions; how they have contrived, when etching the human figure, to produce monstrosities, the living type of which, exists not on the earth, nor the waters under the earth; resembling rather the fantastic creations of Heathen Mythology, than this world's inhabitants. We are not only astonished at their miserable imitations of humanity, but also at their strange ignorance of the rules of perspective, of light and shade, &c, and, besides, their total disregard of time and place; blending in hopeless, inextricable confusion the manners and customs of a dozen different countries, in as many ages of the world, into one wild, puzzling chaos. We occasionally meet with such surviving relics of rude skill, and the first shock of humbled dignity we experience on beholding these gross libels on mankind, is very shortly neutralized by the air of grotesque absurdity always pervading them, so that our scowl of wrath relaxes incontinently to a grin, and, instead of uplifting our voices in cursing, we soften to laughter. But we cannot always so readily appreciate the fun of the thing, when we see an unnatural, ill proportioned, horrible body, with a stupid leaden, countenance, divested of every indication of life, sense and intellect; a head one third of the size of the form, and on it a tangled, swampy thicket, intended to represent a wig. and the whole labelled Gen. Washington. Or, again, an unearthly image of military aspect, with a uniform collected from all nations, the entire lump resembling closely, one of those designs that crockery dealers are wont to exhibit in the advertising columns of newspapers, composed of tea-pots, urns, and other household utensils, and ticketed, (the figure, not the ware) 'Lafayette.' Or, yet again, another martyred effigy of a man, in the old Continental garb of buff and blue, sitting in a chair, contemplating a knapsack that hangs suspended near him, with the gracious intelligence appended underneath, that this is Bonaparte On viewing these worthy and graphic delineations of infantile art, we are apt to find our preconcieved notions of awe and grandeur respecting those distinguished men rapidly oozing away from us, together with a very sensible diminution of the organ of reverence—so that we are compelled to exclaim with the Prophet, "how are the mighty fallen, and how is their comeliness departed." But, of all subjects to which these honest Vandals devoted themselves, those meant to illustrate Scripture History have been the most unmercifully caricatured—the most laughable and outrageous blunders perpetrated in depicting. An instance shall be given. We have seen an exquisite sketch representing the Parable of the Good Samaritan, in which that ancient philanthropist appears seated beneath an oak tree, not much higher than his head, and, from a junk bottle, nearly as large as himself, and marked, Gin, (a groan, ye undefiled Washingtonians,) forcing its refreshing contents down the throat of the wounded wayfarer across his knees.—To give variety to the picture, in the back ground is seen a stage coach toiling up a hill, and some boys skating on a distant pond. We have heard from a credible source, of another print (a Dutch one) displaying the trial of "Abraham's faith." Isaac is seen, bound and extended upon a pile of logs, with the fire slowly kindling beneath; at a short distance, stands the Patriarch, with a pistol in his hand taking aim at the head of his son, and just ready to fire, but his attempt is rendered abortive, by an Angel in a cloud immediately overhead, who wets the priming of the weapon by a singular process.

"The force of burlesque could no farther go."

We have also seen in the frontispiece of a venerable bible, an illustration of the figure of the "mote and the beam," which one would think about as easy of picturing as a Probate Notice; but the worthy artist was not staggered by the seeming impossibility, as shall be seen. An old man sits at one end of a long hall, and, from where his right eye should be, protrudes a veritable stick of timber, apparently about fifteen feet in length, the farther end of which, is thrust through and resting upon the window stool of his apartment, the old gentleman appearing to bear this awkward affliction with the most perfect indifference.

But our chief design in the present article is to give a brief description of a series of pictures with which we used to be edified, and which belonged to an eccentric friend, whose soul delighted in them, and whose store we often frequented in our younger days. These engravings were, to all appearance, very old, bearing undisputed traces of the corroding power of many years, and were numbered from one upward, forming a continuous history of the career of the Prodigal Son, from the time he left his father's mansion, full of youthful hope and buoyancy, until he returned 'war worn and weary' to the home of his childhood. Each number exhibits a prominent epoch in the life of that wild blade, and the whole displays a singular and beautiful fidelity to the character and customs of the oriental world. It is some years since we have seen these choice treasures of pictorial art, but the vivid impressions they made at the time, and which are not yet erased from the tablets of memory, enable us to give a tolerably correct account of their principal scenes. To begin then with number one, the opening event in the narrative. The ingenious artist here introduces to us, a rural landscape; in the fore ground of the picture is exhibited a noble and splendid house built in the Gothic style; lofty and graceful elms in the front throw their leafy arms far over the edifice, decked in their summer beauty and contrasting richly with the snowy whiteness of the building. In the rear, stands a spacious barn, with other smaller ones around, together with cultivated fields contiguous, showing that the proprietor is an opulent farmer. At the open front door of the house, are seen two figures, one of which is the owner himself, a venerable looking gentleman, with a flowing wig, loosely clad in a morning gown, with slippers upon his feet; the other is the hero of the story, his son. The graceless youngster is clad in the fashion of the time, a sort of half jockey, half highwayman rig, very much like the style that Dick Swiveller in the Curiosity Shop affected, saving that he seems to have taken the form of his cocked hat from Mr. Bumble, the beadle. An indescribable air of wild, reckless joviality pervades his whole demeanor, betokening utter thoughtlessness and the absence of any fixed principle. He seems to be listening however, with some attention to the old man, who by his sorrowful and tearful face, and outstretched arm, appears to be offering him good advice; at the same time bestowing a fat pocket book, which probably contains his dividend of the inheritance, in his great coat pocket, alongside of a 'Traveller's Guide.' A porter, near by, is receiving a heavy trunk from the hands of a servant, the direction on which, is 'Land of Ammon,' to bear it to a Mail stage, a little removed, where sits Jehu gazing impatiently at the leave taking. To add diversity to the scene, in the distance is observed people ploughing, and hoeing corn, and a man on the borders of a wood, with dog and gun in quest of game. The tapering masts of shipping, appear far off, by which we conjecture that part of the adventurer's journey at least, will be by water; and in another compartment of the picture, we find that such is indeed the case. We behold a gallant ship, rapidly speeding on her way before a smashing breeze, her shape and appearance are wonderfully like that of the Liverpool packets of the present day, and from her peak, the stars and stripes are floating proudly. On close inspection, we can discern our wanderer leaning over the railing, in contemplation, with a pipe in his mouth; to the right, a light house can be seen amid the curling billows which dance around it. This closes the first epoch and the first engraving. Number two contains, alas! the commencement of his downfall, his first entrance on the road to ruin; the interior of a groggery is portrayed, bearing the usual aspect of such places. A knot of loafers are seen, dimply looming through a thick cloud of smoke, the production of many pipes, while within the bar sits the landlord ensconced among his glasses and bottles, from which he ministers to his thirsty customers.—Conspicuous in one corner of the sanctum, stands a large blue painted cask, lettered, W. I. Rum, other lesser ones are labelled Wine, Beer, &c, a box of pipes, oranges, lemons, nuts and other fruit, keep company together on the shelves behind him. In the midst of the crowd of worthies sits our traveller, evidently considerable 'tight,' with one leg and one arm in the air, head thrown back, and mouth wide open, in the act, as it would seem, of roaring out a jolly drinking song, which the audience appear to receive with great delight, as the flourishing of hats and long pipes testify.

Whether the wanderer has arrived at the end of his journey, or, whether this is a wayside inn, into which he has chanced promiscuously, we cannot tell, but, probably from the circumstance of his having no baggage with him, the former supposition is correct. O that there had been some good old 'Washingtonian' or 'Son of Temperance,' to have dropped in at that happy moment when he was just drunk enough, and offered him a 'pledge'! Vain wish! there were no benevolent societies in that benighted age—no pure motived, apostolical Goughs to regenerate the people. We pass to picture No. three, which displays a farther advance on the sliding scale, and shall be noticed but briefly. The pilgrim is here, and seated in a room, encompassed by other evil companions of a different stamp, several of whom are plying him with various liquors, while another is obligingly lighting his pipe at the fire. He appears to be very much at home in the company of these syrens. Number four presents a scene of dismal hue; a wild and dreary desert expands around; no signs of vegetation are here; by its blackened aspect and the shrivelled and parched appearance of the lifeless trees, it is apparent that there has been a long drought and famine; even the sands have a dark tinge, as though they too had suffered for lack of rain. Beneath a dry and naked palm, reclines the Prodigal, but O how changed from what he was at his first setting forth! from under his tattered straw hat his long, uncombed and matted hair struggles wildly down over his shoulders, his coat and breeches are in rags, and seem to be ready to part forever, at the first favorable breath of wind. His shoes, from which the hare toes stick out, are exceedingly down at heel, and so also are his spirits, to judge from the length of his face as he endeavors to munch a corn husk. The engraver has portrayed him as an animated bundle of bones. A little way off, a drove of pigs are seen, laboring with great assiduity to nose up something eatable from the barren waste. Number five and last depicts the wretched vagrant on his homeward journey; he is leaning feebly on a staff, and pausing for a moment to gaze wistfully up at a guide-board that reads, 'To Judea 7 Miles and 3 Furlongs.' Another division of the picture represents his actual arrival in the vicinity of his father's house, who has got wind of his return, and has come out in his chaise to meet him, and from which he has alighted and clasped the wanderer in his arms. In a very green meadow not a great way off, browses an uncommonly fat calf, who is probably in happy ignorance of his approaching fate. We have now fulfilled our intention of giving a slight description of this great work, and we see by it how a beautiful parable designed by him who made it, to convey serious and moral impressions, is, through the ingenuity of the pious illustrator, turned into the most laughable and ridiculous farce. The subject of old engravings might be extended much farther, for there is no want of material, but space forbids.

MISCELLANY.

Seven Marriages, and Not A Husband.

A Tale.

Molinet, an opulent French merchant, had a daughter named Adeline, whose attractions were so striking, that a number of young men courted her favor, but in vain. At length a handsome young officer, of the name of Alson, had the happy fortune to obtain her good graces; but her father still shook his head. He admitted that the youth was of a good old family; but he had hardly a franc to bless himself withal, except what came out of the military chest; and why this should entitle him to a preference over so many wealthy and noble offers the merchant was at a loss to account. However, he did not belong to that class of cruel fathers, who boast of the right divine of tyrannizing over their children, and by the combined effect of frowning and fuming, and fretting and petting, mixed with a little solitary confinement and low diet, bring their girls into a fit frame of mind to bear the matrimonial yoke with some ugly wretch, who has only riches to recommend him. So without much ado, this sensible French father gave his consent. 'The young fools like one another,' he said; 'and the boy wants nothing but money, which, I dare say. he will allow me the honour to supply. By such means, his valour will entitle him to a captain's commission at a jump; he will at length become a colonel, and it will not sound amiss, when the world, in my hearing, shall designate the commander of a whole horoic regiment with the dear name of son—the wealthy old merchant's son.'

As Alson's promotion kept pace with his father-in-law's prophecies of his valour, Molinet agreed to celebrate his marriage in a magnificent manner. As the young lady, however, was only yet in her fifteenth year, and her father quite doated upon her, he had so contrived it, in consideration of her youth and his own age, to have her company a year or two longer; and, on the same morning that the ceremony was solemnized, the regiment received orders to march upon a foreign destination.

Under this misfortune, Alson's sole consolation was in the hoped-for termination of the American war, which would enable him to return speedily to his own country; while he had, at all events, secured his prize—barring the usual chances of being drowned, shot, knocked on the head, or captured. His regiment joined the party of the English colonists, in their contest against the mother country; and it so happened that our hero was wounded and made prisoner by a troop of Indians, allies of the British forces, in the first engagement. They did not sacrifice him, contenting themselves with the torture of curing his wounds, which, with their assistance, left him a cripple for lite. This he found to be a serious impediment in the way of making his escape from the swift-footed sable chiefs, though he was overpersuaded to make the attempt by one of his fellow-prisoners. The latter was quick enough to secure his retreat, but Alson was overtaken while limping at an extraordinary pace, and was detained in close confinement.

Meanwhile Victor, the young officer who accompanied him in his flight, under the plea of extreme sickness and his late sufferings, obtained leave of absence, and proceeded back to his own country. During his captivity he had heard a great deal in praise of the beauty and accomplishments of Adeline, while conversing with the unfortunate Alson. As he heard also of her vast fotune, a thought now struck him, on which he continued to ponder during his homeward voyage. He conceived that he might be fortunate enough to supply Alson's place; for he had little doubt that the sable heroes would very quickly dispose of their prisoner, in such a way as to leave him no source of uneasiness on that head.

Taking this, at all events, for granted, and flattered with the idea of his future prospects, he hastened, with the rueful looks of an undertaker, to the house of M. Molinet, and without much ceremony regretted that he was the bearer of ill-tidings. A little shocked, the good merchant began to exhibit almost as long a face as his own. The wily Victor, drawing his hand across his eyes, at the same time heaving a few sighs, declared that his poor friend Alson had unfortunately been scalped and murdered before his eyes.

When he repeated his visit, he had the pleasure of being introduced to the lovely Adeline. Mutual sorrow and sympathy in regard to the young soldier's fate drew them into conversation, and the officer was quite charmed with her manners, while her beauty surpassed his expectations. By degrees, his person and language appeared equally interesting to Adeline, and not many months elapsed before their acquaintance began to ripen into a more tender regard.

When the time for mourning expired, Adeline cast aside her widow's weeds, and gave her hand to the happy Victor, who now fancied he had secured the fair prize for life. But fortune, who had hitherto shown herself so favorable, now, when he stood on the brink of Paradise, began, like a vile jilt as she is, to change her tone. As he was cutting too high a curvet in the plenitude of his satisfaction in the bridal dance, he fell on the chalked floor, and disjointed one of his thighs—a compound fracture, which would require him to lie in one position for the period of one or two months. What a horrible contrast! the bridal chamber was turned into a sick-room; his bride became head nurse, and all his fondest hopes disappeared in chirurgical operations. His recovery was very slow; and before he became convalescent, another character appeared. Clermont, who had likewise been captured by the Indians, arrived in Paris. His first question on arriving at the hotel was respecting the residence of M. Molinet. In fact, he was the bearer of a letter from Alson to his wife, and he was surprised on hearing from his host that the lady had contracted a second marriage He was still more astonished to find that Victor was the second husband. The latter lost all courage, and looked quite crest-fallen as Clermont was announced, and briskly followed up his name, with the familiarity of the sick man's chamber. 'Oh, Victor!' he cried, 'what a wretch you are! what a piece of villany you have committed against Alson! He is alive, poor fellow, and I have brought a letter from him to his wife—I must go and deliver it.'

'Alive?' exclaimed Victor, 'Alson alive? Impossible! He was overtaken and put to death by the Indians in my company, while we were trying to make our escape.'

'Stop there, Victor; he was overtaken; but not killed; for a party of the colonists rescued him from his perious situation. But come, I must deliver the letter.

'For God's sake! my good Clermont,' cried the wretched Victor, at the same time tumbling head foremost in his hurry to prevent him, 'help me up—I fear I have broken my leg again;—I beseech you not to put the climax to my misery. Truly, take half of all I am worth, and do not betray me. Command me in every thing for ever, but do spare me; and try to raise me upon the sofa before Adeline comes in.'

Touched with pity at his helpless situation, Clermont assisted the unlucky patient, who feigned more pain than he really felt. Meanwhile Adeline, who had heard from one of the maidens that a stranger had arrived, ran into the room.—Victor was now in momentary dread of beholding the fatal letter; but Clermont was too magnanimous too much delighted at the sight of Adeline' surpassing charms and loveliness, to think of causing her any such alarm or unhappiness. He lingered long enough to catch the fascinating poison that lurked in Adeline's bright eyes; his soul was fired at the first interview; and it was clear that Victor's last sands of promised happiness were nearly run. He no longer felt so indignant as he ought at Victor's base conduct; he rather wished to imitate it, and having, like him, been in the habit of pleasing himself whenever he could, a thought suddenly struck him to avail himself, as far as possible of the information aud influence which he possessed.

Adeline, pleased to observe that there seemed nothing unpleasant between the gentlemen, soon after left the room. Clermont again turned to his companion with a portentous frown upon his brow:—'I am thinking, my good sir, that you have brought yourself into a very pretty dilemma. Your situation is desperate; for I cannot reconcile it to my conscience to become the means of concealing your treacherous conduct. The sole lenity which in such an affair I can be induced to grant, is, to postpone the communication until you are sufficiently recovered to be removed; and the sooner you can save yourself by flight, the better it will be.'

Having come to this explanation, Clermont took his leave, leaving the unlucky patient in no very envible state of mind. He was unable even to make his escape; and he lay ruminating upon various schemes, either for counteracting Clermont's influence, or for effecting a retreat. At length, finding nothing that was likely to relieve him from his awkward dilemma, he resigned himself quietly to his destiny, desirous only of getting his head out of the scrape with as little danger as possible; and, wearied with conjectures, he fell asleep.

Adeline regarded the assideous visits on the part of Clermont only in the light of friendly inquiries after his friend's health; but it was his object not to permit Victor to take an affectionate leave of his yonng bride; he must be removed suddenly and secretly. For this purpose, Clermont now daily made his appearance with Alson's letter in his hand, which he held before Victor's eyes, while he threatened the unfortunate wight with instant exposure, if he should refuse to quit the field. He now provided him with a conveyance and then destroyed that important document which he had held up, like the angel's flaming sword behind our first parents, to drive the unlucky Victor out of Paradise.

He then returned ro M. Molinet's house, where the first inquiry was about his friend.—He bids you an eternal farewell!" replied Clermont; and you may rejoice that you never will behold his face again. His own letter will inform you, that he basely deceived you; that he forged the account of captain Alson's death, and married Adeline during his life-time. I threatened to reveal his treachery, and he quickly decamped, well knowing that he was not legally united to your daughter.'

The lovely bride of two absent husbands then expressed her lively gratitude to the intended third, for his timely interference in rescuing her out of the hands of so base a character, while the merchant begged the favor of his friendship, and more frequent visits. But the artful Clermont checked his wishes for a short period, in order not to betray his own project.

To smooth the way more effectually to his wishes, he next brought forward the agreeable intelligence of the rogue Victor's death. The priest who had attended him declared (at least so said Clermont) that he had stopped at a village on account of illness, had received the sacrament, and died in peace. Thus Adeline was again free, and happy in being released from so awkward a kind of engagement. Of this the arch-traitor Clermont was soon assured by the manner of his reception. Every day they became more attached to each other; and Adeline gave him her hand with greater pleasure than she did to either of her other husbands. A splendid banquet welcomed the happy pair from the altar; but in the afternoon the sound of a carriage was heard, advancing at a smart pace up the street. All eyes were now turned toward the door; and, to the surprise of all the company, in rushed Victor with his drawn sword in his hand, which he pointed with threatening gesture at Clermont:—'Up, up, and defend your life!' he cried, at the same time dragging the astonished bridegroom with firm grasp out of the hall.

As these two rivals did not return, Adeline was obliged to submit to another disappointment; and her father took her to a retired spot, where they lived quietly for a year. The young lady then began to think of another husband, and the adresses of the baron Marli were gladly accepted. The nuptal ceremony was performed without the slightest interruption. The feast and the dance passed pleasantly away; and the bridemaids were already busied in disarraying the fair, Adeline of her ornaments and jewels, when, as fate would have it, a long and loud knock was heard at the hall-door, enough to throw a nervous patient into fits. It was just midnight too; yet one of the footmen had courage enough to open the door; and a man with a wooden leg, limping as fast as he could along the hall, begged to be admitted to an interveiw with the master of the house.—The servant grinned at him over his shoulder, and said that it would be better to postpone it to the following day.—'No, my good friend, it will not,' replied the stranger; my affair will admit of no delay.' But the servant only stared and shook his head, as if in contempt of his request. Upon this the stranner, flying into a passion, raised his crutch.—'Go, thou base varlet, or I will break every bone in thy skin!' and the footman ran to acquaint his master with this unseasonable visit. M Molinet made his appearance in his night-gown and slippers, and, looking sternly at the intruder, begged to know his pleasure.—'Ah! do not you know your son-in-law Alson?' said the stranger.—Starting back several yards at one bound, the merchant raised up his hands in astonishment, and ordered a servant to call his daughter and her husband.—'I am her true husband,' said the one-legged man. The baron was confounded at this unexpected claim; but he soon reconciled himself to the loss of his bride, and made his retreat with a grace.

The appearance of the supposed Alson was a trick of the two rogues, Victor and Clermont.—The report of a fourth marriage had acted like poison upon their jealous and revengeful feelings; and not venturing, from a sense of mutual safety, to wreak them upon each other, they swore to prevent any other person from availing himself of any advantage which they had forfeited.—With this view, they pitched upon a wily young mendicant, who resembled Alson, and their base stratagem proved so far successful.

Adeline seemed inclined to make no further adventures in the matrimonial lottery; but her father was more intent than ever upon finding a bona fide son-in-law. Suitors again began to their appearance and he allowed her no peace, until she agreed to be married to the Marquis Gilles. On the wedding night, when all had retired to rest, a cry of fire was heard, and the room next to the bridal chamber was found to be in flames. The marquis ran down stairs, and disappeared through the front door. The fire was fortunately extinguished, but the bridegroom was no longer to be seen. What had befallen him no one knew; his destiny remained a secret; and all that could be gathered, was, that some countrymen had beheld a carriage driving with great rapidity from the castle. Two days of grievous anxiety elapsed—when a courier made his appearance with the following letter, and after its delivery instantly gallopped away.

"Your bridals are surely bewitched, and some dragon guards the entrance of the bridal chamber. I am no St. George, and feel no inclination to run a tilt with the monster,- very willingly making room for the sixth fool who may take a fancy for such an adventure. Gillies.

An aged advocate soon after was so deeply smitten with Adeline's charms, as to be quite unable to devote himself longer to his profession, without his fair client's consent and assistance.

The lady, however, would certainly have refused him, had not her father kindly stepped in to second the plea; and she was at last over-persuaded to yield her hand. The ceremony was performed in as private a manner as possible.—Only a few persons were aware that it was about to take place, and the domestics were in perfect ignorance of it until all was concluded. The supper table had been removed, and the happy old bridegroom was just thinking of moving after it, when the waiter entered and announced—the marquis Gilles! What a thunderbolt of surprize for the whole party! M. Molinet alone had presence of mind to cry out, 'Let the marquis go to the devil! tell him we have nothing to say to each other.'—But the marquis was already in the room: 'First my dear father,' he said, 'do me the justice to hear my defence, and send me there afterwards. On the eventful night of my marriage I was seized by robbers in my own court, and kidnapped and blindfolded into a carriage, which proceeded the whole night. When it stopped, I was conducted into a place up steps and down steps, until they took the bandage from my eyes,—of very little service to me, in a dark room, with an iron door and no windows. Here the villains compelled me, by dint of threatening my life, to write that false and wicked epistle to my beloved Adeline, but which procured me better treatment, and perhaps saved my life.—Shortly afterwards, they promised to release me, which they only did, however, within these last few hours. Yesterday they again blindfolded me; brought me out of the labyrinth, and conveyed me in a carriage to this very neighborhood.—Bidding me alight in some fields, they said to me, "That is your road to Paris; put your best foot foremost, and try to reach before nightfall; for your young bride is celebrating her nuptials today with an old advocate. So make haste, or you will have no chance of avoiding the honors that are in store for you." They then directed me to this house; and, before I had time to recover from my astonishment, they dragged me out of the carriage, and drove me with mocks and gibings from their presence.'

"A fine romantic history!" exclaimed the old advocate; "but, my lord, who will bear witness to all this? Besides, if you could, what would that help you? Your former marriage with my present bride, sir, has been revoked."

"I know nothing of your quirks of law, and I should be a fool to contend with you: I will put it into the hands of some skilful expounder of justice like yourself. My present object, in coming here, is loudly to protest, once for all, against your presuming to usurp my place; for I neither can nor will listen to it.'

'Good,' replied the advocate: 'and you likewise shall not venture to sport upon my manor, marquis; for I hereby appeal to the king, and my wife shall be entrusted, as a sacred deposit, until the decision of the case, into the hands of her father. I will soon get your bill of divorce confirmed.'

M. Gilles expressed himself satisfied with these terms. The cause was protracted so long, that the old advocate died before the conclusion; an event which was hailed with singular pleasure by the young marquis; but the lady now refused to favor him, declaring that she would rather die than think of receiving so ungallant a swain, who had once so basely deserted her.

Adeline's recollections of him were soon effaced by the appearance of a rival, a very handsome young officer of hussars. On this occasion her father had less difficulty than on any of the preceding, in peasuading her to listen to the young man's vows; and she accepted him with the same dutiful sentiments as heretofore. Previously to the ceremony, the good old merchant took his future son-in-law aside: 'You are aware, my friend, that you are only following in the wake of six other lovers, who are most of them now deceased. The fate of each has been strange, and I imagine they must all have been bewitched. If you are bent upon running the same risk, and will not be advised to think better of it, there is one little piece of advice which I shall give you, and which may perhaps serve to counteract the charm. After you come from church, I would have you never once lose sight of your bride, until you have secured her for your own.'

Adeline was conducted from the altar between her father and her seventh husband, and was just proceeding up the steps into the house: Suddenly hasty footsteps were heard behind them, and some one inquired for M Molinet. Upon turning round the bridal party beheld a pale, haggard young man, in an officer's faded uniform, who stood looking at them, supported upon a crutch.

'Who inquires for me?' said M. Molinet, trembling in every limb as he spoke; 'who are you? what is your business with me?'

'I am an unfortunate being,' murmured the stranger, 'betrayed by false friends; don't you recognise me?'

'No, sir,' said Molinet, as the wedded pair were hurrying him up the steps, 'I know nobody now.'

'What,' replied the stranger, 'have my long sufferings so completely metamorphosed me?—Are you too a stranger to me, Adeline? Am I not recognized by my own wife? My first and only love, I am Alson.'

'Just Heavens!' cried the bride, 'surely that voice—'

'Away with you!' exclaimed M. Molinet, 'do not listen to him, girl! he is only an impostor. Take her away my son-in-law,' and follow my advice.' At the same time he pushed the young hussar and his daughter before him into the house. The stranger clapped his hand upon his sword, and confronting his rival, said, 'Not a step farther, on your life, sir. Would you be guilty of eloping with my wife before my eyes?

With enraged looks the hussar drew his broadsword; but Adeline arrested his arm. 'No bloodshed, she cried, with entreating accents, 'for that man is Alson. My first and best beloved! my eye indeed can scarcely recognize you, but my heart speaks too feelingly—it is you. Yet I have already been so vilely deceived in this manner, that I am suspicious of every one; I must, therefore, insist upon receiving still more positive proofs of your existence than your mere appearance will afford; nor deem it want of affection that dictates our separation until these can be adduced. Believe me, I indulge not the least suspicion; but I owe thus much to my own character, and to the world. When once I am happy enough to be pronounced yours, lawfully yours, I will most joyfully give you my hand, and live and die with you alone.'

Adeline then retired weeping into her chamber. The young hussar left the place with a bitter curse; and M. Molinet, with his eyes fixed in mute perplexed dismay upon the features of Alson, after some cogitating and talking with himself, at length reached out his hand, saying, 'The longer I puzzle myself with your face and figure, the more I seem to recollect somebody very like you; but I think it must have been in some other world.—Be that, however, as it may, you are heatily welcome, my boy; my poor son Alson—if you are Alson; and forgive me for giving you so rude a reception and for having you sent, so soon after your marriage, abroad. I had no idea you would stay so long.'

Alson (for in fact it was no other) had no great difficulty in proving his identity, and he and Adeline had the pleasure of being twice married to each other, the old gentleman insisting upon a repetition of the ceremony after so long an absence; and it was the only real marriage out of seven, or rather eight.

Fire in East Boston. On Thursday evening, a few minutes past 8 o'clock, a fire was discovered in the Lyman School House, a large brick building, owned by the City, situated at East Boston, which was, in a short space of time, consumed, and one of its walls fell in. The flames communicated to a block of cottage built wooden dwellings, next to the School House, and they were wholly destroyed. Mr Josiah Johnson owned and occupied one of them; the owners and occupants of the other two we did not learn. The lower part of the School House building was used as a watch house. The origin of the fire we could not ascertain. The loss to the City is at least $20,000.—Atlas.

☞Large sales of Howard street Flour have been made in Baltimore, as low as $5 per barrel.

DEPARTED.—Tirrell, the supposed murderer of Mrs Bickford, left New Orleans on the 12th, on board the ship Wabash, for New York.

☞The French Government is known to have purchased fifty thousand bushels of Wheat and the same quantity of barley, at New York, which have been shipped to Gibraltar, in six vessels, and designed for the sustenance of the French army in Africa.

DROWNED.—On Saturday last a lad about four years of age, son of Mr. Skidmore, of this town (North Parish), was permitted to go out of doors for a few moments, but remained so long that some one went in search of him, when his lifeless body was found floating in the water, in a hole that had been cut in the ice, a short distance from the house.

☞Small pox is prevailing, at the present time, in most of the large cities of the northen and middle states, as well as in many small towns.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN 24, 1846.

Punishment for Crimes

The certainty of punishment for the commission of crimes, has often times more effect upon the hardened offender, than the severity of it. If a criminal knows when he goes to commit a crime that he will be detected and punished, it will put the strongest restraint upon him, though the punisment be not commensurate with the crime; and the restraint in all cases will correspond in a great degree with the probability of detection. On the other hand, if the highest penalty should be inflicted on the person found guilty of a trifling offence, and there should be that laxity in the administration of the law, that the chance of detection would be small, there would be many bold enough to run the risk, notwithstanding the penalty, if detected. The great excellence of the law consists in its prompt and efficient execution. Rogues count the chances of detection, the punishment is generally of secondary consideration.—We would not be understood by this to be opposed to the severe enactments in our statute books, against the commission of the most heinous crimes. For we believe they are absolutely necessary for the prevention of such crimes. But we do believe that those statutes are shorn of a great part of their efficiency, when not strictly and promptly enforced.

Our attention has been called to this by the great number of recent examples of executive clemency shown in the pardoning of convicted criminals in the State of New York, which will we think have the effect to degrade the majesty of the law in the view of many of her citizens.—The same course was pursued by Gov. Porter of Pennsylvania a few years since, who by the indiscriminate use or abuse of his pardoning prerogative, made the process of conviction in the courts a mere farce. We think after all the opportunities which the law gives a criminal by allowing him to be tried by a jury of his country, and defended by the ablest council, that there are very few instances where a governor should have the presumption to reverse the sentence which may be imposed by the court. The frequency of such examples cannot fail to give offenders a contempt for the laws which long impunity has taught them to disregard.

Railroad Charters.

There have been quite a large number of petitions presented to our Legislature, from different parts of the State, asking for charters for new Railroads. But we do not look upon the number of applications as in the least extraordinary, taking into account the size of the state and its increase in population and business. The day may come when from extraordinary excitement on the subject of Railways, and the efforts of speculators, more will be built than will be profitable to the stockholders, but we believe that day is far distant. Railway communication between towns and cities, is preferable to any other mode, and the continually increasing cheapness of Railroad iron and other materials used in their construction, and the improvements in machines for grading roads have effected so much, that there are few towns now, which cannot enjoy the accomodation of Railways on account of the expense.

The only check upon their construction, has been the conservative spirit of our Legislature:—But this conservatism is fast melting away, as experience shows the public benefit accruing from new roads. The present Legislature we confidently believe will pursue a liberal course in the granting of charters, and we as confidently believe that experience will show such a course to be productive of immense good to the interests of the different portions of the State.

The Temperance Offering and Youth's Cascade. In the absence of public active efforts on the part of the friends of Temperance to stay the fearful increase of intemperance in our vicinity, we would most earnestly recommend this cheap and neatly printed bwork for general circulation. It is published once in two months, and is edited by Rev. N. Hervey, of Salem. Price only 50 cts a year. E. Mearom is agent for this town.

We have received from S N Dickinson & Co., a copy of the second edition of their valuable Boston Almanac, which contains, all the matter of the first edition, and eight additional pages, viz: List of Officers of the City Government, also of all the U S Ministers, Consuls, &c., residing in foreign ports, with many other valuable additions.

Lines from a Bank Note.—The following lines are copied from a five Dollar bank bill, almost worn out from its long circulation and were probably the effusion of a tender bridegroom on the interesting occasion of being united in the matrimonial bands. The bill itself was undoubtedly the generous fee of the worser half to the person for "making one from two."

Independant Railroad—We see by the newspaper that meetings in favor of another Independent Railroad direct from Fall River to Boston have been held at that place and other towns in this route. All these movements aid other similar efforts of the people to obtain chartered rights against the interested opposition of existing Corporations.

☞Hon. T. Pilsbury has been nominated as the candidate for Congress from Texas. He is said to be a native of Maine.

Pennsylvania and the Tariff.

The Legislature of Pennsylvania have unanimously voted to instruct their Senators and Representatives in Congress, to oppose any alteration, or modification in the Tariff of 1842. This is as it should be. It is a noble stand for the Legislature of the Keystone State to take. Polk's emissaries stated distinctly to the manufacturers in the interior of Pennsylvania, at the last Presidential canvass, that Mr. Polk was a friend of the existing Tariff. These statements were believed and the democracy of that State cast their votes for him entirely upon the strength of these representations. They have now fonnd that they were miserably deceived in regard to Mr. Polk's real views, and are assured that his policy will be diametrically opposed to their interests. They therefore enter their solemn protest, in undivided phalanx against this deep treachery on the part of the administration. They commit themselves unreservedly and uncompromisingly as friends of the Tariff, and the whole Tariff of 1842. They declare to Mr. Polk in plain, unequivocal language, that if he shall tamper with the protective system, he must bid a long farewell to Pennsylvania.

If it was the success of the Whig party that we cared for, more than the prosperity and welfare of our country, we should hail with joy the determination of the Administration to crush the Tariff. For we believe if it should be done, it would make a greater overturn in the democratic party, than has ever before been witnessed in any political party in this country. It would secure beyond the possibility of a doubt, the election of a Whig President in 1848. This, the course pursued by the Pennsylvanian democracy, confirms in a voice not to be misunderstood.

A Protective Tariff is dear to every one who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow—to the millions of operatives in our manufacturing towns to the great agricultural interests which look upon a manufacturing population as a market for their produce—to every one who takes pride in the enterprise and prosperity of our citizens, the growth of our country, the developing of mighty resources as yet unattempted. It is the life of New England. Destroy it and you prostrate to the earth the giant arm of labor which has made her celebrated throughout the world as the home of freedom and competeuce. Destroy it, and our laborers will be reduced to a serfdom worse than that of England.

The Corn Laws.

The resignation of the Peel ministry seems to have been almost entirely on account of their division upon the repeal of the corn laws. This question is now assuming a very important aspect in England. The cry of the working classes—the hardy bone and muscle' of the Kingdom is for bread—a repeal of the odious corn laws, so called, which impose heavy duties upon the admission of all kinds of bread stuffs into the Kingdom. This change is opposed by the wealth and aristocracy of the Kingdom, particularly by the landed gentry, whose interests are immediately affected by a change in the corn laws. But the clamor for repeal cannot be put down by wealth or power.—Starvation stares the people in the face and drives them to knock fearlessly at the doors of Parliament. If measures for the alleviating the condition of the mass of the people are not soon taken, it is next to impossible that there will not be insurrections in every part of the Kingdom, and insurrections which will not be put down by the bayonet, and will be abandoned only by a change in the Government. For the people engaged in them will be driven to it by hunger. And starvation and the bayonet are but sorry alternatives.

Architecture.

We wish the advantages of a chaste and correct style of Architecture were more known and appreciated by our citizens in the plans of their dwellings. A very deficient taste or rather the absence of all taste has been too prevalent heretofore, and every one about to erect a dwelling house seems to have taken his model, almost without alteration from his next neighbor. For many years the prevailing pattern was a long, four sided box, end to the street, with a large room at each end and a bed room and entry in the middle, with, perhaps, a kitchen or pantry or both projecting from the back end. Frequently a string of sheds and other out buildings were added, reminding the spectator of a comet—the main building being the nucleus and the remainder, the tail. It only needed the design of a competent architect to have enabled the owner to have had, from this mass of good lumber, a pleasant and beautiful edifice.

We have been led to these remarks from having had the opportunity of seeing some well drawn designs for dwelling-houses, cottages and public buildings executed by Mr. W. H. HOWLAND, of this town, whose advertisement may be seen in another column. We feel that we cannot too strongly advise any one about to build, to first consult Mr. H., and look over his designs. Those who recollect the remarks of Rev. Mr. Fox in his Lecture on "the education of the public eye," at our Lyceum last season, must be satisfied that it is the truest economy to erect sightly and tasteful edifices instead of those having no claim to beauty or good taste.

A splendid Bugle intended as a present for Mr. Morse, the accomplished leader of the Salem Band, is finished, and will remain at the store of Jones, Lows & Ball, Boston, at their request, until Monday, when it will be brought to Salem. A meeting of the subscribers will then be called to take measures for its presentations. Its value is said to be $300.

WASHINGTON, Jan 19.—The Oregon question remains for the day in statu quo. The President continues to say that there will be no war, and as far as I can learn his present intention is to persuade the South that we may have the whole of Oregon by the consent of England if we will yield up the principle of protection to the British Government. The whole of Oregon for us and a 20 per cent tariff for England. That is the cry now, and we are told by some of the Locofocos that we must choose between Free Trade or a war, as the master spirits will compel us to make choice between the one and the other. More anon.—Ex.

The only alternative seems then to be Free Trade or a war if we contend for the whole of Oregon. Which to prefer we hardly know. The one would be the prolific source of unmitigatad evils to the country temporarily. The other would sap the foundations of her prosperity in all coming time. It would reduce the great mass of the citizens to a level with European laborers—to a situation little better, if any, than that of the slaves at the South.

From the Fourth Annual Report of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, of the Returns of the Births, Marriages and Deaths, we extract the following relating to Danvers.

In 1842	45 Births,	33 Marriages,	29 Deaths.
1843	13 "	33 "	15 "
1844	159 "	51 "	86 "
1845	194 "	50 "	89 "

In Salem the Report is as follows.

In 1842	0 Births,	145 Marriages,	287 Deaths.
1843	486 "	147 "	235 "
1844	3 "	94 "	260 "
1845	225 "	122 "	244 "

Ordination.

Mr. J. J. Twiss, of this town (who has engaged to labor in Granby, Ct., and vicinity) will be publicly ordained as a preacher, on Sunday evening next, (to-morrow evening,) Jan. 25th. Services, which will take place in the Universalist Church in Danvers, South Parish, to commence at 6 o' clock. Sermon by Rev. H. B. Soule, of Gloucester.

Services of Recognition.

Rev. JOHN G. RICHARDSON, late of Milford, N.H., will be recognised by public services, as Pastor of the South Danvers Baptist Church, tomorrow evening, (Sabbath) at their Chapel. Sermon by Rev. J. BANVARD, Salem. Exercises to commence at half past six.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—Among the many subjects of local interest daily occurring, there is no one, in which most of your readers are more directly concerned, than the proposed plan of setting off a part of the town of Danvers and annexing it to Salem; mentioned in your last paper as prayed for by Chas, A. Dearborn and Wm. F. Nichols and others. This Petition has a most important bearing upon the interests of the town as a whole;—and especially upon the interests of School District No. One. Although the parcel of territory sought to be severed is small, probably not exceeding one hundred acres; still it contains many valuable inhabitants, and an amount of taxable property that cannot well be spared. Supposing the whole taxable property in the town to be estimated at two millions of dollars, without question one tenth part of this sum, or two hundred thousand dollars will be found on this territory. Considering the present state of the finances of the town, with a debt contracted amounting to about twenty thousand dollars, and a probability of addition to it the present year, of from three to five thousand dollars more;—surely these gentlemen should not be permitted quietly to escape their fair proportion of the debts they have aided in contracting, without some adequate reason therefor. What are the reasons offered why this petition should be granted? I have heard none, excepting the irregular appearance of the boundary lines between Salem and Danvers, since Harmony Grove was transferred to Salem. This is all fancy. No individual suffers the least inconvenience whatever, from this apparent irregularity of lines. On the contrary, so far as was practicable, all inconveniencies were remedied at that time, by a regulation of the boundaries in the vicinity of Frye's Mills;—and also between Main street and Aborn street. Will it be said that the children will be better accommodated with Schools when set off to the city, than they now are? We do not well understand how this can be. Because as our District now is ENTIRE, we have the means of keeping Schools of the best character, for the accommodation of all the children of the District through the year;—no one of whom, certainly no one from the territory sought to be set off, will have to travel more than HALF A MILE. We have also School rooms most pleasantly situated, and of best construction; and it will be in our power, whenever we shall chose to do so, to have teachers of a corresponding character.—So far as Schools are concerned, there is no part of our town so eligibly situated as our own District, if we continue united. But if nearly one half the wealth, and one third of the scholars are to be taken off—then we shall indeed be in bad condition. Because instead of having a School through the whole year, we shall have one only three quarters of the year, and this of a secondary character. I have not alluded to the fact that the District has contracted a large debt for their NEW SCHOOL HOUSE, because beyond question, these wealthy gentlemen, if they should be annexed to the city, would feel in honor bound to pay their proportion of this debt, which they assisted in contracting, and would take care to provide that their severance should be dependent on this condition.

It will be remembered that the reason for altering the boundary lines between Salem and Danvers, in 1840, was, that the territory in which Salem was to have the Cemetery for their dead, should be within their own limits, and under their own jurisdiction.—There was propriety in this, and therefore it was readily acceeded to on the part of Danvers. The same reasons that then operated in favor of that grant, now operate equally strong against the grant now prayed for. The principal Cemetery for our dead, that which has been used for one hundred and fifty years or more—that which contains the bones of the patriots at Lexington, and of individuals immortalized in story and in song, is situate within these limits. Will the town that has just incurred so large an expense in enclosing this Cemetery in a decent manner—a Cemetery that was appropriated to the use of the town forever by the generous donor for this purpose, now suffer it to be abandoned, and the ashes of our relatives and friends scattered to the winds, or trodden under foot by strangers? Surely not. Never will the Legislature for a moment listen to such a Petition, for the sake of gratifying the caprice of a few individuals (however wealthy or respectable they may be) if the facts are but properly laid before them. Town lines, like marriage contracts, should not be varied for trifling considerations.

EQUAL RIGHTS.

The Order of Odd Fellows have a public School at Washington N. C., at which about two hundred children are educated.

Congressional Proceedings.

Friday, Jan 1

In the House. Mr. McKay, from the Comm tee on Ways and Means, reported a bill mak appropriation for the support of the Academy West Point, for the year ending the 30th of J 1847.

Mr C J Ingersoll, from the Committee on F eign Affairs, reported a bill to repeal a part of tariff of 1842, levying a duty of twenty per c advalorem on Java coffee, and for regulating tonnage duty on vessels of sundry speci nations.

Mr Darragh of Pennsylvania, from the Co mittee on Naval Affairs, reported a bill to c truct a dry dock at Philadelphia.

Mr J R Ingersoll introduced a bill to abol certain oaths now required to be taken in the c tom-houses of the United States, and for ot purposes.

The House then resolved itself into the Comm tee of the Whole, and resumed the considerati of the Oregon question.

Mr Rockwell of Connecticut, made a speech gainst war and war measures. He offered an mendment, to defer notice till Congress adjourn The amendment was declared not to be now order.

Mr Pollock of Pennsylvania, Whig, and Goodyear of New York, Democrat, spoke in vor of giving the notice. The former preferr the plan of Hilliard of Alabama. On motion Mr. Pendleton of Virginia the House adjourne Saturday, Jan 17th.

The Hon Wm Taylor of Va. died suddenly bout 3 o'clock, this morning, at his lodgings this city,—probably of disease of the heart,

The Chaplain alluded, in the prayer at the op oning of the House, this morning, to this even which was the first knowledge the public had o it.

In the House Mr McConnell asked leave to in troduce a bill to repeal the duties on salt and iron but it was refused.

The House took up the bill authorizing the At torney General to adjudicate the claims of the citizens of the U S against the government of Pe ru; sum to be distributed in $300,000. A clause in the bill provides that $2000 shall be paid to the Attorney General, for his services in the business, out of the fund for the claimants. The question arose whether this sum, should be paid by the claimaints, by the U S or not at all. At 2 o'clock the Committee rose and reported progress.

Mr Droomgoole, an impressive manner, announced the death of his colleague, Mr Taylor, of the Rockbridge District. The funeral will take place on Monday morning. The Senate did not sit to-day.

The two houses of Congress on Monday attended the funeral of Mr Taylor, of Virginia, whose death was announced, on Saturday. No business done.

Tuesday Jan 21.

IN SENATE.—Petitions and memorials were presented,

Mr Hannegan, of Indiana, submitted an amendment and addition to the bill reported by Mr Fairfield, to build ten additional war steamers out of two millions which may be received from the sales of the public lands.

Mr Sturgeon, of Pa., presented a memorial from citizens of Pennsylvannia, against any compromise of the Oregon line—and claiming the whole territory up to 54 deg. 40 min.

The Senate then went into Executive session.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.—Reports were made by several Committees.

Mr Hamlin, Chairman of the Committee on Elections, moved to take up the resolution reported from that Committee, in relation to the Florida contested election.

The report and resolution of the majority of the Committee give the seat to Mr Brockenbrough the contestant, whilst the report of the minority declare Mr Cabell, the sitting member, to have been elected.

Mr Cabell complained of the course of the majority of the Committee, and of the reflection of Mr Hamlin, the other day, respecting his (M C's) brief absence, and explained why he was absent.

Mr Hamlin replied, and explained why he had noticed Mr C's absence in his (Mr H's) remarks to the House—disclaiming any intention to reflect on his absence.

The resolutions were then taken up, and the Clerk directed to read the reports from the majority and minority of the Committee, which he was doing when this report closed.

☞The following just sentiments, forcibly expressed, are the concluding remarks of an article in the Charleston (S. C.) Mercury.

"Look back at our progress—at our peaceful advance—our increase of territory without conquest—our augmenting population, wealth, and power, and tell us which is the true patriotism, that which has secured to us these grand triumphs of peace, or that which would have led us, on every petty pretext, to waste our energies in fighting—to turn our husbandmen into soldiers, our merchant ships into men-of-war, and our money into gunpowder."

CAUTION. On Saturday last a lovely little boy was left by his attendants, for a few moments, in what appeared to be a perfectly safe place, and tied in his seat. It so happened, however, that some clothes, upon a "horse" took fire from the stove, close by which they were standing, and the fire having communicated to the child, the poor little fellow was burnt to death.—Salem Gaz ☞Great Britain has 45 war steamers built, and 26 building. This is exclusive of guard vessels, &c., for coast service only.

THE MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH is constantly improving in its practical operation. A stenographic system has now been prepared, by which intelligence may be transmitted as rapidly as it falls from the lips of a speaker, or from the pen of a rapid writer.

The Free State Rally and Texas Chain Breaker has been discontinued.

On Sunday morning we were alarmed by the cry of fire, which was occasioned by the burning of some kindling wood in the cellar of the house owned and occupied by Mr. John S. Sibley. A severe snow storm was raging at the time, and but for the prompt assistance of the firemen, the house would have been destroyed. It was however soon extinguished.

FOREIGN NEWS!

Arrival of the Hibernia.

President's Message.

The reception of this document in England, did not cause so much excitement as was generally expected on this side of the water, and it appears not to have caused much irritation. Indeed, the British seem to have been more pleased with the President's free trade and anti-protection doctrines, than offended at his views upon the Oregon question. They regard them as "blustering and belligerent," but think that the news of the opening of the ports to our grain, will change the popular feeling in this country in favor of peace.

The London Times says :—

"The terms of the message imply the alternative of war or conclusive negotiation. War is too monstrous to be thought of for a moment, except after every effort at a compromise has been exhausted. Britain and America must be too sensible of their mutual benefits, mutual dependence, and mutual respect, to peril the substantial blessings they now enjoy, and are daily multiplying in the relations of peace, for the bloody and precarious glories of war. It is all but impossible that two great and kindred nations, after healing so wide a breach, and helping one another to so great a common prosperity, should become again mutual and unnatural destroyers for a mere point of honor, for a remote wilderness, separate from both by a journey of many months, by stormy seas, and almost impassible rocks and deserts."

The London Morning Chronicle—the organ of the Whig party, and a paper which stands high in the estimation of the educated classes in England—expresses an opinion, that if Congress should adopt the President's recommendation and make provision for giving the "year's notice," before the end of that year's notice both countries would be irretrievably committed to the calamitous issue of arms ; that from the day England receives the notice, she must prepare "firmly to maintain" her rights, &c. But, says the Chronicle :

"We will not believe that the question can be brought to such an issue. We do not think that "Congress will make provision" for giving effect to Mr. Polk's insane counsels.

Change in the Ministry.

The resignation of the Peel Ministry was followed by a call from the Queen upon Lord John Russell to form a Whig Cabinet, which however he was not able to effect, owing to disagreement among the prominent leaders of the Party, Earl Gray, Lord Palmerston and others. Sir Robert Peel was again made Premier, and is again at the head of the government. The effects of this restoration are said to be highly satisfactory to the nation, although nobody knows exactly what policy he will pursue. It is however generally believed that the Corn Laws will be repealed.

FOREIGN PROVISIONS.

Foreign Provisions.—The various steam vessels trading with London from Holland, Belgium, France &c., have brought a large quantity of provisions including cattle, butter, cheese, and especially poultry, chiefly turkeys, the whole being of a superior quality. A large number of vessels have also arrived within these few days with grain and flour, both wheaten and potatoes, and some with cargoes consisting entirely of potatoes, to the amount of several tons, which, particularly at this season of alleged scarcity of those articles, assume a degree of more than usual importance.

Massachusetts Legislature.

On Saturday, in the Senate, Messrs Carey, Scudder Shepard and Kyle, were appointed on the part of the Senate as the Committee on the Protective Policy.

In the House, a memorial was read from the President of the Western Railroad Co, in relation to their connexion with the Worcester Railroad Co. and praying for a law fixing the compensation to be paid the latter Company for the use of their road. This was referred to a joint Special Committee.

In the House, a host of Railroad and other petitions were presented, amongst them were those of Robert S Daniels and others, in aid of the petition of David Pingree and others ; of Thomas West, President of the Boston and Maine Railroad Co., for change of location and for a Branch to Methuen ; of the Nashua and Lowell Railroad Corporation for leave to alter the termination of their road in Lowell ; of J Sylvester and others, in aid of J S Cabot and others for Salem and Andover Railroad ; by Mr Jefferds, of Middleton, of Ephraim Fuller and others, in aid of the same ; of Edward Howe, for a change of the line between Ipswich and Boxford ; and of Norman Mills and others, in aid off the same

The Committees are now all appointed, and the following are the members form Essex County thereon, viz :—

On Standing Committees of Senate.

Probate and Chancery—Wheatland, of Salem.
Engrossed Bills—Poor, of Danvers,

Standing Committees of House.

Probate and Chancery—Stevens, of Andover.
Elections—Baker, of Beverly.
Bills in 3d Reading—Dearborn, of Methuen.
Pay Roll—Knight, of Marblehead.

On Joint Standing Committees.

Mercantile Affairs and Insurances—Condry, of Newbury, of the Senate, Thorndike of Beverly and Silsbee of Salem, of the House.
Library—Kimball, of Wenham, of the Senate.
Militia—Hodges of Andover, of the Senate, and Kimball, of Salem, of the House.
Parishes and Religious Societies—Wheatland of Salem, of the Senate, and Sawyer of Salisbury, of the House.
Public Lands—Kimball, of Wenham, of the Senate.
Prisons— Fowler, of Danvers. of the House.
Fisheries—Smith, of Marblehead, of the House.
Railways and Canals—J C Perkins of Salem, of the House.

Monday Jan 19.

Mr Kimball, of Salem, presented the petition of David Buffum and others, in relation to the law regulating stationary steam engines ; referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

A petition from Cambridge was presented for the prohibition of horse-racing, and the leasing of grounds for such purposes.

Tuesday Jan 20.

In the Senate. Mr. Borden from the Committee on Manufactures, reported Bills to incorporate the Holyoke Manufacturing Co., increase the Capital Stock of the Numkeag Steam Cotton Co.—read and passed to a second reading.

In the House, The following among other petitions were presented ; the petition of the Selectmen of the town of Weymouth, for leave to convey their right to alewives—and another petition of the same town, for aid in their support of State paupers. The petitions of a number of citizens of Roxbury, for a suitable State institution for juvenile offenders. A remonstrance was presented in the Senate from the Eastern Railroad Company, protesting strongly against the granting of a charter fot the Salem and Malden Railroad

An order was adopted by the House that no order shall be returnable after Feb 20. Also an order in reference to doing away with the six months' residence in towns, previous to election, now required of voters

Mr Osborn. of Danvers, presented the remonstrance of School District No 1 and also of the town of Danvers against the petition of Charles A Dearborn and others.

Wednesday, Jan. 21.

In the Senate the remonstrance of Wm D Northend and others, against the petition of Charles A Dearborn and others, presented and referred,

In the House the petition of Newell A Thompson and others for incorporation of the Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Massachusetts, was committed ; also, the petition of John Choate and others for a law to secure certain rights to Married Women.

Senate—Petitions and two orders form the House were disposed of in concurrence.

An order from the House, that no orders of notice be issued returnable after the 20th of February next was on motion of Mr Gray, laid on the table.

Thursday, Jan 22

In the House of Reprsentatives a large number of petitions presented, and the following orders were adopted;—that Messrs W I on. Whitney, of Stowe and Robbins of Boston be a Committee to be joined to consider what disposition shall be made of the report of the Commissioners for the codification of the criminal law.

That Messrs Byington, Clark of Boston, Burbank of Lexington, Upham, of Malden, and Perry, of Dover, by a Committee to consider the expediency of appointing Commissioners to inquire into the condition of idiots in this Commonwealth, to ascertain their number, and what can be done for them ; said Commissioners to report to the next General Court.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, on Sabbath evening, by Rev Mr. Collyer Mr. JAMES B. NEWHALL, of Salem, to Miss ELIZABETH A. GALUCIA, of Lynn,

In Salem, Mr LUTHER C, BUTMAN to Miss MARY JANE GARDNER.

In Beverly, Capt. GEORGE CHAPMAN to Miss ELIZABETH ANN FELLOWS.

In Boston, G. W. LORING, Esq , to Miss E. S. PEABODY.

DEATHS.

In this town, 10th inst., of consumption, Mr. JOSEPH RHOADS, aged 76,

Mrs REBECCA WING, widow of the late William Wing, aged 73.

At North Parish, on Tuesday, CHARLES HENRY, son of Mr. Josiah Beckford, aged 4 years and 9 months.

On Saturday last, STEPHEN FELTON, an interesting son of Stephen and Mary Skidmore, aged 4 years.

In Salem, Mrs. HANNAH SYMONDS, widow of the late Mr Jonathan Symonds, aged 70. GEORGE ELEAZER, only child of Mr. George W. Crafts, aged 1 year.

LEVEE

Of the Danvers Mechanic Institute.

The Second Levee of the Institute will be held at UPTON'S HALL, on WEDNESDAY EVNNING NEXT,

at 7 o'clock.

Several brief Addresses may be expected from different gentlemen, and vocal and instrumental music and refreshments will be provided,

Each member of the Institute will be presented with a Free Ticket. Any member who may fail of receiving his ticket will be supplied on application to the Secretary.

A limited number of Tickets will be left for sale at the stores of Dr. Shed, Dr. Proctor, and Mr. S. Dodge, at 50 cents each

F. BAKER, Secretary.

Jan. 24. 1845.

CARD.

The subscriber hereby wishes to express his sincere thanks to the Firemen, and all those citizens, who so readily and cheerfully rendered their assistance at the fire which took place at his house, on the morning of Sunday last. JOHN S. SIBLEY.

January 24, 1846.

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2, Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend, A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

SELLING OFF.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz ; Rept Cashmeres ; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard ; Ginghams, Patches ; Alepines ; Alpaccas ; Cassimeres ; Sattinetts ; Red, White and Yellow Flanneis ; Plain and Checked Cambrics ; Lace Muslins ; Shawls ; Tickings ; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.
Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law,
Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

EXPLANATIONS ; a Sequel to "Vestiges of the Natural History of the Creation,' by the author of that work. Just published and for sale by jan 17 W. & S. B. IVES, Salem.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings. from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives for the State of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled,

THE petition of the undersigned respectfully represents, that there is no Railroad across the county of Essex, to connect the large towns on the seaboard with those of the North part of the county—that a Railroad from the City of Salem to the towns of Andover, or Methuen would open a communication between the seaboard and the states of New Hampshire and Vermont, that cannot fail to be of great advantage to all concerned, by increasing the facilities of exchanging the productions of the sea, and those that are sea-borne, for those of the country. It will give greater facilities to the intercourse between the several towns in the county of Essex, which, from the nature of their Commercial, Manufacturing, Agricultural and Fishing operations, the locations of their Courts of Justice, and Public Archives, and their family relations, is rendered exceedingly important.

In view of all the advantages to be obtained, we are of the opinion that a public exigency exists for the establishment of such a road, and we therefore petition your Honorable Bodies that we may be incorporated under the style and title of the Essex Railroad Company, for the purpose of constructing and using a Railroad, to commence at some convenient point in the towns of Andover or Methuen, thence running through those towns and the towns of Middleton, Danvers and Salem, intersecting the Boston and Maine Railroad in Andover, and the Eastern Railroad in Salem. And as in duty bound will ever pray.

JOSEPH S. CABOT, and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

IN SENATE, Jan. 20, 1846.

ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered, That the petitioners cause an attested copy of their petition with this order thereon, to be served on the Clerks of the City of Salem, and of the towns of Danvers, Middleton, Topsfield. Boxford, Andover and Methuen, and of the Eastern Railroad Company and of the Boston and Maine Railroad Corporation, and of the Andover Bridge, and to be publis ed three times in the Salem Register, twice each in the Danvers Courier and Haverhill Gazette, and six times each in the Boston Daily Atlas and Daily Evening Traveller, said service to be made on said Clerks, ten days at least, and the last publication in each of said papers, to be made three days at least before the said sixth day of February next, that all persons interested may then appear, and shew cause, if any they have, why the Prayer of said Petition should not be granted.

Sent down for concurrence.

CHAS. CALHOUN, CLERK.

In the House of Representatives January 16, 1846.

CONCURRED.

CHAS. W. STORY, Clerk.

A true copy---Attest.

CHAS CALHOUN, Clerk of the Senate.

WE, the subscribers, having been duly appointed commissioners, to examine the claims of the creditors to the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, represented insolvent, hereby give notice, that six months from the sixth day of January instant, are allowed said creditors to bring in and prove their claims ; and that we shall attend to that service on the last Monday of this and each of the four following months, at 3 o'clock, P. M., at the office of Joseph Shed, Esq., opposite the Monument, in Danvers,

JOSEPH SHED, } Commissioners.
ALFRED A ABBOTT, }
Danvers, Jan 17, 1846,

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed administrators of the estate of Jonathan Dustin,

late of Salem, in the county of Essex, gentleman, deceased, and have taken upon themselves that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs ; all persons having damands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to

HAZEN AYER, or } Administrators.
EBEN SUTTON. }
Salem, Jan. 17, 1846.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceaaed, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents ; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges :—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for consideriag said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county ; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers, that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate.

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.
jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same ; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGATE MERRILL, Guardian.
Danvers, Jan. 10, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

Zerubbabel Porter,

late of Danvers, in said county of Essex, esquire, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs : All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same ; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to WARREN PORTER, Executor.

Danvers, January 10th, 1846.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS,
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Wednesday.

The superior fast sailing bark MONSOON, Paine, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above,

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WEBB & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
jan 24

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday,
To go up to the City,

The fast sailing packet sch EMILY KNIGHT, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. jan 8

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PCKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf,
On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr HENRY, Paine, master, is now loading, and will will sail as above,

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah, jan 10

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.
From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. EDWARD Baker, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.
jan 24

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.
Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.
Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to
Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J. C FERRIN

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Danvers Post Office, January 1st, 1846.

N. B. Under the present Post Office Law, there in as additional charge of two cents on all letters advertised,

Anable & Kinsman		Mooney Amos W.
Adams Samuel	2	Munroe Harris
Anderson William	2	Morrill Frederic	4
Arnold E. B.		Mellin Daniel
Abbott Benjamin		Marsh Hannah F.
Allen Ed. A. H.		Merrill R. W.
Brown William		Marshall Eliza A.
Batchelder Henry	2	Martin George B.
Blaisdell Jacob		Nayson Daniel
Bancroft James or Capen		Nichols Andrew
Baker John		Osborne Moses
Buxton John jr.		O'Neal Patrick
Barry Eliza C.		Osborne George
Burkin John and Jacob		Phelps Francis
Caverly Mary		Proctor William H.
Currier G. S.		Perley & Emerson
Carey Michael		Pool Eben
Chenery Moses		Putney Eben
Cross Ruth		Pettengill Rebecca S.
Clark Martha S.		Pierce Mary F.
Cleaveland Annette D.		Perkins Nathaniel
Cushman George		Poor William
Carroll L.		Parker Thomas O.
Colcord Eben P.		Parker Josiah W.
Danvers		Poole Joshua H.
Doughby Abigail		Putnam David
Dickinson O. H.		Proctor Lydia
Davis Elzaphen P.		Patterson Rebecca
Dykes Samuel H.		Pilsbury Parker
Dalton Richard		Pearson Nathan
Dexter Mary H.		Porter Mary E.
Elliott Richard		Poor Enoch Jr.
Elwell William		Riardon Michael
Farnham Joseph		Russell John B.	11
Frye Mary		Rice & Gardner
Fuller Daniel		Standley Francis L.
Fellows Eliza		Smalley Nathan
Frye Joseph S.		Sears Jonathan
Foster Gorham P.		Sanborn J.
Foss Daniel W.		Southwick Orlando
Flagg Samuel A.		Symonds Benjamin
Ford Sophia		Sullivan Simeon
Goss Polly		Sawyer Asa
Gray Emily		Stevens John
Galloup D. B.		Southwick Platts
Goodale William		Southwick Lucy
Gardner Sally		Tapley Asa
Griffin William A.		Taylor Oliver
Hart John		Thurston Leonard
Holman Field		Tibbets Benjamin
Hackett Henry		Tate Hannah
Herbert Henry		Troffeter John
Hawes Thomas P.		Trow Ann Maria
Haragan Jerry		Trask Moses
Hurd Hafford		Thompson Catharine L.
Hutchinson James L.		Twiss Jonathan
Hyde Elisha J. G.		Torr Andrew
Jewett Warren		Uram F. W.
Knight John Jr.		Very Joseph or Benjamin
Kelty & Tapley		Woodbury Jonas
Lunt B. S.		Wilson Jona jr.
Larrabee William & Co.		Webber Moses
Langley John R.		White Dexter
Little Wm R.		Wentworth Lewis
Lovett John L.		Weatherbee Eliphalet

Jan 3 S. DODGE, P. M.

LIST OF LETTERS remaining in the Post Office at North Danvers, Quarter ending Dec. 1845.

Anderson William		Lane Benjamin T.
Allen Edward A.		Lander Mrs.
Brown Miss Mariett		Mastin L. D.
Bates John		Mardin Miss Martha Ann
Coffin Mary Ann		Moer Janet
Dunnels John M.		Nells Gilbert
Dennet George		Pearl John
Davis Sophia		Phelps Francis
Egan Patrick		Page Charles
Edgercomb Ivory		Putnam Heirs of Eli
Fisher Charles R.		Proctor H. B.
Forbes Sophia E.		Payson Edward
Fuller Edward		Reed Samuel H.
Grovesner Dr. D. A.		Swan S. B.
Glidden Mark		Strout Benjamin
Goodwin Moses		Simns Daniel
Goodale Ebenezer		Shackley James D.
Goodwin Theodore		Tyler George N.
Holt Benjamin		Towne Daniel
Hook John Jr.		Trout Mary in care of P. B. Francies
Hoyt Susan M.		Tepley Eliza Jane
Hunt Israel		Webber Tristam D.
Hutcherson Abigail		Wheeler Benjamin
Jessup Louisa		Whitehouse H. M.
King Thomas		Wheeler Alden
Kelley Israel H.		Webb George
Kelley J. B.		Whitemore Jonathan
Littlefield Ralph H.		White Ann
Ladd Sarah A.		Wallace H. C.
Lawrence Charles

Jan 3 THOMAS BOWEN, P. M.

LITTLEFIELD'S
Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)
SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening,

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 1awtf

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.

Dec. 56th, 1845 4ins,

AUCTION.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M, on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Nebulon Woodbury, situated on Walla street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 115 feet on said street, and about 168 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct.,
35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

W. D. JOPLIN,
AUCTION EER,
Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.
Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
NO. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem,
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

NOTICE. THE ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT.
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March29th. tf

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses ; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

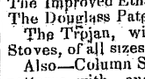
N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Finger Silk Holds, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by



dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

J. & F. HALE
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz :—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove ;
The Union Stove ;
Sizars ; The Economy's Friend ;
The Improved Etna ;
The Douglass Patent ;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns,
Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens ; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.
Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem. Sept 27, 1845.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c. which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25

FOR SALE

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Front street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARD.

july 26 tf

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yonrs respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirefy left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.
Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844;

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!
LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!
BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E.Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon the establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

CHARLES H. MANNING,
CABINET MAKER,
Near the Sign of the Lamb, Main Street
DANVERS, MASS.

FURNITURE manufactured on the most reasonable terms. Also—CURRIER'S TABLES made and repaired cheap.

SHOE-MAKERS' PEGGING BENCHES made as above. oct 15

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

Periodical Depot!!
REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for
PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS,
formerly kept at No. 3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,
Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,
(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)
where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

NEW ENGLAND.
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 254, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted orefer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons lo not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at 291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. dec 13

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases.
WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st. Salem.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,
No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or
READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemica Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing appare and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tarl varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,
oct 11 10 Front street

LORD & WILEY,
OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of
COOKING STOVES:
Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of
PARLOR STOVES,
among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;
Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of
CABINET FURNITURE,
which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

Sofas; Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of
Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.
Salem, April 12, 1845.

Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washngton Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Copartnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of
OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING.
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch29 1y

FINGER RINGS. An assortment of Fine Gold and Stone Finger Rings of new and beautiful patterns, just received at 222 Essex street, Salem.
oct 25 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

G. W & E. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

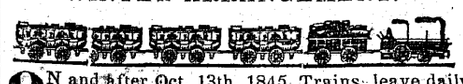
of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15



SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted,)
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1-2, 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots
JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8	A.M
" "	8 3 4		" "	9 1-2
" "	9 3-4		" "	11 3-4
" "	11 1-4		" "	12 3-4
" "	1 3-4	P.M.	" "	3	P.M.
" "	2 3-4		" "	4
" "	4 1-2		" "	5
" "	5 1-2		" "	6 1-2
" "	6 1-2		" "	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggen

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to.

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also ecommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at
No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,
for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage.
N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTUERERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (Mass.) SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 31, 1846. NUMBER 46.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lant's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FOR THE COURIER.

THE SEASONS.

There's a merry laugh in Spring as she hies
O'er the gladden'd earth with her showery skies,
And opes the bud of floweret fair,
Which throws its perfume on the balmy air.

There's a beauty rare in the Summer's glow,
In her dancing rills as they onward flow;
In her bright green groves where the zephyrs play,
And laughingly chase the hours away.

There's a sad'ning grief in the Autumn's breeze,
As it skims o'er the earth and nestles the trees,
In her hoary frost, and her freezing rain,
Which sweep o'er the hills, and whiten the plain.

There's a deep'ning gloom in the Wintry blast,
In the snow shroud which o'er the earth is cast;
In her whistling storm as it rushes by,
And the winds which sing her hoarse lullaby.

COMMUNICATION.

Stray Leaves from a Journal at Sea.

Continued.

Monday, Oct. 27. Last night I was awakened by a noise above at about 12 o'clock, and I soon found that a gale had come and the Capt. remained on deck till morning. I could not get any rest on account of the noise above me and in the steerage. While half asleep I heard a great noise and some one called to know what was the matter? The second mate answered in true sailor terms, that "something was a-drift between decks." In the confusion all I could make of it was that the brig had sprung a leak and the baggage in the steerage was drifting about. We began to think of taking to the long boat, when the mate came in and informed us that our fears were occasioned by a leg of bacon that had fallen from its nail and was tumbling about by the motion of the vessel; So that our fears at once gave way to mirth. The forenoon was quite squally and showers occasionally drove us below. At noon, and almost for the first and almost the only time during the day, we had a glimpse of the sun, and the Capt. and first mate took observations while I worked them out. This made us about the latitude of Cape Hatteras. At this rate we should reach Cuba in about 10 or 12 days out.—For dinner we had ham and eggs which I relished very well although my appetite has not quite returned. Our passengers are still sick, and our Spanish friend Senor Santiago complains bitterly of the cold. This morning before I was up, we passed a large ship at a little distance, bound, perhaps, for Salem or Boston—so I lost a fine sight. The afternoon is not so squally as the morning but still the sea is boisterous. The water occasionally dashes over the deck and throws the spray upon us. A little peice of the lower end of a rainbow visible in the east towards evening, which, according to the seaman's proverb, is not a bad sign.

"A rainbow in the morning is the sailor's warning,
A rainbow at night is the sailor's delight."

While writing, a small flying fish flew against the rigging and fell upon deck, and the mate brought him down for us to examine. He is still alive, about 8 inches long and his flying fins 4 or 5 inches. It is a gracefully shaped fish of a beautiful blue colour something like a mackerel. They call them fine eating.

Tuesday, Oct. 28. Last night was very rough, but I slept better than common. The morning was bright and warm, by much the pleasantest since we left Boston. It has been clear all day and the swell is not so great as it has been. Old ocean looks more finely than ever. The passengers are on deck, as of course none of us would stay in the cabin such a delightful day, and I have enjoyed myself with my books. The weather is quite warm, so that all but Santiago and I have left off their coats, the thermometer at 72°.—We are now 600 miles from home, and 800 north of Mansanilla—pretty well for the 5th day out. Early in the evening we had quite a cozy time, all of us sitting on boxes, &c., around the ladies, and talking of what we should see at Mansanilla. Although it was the 28th of Oct, it seemed as if we were lounging on a piazza on some fine summer evening on shore instead of on the bosom of the ocean hundreds of miles from home. It was so pleasant I wish our friends could have enjoyed it with us

Wednesday, Oct. 29. It is just one week this morning since I left home. It is a beautiful sunny day, if possible more lovely even than yesterday. A week more will probably bring us to Mansanilla. We have all spent the day upon deck reading and lounging about. No sail in sight nor any dolphins or porpoises. As to the voyage thus far, I have been very agreeably disappointed in almost every respect. My sea-sickness was very slight and I should hardly have mentioned it, if I had not expected it would have amounted to something more. It did not prevent me from enjoying the sublime views that met my eyes in launching upon the ocean for the first time. I have found but little of the monotony of sea life that I was prepared to expect. There is always something taking place on board to command my attention and from which to learn something, and it is a pleasure to watch the antics of the waves for hours at a time, as they dash and foam about us. I shall not try to convey to you any idea of the impression that the majestic ocean has made upon me. It should only be expressed in poetry, and as I am not a poet I can only recall to mind the descriptions of others. I should like to have at my command all the poetry I have ever read on this sublime subject. Mrs. Hemans' poetical works are all that I have with me, but you will recollect the lines of Byron which give a faint idea of it.

"O'er the glad waters of the dark blue sea,
Our thoughts as boundless and our souls as free—
Far as the breeze can bear, or billows foam,
Survey our empire and behold our home."

I am glad I took this voyage if only to see the ocean. Every one ought to see it at least once in his life.—Not to do it seems like living within sound of Niagara without caring to see it. For my part I feel now as if I could hardly believe that I could live contented without sailing on the ocean.

The last two days the weather has been very pleasant and summer like. To day the thermometer stands at 78 in the shade. The time passes along very happily and quickly with us, and I have every thing but home to make me happy. Officers, passengers and all are very kind and I like them very much. I am blessed as I always have been when away from home with pleasant companions and friends. You nor I should not fear to trust me in God's hands anywhere He has ever been so good and kind to me. I need not say that I think of home and you often, especially on such quiet days as this At night I can sleep soundly in my little berth, and dream of home if the vessel rocks ever so violently.

Thursday, Oct. 30. Another most splendid day like the last. The sea is quite calm, and the wind, though variable is not very strong and we move along so smoothly as scarcely to perceive it. We have all spent the day on deck, reading and chatting and having quite a good time. In fact it is all I could wish but home itself. This, the last Thursday in the month we have unconsciously made a kind of Thanksgiving day—that is, so far as roast turkey and plum pudding for dinner goes. The turkey, although 8 or 9 days old, was as good as I ever tasted. Yesterday we had chicken pie, which you know I like sufficiently well.—So you see we live finely at sea, thanks to the love of good cheer cherished by our Captain and his good lady This afternoon I got quite a respectable lesson in Spanish, by the help of Mr. L. and Senor Santiago.

Friday, Oct. 31. One week since we left Bosion harbor! We have now entered the region of the trade winds, and still the same delightful weather. The Capt. was very much afraid that the wind would change or die away last evening, because it was new moon, as if because the moon turns her bright side from us it would alter the winds and weather. I did not think intelligent sea men were so superstitious now a days. I have joked the Captain about it a little as the wind is more favorable than ever, but I suppose he will not alter his opinion. Most of the people are in their shirt sleeves, thermometer at 80. We have an awning over the quarter deck and have quite a luxurious time.

Saturday, Nov 1. A cloudy day but warm. The wind is not as favorable as usual, and we shall not come in sight of Turk's Island to night. We are to pass through a narrow passage between Turk's Island on the east, and the Caycoses a group of small, low islands connected by coral reefs, on the west.

We have seen another wonder of the deep, to day, in the shape of a Water Spout. There has been a black cloud to the eastward a few degrees above the horizon, and from it proceeded a pointed prolongation of it towards the sea. It did not quite reach the water nor could we see the water rise to meet it, and it soon shrunk back into nothing.

Sunday, Nov 2 A very squally, unpleasant morning. Heard the cry of "Land, ho!" at about 9 o'clock and we could just discern the dim outline of some of the Caycoses like a faint cloud on the horizon. A schooner passed us to the eastward, probably from Turk's Island, and about 8 miles off. Plenty of flying fish along side to day darting out of the water, then skimming along a rod or two at a little distance above the surface and diving back into the water.—They look exactly like a flock of birds.

More pleasant this afternoon, and Turk's Island in sight from the mast head. We make so little progress that we may not see it from the deck before morning.

Monday, Nov 3. Turk's Island in plain sight, but with the present wind we shall not go through the passage to day, A grampus and another water spout are the only wonders of any note to day. The thermometer keeps pretty constantly at 80, and to day I have put on my thin pants and my thin jacket. If a boat should put off from Turk's Island I may have a chance to send this home, and I shall have my package all ready if the opportunity should offer. Turk's Islands are a group of several low islands only one or two of which are inhabited, and belonging to the English, Their principal produce is salt. Grand Turk, the first land we make is the largest, has a good harbor and a village of perhaps a thousand in habitants, Another island further south has also a smaller village. Grand Turk has also a light house if it can properly be called one, as the lamps are never lighted.

Tuesday Nov 4. Upon getting up this morning I found that a breeze had sprung up during the night and carried us fairly into the passage, around the point of Turk to immediately in front of the village and harbor, and about two miles off, It presented an admirable prospect. Most of the shore appears like cliffs of limestone, and above, on the surface is a beautiful carpet of green, most refreshing to our eyes. There are but few trees visible and the village is situated under the cliff almost as if the houses stood upon the water. As they sparkled in the rising sun they looked finely.

At about half past eight o'clock when we were not more than a mile from shore we perceived a little row-boat coming swiftly towards us. We watched it with our glasses awhile and found it to contain four negroes. The boat was soon along side though we were sailing directly from them, and the leading man, the pilot, came on board. We gave him a few newspapers and the name of our brig &c., that we might be reported, He said that a bark was to sail tomorrow or next day for the States and offered to take any thing from us. So I gave him my package which I hope may reach you safe. These negroes were of course free, and seemed like fine fellows, the pilot especially seemed quite intelligent. Senor S. said he should like to have them to cut and hew his mahogany trees for him. Their boat was one of the famous Whitehall boats from New York, a most beautiful little one light and narrow and I never saw a boat move so swiftly through the sea, They had some most splendid shells with them some extremely large. I should like to have got some and sent them home if I could. I may find some small ones at Mansanilla.

The pilot boat at length left us and was soon out of sight. This is a most splendid day, but the wind is light and we have not quite cleared the passage. We have had find times as usual on deck and this afternoon there was quite an excitement in trying to catch a fish that was leisurely swimming around the brig. It was a white, silvery fish, perhaps three or four feet long and said to be good eating. They catch many of them at Mansanilla. After trying for an hour or two with line and harpoon, he cleared out before we could catch him. Thermometer 80 to 82 day and evening while at home I suppose it is 40 or 50 lower and all shivering.

FOR THE COURIER.

Atmospheric Railways, No. 4.

Mr. Editor—At the close of my last number, I believe I promised another number, on the objections that have been made to Atmospheric railways. These have all been plausibly if not satisfactorily answered by the scientific reporters thereon in Europe. And by the following paragraph that is now going the rounds in the newspapers, it would seem that this system is steadily advancing in favor with the community. "The accounts from England constantly inform us of new experiments in this kind of railway improvement, as well as of an increasing confidence in its superiority over the common or locomotive system. It seems that one Atmospheric railway 52 miles in length is now constructing, which will afford a desirable opportunity to determine the practical working capabilities of the system. Most or all the lines hitherto completed are quite short."—The first objection, therefore, that the system can be economically used only for short distances, which has been over and over again refuted by scientific calculations, will soon be settled by a conclusive experiment. The objections to the complexity and outlay attendant on fixed engines, &c, has been, I think, sufficiently answered in my former numbers. The next objection we meet is to the interruption that may happen from some derangement of the pipe or valve, Now should a pipe some how or other get broken, or a portion of the valve get injured so as not to close the aperture, the time required to repair these injuries would be considerably less than is necessary to clear off the fragments of a broken engine after a collision, or the replacing of a rail torn up by an engine running off the line, And as to retardation by a leakage in the valve, the experience at Wormhalt Scrubs, the first experimental road of half a mile constructed while the invention was not so nearly perfect as it now is, is most satisfactory. In the whole of our workings, says Samuda, the column of Mercury has never varied more than two inches, the same day; and as it requires eight times the number of minutes to destroy the vacuum in the pipe when the engine is at rest, than it takes to raise it when in action, it follows that 1-8th only of the power is lost by leakage.—But a more serious objection to the Atmospheric railway in New England, is the greater severity of our winters than occur where this kind of railroad has as yet been tried. It may be more difficult to keep the pipe in place—to prevent the irregular uplifting of portions, and consequently the drawing, perhaps breaking the pipes at the joints. But such accidents may probably be obviated by laying the pipes on posts sunk below the reach of frost, and so constructing the joints that the mere shortening or lengthening of the pipes by the changes of temperature will not prevent them from being constantly air tight. In concluding his report to the Government of France, on this subject, M. Mallet says:—I do not think I have omitted any of the objections which have been pointed out to me. Several are worthy of being taken into consideration. But do any of them present unsurmountable obstacles? Are they of a nature to induce us to abandon the invention? I do not think so, and therefore I advocate a trial. If the system had already arrived at perfection, no trial would be necessary; we should have but to lay down the works certain of success; but in spite of the enormous step shewn to have been gained in Ireland, much yet remains to be done. Let its judges remember what the Locomotives were at the commencement and the enormous amount of improvement they have experienced during the last twenty years."

The reviewer remarks: "We shall in conclusion of this article briefly allude to some of the advantages which may be derived from the adoption of the Atmospheric railway, in a social, industrial and commercial point of view. We have here a new and astonishing application of power opened to us and it is impossible to anticipate all the important results to which this may lead. Success has silenced the questioning and hostility of interested opponents to the system; and if men are wise they will at least pause before they rush into new speculations on a system which will probably soon be superseded.

The introduction of the atmospheric railway opens a new era in the means of transit, because, from the great reduction in the cost of construction and working, it is clear that we must enter upon an entirely new scale of economical calculations. This will operate in manifold ways: it will enable railway companies to lower their rates, whilst deriving greater profits than at present, and thus to open means of travelling to larger classes of the community. Again; one great feature in the atmospheric railway is, that it is practicable on lines of road where the locomotive system is wholly inapplicable and useless. Let any one take a map of England and trace the net of railroads which have come into active operation within a few years; let him imagine this immense benefit, which at present is restricted by the cost attending it to traffic between large towns, extended over the whole country, carrying passengers and produce from one little market-town to another, bringing all this advantage to every man's door, and, placing it within every man's enjoyment. The benefits to the nation, in calling out her industrial powers, assisting her commercial, manufacturing, and agricultural interest, form too large a subject for us to enter upon here, but too obvious and important a consideration to escape attention. In a moral point of view, likewise, the result would be to extend largely the advantages of social intercourse and of education in every shape, which are now only to be found in large communities,—in fact, of centralizing the power and raising the moral character of the nation.

Let us consider for a moment how much the facilities of trade and intercourse between Boston and Salem, (through Danvers of course) would be increased, by an Atmospheric railway. I think it is fully proved by the calculations and statements made by some of the most eminent Civil Engineers in Europe, that such a road could be constructed and worked at a less expense than the existing railroad was constructed and is now worked—that instead of eight trains (including the baggage train) which now run each way, a train might and would be run each way every half hour, whenever it should be desirable—that such a railway and motive power would be sufficient to transport from one city to the other 5000 tons of merchandise daily. Add to this the almost perfect safety of this mode of travelling, and how many would go by the present Locomotive, and how many by the Atmospheric way? We leave Calculation and Speculation to determine, but to the petitioners and advocates for a new railway to Boston we would say:

Waste not your cash on turnpike roads
Or railways obsolete,
But make a way with which on earth
No other can compete.

MISCELLANY.

The Triumph of Constancy.

Margaret was the daughter of a noble Baron, a decendant of the illustrious family of Bruce.—She grew up fair as the morning, and gentle as the summer's eve. Her charms of person, and the vivacity of her mind, were just unfolding, when she was doomed to experience, in the death of her father, an anguish of soul that appeared too severe for one so gentle to sustain; and time, instead of soothing, seemed to augment her sorrow for, with her father, perished all hope of realizing a certain fond, though silent anticipation.

She had not possessed a susceptable and enthusiastic soul until her sixteenth year, without twining affections with some kindred spirit. The noble Frederick possessed every accomplishment necessary to constitute him worthy of her love, and her father's esteem; but her mother, whose years had carried with them into oblivion all the pangs of disappointment, and the distraction of soul that she herself had formerly experienced, heedless of the languid eye of the daughter, and inexorable to the entreaties of her father, dismissed the youth, with a cheerless request to suit himself elsewhere, After the turbulence of grief had subsided, she became calm, and appeared resigned to the high behest of Heaven—but a fearful melancholy preyed upon her spirits, the wonted lustre of her eye departed, the silent sadness of her countenance indicated 'unutterable woe.'

The anxiety of her fond, though austere parent, increased, as the bloom on her cheeks diminished, and dearly as she loved the spot where oft she had heard the symyathizing zephyr sigh to the listening willow the tale of her heart's desolation o'er the tomb of her husband, she resolved to save her Margaret, if change of scene could possibly effect it. In a few days every thing was in readiness for their departure—their gallant ship spread her wide canvass to the friendly breeze, and fast receded from the gaze of Margaret the hills where she useded to roam: the novelty change of air, and the eccentricities of the sons of Neptune, combined, partlly restored her spirits, and once more a smile appeared to lighten up her countenance.

Among the passengers was an unsocial, though noble looking personage, in the garb of a Russian Officer; no one knew him, and he avoided all conversation, yet he did not appear sullen or affected. The captain was interrogated, but could give no account of him, only that he paid like a prince and had placed a large amount of property in his charge. They had proceeded about two thirds of the voyage, without encountering difficulty, but treachery was yet in the heart of the deep.

To the beauty of an unusually fine day, succeeded a calm, delightful evening, and when the amusements were over, each retired to rest, with all the pleasureable sensations that tranquillity inspires, little imagining that the cabin they were in, was so soon to become a place of revelry to the inmates of the ocean. But the wily captain was not to be deceived by specious appearances; he had the ship put in readiness for the coming of a mighty storm; she was scarcely in readiness to receive the unwelcome visitor, when the clouds, issuing from their lurking places, as it were, set themselves in array for a dire conflict. About midnight, a cry of 'Breakers ahead!' was heard from aloft. The charts were examined when they were found to be at least four hundred miles from any land; therefore, supposing the man at masthead to have been deceived, and knowing that they had enough sea-room, they were comforted in the assurance that their staunch vessel would weather it out, and no farther alarm was given thro' the night. Finally, morning dawned, but opened on a gloom thick and portentous. It seemed as if the day of final retribution but waited the Eternal's mandate, to burst the sombre curtain that enveloped heaven. The fierce winds came wheeling, intent on destruction—waves piled on waves pierced through the lowering magazines of thunder, and the angry lightning launched its dread vollies against the rash intruders.—For an hour they were tossed about, the plaything of the elements, when a still more terrific and indescribable scene of horror ensued; they descried bearing down upon them, a large Dutch merchantman and aware of the impossibility of avoiding coming in contact, each individual sprang to secure what was most valuable. The Russian officer, exerting the strength of a giant, soon brought on deck every thing of consequence belonging to Lady Bruce; having his own immense, though portable fortune under his arm, he waited, in soldier like fearlessness, the dreadful meeting. But He, who plants his footsteps in the sea, and rides upon the storm, had not forgotten them. They struck, but a fortunate heave threw all there was upon the deck of the 'Sea Nymph,' safe upon that of the sturdy Dutchman; already the song of gratitude ascended to heaven for their deliverance, when a faint voice was heard from the cabin of the sinking vessel. The mother of Margaret exclaimed wildly, "Oh heaven, be merciful!" and sank senseless; again were all the energies of the noble son of Mars excited, intent on rescuing the sufferer, or perishing in the attempt. He bounded across the abyss that separated the vessels, with more than human might, removed every thing from whence the sound proceeded, and bursting open the cabin door, beheld the delicate Margaret. In the hurry of escape, her dress had caught, and she had not been able to unloose it; with a jerk of indignation he tore away the envious spike that held her, seizing her in his arms, rushed upon the deck in triumph. Nothing could equal the joy, that his appearance inspired in all who had witnessed his bold endeavor; but no delay was to be made—the ship was fast sinking, and he with his prize might yet be lost. A rope being thrown round him, he tied the end of it round her and himself, and then dexterously mounted the gunwale, watched when his ship was higher than the other, then, with a desperate effort, flew over the yawning gulf between, and having restored the daughter in safety to her agonized parent, he sprung away from observation as though he had been guilty of murder, instead of having restored the life of an angel. The next day the clouds dispersed, and the sun appeared, clad in his brightest beamings—the fury of the winds subsided, and the mighty billows sank down at is presence. After things were properly arranged, and the agitation of their minds had ceased, the desire to know who the lonely, yet warm-hearted officer was, became intense; the grateful mother of Margaret, especially, regared him almost as an object of adoration; however, he seldom gave her an opportunity of even a word of acknowlegement, but as they were fast approaching the port of destination, and fearing she would lose forever all chance of carrying into effect a natural determination to which the overflowings of gratitude had prompted, she sought him out one day, and extorted the promise of a visit after their arrival.

The eighteenth day of May, 1779, gave the generous citizens of New York, who were on the beach looking anxiously for the expected relatives and friends, as happy a group as ever crossed the wide Atlantic, and in the person of Margaret Bruce, as fair a flower as ever delighted the eye of an American. Lady Bruce engaged an elegant mansion, and then proceeded, with her daughter, to Mount Pleasant, where they were received by their kind relation, with every demonstration of joy that real pleasure could suggest.

Having rested about a fortnight, she returned to the city, leaving Margaret to revive under the genial influence of the invigorating month of May. The savior of her only child was well remembered; he had not forgotton his promise, and at a proper time he hastened to fulfil it. On entering the parlour, she had scarcely time to be seated, before she exclaimed in raptures, "Yes, now I have found one worthy the hand of my Margaret, and stranger as thou art, whoever thou art, if willing to receive, not as a compensation, but as a token of gratitude, the whole of my fortune, and with it the lily hand and gentle heart of my daughter, they are thine; for sure no unworthy one hath such a heart and soul." The time was come when he might without hazard throw off his disguise, and without fear of forfeiting the object that had brought him across the Atlantic, develope the mystery that hung about him. He told her his native place was Edingburgh, and that his father had died about a year since, leaving him an immense estate, which he had disposed of in order to follow to America, one to whom he had given his heart and plighted his faith. These last words seemed to destroy the very foundation of her high hopes of happiness, and she sighed deeply. He continued, "my name is Frederick." The sound of that name was like electricity.—"Frederick M'Pherson!" she exclaimed. "The very same," he replied. "Knowing your singular aversion to my family, I disguised myself during the voyage, lest your precaution should master my ingenuity, and ultimately deprive me of the hand, though not the love of Margaret. The now penitent scorner of the matchless hero, was about to implore forgiveness, but he interrupted her jocosely, adverting to the offers just made him. Both were now happy beyond expression, she in the prospects of restoring her daughter to the rightful lover, and he in the hope of soon realizing his dearest anticipation.

A letter was immediately forwarded to Margaret, informing her that the mysterious officer, who had been the means of saving their fortune and life in the perilous hour of shipwreck, had visited her; that she had found him every way worthy of esteem with respect to his private character, and the obligations they were under to him were greater than could be conceived. The epistle concluded with a hint, that as he had rescued her, her hand must pay the forfeit.

Soon after Margaret made answer, and with it came a letter from her uncle; her's was opened—it read as follows:—"I have never before hesitated to make a sacrifice that my dear mother has required at my hands, and I presume she is well aware that my heart is fully susceptible of the emotions of gratitude. Give to the noble and generous stranger all that you intended as my portion, without the least reserve; tender him my heart's acknowledgement as the preserver of its vitality, but spare, oh spare my hand."

The uncle's letter informed her that the fair flower was drooping; that notwithstanding the charms of the season and the variety that surrounded her, she was very unhappy; though she admitted the superior beauty of scenery, he perceived that her heart was with the charmes of her native home, ending with a suggestion, that her mother had better intimate a determination to return.

Having perused the two letters, the immediately answered them, and following her uncle's advice, proposed to Margaret their return, requesting, as she could not give her heart and hand to her deliverer, that she would hasten to the city, and make her acknowledgments in person before their departure.

To the uncle she unravelled the whole mystery, and desiring him not to divulge it, requesting him to attend her to the city, to witness the 'Triumph of Constancy.'

The gloom that had hung over the marble brow of Margaret, was immensurably dissipated by the hope that her mother's willingness to return inspired, for, although, as she thought, many a boisterous billow rolled between herself and Frederic, yet she knew his heart was faithful, and she rejoiced in the dream of happiness that appeared in the distance.

The old uncle was intoxicated with the idea of the pleasure he should receive in beholding the union of two such steadfast souls, and as soon as possible, appeared with his niece, at the residence of her mother. By previous arrangement, Frederick was not to appear until two or three hours after her arrival. Margaret, being in readiness to receive in a becoming style the person who had risked his own life to save hers, anxiously waited his coming; on his entering the room in his hunter's dress, she instantly recognized and sprang to meet him, and faintly exclaiming, 'My own Frederick!' fell senseless into his arms. His well known voice soon recalled her back to life—their hands were joined, and the solemn priest pronounced them one forever.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, JAN 24, 1846.

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LEVEE.

The Levee of the Institute took place on Wednesday evening, at Upton's Hall, which was tastefully decorated with flags, was soon filled not only to its full capacity, but beyond it for the comfortable accommodation of the company. The entertainments of the evening consisted of Addresses by several gentlemen, Vocal Music by the Salem Quartette Club Messrs Hubbard, Whittemore, Davis and Merritt, and instrumental, by a portion of the Salem band; together with the usual refreshments provided on such occasions.

We wish it were in our power to do justice to the several speakers by a particular notice of the substance of their remarks, but neither our space or time will permit it. The venerable past President of the Salem Mechanic Association, who is also an honorary member of the Institute, Col. JOHN RUSSELL, was first called out and gave a plain spoken but sound and able speech, in which he dwelt forcibly and strongly on the importance of Education as the great means of elevating the race. He also furnished some statistics showing in a striking manner the superiority of an educated over an ignorant community.

Dr. Andrew Nichols, another honorary member of the Institute, next came on the stage. We may here remark that all the honorary members were present except the venerable JOHN HOWARD, Esq. who was the first President and one of the founders of the Salem M. Association, and is now in the 85th year of his age. He was unable to attend on account of illness and the infirmities of age. Dr. Nichols informed the audience that in the course of the few hours leisure he had at command since he had been invited to be present, he had penned a few lines of rhyme containing some reminiscences of Festivals in olden times. He said it was but a fragment, having no proper beginning or ending. He then proceeded to recite a poem full of wit and humor, describing in M'Fingal rhyme the sports and pastimes of earlier times, with occasional satirical hits at modern innovations all of which were received with roars of applause from the audience.

The remaining speakers were Messrs Edmund Currier, A. G. Brown and E. M. Dalton, the President, Vice President and Secretary of the Salem Mechanic Association, and W. D. Northend, and Rev. Mr. Field of this town, all of whose addresses were able performances and were received with much approbation.

After the speaking the company passed the time in listening to the vocal and instrumental performers, in social conversation and partaking of refreshments. The latter must have been particularly attractive judging from the rapacity with which they were seized upon by some of the company who gave too much reason from their conduct for the belief that they had for a long time suffered the pangs of hunger. Later in the evening when a portion of the audience had retired the time was spent in dancing.

We are aware that there are various opinions existing in the minds of our community, in regard to the propriety of admitting this kind of recreation at such a festival. We presume that the most strenuous opposers of this recreation will admit that dancing simply, is as innocent as singing or walking, and that it is only to be condemned on account of its usual accompaniments of late hours and dissipation of time. It is due to the Managers of the Institute to say that if their express directions had been observed, there would have been no cause of complaint on this score. While we condemn most decidedly the practise above referred to, we are far from believing that there is any moral obliquity to be inferred from dancing, any more than riding horse-back or jumping the rope for exercise. On the contrary, we believe that the time is not very far distant when this accomplishment like that of singing, will be introduced into our common schools, and become a part of the authorized system of public education. Before this is done, however, there must be an entire seperation of the deleterious influences now connected with it, from the simple act of graceful movement and beneficial exercise of the body and limbs. It may, therefore, be worthy the consideration of those who object to this practice on account of the evils at present attached to it, whether their influence cannot better be exerted in restoring it to an innocent recreation rather than abandon it to those who only make it a means of dissipation.

I. O. of O. F. On Thursday evening last, a new Lodge of this Order was instituted at the hall occupied by Essex Lodge in Salem. This Lodge is to be located in this town, under the title of HOLTEN LODGE No 104. The following gentlemen were installed as officers: Jonathan Shove, N G., Moses Tenney, V G. George R. Carlton, Sec; Wm H Coffrain, Treasurer.

Institute Library.

By the recent additions to this Library, the number of volumes is now about 1700. A catalogue is now in course of preparation which will be arranged in alphabetical order, the better to enable any one to find a particular work. The large number of books now in the library seemed to render this necessary for the convenience of those who take them out. There are now many valuable works in the library, although it must be admitted that there are also some of a lighter and more ephemeral character. In justice to the government of the Institute it ought however to be stated, that most of them were those belonging to the Lyceum library which was transferred to the new institution. The additions more recently made, with the exception of those intended for the juvenile readers, are mainly of a higher character, and among the latest additions are some of the best of Wiley & Putnam's Library, "Books which are books." Those who heard the excellent remarks of Rev. Mr. Field at the late Levee, on the importance to a community, of good books, will, we think, join with us in the wish that the shelves of this library may soon be filled with more of these silent but useful aids to mental and moral improvement. We wish also that the eloquent appeal made by him to the LADIES might be responded to by an effort, such as they know how to make, to place such books as they might select where they would be likely to exert a salutary influence on the community. We have heard the suggestion made, that in order to combine the pleasures of social intercourse with the greater pleasure of doing good to others, a TEA PARTY would be likely to effect the desired object, while it would be free from the objections urged with too much force against some other kinds of social gatherings.

Ordinations and Installations.

Our readers will notice in our columns to day, accounts of an Ordination at the 2d Universalist Church, and an Installation at the 2d Baptist Church, both of which took place on Sunday evening last.

A very pleasant feature in the exercises on both these occasions and which may be considered remarkably coincident, was, that at both, clergymen of different denominations happening to be in as spectators of the solemnities, were invited to perform important parts in the devotional exercises. We are always happy to record any such acts of courtesy and true liberality, and although we cannot expect at present, nor would it be desirable, to witness an obliteration of all denominational lines, yet such acts as we now commend do much to soften the asperities of polemic strife and promote kind and catholic feelings in the religious community.

The occurence in this village of three ordinations in such rapid succession, is a strong contrast with the infrequency of such events in ancient times. In the first century of the settlement of this part of the town, there were only four ordinations. Now we have almost as many in three weeks. Perhaps it would be better both for clergy and laity if there should be more of stability in the pastoral office.

☞We are informed by our Postmaster, that many persons are in the habit of writing on, marking, or dotting certain portions of newspapers and pamphlets which are sent to this Post Office, with the intention unquestionably of defrauding the government by conveying intelligence, without being subjected to the usual letter postage. Some of the persons who do so, are, probably, ignorant of the Post Office Law and Regulations in this matter, which subjects the person to whom the paper is directed, to the payment of letter postage i. e. by weight—and if this person shall refuse to accept it, then the postmaster is instructed to enclose the paper or pamphlet to the postmaster o the office from which it came and request him to prosecute the person who placed it in his office, for the penalty of five dollars. The postmaster having a perfect right to open any paper or pamphlet, or take therefrom the wrapper.

A Town without a Name!

By an examination of the Records of the General Court it appears that Danvers was separated from Salem in 1759 and incorporated as the 'District of Danvers.' In 1757 the District of Danvers was incorporated by the name of ——— into a town. It does not appear from the subsequent records that the blank was ever filled up. It may appear in the parchment Act of Incorporation but from all that appears in the records our good town although nearly 90 years old has never yet been christened.

☞The house of Representatives, on Saturday last, decided by a vote of 105 to 80 that John N. Cabel, (Whig) the member of Congress from Florida was not entitled to his seat, and that John M. Brockenbrough (Loco) was entitled to the seat by vote of 99 to 85. It will be remembered that Mr. Cabel was admitted to a seat in Congress by virtue of the broad seal of the state of Florida, signed by the governor, declaring him to be elected. The vote, at his election was an exceedingly close one, and through negligence the returns of some of the towns were not made within the time provided by the law, and accordingly the certificate of election was given to Mr. Cabel. He having a majority of all the votes returned.

Erratum.—In the 3d verse, 2d line of the poetry on our outside, read 'rustles', instead of 'nestles.'

Clerical Titles.

Several correspondents of the Christian Register have recently advocated the repudiation of the title of Revevend as applied to the clergy. It seems to be the wish of these correspondents to return to the simplicity of the gospel, and let the professors of divinity rest entirely on the character of its ministers. They seem not to have suspected that the bestowal of this and other titles in a matter beyond the control of the profession, and if they could succeed in removing the title of Rev. from one end of their names, they would as surely find Esq. at the other end. We should then see it announced on public occasions, that Orville Dewey, Esq. preached a sermon, and Lyman Beecher, Esq. gave the benediction. We are not afraid of the effect of these titles in procuring from the people too much veneration for the ministerial office.—They are generally regarded only as distinctive titles to designate the profession, and as such they are useful and convenient.

Ordination.

On Sunday evening last, Mr. J. J. Twiss was ordained as a preacher, at the Second Universalist Church in this town. The services which were listened to by a large and crowded audience, were exceedingly interesting and impressive. After the usual preliminary exercises, the Ordination Sermon was preached by Rev. H. B. SOULE, of Gloucester, (formerly colleague with Hosea Ballou, D. D., of Boston.) It was an able and eloquent discourse, defining in a clear and forcible manner, the duties and qualifications for a successful minister of the present age. The Charge was delivered by Rev. J. PRINCE, of this town; it was brief, but appropriate and comprehensive, showing evidence of its emanation from a heart untramelled by sectarian bigotry. The Ordaining Prayer was offered by Rev. F. P. APPLETON, Pastor of the First Unitarian Church in this town. The Right Hand of Fellowship was extended by Rev. D. K. Lee, of Salem, in an affecting and sympathetic address in which the joys and sorrows of the clerical professor were feelingly portrayed. The services closed with an anthem and the pronouncing of the Benediction by Rev. J. J. TWISS.

FOR THE COURIER.

Iustallation.

Rev. John G. Richardson, who has for some time past officiated at the 2d Baptist church in this village, was regularly installed as pastor of the church on Sunday evening last. The house was densely filled and the services as a whole extremely interesting.

The introductory prayer was by Rev. Lewis Colby, of New York city; reaeing of the scriptures by Rev. Sumner Hale, of Beverly Farms. The prayer of recognition was offered by Rev. Josiah Keeley, of Wenham.

The sermon, by Rev. Mr. Banvard, of Salem, was a production of much ability, and was delivered in an animated and affectionate manner, and was very appropriately adaptee to the occasion.

The charge to the Pastor, by Rev. Mr. Flanders, of Beverly, was a sound and able exposition of the duties of a christian minister. We have seldom heard these duties so plainly defined and forcibly urged as on this occasion.

The right hand was given by Rev. Mr. Eaton, of the 1st Baptist church in this town, and the fellowship of the churches was extended to the new incumbent in a most cordial manner, with affection, kindness and christian sympathy.

The address to the people by Rev. Mr. Anderson, of Salem, was a plain and faithful presentation of the duties belonging to them in their relation to their pastor, and was replete with sound advice and solid instruction.

The concluding prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Field, of the 2d Congregational church, who was present as an auditor, but was invited to lead in this closing part of the interesting services of the evening.

We understand that Mr Campbell will open a Writing School in this place in the course of the next week. Mr Campbell comes highly recommended and is a beautiful penman. Ladies and Gentlemen wishing to attend Mr Campbells School can leave there names with the Post Master.

THE NEW BUGLE. A meeting of the subscribers for a bugle, to be presented to Mr MORSE, the accomplished leader of the Salem Band, was held on Tuesday evening last, and it was voted that a concert be given, as suggested by the band, at their earliest convenience, and that the bugle be presented publicly to Mr. Morse, at said concert.

The Hibernia's News seems to have given general joy and satisfaction. Much confidence is entertained in the ministry of Sir Robert Peel; it is now believed by many, that the fears of war from the other side are at an end, for the present and that there is nothing to be apprehended except from Washington. The influence on the market, says the N Y Express is very preceptible.

Bank directors say that after the 1st February, there will be a relief in the money market. Stocks of all kinds have run up, and business is increasing.

A baby, three months old, was stolen, in Cincinati, a few days since. It was stolen from the cradle during the absence of its mother.—Ex. paper.

We would advise the mother to keep perfectly composed during this trial of her maternal affection, and rest assured that unless the thief is part owner he will return the stolen property speedily.

☞The First Baptist Church and Society in Lowell, have extended an invitation to Rev D C Eddy, of Salem, to become their pastor. The invitation has been accepted.

☞Rev Otis A Skinner, pastor of the Universalist Society in Warren street, Boston, has received a unanimous call from the Oxford st. Universalist Society of New York city, to become their pastor, and has accepted the call.

Through the kindness of a friend we have had, lately the pleasure of perusing an English Paper, "The News of the World," piinted in London in which a communication appears, denouncing in the severest terms the whole course of President Polk in regard to the Oregon question. It savors much of prejudice, and yet is so amusing and illustrative of the feelings of a large portion of our English brethren that we have thought an extract may be read with some interest:—

If we are forced to go to war, (says the writer) by the mad ambition or the unprincipled devices of American statesmen, the British people will have this reflection, that the war was unprovoked by them—that they were not the aggressors—that they endeavored te settle the matter in dispute, by referring it to a disinterested party—that the American government rejected this fair proposition, insisting upon its right to the whole of a territory to which it cannot prove more than a right to one half, and resolving to expel the British from lands secured to them by solemn treaty. But solemn treaties are so much waste paper in the opinion of President Polk, who displayed his contempt for them, in the first instance, in his inaugural address, when he recommended his countrymen to seize upon the Oregon, in defiance of a treaty between Great Britain and America, which renders necessary a twelve-month's notice of a termination of the existing arrangement; and again in his refusal to submit to arbitration the right both countries acquired from Spain. Mr. Polk, having no clear right to the Oregon by treaty, is disposed to make a right with the sword.

The issue of the war that will necessarily ensue may be foreseen. The American Government forms its estimate of the physical force of Great Britain not by the present, but the past.—But Great Britain is differently circumstanced now, to what it was when America obtained so many and great advantages. The affairs of the world are altogether changed. We have no European enemy to contend with. In the event of war, New York, New Orleans, and Boston would be blockaded. What would become of American merchants? The destruction of the English Corn-laws, a measure calculated to give immense benefit to the United States, will necessarily inspire a bitter feeling against the reckless administration that has thrown so great an obstacle in the way of friendly communication between the two countries. Mr Polk will be supported in America only by the ragamuffins and loco-focos, who, led away by passion, throw up their caps, and give their votes to men who make the boldest speeches, regardless of what the issue may be.—Mr WEBSTER is against Mr Polk, so also is Mr CALHOUN, from whom he may have expected some support. In the heart of the States themselves, Mr Polk will have an enemy to contend with as well as an enemy without, vindicating its right by the cannon's mouth.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, Jan. 27.

Mr Archer presented memorials paying Congress for an amendment of the naturalization laws.

Mr Lewis, of Alabama, introduced a bill granting a Patent to Charles B Page, for his invention in Electro Galvanism.

The bill for building ten war steamers was taken up in the Senate this morning, as the special order of the day. The bill was read, proposing an appropriation outright for ten war steamers, and proposing also, that the land fund be set apart for building ten more.

Mr Benton moved that the bill be postponed until the 10th of May. The debate was continued until the Senate went into Executive session.

Mr Webster offered a resolution calling for correspondence upon the Oregon question, subsequently to the President's Message.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—Mr Towns, the member elect from Georgia, in place of Mr Poe, resigned, appeared in his seat this morning.

The Standing Committees made the following Reports:—

For building certain light-houses, and for other purposes. For the improvement of Newark Bay.—Ceding lands to the State of Tennessee.—For building a free bridge across the Eastern branch of the Potomac. Placing the mineral lands and live oak imber under the direction of the Commissioner of the the Land Office. Also a bill authorizing the President of the United States to call into the service of the United States, a body of volunteers.

The House, at an early hour, went into Committee of the whole, on the state of the Union.

Mr C J Ingersoll asked that the Committee on Foreign Affairs be discharged from a memorial asking the United States to recognize the independence of Liberia. The Committee report that the memorial does not come from Liberia;—that the Colony does not seem to embrace power sufficient to secure her independence. The Report states that the good will now exercised towards this Colony by the United States is more available to the Colony than it would be in the acknowledgement of her independence.—The other business in the House was not important. N Y Express.

The Boston Sun. We see by an editorial notice in this paper (which by the way has attained the reputation of one of the best in the state,) that GEORGE KENT, Esq., is about to be associated with the fraternity in the editorial management. Mr. Kent was formerly connected with the N H Statesman, and more recently with the Indiana State Journal, and his ability and talents in this capacity are well known and we trust in his new sphere of action will be duly appreciated.

LARD.—We have been much pleased in examining a lot of real leaf Lard, rendered by Stagg & Shays of this city, for the French market. It is prepared on an order received through Messrs Hobert and Richardson from France, for 300 cans of 28 pounds each, intended ultimately for the French Colonial market. The lard is run into round tin cans, the latter are packed in wooden boxes, 6 to a box, the interstices filled in tight with sawdust, which as a non-conductor will serve to keep the lard in fine order in any climate It required 700 hogs from which to select the above. It is of snowy whiteness, and of a character that will doubtless be the means of extending the markets for one of our great staples.—Cincinati Gazette of Jan 15.

Rev. Charles W. Dennison, the Seamen's preacher, has been unanimously expelled from the First Baptist Church in Boston, and deposed from the ministry, on the charges of glaring falsehoods, and of obtaining money under false pretences.

Mass chusetts Legislature.

In the House of Representatives, on Friday, a petition was presented, of the selectmen of Weymouth for an act of incorporation for the propagation of oysters.

Orders adopted—On motion of Mr. Bryant of Barre, that the special committee, to whom was referred the subject of an annual representation of the small towns, be instructed to inquire into the propriety of restoring to towns having more than 1200 inhabitants the right to fractional representation which they enjoyed previous to the adoption of the present basis of representation.

Also, that the same committee inquire into the expediency of dividing the commonwealth into representative districts, so as to reduce the House of Representatives to a number not exceeding one hundred and fifty.

On motion of Mr. Perkins of Salem, the committee on the judiciary was instructed to inquire whether any further provision of law be necessary to enable messengers and assignees under the insolvent laws to take and hold personal property under mortgage, pledge, lien, and of which the debter has a right of redemption, as the same may now be attached and held under the existing law, &c.

On Saturday, in the Senate, Mr Willard, from the committee on the militia, reported that the committee in pursuance of the duty assigned them had visited the State Arsenals in Boston and Cambridge. That at Cambridge they had found in good condition, that at Boston was much in want of repairs.

The arms and ammunition in both arsenals were clean, in good order and well arranged, and their conditon reflected great credit on the officers having charge of them.

Mr. Perkins of Salem, presented the petition of Erastus Ware, John Stone and others, to be set off from the towns of Salem, Lynn and Marblehead and to be elected into a new town called Oceana.

Mr Whitney offered the following order, which was laid over till Monday, under the rule: Ordered that the committee on the judiciary be instructed to bring in a bill providing for the election of members of Congress on the third trial by the highest number of votes cast at election trial.—Also to provide for the election of county officers on the third trial for such election by the highest number of votes cast at such trial.

On motion of Mr Knight of Marblehead, it was ordered that the committee on the judiciary be instructed to inqure into the expediency of proposing the following amendment to the Constitution of this Commonwealth; Every male citizen of twenty one years of age and upwards (excepting paupers and persons under guardianship) who shall have resided within the Commonwealth one year, and within the town or district in which he may claim a right to vote, six calendar months next preceeding any election of Governor, Lt Governor, Senators and Representatives, shall have a right to vote in such election of Governor, Lt Governor, Senators and Representatives; and no other person shall be entitled to vote in such elections.

MONDAY, JAN, 26.

In the House, Mr Byington, of Stockbridge, arose and announced the death of Mr Walter Cook, representative from the town of Richmond, who died at his lodgings at the Malboro Hotel, on Saturday evening, at 7 o'clock.

Religious services appropriate to the above occasion, were held at the Marlboro' Hotel on Wednesday afternoon, at 3 o'clock.

In the Senate, on Tuesday, petitions were presented and referred of Joseph Ingalls and others in aid of the petition of David Pingree and others;

In the House, petitions were presented from William Sutton and others, by Mr Silsbee, of Salem, for a bridge across navigable waters in Salem, (opposite Naumkeag Factory,)—of Joseph Edwards jr. and others, and Joseph Ingalls and others of Lynn, in aid of Salem and Malden Railroad—of Sherburn Rowe and others, and Jonathan T Perkins and others in aid of Chelsea and Boston Railroad.

On motion of Mr Buck of Boston, it was ordered that the committee on the subject of the representation of towns, consider the expediency of so amending the Constitution, as to require of all foreigners in addition to the present qualifications,——years residence within the United States subsequent to their naturalization, to qualify them to vote on any State, County or Town matter; or for Electors of President and Vice President of the United States; or for Members of Congress; or to hold any office under the Commonwealth. And also to require of all voters sufficient education to enable them to read the Constitution, and write their own names; Provided, that this alteration shall not effect the right of suffrage enjoyed by any one at the time of the adoption of this amendment.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 28.

In the Senate, An Amendment of the Constitution was reported by the special committee on that subject, providing that in the years which the election of the Electors of President and Vice President occurs, the annual State election, shall take place on the same day. The report and the amendment were ordered to be printed.

House. Numerous petitions were presented and referred.

Among the orders adopted, was one for the Committee on the Judiciary to inquire into the expediency of authorizing the Governor and Council to appoint an Inspector or Inspectors of Flour in this Commonwealth.

The bill concerning the rate of tolls for grinding grain was taken from the table, and recommitted.

On motion of Mr. Perkins, of Salem, that the committee on the judiciary inquire into the expediency of providing for the amendment of formal defects in indictments, when they may be made without prejudice to the substantial merits of the defendant's case.

Also, that the same committee consider the subject of selling perishable goods, taken possession of by messengers under the insolvent law.

Also, that the same committee consider the subject of providing for supporting convicts sentenced to almshouses in the same manner as convicts in the house of correction are supported.

The orders of the day were taken up, and the report that it is inexpedient to legislate on the subject of disclosing the names of complainants before grand juries, and to make them pay the costs, when the indictments they procure miss fire, was accepted.

The report of the board of railroad commissioners, on the Chelsea and Boston Railroad, shows that the immediate object of this road is to accommodate the villages of Upper Chelsea, Winnissimit and Charlestown Neck—an avowed ulterior object is to furnish the Eastern Railroad travellers, who wish to avoid the Ferry, the means of doing so.

The President of the Eastern Railroad, upon being informed that the petition did not contemplate any connection with that road, other than running their ract to a point near the same, and establishing a de- ot there, declared, in behalf of said company, that he ad no objections to make.

The petitioners were opposed by the Maine Extention Railroad, the towns of Cambridge, Medford and Charlestown, and certain owners of real estate in Cambridge and Chelsea.

THURSDAY, January 29th.

In the Senate, on motion of Mr. Slisbury, it was ordered that the committee on the judiciary consider the expediency of increasing the salary of the District Attorney for the middle district.

On motion of Mr Scudder, ordered that the committee on the judiciary inquire into the expediency of providing by law that all deeds of real estate, which purport to be absolute, but are held as security, shall be void as against creditors of the grantor, unless an instrument of defeasance, setting forth the correct amount due the grantee in the condition to be performed by the grantor, shall be executed and recorded in the registry of deeds where the original deed is recorded.

Passed to be engrossed.—Bills concerning the Charlestown Branch and Fitchburg Railroad Corporations; in addition to an act establishing the Nashua and Lowell Railroad; resolves on the petitions of Charles Paine and F. W. Paine, and in favor of the Hampden Agricultural Society.

In the House of Representatives, the Eastern Railroad Corporation presented a petition for leave to change the direction of a portion of said road.

Order adopted.—On motion of Mr. Weeks, of Harwick, that the committee on the taxation of personal property consider the expediency of providing that notes bearing interest, shall be included in the lists of taxable estates rendered to Assessors.

Report accepted.—That it is inexpedient to legislate concerning doing away with the poll tax as a qualification for voting.

ARCHITECTURE.

Our attention has been called to an ADVERTISEMENT in the Salem Register, in which the person advertising complains of our article last week on the subject of Architecture, and thinks it is a gross misrepresentation and stigma on the builders of this town, to say that there has been a very deficient taste existing in the plans of our dwelling houses. It will be recollected that we gave as an instance of the defective taste heretofore existing, a description of one of those houses "end to the street, with a bed-room and entry in the middle, and a room at each end," such as were commonly built 10 or 20 years ago. We are happy to notice that there are no specimens of this kind in Washington St. although there are enough of them in the older built streets in town and we coincide in all the 'Builder' says of the new buildings on that street, although we think that he betrays rather too much jealousy of a talented young builder who may possibly become his successful rival. We do not so much wonder at the sensitiveness of the Register man, if, as he has intimated, he has seen the beautiful plans designed and drawn by Mr. Howland, but we protest against his suggestion to draw from his grave the late distinguished Boston Architect to examine any more plans of building. We think if Mr. Benjamin were now living, he would adopt instead of sneer against the style of English Cottage Architecture of which the writer in the Register complains.

In giving our commendation of Mr. Howland we do not of course intend any disparagement to any other of our builders. We have before accorded praise where we thought it was due, to another of our Architects, Mr. Lincoln Putnam, and we see no cause to withdraw what we then expressed. There are others no doubt fully capable of originating handsome designs in building, and our intention in the former article was to call the attention of those about to build, to such plans as combine symmetry and elegance with convenience and comfort. We feel that it is for the interest of both the builder and his employer to obtain handsome designs from those who have devoted themselves as has Mr. Howland, to this particular art, and instead of the exhibition of small jealousies the builder ought to rejoice when any new and original plans are furnished by those whose opportunities have enabled them to supply them.

☞ We call the attention of our readers to the communication on our first page, on Atmospheric Railroads. It has been authoratively decided in England that this is a new and distinct mode of conveyance and that it should have the preference in Legislative encouragement over the present railways just as they are allowed to push aside the turnpike roads, t is worthy of the attention of railroad projectors whether the very latest discoveries in locomotion should not be carefully and scientifically examined previous to deciding on the construction of the roads. It will be recollected that the first railroads were built with the expectation of using only horse power, and the invention of locomotives followed afterwards. There is probably a great many more discoveries to be made, and the present locomotives may yet be superseded by better inventions.

'Poor Old Horse, let him die.' The Post states that the famous Johonnot horse, who was so handsome that the ladies of Salem would never ride him, for fear he would eclipse their beauty, is just dead and buried in the lunatic hospital grove, at Worcester, aged thirty eight years.

The Worcester Transcript has a long obituary, notice of the animal, from which we extract the following:

It is with no common emotions that I announce the decease of my venerable friend, the old 'Johonnot Horse.' He departed this life last evening, at the going down of the sun. His confinement was of about two weeks duration—he entered his stable apparently well, but soon after fell and was unable again to rise. The difficulty seemed to be a failure of strength in the legs, superadded to the decay of old age. His appetite gradually abated, and though every reasonable attention was shown him, the vital spark burnt less and less brightly, until, without much manifestation of pain, he gently breathed his last.

The funeral obsequies were performed on Monday morning, at an early hour. A dirge was sung by one or more of the patients in this Institution, and the remains of our aged friend were interred near the south-east corner of Hospital Grove.—Farewell, my old friend, farewell.

'He's dead and gone!—He's dead and gone!
And the white oak branches wave,
And the violet blows,
And the green grass grows,
Upon his grave.

'He's dead and gone!—He's dead and gone!
And he sleeps by the same old wall,
Where he loved to lie,
When the sun was high
In Spring ans Fall.

We've laid him there, for I could not bear,
His poor old bones to hide
In some dark hole,
Where rat and mole
And blind worms bide.

'But he taketh his rest, where he loved best
In the day of his life to be,
And that place will not
Be a common spot
Of earth to me.'

THE 'OLD GREY.'

State Lunatic Hospital, Jan. 23.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES'

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at

C. H. MANNING'S,

Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Jan 26, 1846
[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At Market 520 Beef Cattle, 615 Sheep, and 60 Swine.—250 Swine arrived at the close of the market, and are unsold PRICES—Beef Cattle—A small advance only was effected. We quote extra 5 75 a $6; first quality 5 25 a 5, 5 50; second quality 4 75 a 5 25; third $4 a 4 50.

Sheep—Sales at $6 $4, and $3. Ordinary Sheep from $2 to 2 75.

Swine—Several small lots were sold, half Barrows, at 4 1-2 c. At retail from 4 1-2 a 6c.

BOSTON MARKET--Thursday, Jan. 29th.

Cotton—There is more inquiry, and prices are firm; sales about 600 bales. Provisions—But little doing. Small sales of prime Pork at $11 59; prime Beef at $10, 4 mos; Lard, 8c, cash; 5000 lbs rendered Tallow at 7 1-4 c, cash. Flour—The market is quiet, and sales only in small parcels, Genesee at $5.75a5,87. The terms of the sale yesterday should have been cash, instead of 6 months. Corn—Prices have a downward tendency; 4a5000 bu yellow flat sold at 57a68c. There is considerable inquiry for Coffee, and Cocoa, but we hear of no important sales. Sugar—Sales to the trade of Cuba brown at 8 5-8c. Molasses—100 hhds Cuba sweet, old crop, sold at 20 1-2c, and small parcels of Trinidad at 23c.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, Mr. WILLIAM HARDY to Miss MARY ANN JOSELYN, daughter of deacon H. Joselyn.—Mr. WILLIAM H. SAWYER to Miss MARY GRAY.

In Providence, R. I., Mr. WM. H. FARNHAM, of Salem, to Miss ABBY M. GREENMAN, of Providence.

DEATHS.

In this town, suddenly, Mrs. OSBORNE, wife of Micajah Osborne, aged 68.

In Salem, LUCY ANN FOGG, aged 17. Mrs. HANNAH OLIVER, wife of Mr. John B. Knight, aged 32. Mrs ALMIRA SEARLES, aged 21. Mrs. REBECCA SHORT, wife of Mr. Charles Short, aged 49 Mrs. ISABEL WEBB, aged 46.

In Wenham, Mr. THOMAS MASURY, aged 50.

In Topsfield, Mr. NATHANIEL PERRINS, Jr., aged 32.

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns, Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing uuder the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

NOTICE.

ALL persons having demands against the town of Danvers, are requested to present them before the 20th of February next.

HENRY FOWLER,
Clerk of the Board of Selectmen.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

DR. J. A. ROBINSON.

SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, opposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street, recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes, for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf No 9, Washington street.

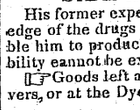
WANTED—A two story Dwelling House, suitable for a small family. A pleasant situation would be desirable, not more than half a mile from the Unitarian meeting-house. Notice may be given to A. A. ABBOTT, Esq., Danvers. jan 30



BUTTER.

JUSE received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by

O. F. BATCHELDER.

Danvers, Jan 30.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy Knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives for the State of Massachusetts, in General Court assembled,

THE petition of the undersigned respectfully represents, that there is no Railroad across the county of Essex, to connect the large towns on the seaboard with those of the North part of the county—that a Railroad from the City of Salem to the towns of Andover, or Methuen would open a communication between the seaboard and the states of New Hampshire and Vermont, that cannot fail to be of great advantage to all concerned, by increasing the facilities of exchanging the productions of the sea, and those that are sea-borne, for those of the country. It will give greater facilities to the intercourse between the several towns in the county of Essex, which, from the nature of their Commercial, Manufacturing, Agricultural and Fishing operations, the locations of their Courts of Justice, and Public Archives, and their family relations, is rendered exceedingly important.

In view of all the advantages to be obtained, we are of the opinion that a public exigency exists for the establishment of such a road, and we therefore petition your Honorable Bodies that we may be incorporated under the style and title of the Essex Railroad Company, for the purpose of constructing and using a Railroad, to commence at some convenient point in the towns of Andover or Methuen, thence running through those towns and the towns of Middleton, Danvers and Salem, intersecting the Boston and Maine Railroad in Andover, and the Eastern Railroad in Salem. And as in duty bound will ever pray.

JOSEPH S. CABOT, and others.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

IN SENATE, Jan. 20, 1846.

ON the Petition aforesaid, Ordered, That the petitioners cause an attested copy of their petition with this order thereon, to be served on the Clerks of the City of Salem, and of the towns of Danvers, Middleton, Topsfield, Boxford, Andover and Methuen, and of the Eastern Railroad Company and of the Boston and Maine Railroad Corporation, and of the Andover Bridge, and to be published three times in the Salem Register, twice each in the Danvers Courier and Haverhill Gazette, and six times each in the Boston Daily Atlas and Daily Evening Traveller, said service to be made on said Clerks, ten days at least, and the last publication in each of said papers, to be made three days at least before the sixth day of February next, that all persons interested may then appear, and shew cause, if any they have, why the Prayer of said Petition should not be granted.

Sent down for concurrence.

CHAS. CALHOUN, CLERK.

In the House of Representatives January 16, 1846. CONCURRED.

CHAS. W. STORY, Clerk.

A true copy---Attest.

CHAS CALHOUN, Clerk of the Senate.

SELLING OFF.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st, 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th. tf

NEW GOODS.

JUST opened Patches, Calicoes, Flannels, Vestings, Selecias, Cambrics, White Muslins, Knit Frocks and Drawers, Bleached Cotton, Wadding, Fine Crash, Pongee Silk Hdkfs, Buttons, Tapes, Pins, Threads, Needles, &c. For sale cheap by

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Wednesday.

The superior fast sailing bark MONSOON, Paine, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

jan 24

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet sch EMILY KNIGHT, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. jan 8

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PCKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf,
On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr HENRY, Paine, master, is now loading, and will will sail as above.

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah. jan 10

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.
From Commercial Wharf—On Saturday.

The coppered schr. EDWARD, Baker, master, now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

jan 24

LITTLEFIELD'S

Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 1awtf

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.

Dec. 56th, 1846 4tis,

HALF A

Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of

READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.

COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods a dapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. A my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Celebrated Clothing Establishment,

"Oak Hall Building!"

32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,

OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.

Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.

☞REMEMBER☜

ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,

BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

COMBS. A beautiful article of Buffalo Horn Combs, for sale at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAINS',

AUCTION.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Zebulon Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 105 feet on said street, and about 168 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A. POTTER, at New Mills, or

I. D. SHEPARD, Auct.,
35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

W. D. JOPLIN,

AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

WE, the subscribers, having been duly appointed commissioners, to examine the claims of the creditors to the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, represented insolvent, hereby give notice, that six months from the sixth day of January instant, are allowed said creditors to bring in and prove their claims; and that we shall attend to that service on the last Monday of this and each of the four following months, at 3 o'clock, P. M., at the office of Joseph Shed, Esq., opposite the Monument, in Danvers.

JOSEPH SHED,
ALFRED A ABBOTT, } Commissioners.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed administrators of the estate of

Jonathan Dustin,

late of Salem, in the county of Essex, gentleman, deceased, and have taken upon themselves that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs; all persons having damands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to

HAZEN AYER, or
EBEN SUTTON. } Administrators.

Salem, Jan. 17, 1846.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceased, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges:—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for consideriag said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers. that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate.

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.
jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGATE MERRILL, Guardian.

Danvers, Jan. 10, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

Zerubbabel Porter,

late of Danvers, in said county of Essex, esquire, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to WARREN PORTER, Executor.

Danvers, January 10th, 1846.

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.

Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

New Goods.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J C FERRIN

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.

DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hsndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

Periodical Depot!!

REMOVAL.

LUTHER CHANDLER, the Proprietor of the Depot for PERIODICALS AND CHEAP PUBLICATIONS, formerly kept at No.3, (on the East side of Washington street, has removed to the store,

Corner of Washington and Norman Streets,

(Directly opposite the Old Stand,)

where he intends to keep a full supply of all the Periodicals and New Works, as well as the Daily and Weekly Newspapers, as soon as they appear from the press.

In removing from the old stand he confidently hopes to receive the continued patronage of those who have formerly received his publications and he pledges himself that he will use his best exertions to procure all New Works promptly and sell them at the lowest prices.

His long experience and extensive acquaintance with those publishers and others engaged largely in the Book Trade will enable him to answer orders for particular Works, with great promptness, and at the most favorable prices.

REFRESHMENTS,

such as are usually kept at Restaurateurs, and SODA AND MEAD, will be furnished at the new stand, by S. SAUNDERS.

REMEMBER—Corner of Washington and Norman Sts., near the Railroad Station, Salem.

may 24 3m

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston. entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can ee him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on nand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads.

Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. dec 13

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,

aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF

TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.

SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.

EXPLANATIONS; a Sequel to "Vestiges of the Natural History of the Creation,' by the author of that work. Just published and for sale by jan 17 W. & S. B. IVES, Salem.

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN

HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,

Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,

WINDOW GLASS,

CAMPHENE,

CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,

Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,

CARPENTER'S TOOLS,

HOUSE TRIMMINGS,

Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs.

BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,

Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.

No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—

Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;

The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Greenhouse in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2 S. DODGE.

New Stove

Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.

dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,

200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;

—Also, in store—

100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;

For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,

At the old and well known stand on the Plains.

North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

HUTCHINS' RENOVATOR, or Chemica Soap, for cleansing Coat Collars, wearing appare and all kinds of Woolens from spots occasioned by oil, tar! varnish, wheel and gudgeon grease and paint. Prepared and sold by EDWARDS,

oct 11 10 Front street

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)

(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

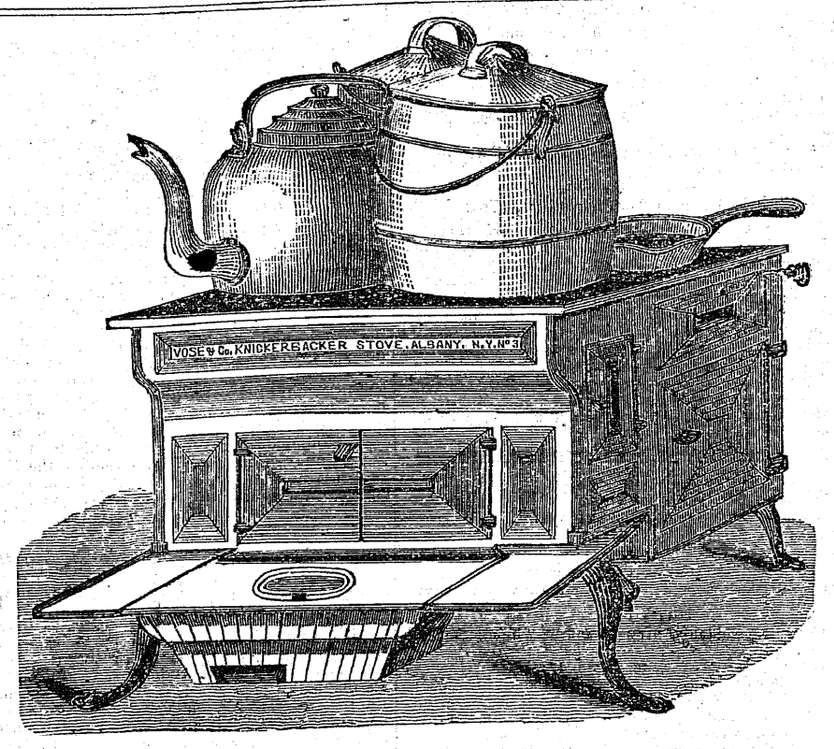
And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Beewiths, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever. Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

Splendid Furs!!



AT 183 ESSEX STREET.

Opposite the Mansion House, SALEM.

STEPHEN OSBORNE respectfully informs the ladies of Danvers, that he has now an extensive supply of beautiful

Muffs, Boas, Victorines, Mantillas, Thibets, Collars,

&c., of the most fashionable and durable FURS, which he is selling at the lowest prices. A call is respectfully solicited. 3m nov 8

LORD & WILEY,

OFFER FOR SALE

AT their store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,

together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortment of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of ev ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch29 1y

COAL, COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,

july 12 27 Water street.

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Algor's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

G. W & E. CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURERS AND STATIONERS,

174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAVE constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

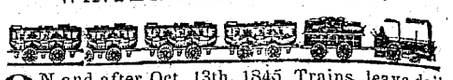
of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15



SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in tha city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

EASTERN RAILROAD,

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted,)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, } 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1-2 } 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.

Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.

Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.

Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.

Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.

South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4.55 P.M.

Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.

Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.

Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

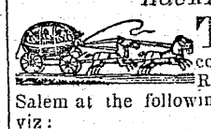
MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots



JOHN KINSMAN,

oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the

DANVERS AND SALEM

HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8	A.M
"	8 3-4		"	9	1-2
"	9 3-4		"	11	3-4
"	11 1-4		"	12	3-4
"	1 3-4	P M.	"	3	P.M.
"	2 3-4		"	4
"	4 1-2		"	5
"	5 1-2		"	6	1-2
"	6 1-2		"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.

apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to

Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.

April 19, 1845. 1 y

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints. Chilblains, Chapped Hands Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subscriber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,

No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport,
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast, Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF

Cut Nails, White Lead, Shot, Lead and Lead Pipe,

NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams, }
C. M. Richardson, }

march 15 tf

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, opposite

jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

dec 6

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 7, 1846. NUMBER 47.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

From the Olive Branch.

WE ARE PASSING AWAY.

BY MRS. H. W. S. GROSVENOR.

We are passing away, we are passing away,
So the birds warble their parting lay,
The crown of the forest is withered and sear,
And the sun looks down with an aspect drear;
Why should we linger when cold winds blow,
Chilling the songs in our hearts that glow?

We are passing away, we are passing away,
Thus murmurs the flowers in their own decay,
Our leaves have been touched by the frost king's breath,
Which is fatal e'en as the blasts of death,
Our buds all drooped on the brown earth's breast,
And the scene grew sad, late in verdure dress'd.

We are passing away, we are passing away,
The rose-tints of youth in its summer day;
As the songster carols his parting note,
As the lingering tints from the floweret float,
So the rich hues of beauty—the gleam of the eye,
Like the buds in the morning shall wither and die.

We are passing away, we are passing away,
The hopes thou didst cherish in life's young day,
The dreams that beguiled thee in youth's early years,
Unshadowed by sorrow, unsullied by tears;
These are dearer than minstrel or blossom to thee,
Without them thy pathway in darkness will be.

We are passing away, we are passing away,
Your earthly idols and gods of clay,
Around us too fondly you twined your trust,
And knew not then we were things of dust,
Ere long to crumble and pass away,
Ere long to blend with the mother clay.

What doth pass not away? What doth pass not away?
I have just now heard the songster's lay,
With grief I have looked on the fading flower,
On the tints of youth in its summer hour,
On the dreams so dear to the trusting heart,
On the friends of the bosom who soon depart,

Oh! we pass not away, we pass not away,
The hopes of heaven with their sun-bright ray,
The treasures lain up in the better land,
The friends thou hast there in the spirit band,
The trust thou hast placed on that purer shore,
These shall bless when earth's passing scenes are o'er.

MISCELLANY.

THE HEIR'S CHOICE.

BY MRS. C. M. MORTON.

Have you heard that Henry Conner is expected home this week? said Patty Allen at the sewing circle of our village, looking up from her work as she spoke as if announcing something of importance.

No indeed! You don't say? La now! were the various ejaculations that responded to her remark. Do tell, is he rich and handsome as they say?

I had the news from his aunt, said Patty. He is to be home on Saturday. Father says he will be the richest man in the country, for he has got all his uncle's estate, and Dr Parker was the first physician here for thirty years.

Then the old mansion will be opened once more, said Ellen Eden, looking up with enthusiasm in her eyes; it is so dull and gloomy now, in spite of its magnificent belt of trees, and everything about it seems so neglected, that I shall be glad when its master returns to clear the dead twigs from the walks and tie up the roses on the trellice work again, as I remember when a child?

Pshaw! said Isabel Warner, If it were mine I'd cut down all the trees and tear away the old trellice work park; and in its place should be a colonade with Corinthian pillars. And I'd have larger windows put in and the parlors thrown into one; and there should be new marble mantles; and then I'd give a great ball—oh! such a ball as we've never seen here—and then, you should be all invited.

I'm afraid, said Ellen, smiling that the old place would hardly know itself.

That it wouldn't; but what of that? Old Dr. Parker was a blue law Presbyterian, almost as bad as Ellen; but I warrant the young heir is not so old fashioned. Nay, I beg your pardon, she said, as she saw Ellen's flushed cheek. I didn't intend to hurt your feelings.

There is no need for an apology, said Ellen mildly, but dear Isabel I only wish you were a blue law Presbyterian, as you call it—or a blue law Episcopalian, or anything else.

Well—well—time enough yet, said Isabel, half gaily, half pettishly. But Patty, you have not told us yet if Mr Conner is handsome, she remarked, turning to the first speaker.

His aunt says he is, but he was always her pet. He'll be at church, however, on Sunday.

Then we shall see for ourselves. And now girls, the best one is she that gets the first introduction.

Agreed, said all, and the conversation ceased.

Isabel Warner was a spoiled beauty, but with naturally a good heart, as was evinced in her conversation with Ellen, which we have narrated.—Between her and Miss Eden there could not be a greater contrast than already existed; for Ellen was a girl of rigid notions of duty, an exemplary, though unobstrusive christian and one of the mildest and sweetest of characters. While every one admired the gay, high spirited and brilliant Isabel, all loved the modest and retiring Ellen; the one was the dahlia which flaunts before all eyes, the other was the retiring violet. In her secret heart, Isabel, already the most popular belle of the village, had resolved to make a conquest of the young heir. She loved ostentation quite as much as she loved flattery, and she longed to be mistress of the old mansion. She knew, however, that she had many rivals; there was scarcely a young lady in the village, having either by birth, accomplishment or beauty any pretension to the alliance, who did not hope that she might be the favored one. And each resolved to appear to the best advantage on the following Sunday.

Accordingly the Church, on that day presented quite an array of new bonnets and flowers. Our ladies had really outdone themselves. Never had Tiverton shone in such an array of millinary.—But still Isabel was the most beautiful girl there; and conscious that this would be so, she delayed her entrance until the services were about to begin.

The young heir sat in the old family pew nearly opposite to that of the Warner's, and more than once during the sermon his eye wandered to the beautiful being opposite to him. Isabel's heart beat high with gratified pride, and her triumph was complete when at the close of the services, the young heir advanced to shake hands with her father whom he recognized, and so designedly threw himself in the way of an introduction to Isabel, of which he availed himself immediately by walking home with her.

In a short time the young heir became acquainted with the other ladies of the village, but still he showed a decided preference for Isabel. Probably he paid less attention to Ellen than to any of them; and certainly she was the only marriageable young lady in the village who did not seek every decorous opportunity to throw herself in his way. But Ellen neither courted his society nor flattered his tastes. She treated him frankly and conversed with ease and animation when they met; but she rather shrank from than sought opportunities of meeting him. Yet Ellen felt that Harry Conner was one that she could love, for constant flattery had failed to corrupt the original nobleness of his heart.

Whether it was this conduct on the part of Ellen, or a gradual increasing appreciation of her qualities, that induced the young heir to seek her society more frequently than at first, we know not; but so he did, and eventually to a degree that Isabel grew jealous.

One day a pic-nic party was projected, to be held on a picturesque island not far from our village. The party was to be given by the gentlemen, and great pains were taken to conceal from the ladies the nature of the preparations. All, therefore, that was known was, everything was to be arranged in the most elegant manner. Harry Conner himself had superintended the arrangements, and his taste was proverbial, Every one promised themselves a day of enjoyment, even Ellen entered into the feelings of curiosity; and on the eventful morning many arose an hour before their usual time, impatient, as in earlier years, for the hour of setting forth.

The party was to meet at the house of Miss Warner, preparatory to embarking. All had now assembled. They were awaiting only for Miss Eden. At last she came, but not attired for excursion.

She had just heard that a poor old woman, whom she had been in the habit of assisting now and then with alms, was aying, and had requested to see her.

Are you going? said a dozen voices. What is the matter?

Ellen blushed, but said she could not go.—Something quite unexpected has occurred to prevent her, I have run down, therefore, to make an excuse. She would not tell the reason, for she knew that there were those present who would attribute it to ostentatatous benevolence.

Pshaw, how ridiculous! said Isabel Warner, who was vexed, to Harry Conner, she is only afraid to go—how I hate such puritanical notions. As if a little harmless amusement were wrong.

If Miss Eden will not go because she thinks it wrong, she is certainly very narrow-minded; and what is worse, is the hypocrisy to conceal the true reason. Still, I cannot believe she is bigoted.

There is no other cause, you may depend on it. And we shall be quite as well without her. I hate such sanctimonious faces when others are disposed to be merry.

Ellen happened to be nearer than Isabel thought and heard these words—her eyes filled with tears, which she with difficulty concealed by turning away, She longed, yet dreaded to hear Harry Conner's answer.

You are to harsh, was the reply. But surely she ought to be able to give a reason for remaining, if she is not really afraid to go.

At these words Ellen was on the point of revealing all but she reflected that her motive would be misrepresented; and her modesty shrunk from speaking of her own good deeds. She felt, therefore, that she must allow herself to be misunderstood by Harry Conner; but it was not without a pang that she came to this conclusion, and the consciousness of this, led her now, for the first time, to suspect the true state of her heart. She loved the young heir.

Harry Conner was more disappointed at Ellen's absence, than he believed he could be. He felt a little piqued at her in person, and, to tell the truth, some of the arrangements had been made solely to please her. Indeed, Harry, without falling in love, had been growing more and more interested in Ellen ever since his return. The very indifference which she exhibited, so much in contrast with the marked attention which all the others paid him, had the effect to pique him, and pique often leads to warmer sentiments. Considerably mortified at her refusal, he resolved to revenge himself by flirting with Isabel Warner.

The woodland meal had been partaken of, and Harry, tired of the noise of the party, and still out of humor with himself and Ellen, strolled off from the party, and entering a skiff began idly to float down the stream towards our village. Unconsciously he went further than he intended, but before taking up his oars to row back, he resolved to land and pluck some flowers which he saw growing luxuriantly on the bank. While thus engaged he noticed a low log hut hard by, from which arose a voice that he thought not unfamiliar. Curiosity prompted him to approach it. The door was open, and peeping in, he saw an aged woman, apparently in the last stages of disease, while Ellen was propping the dying person with pillows.

God will bless you for this, said the sufferer feebly. I know what you gave up to come hither, I sent for Miss Isabel Warner, whom I nursed when a child, but she could not come; and then I know there was no one who would sacrifice their day's pleasure for me, except you, Miss Ellen.—But Heaven will reward you for it.

Say nothing of it, but compose yourself, replied the sweet girl. I only did my duty.

Ah! duty, duty—but that is it. Who does their duty? Few, Miss Ellen, indeed.

The young heir listened to her no more, for he did not wish to be seen. He had heard enough. He noiselessly glided away, and entering his skiff began to row up the lake. After a while he stopped and looked at the humble log cabin he had left behind.

And it was to seclude herself in that miserable hut, he said, to watch over the couch of a sick and dying woman, that she voluntarily gave up the anticipated pleasures of this day. And I have been calling her puritanical for it.

When Harry Conner joined the pic-nic, he was no longer in a mood of replying to the gay sallies of Isabel Warner. His heart was by the bedside of that dying woman, where Ellen Eden watched in silence and alone. As he looked at the beautiful Isabel, and thought of her heartless refusal to visit her old nurse when dying, he wondered how he could have been deluded into believing her amiable as he had been, She seemed to him now a lovely Medusa; while Ellen rose up before him a ministering angel.

From that day Harry Conner loved Ellen Eden. He made no allusion, when they met, to her refusal to attend the pic-nic, but strove, by the gentle kindness of his manner, to repay her for the only regret she may have felt. Ellen scarcely knew what to make of his altered demeanor.—There was something so different in his tone, so respectfully in his looks, something so different from anything she had seen before, that her heart trembled with strange happiness, She had resolved to treat Harry so coldly that he would abandon her society; for she knew absence from the beloved object to be the only cure for unrequited affection. But now she hesitated. A sweet hope began to dawn on her. Could he really mean to give up the beautiful and brilliant Isabel for her? The more Harry saw of Ellen the more he congratulated himself on his escape from Isabel. The very piety of our heroine, on which he at first looked with disapproval, now became an attraction; for however men, in the giddy maze of gaiety, may effect contempt for the christian, they always, in their serious moments wish for a wife one who shall be truly pious. Harry now found, moreover, that there was a vast difference between a false, ostentatious christianity, and the pure religion which Ellen practiced so unobtrusively,

And are you really going to marry Ellen Eden? said one of his friends to him. I hear every where that she is a canting religionist.

I am about to marry her, he replied. What you mean by a canting religionist I do not exactly know; but Ellen, however pious she may be, has nothing of cant,

She teaches Sunday School.

But is not that a merit rather than otherwise? Surely to devote three hours every Sunday, to the gratuitous, mental and moral instruction of others, is a self-denying task, worthy of all praise; and you will agree with me, that time thus occupied is spent more beneficially than dressing for a ball room.

I am a stranger here, and know nothing of Miss Eden, said his friend, with some embarrassment. Excuse me for what I have said. I am sure I would rather have a pious wife than an infidel one.

There you are right, and it is that conviction which has made me seek Ellen for a companion. I am unworthy of one so good and pure. Believe me, my dear Frank, the best thing a man can do is to choose a woman with strong religious feelings. Recollect, the wife is to be the mother of your children—your own cousoler in the days of trouble—the guide who, ever by your side, with sweet smiles and angelic words is to win you to heaven, What would man be without woman? And how dreadful to see an irreligious female, one without any hopes or affections for this world, who is thinking continually of gaiety and vain show, and who perhaps goes off to a ball when a child or husband is lying almost at the point of death, with no one to turn the thoughts to a better world.

I never considered the subject so seriously before, said his friend, grasping his hand. But I feel that you are right.

Yes, said Harry, and even infidels—strange as it may seem—prefer a conscientious wife, before one who mocks at religion.

I now see, replied he friend, how it is that true love and religion are so intimately connected.—Reverence is a prominent part in both. I too, will seek a wife like Miss Eden. With these views they parted.

Harry Conner and our sweet Ellen were married within a month of this conversation; and a happier couple no where lives. The husband, like his uncle, has become a consistent christian, and chiefly through the gentle persuasion of his wife. The house is always open to innocent gaiety—cheerfulness has its abode there, and in our village, low and high alike love them,

A word on Isabel before we close. From the day of the pic-nic, she saw that her influence over the young heir was departing. She made several abortive struggles to regain him, but finding all in vain, unwillingly to have it thought any rival supplanted her, she hastily accepted an offer from a transient admirer and was married about three weeks before Ellen. But the ill-assorted match turned out unhappily, as might have been expected, and for several years the once admired Isabel has been living in seclusion with her parents, a deserted wife. Misfortune has not improved her character, for she makes all who approach her unhappy by her peevish repinings, attributing to a hard fate what was really the result of her own misconduct.

COMMUNICATION.

VOYAGE TO CUBA.

Continued.

Wednesday, Nov. 5. Rather overslept myself this morning as I staid on deck last evening till almost 11 o'clock. We are now clear of the passage and out of sight of all land. The forenoon was quite rainy, but with the shelter of the awning we were able to stay on deck though it rained pretty hard 3 or four hours with a slight accompaniment of thunder and lightning. This does not seem much like the dry season of the torrid zone, but such weather is very rare in deed. We caught more than a cask of water which it, is quite a luxury to use in washing and very tolerable to drink. Just after dinner the clouds cleared away beautifully and it continued pleasant all day. At half past one the highlands of St. Domingo or Hayti, for I love the indiginous appellation the best, were in sight, distant 30 or 40 miles. Tomorrow we may make Cape Mayze, the extreme east point of Cuba. Towards night the wind increased considerably, and we are going directly before it.

Thursday, Nov. 6. We made pretty good headway during the night, and were in sight at the same time of Cape Mayze, the eastern point of Cuba, and the headlands of Hayti. The latter we soon left far out of sight. We have since sailed along the south coast of Cuba westerly, keeping a few miles distant from it. The sight of the high mountains, some of them with their peaks lost in the clouds, their sides covered with a carpet of fresh green, was most beautiful. The verdure is only interrupted by cliffs of limestone which makes a fine contrast and takes from the sameness of the scene. We have passed Cumberland harbor 80 miles from Cape Mayze, and with this breeze we shall pass St. Jago in the night and probably reach Cape Cruz, where we take a pilot for Mansanilla tomorrow afternoon. Early in the evening, when the land breeze was blowing off the shore, we had a most lucious treat in the "spicy breezes" which blew soft from Cuba's Isle, "where every prospect pleases, and only man is vile." You can hardly imagine how refreshing it is to smell the green as we call it. Plenty of fish hawks and other birds about us now, and with floating logs and other articles we are pretty sure we are not far from land.

Friday, Nov 7. To day has been exceedingly calm and as delightful as we could wish. Without the awning the heat would be intolerable, but these moonlight evenings are delightful beyond what you can conceive. This last night we have passed St Jago which was hardly out of sight by morning. We passed Tarquin peak late in the afternoon, but it was visible through the day. It is a very high mountain, not far from the shore, and the highest on the island. Its top is almost always hid by the clouds, but we have fortunately obtained one good view. As we sail along, the view of the mountains piled one upon another, is exceedingly grand. We get along quite slowly and may not reach Cape Cruz before morning. A fortnight this morning since we left Boston harbor.

Saturday, Nov 8. As usual, fine weather but little wind. We have sailed along quite slowly, peak Tarquin in sight all the time as the Captain says it will be at Mansanilla. They point out to us upon the cliffs the caves to which men are let down by ropes to gather honey. The shore looks beautifully and we are getting rather impatient to be at Mansanilla.—We reached Cape Cruz towards night but saw no pilot. We dropped anchor near shore and shall probably take a pilot tomorrow, and if there is any wind proceed up to Mansanilla, say 60 or 70 miles. To day is my birth day, and alas, although I am of the proper age to be free, it does not seem much like freedom here. It did not occur to me till this afternoon that this was the anniversary and it has since turned my thoughts homeward. I find pleasure in believing that you were more thoughtful of the day than I have been.

Sunday, Nov 9. I shall have to define our position.' The first vessel at the Cape was our brig at anchor. Then, next towards Mansanilla, was a beautiful bark with the British ensign flying. Lastly, still farther towards Mansanilla but yet in plain sight, was a brig under full sail away from us, doubtless with the last pilot at the Cape on board. In order to get the next pilot that might reach the Cape, Capt M wished to get beyond the bark as the vessel farthest along has the first chance. We weighed anchor and passed by her without any trouble and saw that she was the Lady of Swanea We have had a most excellent breeze to carry us up to the town which we might reach to day, but alas, we have no pilot.—Such a wind is very uncommon. All feel much provoked. The Capt of the "Lady" came on board of us with four sailors and staid most of the afternoon. He is bound for Santa Cruz, so that at any rate we should have had the pilot first. This is the third Sunday and the 17th day out. It has passed as usual.—How unlike a quiet Sabbath on shore!

Monday, Nov 10 A vessel that passed us this morning a good distance off, brought us a pilot who came to us in his little boat or rather canoe, a distance of more than half a mile. Their best boats are carved out of a single trunk of cedar or mahogany, of a very pretty shape, and are prized more than those built like ours. Our pilot's is about 3 or 4 feet wide and perhaps 12 or 14 feet long, very nicely finished, coppered and cost 80 or 90 dollars. It seems a shame to call such a pretty craft a canoe. The pilot's name is Miguel and he talks very good English as well as Spanish. He brought his little boy with him in the boat, a bright looking little fellow only four years old, and he has been to sea with his father almost a year. He likes it, his father says, better than to stay at home with his mother. His name is Carlos or Charles, but they call him Carleto—little Charles. He seems to be quite a skilful sailor already, but before I describe him any farther I must say that as soon as the pilot was onboard and his darling canoe hoisted on deck, we weighed anchor and made sail for Mansanilla with a head wind. Carlos was dressed to suit the climate, only in a gingham shirt and straw hat, which latter article however he did not use much. He has fine black eyes, light curly hair and a ruddy skin. His countenance is uncommonly bright, his head large, and he promises to be as plump as an Alderman. As to his dress, his father put a pair of pantaloons on him with suspenders complete, but the rogue soon got rid of them and ran about the deck as before with nothing but his shirt, no further attempt being made to dress him up. He is of course quite a pet and we have made lots of windmills, boats, &c, to amuse him. He lives in real sailor style, and when he might have better food he still knows his land salt beef and sea biscuit with great apparent pleasure. He is quite a character I assure you, and would make a grand subject for a painter. His father says he would rather not have him become a pilot, but he shall not oppose him if he inclines to it.

The coast is rather low and we have many times approached very near to it. It is covered with dense foliage and I have had the pleasure of seeing the cocoa nut tree for the first time We have passed a few scattered farm houses, which with their pretty gardens make a fine appearance. We have also seen a great many

"green islands of the glittering seas
Where fragrant forests perfume the breeze,
And strange bright birds on their starry wings
Bear the rich hues of all glorious things."

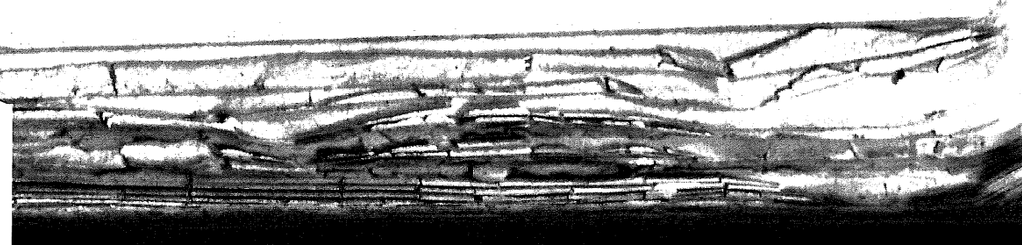
Here too

"the feathery palm trees rise
And the date grows ripe under sunny skies."

These islands look most beautifully, especially when the sun is shining bright upon them. About one of these islands there 'hangs a tale.' A man by the name of Louis, from old Spain, came and settled at Mansanilla. For some reason he became discontented and removed to one of these little islands a short dastance outside of the sloop channel. The island being completely overgrown with trees he cleared a space in the centre of it, put up a little cabin, planted a few cocoa nut trees and cultivated a few vegetables. Here he lived alone a hermit's life for many years, having very little communication with the main land, and going out often with his little canoe to fish. He was for a long time a mystery to all the neighborhood until he was found to be suddenly missing and a few days later his body was found in the water where he doubtless was drowned. The mystery that hung about him gave rise to all sorts of surmises and he was supposed to possess much money, so that his house was soon destroyed and the cleared ground dug up to find the buried treasure but in vain. Nothing now remains but the three cocoa nut trees and a few vegetables growing without cultivation. It reminds me of a remark of some author, that it often happens that the frail plants reared by man, longest survive him and his other works.—Those three cocoa palms and their progeny will long remain to mark that spot though not a vestige of the cabin he lived in remains even now.

The evening is quite cool, and when all the men had on their coats, and I in my pea jacket, Carleto was running about the deck as comfortable as possible, in his simplest style of dress consisting of one garment. He went to bed quite early simply laying himself down on deck where he was covered up with some 'old duds,' and he appeared to sleep soundly.—We had a small specimen of a gale in the evening, which forced us to come to anchor near shore about 30 miles from our port.

Tuesday, Nov 11 We got under way early this morning, with a head wind. In the course of the forenoon we passed one of the pilots, Diego, a fine looking young Spaniard, with a little boy. He was in a beautiful little canoe, on his way to the Cape 60 or 70 miles, and will probably take the bark we left and carry her to Santa Cruz.



Now a word about little Carlos. His father says he is very fond of the water and he is in it almost all the time, diving and swimming when he is at the Cape with his father. Once when he was about two years old he tried to wade out to his father's canoe at anchor when he got beyond his depth and was sometime after picked up senseless, and it was only after a long time and with the advice of a physician that he was restored to life. Miguel has eleven girls and only this boy. The family live at Mansanilla, but Manuel has to be much of the time at Cape Cruz in a solitary cabin, to take vessels to the port.

We anchored in Mansanilla bay at about half a mile from the shore, at 10 o'clock in the evening.—There are 7 or 8 vessels at anchor about us, and we were regaled at our approach by a chorus of crowing cocks, moo-ing cows and barking dogs besides unrecognizable sounds. It sounded oddly but most natural to my ears. We are now fairly in port after a passage of 19 days, 11 of them this side of Turk's Island about a quarter of the whole distance. But I must go to my berth as the officers of the Customs will be on board tomorrow morning early, before any can go on shore. I can now only see the roofs of Mansanilla as the moon shines upon them, she being almost directly over head and near the full. It is a fine evening but quite damp.

Wednesday Nov 12. It is now evening and I have been on shore, but my eyes fairly ache with seeing and I shall need time to collect my thoughts before I can write them down. This morning I had the first good view of Mansanilla. The town reaches along the shore close to it for perhaps half a mile and is laid out regularly like Philadelphia three or four streets deep from the shore. The squares are small and each generally owned by one person. The houses are all one story, white washed neatly and except the poor class of huts, are tiled. The tiles are half cylinders, made of our common pottery ware and laid so as to shed the rain. The poorer ones are thached. At one end of the town is the soldiers' guard house where there is a constant guard, and a blazing fire of logs is kept up every night.—They strike the hours upon a bell that sounds like an iron kettle. To the left of the guard house, as seen from the vessel, is the Cocoa nut walk, some four or five hundred feet long stretching along the beach. The church and custom house are near the centre of the town.

Two boats came along side this morning with the custom and other officers and a few visitors numbering ten or twelve in all. Before this, Mr Peirce, the partner of our consignee, Capt R., had come off in his boat along side but could not come on board until the visit had been made.—My passport which I got at the Spanish Consul's in Boston was shown to the proper officers and permission granted to land. Capt M. went ashore early and took his breakfast there and sent back by the boat a bottle of new milk and two or three rolls of very good bread. So we made a nice breakfast and for the first time for a fortnight with milk in our coffee. Toward noon I went ashore with the Captain and landed at Capt. R's wharf and then went to his store where I was introduced to Mr. Peirce. After a short walk I went to Ramagosa's store where we staid sometime.—There were several Spaniards, loafers I presume, in the store, talking as fast as they could. I like to see and hear them though I do not understand a word they say. They are so animated, even in common conversation, that you would almost suppose it an angry discussion, They use their hands a great deal, as a young 4th of July orator does with us, and they are not at all afraid of showing their teeth which, however, are almost always white and regular. I like the looks of the Spaniards very well. They are more generally good looking I think than the Americans, their countenances being quite pleasant. After I had been in the store sometime, one of them came to me and by a mixture of Spanish and bad English made me understand that another person to whom he pointed, would take me to somebody who could talk English. Accordingly I went with them to a pretty house at a little distance where the latter gentleman lived and found that the person who could talk English was his lady Mrs Caroline B. an acquaintance and great favorite of the lady of our Captain. I sat down and talked some time and found that she came from England when about five years old with her father, now deceased. She speaks English with a slight accent but very well and it is strange that she has not forgotten it entirely. I like this family very much. Their house is a good one for this place and has a large room high, and floored with large bricks while the walls are simply plastered. The furniture is quite simple, a few chairs, a table and a little piano. There was a very pretty black girl sitting at work behind Mrs. B. They have six slaves I believe. They have thought some of coming to Boston but I am afraid they will not as Senor Santiago tells such pitiful stories of his sufferings from cold last October.—After going on board the brig to eat my dinner I again landed and afterward went a shore again and strolled along the beach and under the cocoa nut trees. The nuts hang from the tree in monstrous clusters of 15 to 20 each and I must get one tomorrow to drink the fresh milk. I picked up some little shells from the beach and a little coral. As I was passing the guard house on my way to the boat a soldier acosted me in Spanish and finding I did not seem to understand him he kept raising his voice repeating it louder and louder and gesticulating violently, I did not know what he wanted and began to be almost frightened as he began to pull at my watch guard and I did not know but he meant to steal it.—I soon however thought that he might only want to know the time by it and as I could not tell him I took it out and showed him the face of the watch. He then seemed not to be able to read the figures and had to call another soldier to tell him what time it was. He then seemed quite satisfied and walked away laughing and thanking me. I then went on board the brig. We have had plenty of fresh fruit on board to day such as plantains, limes, melons, oranges, &c. Capt Williams of the English Brig Woodpecker, sent us a bucket of fine oranges from the windward islands. Early in the evening I went ashore again and took a longer walk. I have seen the prickly pear growing thickly in the woods and a great many beautiful flowers, to say nothing of monstrous spidars, cockroaches, &c. To night I have had my bed made up on deck the berth is so stived and close the brig lying so still. We had many visiters on board, and it has been a very hot day, bnt I bear the heat better than most of those who are more used to it.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB 7, 1846.

Prospect of War.

All observers of the weather, now that the blackest clouds do not produce the most rain, thunder or lightning. A great deal of wind often follows, a cloud of dust fills the air bnt there is no great of a shower after all. We look in the same light on the present aspect of the times. The firebrand thrown among the people by the Message of President Polk, filled as it was with vaporing bragadocio has disturbed the political elements and raised a great black cloud which has spread over the country. In Congress we hear the distant rumbling sounds which sometimes betoken a tempest and many wordy missiles of wrath are are hurled across the ocean at the English nation, all blazing and hissing with national spite. To the careless observer these indications are portentous and he scarcely sees how all this bullying and threatening can result otherwise than in a storm of war.

On a closer examination he sees that all this noise is from a very small source. He recollects that empty vessels always make the most noise and that the war drum only gives out those tremendous sounds because it is hollow. He sees among those wordy champions others, who are men of sense, of sound minds and firm principles, to whom all this ridiculous utterance of anger is as idle wind. These are ready to watch the clouds and observe the course of coming events in the calm light of reason and enlightened statesmanship.

As patriots they are ready to do all that may be required to sustain the rights and honor of the country but they wish to look also at its interests and welfare which are only to be best promoted by peace with all the world. They know that this sentiment extensively prevails among the intelligent throughout civil society and that war between equals always creates more evils than it cures.—It is on this sentiment among the people, the aversion to war, on which our statesmen may rely to sustain them in their laudable efforts to preserve to us, not only national honor but with it a long career of peace and national prosperity. The sober thought and good sense of ths intelligent mass of the people will prevent the mischief designed by the noisy declamers at Washington.

The above views are founded on the pacific feeling which is known by the recent arrival to exist in England by which it is evident that the responsibility of war, if it comes, will fall on this country.

THE ISLAND OF CUBA.

Few are aware of the value of this island which some of our southern legislators are seeking to annex to the United States. Spain will hardly consent to part with this paradise of hers, not only because it is the flower of her possessions but on account of enormous revenues she derives from it. With a population less than that of one of our large states it pays annually to the mother country more that $12,000,000. The people are contented, the government undisturbed and security of life and property well established. They therefore will seek no change.

Musical Gazette. We have received the first number of this new paper, which is to be published in Boston once a fortnight. Its contents are interesting and instructive, and we should think would be, if rightly conducted, of essential benefit to our music loving community. The printing is beautifully executed by Kimball & Butterfield of the Lynn News.

The Policy of the Government.

It is wonderful what apathy appears to exist among the people of the country, in the face of the measures proposed to Congress by the President. To pass over for the present the unnecessary irritative caused by the war tendencies of the Message, the recommendation of that odious Sub Treasury ought to arouse the whole country, as it once did when its originator was hurled from the Presidential chair with the maledictions of the people. Another measure,—more immediately affecting the interests and happiness of the whole people and fraught with almost unmixed evil to all but a comparatively few lordling slaveholders,—is to be pushed with all the power of party machinery combined with southern hatred of northern prosperity. The Tariff, under which the country, thanks to the enlightened judgement of Whig statesmen, has for several years so prospered, is to be destroyed. This government, so powerless for good and destructive for evil has decreed that the present prosperity shall not continue. It says to the people.—"Go back to your dependence on foreigners for the common articles of life—Give up your manufactories and let the labor be done in a foreign land by foreign laborers. Having no means of buying food, go to the west and labor on the land for your support but remember that you are to be deprived of the market of manufacturers for your produce. Give up all your prosperity to promote the success of the consumers of the products of slave labor and be the slaves of a slave-holding section of the country."

If the people are not ready for all this and more, it is time that they were astir in taking measures to arouse the whole country to the importance of resistance to the suicidal measures of this administration of destructives. If they are not content to see their cities and villages languish, their labor without its fair reward and desolation take the place of prosperity let their voices be heard by their memorials at Washington in such numbers as shall have an influence for good at the Halls of the Capitol.

Slavery.

The greatest curse to our country, both in a sectional and national point of view, is the system of Slavery in the Southern States. In a sectional point of view, for it retards the progress and prosperity of those States in which it exists, crushes the energy and enterprize of the citizens, is opposed to religious and moral advancement, and tends to destroy sentiments of humanity and honor in the heart of the Slaveholders. To other sections of the country its influences are baneful in a pecuniary point of view. For the different sections are necessarily connected with each other in business, and the effect of the Slave system reaches every place with which the Slave States have business intercourse. Ask of our business men who have been obliged to sell goods on credit to Slaveholders, and they will tell you what that credit is. They will tell you of the immense losses they have sustained—of the sacrifices they have been obliged to make to the Mammon of Slavery. It is not too much to say, that the effects of the system of Slavery are felt either directly or indirectly, in every town and village in the United States.

Bnt it is in a national point of view that the iniquity of Slavery appears more prominent.—We boast of living in the only truly free republic on the face of the Globe. We hold our government and institutions up to the view of the world, as the most perfect ever put into operation, and point to the results upon the people, as a proof of their excellence. Yet under our almost faultless government, and in the midst of our priceless institutions, we cherish one of the worst and most revolting relics of barbarian inhumanity. We hold slaves—we subject to our power, and use for our purposes, human beings. It is in the abstract a horrible system which allows this, and it loses none of its intrinsic horror by our intimacy with it. It is a system which the general government is bound to restrict in every way it can constitutionally. It is a system in which the free States are deeply interested, and against which they ought to bring the whole weight of their influence.

Monument to Gen. Warren.

Hon Mr King, our Representative in Congress has reported in the House a Bill appropriating $5000 for the erection of a monument to the Memory of Gen Jos Warren who fell at the battle of Bunker Hill. We are glad to find that Congress is to be prompted in its tardy intentions of doing justice to the memory of those who first shed their blood in the attempt to establish free institutions on this continent. We are especially pleased to hear that our Representative and townsman has been the prime mover in this act of national gratitude.

☞Tirrell the supposed murder of Maria Bickford, has arrived in Boston from New Orleans in charge of police officers.

Ninth District.—The result of the eighth attempt to elect a Representative to Congress for this district resulted as before in no choice. The Atlas gives returns from 29 towns as follows;—Hale, (Whig) 3955; Pierce (Loco) 4179; Seat 760.

Duel.—A fatal duel took place at Washington, on Monday last, between Thomas F. Jones and Dr Daniel Johnson, in which the latter was killed on the first fire. Both of the persons belonged to North Carolina.

TOWN MEETING.

A town meeting was held on Wednesday last, at Granite Hall, to act on three several propositions for Railroads passing through the town, and the Resolutions which we have inserted below, were adopted by overwhelming majorities.

Moses Black, jr. Esq. was chosen Moderator of the meeting which was one of the largest we ever remember to have attended, filling that spacious hall to repletion in every part. The first Resolution was offered by W. D. Northend, Esq., that relating to the Malden route, and was passed by a very strong vote without much discussion, the previous question having been applied.

The second Resolution, on the Andover road, was moved by Henry Fowler, Esq., previous to which, however, Hon. Elias Putnam submitted as expressive of the sentiments of the town, an Address to the Legislature, embracing his views of the relative importance of the several roads, and giving the preference to that petitioned for by J S Cabot and others.—This Address, after some attempt at discussion, was laid on the table. Mr Fowler then introduced his Resolve. Hon R S Daniels moved to amend it by striking ont all after the word 'Resolved,' and inserting as a substitute another, which expressed in a negative manner the sentiment of the main Resolve with a proviso, that it should not be understood to conflict with the granting of the Malden route. Dr George Osborne moved to amend the amendment by making it express the AFFIRMATIVE proposition.—This was accepted by the mover and some discussion followed. The previous question was then moved and sustained by the meeting. The Chair decided that the effect of the adoption was to cut off all amendments and revert to the original motion. This was an important decision and one not anticipated by the mover. It is founded on Congressional usage, but if we recollect aright it is the custom in the Massachusetts Legislature to act first on the amendments and then on the main question. The Resolution as moved by Mr Fowler, was then passed by a very large vote.

The last article in the warrant, that relating to the petition of S O Richardson and others, (the South Reading Road,) was referred by a unanimous vote to our Representatives in the General Court, and the meeting was dissolved.

There was one singular feature about this meeting which was, that although opposing parties were arrayed as usual, against each other and much feeling manifested in the discussion, (so far as any was allowed,) still all seem well satisfied at the result as a whole. We think this is owing in some measure to the judicious remarks of Mr Fowler who dwelt strongly on the necessity of united action on the part of the town to promote the success of BOTH the main projects, which he regarded as in no way necessarily conflicting with each other. We hope harmony may now be restored between the two sections of the town which never ought to have been at variance.

We were sorry to witness at this meeting so much of that spirit of disorder which is so calculated to do injury to the character of our community. There is nothing gained to a cause by disregarding the rules of order and courtesy which ought to be observed at all meetings for the transaction of important business. In such a time of excitement, the post of a presiding officer is a trying one, and in this instance was creditably sustained. Much was said entirely irrevalent to the subjects before the meeting, and the Chair was often called to decide questions of order, and from his decisions frequent appeals were made. These decisions were either sustained or rejected, it appeared to us, more from prejudice and popular impulse than from intelligence.

At a legal meeting of the inhabitants of the town of Danvers, qualified to vote in town affairs, holden at Granite Hall, in the North Parish in said town, on Wednesday, the fourth day of February, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, the following resolves were adopted by the town:

Resolved, That we approve of the petition of David Pingree and others, for a Railroad from Salem, through Danvers to Malden and Boston; that we believe public exigency requires a route into Boston unincumbered by a ferry,—and that the public never will be satisfied without such an avenue; that the construction of such a road will be of great importance to the town of Danvers—that it will add to its convenience, prosperity and general advancement; and that it is worthy the efforts of the citizens of Danvers, till success shall crown their efforts.

Resolved, That we approve of the petition of J. S Cabot and others, for a Railroad from Salem, through Danvers, to Methuen or Andover; that the construction of such a road will be important to the town of Danvers—that it will add to its convenience, prosperity and general advancement and that it is worthy the efforts of the citizens of Danvers.

Voted, That the subject matter contained in the 4th Article of the Warrent, relative to the petition of S. O. Richardson and others; for a Railroad from Salem through Danvers to South Reading, be referred to the representatives of the town, for them to do as they may think best for the interest of the town.

Attest—JOSEPH SHED, Town Clerk

☞We understand that the Pastor of the 2d Universalist Society in thts town, will deliver tomorrow evening, at the Church in the South Parish a Lecture, introductory to a course on the Bible.

☞There have been numerous incendiary attempts to set fire to buildings in Boston, during the past week, and the City Government has offered a reward of $2000 for the detection of the incendiaries.

THE JOHONNOT HORSE. The obituary notice of this distinguished State pensioner, a portion of which we published in our last, was, we learn the production of Mr Jos. L Frothingham of this place. It first appeared in the Worcestor Transcript and its publication caused so much demand for the paper that the entire edition was soon exhausted. This admirable and witty performance is now having great circulation as it frequently returns to us in our exchanges from different parts of the country.

☞A notorious burglar, named William Moore has been recently arrested in New York.

☞Dr Robinson, the author of the Drama entitled. "The Drunkard's Reform," has recently published a book of his life and adventures.

Mr. Whipple's Lecture.

The Lecture before the Lyceum next Monday evening will be by E P Whipple Esq. of Boston on Wit and Humor. Mr Whipple, although a young man, is celebrated for his fine literary taste and superior mental endowments. His miscellaneous writings in the Reviews and other higher periodicals of the day, have earned for him a fame as a literary writer enjoyed by few of his years. Some idea may be found of the popularity of the lecture we are to be favored with from the fact, that this will be the Thirty-eighth time he has been called to deliver it the present season. It treats of the subject in its highest aspects and will we doubt not afford our citizens an evenings entertainment of the most refined and elevated kind.

SUBSTITUTE FOR A TOWN CLOCK. The hours of the night are now chimed on the bell at the Tannery of Mr. Southwick, giving our citizens who happen to be awake, notice of the passing hours. Why cannot we have a real Town Clock?

☞The Massachusetts and Rhode Island Boundary question is now before the Supreme Court at Washington. The dispute concerning the boundary line of the two states, commenced in 1832.

Thefts.—On Tuesday, of last week, two cases of shoes were stolen from the store of P. R. Southwick, Boston, and on Saturday to cases of ladies boots and shoes were stolen from the store of Messrs Bingham and Tapley.

Dancing.

We are glad to be able to present to our readers the following communication on a subject which has rather uuexpectedly been agitated in our community, as we are always desirous of having our columns open to other views than our own on any subject of interest. Our correspondent, who has probably presented his views in as able a form as the subject will admit, agrees with us in our remark, that "dancing simply" is an innocent amusement. It seems then after all, that we are not very wide apart, as we both agree on its moral bearings, and it becomes a mere matter of taste between us whether we shall 'dance' or 'turn the grind-stone' for our recreation. We are not sure but we shall agree here also, as so far as we are personally concerned we think we should choose the latter.

Now as it regards the point where we differ, our friend relies mainly on the supposed impossibility of separating the evils we so much deplore, which are connected with this practice, from the amusement itself. He relies on the great Temperance argument derived from the noble declaration of the apostle which he has quoted. But we think there are many evils which are not to be cured by this talisman of 'total abstinence,' without an unreasonable deprivation of the common blessings of life. The same reasons that apply to this subject, would also apply to the abuses of the fine arts, which are sometimes debased to unholy purposes, of singing, of social parties and a multitude of other abused good things which it may be better to reform than to abolish.

In relation to the charges brought against the government of the Institute, we have the authority of one of the officers for saying, that until this Levee, not a word of complaint has been heard on the subject to his knowledge, and it is notorious that last year it appeared to meet with general if not universal approval. We hope our correspondent and this community will acquit the Managers of dishonorable conduct or any designed attempt to do anything which is not in their judgment for the best interest of the Institute.—If the Institution is of any benefit to the place, and we think those who heard the remarks of the Rev. gentleman at the Levee will admit that it is, we think that some indulgence and not all censure should be accorded to those who expect no other reward than the consciousness of having performed a useful duty to the public. If the Institution is to be sacrificed the loss will not be to its present guardians alone, and they will have the least cause to regret it. They will be relieved from the labor, and the community from the benefits of it.

In view of the unnecessary excitement, evil speaking and clamor raised on the late occasion we might indulge in terms of some severity, but we view it more in sorrow than in anger and we forbear. There are always those in every community, who are so intent in discovering the mote in their brother's eye that they quite overlook the beam in their own, and in straining at the gnat, they are apt, unconsciously, to swallow the camel.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—Will you indulge a member of the Institute in the expression of a few thoughts relative to the late "Mechanic Levee"? With some of the positions assumed in your editorial on this subject, we perfectly coincide; from others, we respectfully be leave to dissent. We agree with you in the remark, that "dancing simply" is an innocent amusement.—We have no more objection to those motions of the body performed in the exercise of dancing, than we have to those consequent upon the turning of a grind-stone; though we must say, we think the latter far the most honorable and useful employment.

Again, we are with you, in the admission that objections are urged with too much justice (or "force" as you term it,) against "some kinds of social gatherings," and, in decidedly condemning the above named practice, accompanied as it always is, with late hours, and dissipation of time. It is literally a school of vice, to corrupt the morals of the young. But we dissent from your opinion, that it is worthy the consideration of those who object to dancing on account of the evils connected with it, whether they ought not to take it up and "practice it aright," rather than leave it to those who abuse it.

Besides having but a very faint hope that such a procedure would have much influence over those who make dancing a means of dissipation, in bringing them to use it as an innocent recreation, we think it a much wiser course, and acting upon a far loftier principle, to say with one of old, "I will eat no meat" though what more innocent in itself?—"while the world standeth, if it make my brother to offend."—Is it not upon this principle that temperate men put their names to the pledge to abstain from all that intoxicates? Suppose we should assume the ground occupied by J. Q. Adams in relation to the Temperance cause, that the Bible no where expressly forbids a man's taking a glass of wine occasionally,—once a month it may be—but on the contrary, declares, that "every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused, if it be used with thanksgiving and moderation," and again, "Give strong drink unto him that is ready to perish, and wine to those that be of a heavy heart"; (and there are those who think that this eminent statesman has never yet been dislodged from his position, and who contend that it is not upon this principle that our Temperance pledge was based, but rather upon the ground of the bad influence which our example in using it at all, would exert upon those who drink it to excess.) Suppose, we repeat, that we should adopt this theory, and say, let us not abandon wine or strong drink to those that make an intemperate use of it, but rather let temperate men take it up, and by using it aright, restore it to an innocent gratification. Would such reasoning be tolerated in a Temperance Lecture? And yet, this is precisely the principle you have advanced in your editorial article respecting the practice in question. Things may be lawful, which are not expedient. Your suggestion reminds me of the advice once given to a clergyman to visit the theatre for the purpose of reforming the stage. Would it not be a far wiser and safer course, to follow the councils of infinite wisdom, and "avoid the very appearance of evil?

But we have a few other remarks to offer, respecting the introduction of dancing into the Levee the other evening. We complain that it was brought in, contrary to the known wishes of a considerable number (if not a majority) of those who have been firm supporters of the Institute from the time of its establishment, and who have since expressed their grief and disapprobation at the course that was pursued,—we think, to use the mildest language, that such treatment was neither respectful nor courteous. Moreover is it honorable for the Managers of the Institute, to take the funds which are paid in for the ostensible purpose of supporting a Library, which has for its object, the moral and mental improvement of the reading community, and appropriate them to defray the expense incurred by practices which are not only foreign to the design of the Institute, but opposed to the feelings and principles of a respectable number of its friends? It may perhaps, be said, that the wishes of those in favor of dancing ought to be respected, as well as the feelings of those who are opposed to it.—But we conceive, that the cases are not at all parallel. The omission of the practice in question, is with them, a mere matter of convenience; whereas, the performance of it reduces the other party to this alternative, either to contribute to the support of an evil, contrary to their own convictions of duty, or withdraw, and sacrifice all the advantages and benefits of the Institution. We ourselves should be decidedly opposed to the introduction of any amusement, however much we might be in favor of it, if we knew that it conflicted with the principles of any number of its members.

Massachusetts Legislature.

The petition of the Eastern Railroad for change of location in town of Lynn, proposes to run from near their present lower depot up through the westerly part of Lynn near the Hotel, and thence joining their present road by the bridge at Saugus River, provided the people of Lynn will be satisfied therewith. The branches which this company ask for are to Danvers and Georgetown.

Mr J C Perkins, of Salem, has presented the remonstrance of George Peabody, Tucker Daland Robert Brookhouse and others, against building a Bridge across Salem harbor.

Mr Fowler, of Danvers, the petition of Eben Putnam and others, for incorporation as a Religious Society.

Efforts are contemplated in the Spring to resuscitate the Beverly Cotton Company, chartered a few years since.

In the Senate. Passed to be enacted—Bills to incorporate the New Bedford Cordage Company, the Atlantic Cotton Mills; Bay State Mills; Suffolk Sugar Refinery; and Berkshire County Savings Bank;—to increase the capital of the Lowell Manufacturing Company; the Framingham Bank and the Naumkeag Steam Cotton Company.

In the House. Petitions presented—Of Wm J Bowdich and others, a Committee of the Town of Brookfield, that no Railroad may be permitted to pass through that town. Of Sarah B Bagley and 4000 others, operatives of Lowell, for the passage of an act, defining the number of hours to constitute a day's work. Of Wm Livingston and others, for a Railroad from Lowell to Andover.

On Wednesday, the petition of Josiah Haskell and others in aid of Salem and Andover Railroad was presented by Mr Pickman of Salem. Several other petitions were also received, in aid of Chelsea and Boston Railroad—for the abolition of capital punishment—the punishment of seduction, &c. The Hall of the House of Representatives was granted for an exhibition of the pupils of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum—which was held Thursday afternoon at 3 1-4o'clock.

The discuss on on the Plurality system was ably continued by Mr Bryant, of Barre, in favor, and Mr Sturgis of Boston, and Judge Barton, of Worcester, against—and the discussion will be further continued.

After the adjournment, a meeting of the members was organized, and an invitation extended to Wm. Sturgis, Esq., to favor the members of the House, at his convenience, by repeating before them the lectures he has recently delivered on Oregon and the Northwest Coast. It is understood that Mr Sturgis will comply.

The hearing before the committee on the Salem and Malden Railroad has been postponed for a fortnight by which time, it is expected, Mr Choate will be at home and ready to attend to this case for the petitioners.

Rev. Dr. Babcock of New York, formerly of Salem, was installed as pastor of the Baptist church in New Bedford, on Thursday evening.—The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Williams of New York, from Timothy IV. 6. 'A Good Minister of Jesus Christ.' The charge to the Pastor was given by Rev. Dr. Sharp.

Rev. Dr. Cleaveland, of Cincinnati, and previously of Salem, Mass, and Detroit, Mich., has preached his farewell sermon to his people, and is about to remove to East Boston.

Rev. Mathew Hale Smith has just received and accepted a call to the pastoral charge of the 2d Presbyterian Church, on Mew York Avenue, Washington city, formerly under the care of the Rev. Mr. Knox.

POTATOES. By late arrivals we learn that potatoes are cheaper by 50 per cent, in Ireland than in New York. The hucksters here doubled the price two months ago, and having monopolized the article, are determined to continue the high

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

FRIDAY, Jan. 30.

The Senate was not in session,

In the House, among the reports made was one by Mr King of Massachusetts, from the committee on Revolutionary claims, in favor of erecting a Monument to the memory of Gen. Joseph Warren. The committee were unanimously in favor of the bill, which is intended to carry out the resolution of Congress, adopted in 1777. The sum proposed to be appropriated is five thousand dollars.

Mr King also reported a bill for the relief of Joseph Warren Newcomb.

The Oregon debate was continued for a time, in Committee, and then the bill for the establishment of Post-routes in Texas was taken up. After some debate the committee rose and the bill was reported to the House, when it was read a third time, and passed,—and the House adjourned.

SATURDAY, Jan 31st.

The senate did not sit,

In the HOUSE. Personal explanations took place between Messrs. Yancy, Bayley and Hodge, on account of Mr. Hodge's speech yesterday. Mr H. maintained his ground.

The Oregon question was taken up.

Mr A. Johnson is speaking with vehemence in favor of giving the Notice, and is attacking Mr Bayley for misrepresenting Mr Adams' position.

Mr Bayley has twice interrupted him for explanations.

Mr Johnson has told him in his face not to shake his head and frown at him, for his frowns contain no terrors. He had better, said Mr J. frown at his slaves and bondsmen.

Mr Bayley became very much excited, and exhibited a good deal of ire. The equanimity of his temper gave way and he had rather difficult work to restain himself.

Mr J. next assailed Mr Cocke's position, and is now assailng the Virginia delegation for misrepresenting their constituents who elected Mr Polk to secure Oregon.

He says the delegation are following Mr Rives, and had better get him back into Congress. The House still in session. [Baltimore American.

MONDAY, Feb. 2.

In the Senate, to-day, Mr Greene presented a remonstrance from the Legislature of R. I. against the reduction of the tariff, and resolutions in favor of a cheap postage.

Mr. Bagby gave notice of a bill to incorporate the Texan navy with that of the U. S.

In the House, four different propositions were offered in reference to the mode of action by this government on the Oregon question, by Messrs. Dargin, Brown, of Virginia, Tibbatts, of Kentucky, and Pettit, of Indiana.

A motion was made to take the question on the Oregon resolution on Monday, the 9th of February. This was laid on the table by ayes and noes, 99 to 88.

Secretary Walker's bill for the adjustment of the tariff, which he has been preparing with the aid of several collectors, &c., is nearly ready, and will soon be laid before the committee

TUESDAY, Feb. 3.

Senate.—Mr Calhoun presented the memorial of the Memphis Convention, remarking that some of its propositions did not meet his approbation, but he agreed with its leading features. It was referred to a special Committee.

House of Representatives.—Mr. Dromgoole presented a bill to annul the convention of joint occupation of Oregon Territory. Referred to the Com. Mr. Asheman offered a resolution calling on the President for information in regard to our relations with Mexico.

The Oregon resolutions were then taken up.

Mr Leake, of Va., opposed giving notice, and remarked incidentally that the proposition to give the notice was defeated last year in Congress by the vote of seventy-nine democrats and three whigs. Mr Strong and Mr Sawyer, followed in favor of giving the notice. A resolution calling on the President for all correspondence on the Oregon question since the meeting of Congress, was adopted. The Memphis Convedtion memorial was then presented. Adjourned.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY.

At the meeting of the Board of overseers of Harvard University on Thursday, every thing went on very harmoniously. The election of Edward Everett as President of the University, was unanimously confirmed; and that of Benj. R. Curtis, as a member of the corporation by nearly the same vote. The Rev. Dr. Sharp was chosen a member of the Board of overseers, by 56 out of 58 votes, and Dr. Jacob Bigelow of Boston, and the Hon. S. C. Phillips of this city were chosen members, by very large majorities. The able report made at the last meeting of the Board against a separation of the Theological School from the University was adopted without debate, on motion of Mr Walley, the original mover for the inquiry into this subject.—Gaz Dreadful Shipwreck—414 lives lost.—The Cataraqui, Captain C. W. Finlay, (emigrant ship, of 500 tons) sailed from Liverpool for Van Dieman's Land on the 20th of April, with 369 emegrants and a crew, including two doctors, of 46 souls. About 120 of the passengers were married, with families, and in all 73 children. On the 4th of August the ship went ashore in a violent gale on a reef situated on the west coast of King's Island, at the entrance of Bass's Straits, and filled in a few hours, and through the night a scene of horror was exhibited without parallel.—before morning but 30 of the company were alive, the rest having been swept into eternity by the waves. Out of the whole crew only nine were saved.

REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.

It seems to be almost impossible to obtain a correct knowledge of the state of affairs in Mexico, so various and contradictory are the reports from that country. The fact is well established that the Paredes revolution is complete. An arrival at New Orleans confirms the statement that Paredes marched into the city of mexico Jan. 2d, and took possession of the government. The new government was considered fully established, Paredes having been elected by the Junta assembled on the 2d, President of the Republic, and inaugrated on the 4th, and a new ministry having been formed.

Nothing is said in the papers in relation to the feelings of Paredes towards this country, but verbally it is stated that he is very hostile.

The city of Mexico is represented as perfectly quiet, and the army and inhabitants generally as pleased with the revolution.

In regard to Mr Slidell's movements there are contradictory rumors. The report at first credited was that he had been ordered from the Republic; that he thereupon demanded an escort from Jalapa to Vera Cruz, which was refused to him; that Commander Gerry, of the Somers, then lying at Vera Cruz, upon this proceeded with a detachment of officers and mariners to escort Mr. Slidell to the coast, a distance of some 70 or 80 miles. The N. O. Picayune does not attach much credit to this rumor—it appears impossible. The better opinion is that he remained at Puebla, or Jalapa, awaiting instructions from our government. His mission has probably been unsuccessful—but whether attended with insult and indignity from the Mexican government is not established.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Jan 26, 1846.

[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At market 570 Beef Cattle, 2000 Sheep, and 270 Swine. 250 sheep unsold.

PRICES—Beef Cattle—We quote to correspond with last week—extra 5 75 a $6; first quality 5 25 a 5 50; second 4 74 a 5 25; third $4 a 4 50.

Sheep—Dull. Wethers at $3, 3 75, $4 and 4 51; a few ordinary sheep from $2 to 2 25.

Swine—Several small lots Barrows, at 5 1-1c. At retail 5 a 6. No sales to peddle.

BOSTON MARKET—Thursday, Feb 2d.

Cotton—Nothing doing more than in small lots. Provisions—50 bbls Mess Pork sold at $13. 4 mos; lard at 8 1-2 c. Flour—No change in the market since yesterday. Moderate sales of Genesee a $5 62 1-2 a 5 68 8-4. Corn Sales of a few hundred bushels white at 63c; yellow at 65 a 66c. Molasses—Small sales of Trinidad at 23c. Sugar—Sales of 75 boxes Cuba brown at 8 1-2 a 8 3-4c. Hides—Sales of 7000 Buenos Ayres at 12 1-2 c, 6 mos.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, by Rev. J. Prince, Mr. JOHN HINES to Mrs HANNAH D. BOMER, both of Danvers, New Mills.

In Salem, on Wednesday evening, at the Episcopal Church, by Rev Mr. Mason, Mr. BENJAMIN S WHEELER, of this town, to Miss CAROLINE M. LEE, daughter of Wm. Lee, Esq., of Salem.

Mr. JAMES H. LORD to Miss MARIA BENSON. Mr OCEANUS STRAW to Miss ELIZABETH GOODWIN. Mr. THOMAS G. SYMONDS to Miss LAURA A. ANDREWS.

DEATHS.

In Salem, Capt PENN TOWNSEND, aged 73. Mr GEORGE D. LEWIS, aged 23. Mrs. SARAH BURDING, aged 32.

In Boston, Mr P. C. LOUVRIER, formerly of Salem, ag 68.

At Megeville, Mrs LUCY P. TODD, only surviving sister of Mrs Madison.

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday evening, by E. P. WHIPPLE, of Boston. Subject—Wit and Humor.

JORDAN LODGE.

The next regular Meeting of Jordan Lodge will be held on WEDNESDAY Evening, Feb 11th. Brethren of the Order are respectfully invited to attend.

feb 7 N. P. C. PATTERSON, Sec.

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

Meet every Friday evening, at half past six o'clock, in the new Hall, near the South Church, Danvers. Members of the Order generally are respectfully invited to attend. A uniformly punctual attendance of the members is requested.

WM. H. HOWLAND, C. R.

WM. PRICE, Sec. nov 8

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons indebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch.

JOHN NUTTING,
S. D. PENDAR.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845.

GEORGE W. CRAFTS,
ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand. G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb 7

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.

MANNING & SARGENT,

Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,

KEEP constantly on hand and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. C. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

George Southwick,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, innholder, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to JESSE M. SOUTHWICK,

Danvers, February 7th, 1846. Executor.

CHEAP.

A LARGE LOT of Broadcloth, Cassimere, Doeskin and Sattinett PANTS.

Also—an assortment Cloth, Velvet, Cashmere, Satin and Valencia VESTS, are now offered very cheap at EDWARDS'S Clothing Emporium.

feb 7 10 Front Street, Salem.

DR. WARREN ON HEALTH. Physical Education and the Preservation of Health, by John C. Warren, M. D., Professor in Harvard University. Revised and corrected, published in a neat form, price 25c. Just received from the publishers, and for sale at the Bookstore of J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

HARPER'S NEW MISCELLANY. Nos. 6 and 7. Life of Paul Jones, by Mackenzie—with a likeness—2 vols, 50c a volume, bound in cloth. Just published for sale by J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

GOLD AND SILVER PERFORATED PA- A new and very pretty article. Also, a fine assortment of the common Perforated Paper, various colors, coarse and fine—for sale by the sheet or less, at the lowest price—at the Stationery establishment of

feb 7 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

A GOOD AND VERY CHEAP WORK. The Jerusalem Sinner Saved;—The Pharisee and Publican; the Trinity and a Bhristian;—The Law and a Christian;—by John Bunyan—with his Life, by Rev. James Hamilton, England. This is No. 1 of a Series of Works of the Puritan Divines—bound in cloth, 50c a volume.

A fresh supply of Life of Ware, by his brother, with a steel portrait—$1 30.

Hogan on Popery, 75c—The Cricket, by Dickens—Mitchell's Map of Oregon, 75c. Just received at the Bookstore of J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

NEW BOOKS. Warren on the Preservation of Health, second edition.

The Siege of Vienna, a Historical Romance, by Caroline Pichler.

Wild Sports in Europe, Asia, and Africa; by Lt. Colonel E. Napier, (late 46th regiment. For sale by feb 7 W. & S. B. IVES.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25.

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,

which he will sell very low.

feb 7 J. C. FDRRIN.

Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns. Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

NOTICE.

ALL persons having demands against the town of Danvers, are requested to present them before the 20th of February next.

HENRY FOWLER,
Clerk of the Board of Selectmen.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

DR. J. A. ROBINSON.

SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, oposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street, recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf No 9, Washington street.

WANTED—A two story Dwelling House, suitable for a small family. A pleasant situation would be desirable, not more than half a mile from the Unitarian meeting-house. Notice may be given to A. A. ABBOTT, Esq., Danvers. jan 30

BUTTER.

JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by

O. F. BATCHELDER.

Danvers, Jan 30.

SELLING OFF.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambries; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceased, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges:—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for considering said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers, that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate.

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.

jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGATE MERRILL, Guardian.

Danvers, Jan. 10, 1846.

WE, the subscribers, having been duly appointed commissioners, to examine the claims of the creditors to the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, represented insolvent, hereby give notice, that six months from the sixth day of January instant, are allowed said creditors to bring in and prove their claims; and that we shall attend to that service on the last Monday of this and each of the four following months, at 3 o'clock, P. M., at the office of Joseph Shed, Esq., opposite the Monument, in Danvers. JOSEPH SHED, ALFRED A ABBOTT, } Commissioners.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscribers have been duly appointed administrators of the estate of Jonathan Dustin,

late of Salem, in the county of Essex, gentleman, deceased, and have taken upon themselves that trust, by giving bonds as the law directs; all persons having damands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to

HAZEN AYER, or } Administrators.
EBEN SUTTON. }

Salem, Jan. 17, 1846.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street. Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.

Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

HALF A Million Dollars

Worth of Clothing,

TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.

'OAK HALL!'

UNPARALLELLED

In the Annals of History as to prices of

READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!

Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!

FALL CAMPAIGN.

THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.

COUNTRY TRADERS

Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Walls of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,

PROPRIETOR OF THE

Celebrated Clothing Establishment,

"Oak Hall Building!"

32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,

OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.

Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.

☞ REMEMBER ☜

ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,

BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at

C. H. MANNING'S,

Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

AUCTION.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Zebulon Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 105 feet on said street, and about 168 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct., 35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

W. D. JOPLIN,

AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD.

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE.

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS

REFERENCES,

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON " oct 25

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

LITTLEFIELD'S Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 1awtf

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT.

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building, Danvers, March 29th. tf

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf. On Saturday.

The superior fast sailing bark GRANADA, Spooner, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

feb 7

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf. On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet schooner OSCAR, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. feb 7

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf, On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schr HENRY, Paine, master, is now loading, and will will sail as above.

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah. jan 10

Ready Made Clothing,

such as Coats, Pants, Vests etc., which he will sell as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

dec 15 J C FARRIN

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. L. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN, sept 27 291 Essex street Salem.

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

Rockingham Mutual Fire Ins. Co.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT, as Agent of the above Company, will receive applications for Insurance, at his office in Felton's Building, nearly opposite the Monument, Danvers.

Dec. 26th, 1846 4tis,

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts.

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirefy left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E.Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller,
Beverly.. Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.
Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,
A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.
Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NEW ENGLAND TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.
May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. dcc 13

BENJAMIN EDWARDS,
DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.
Also—Neck Stocks. Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.
apr 15 tf

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hsndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davis's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

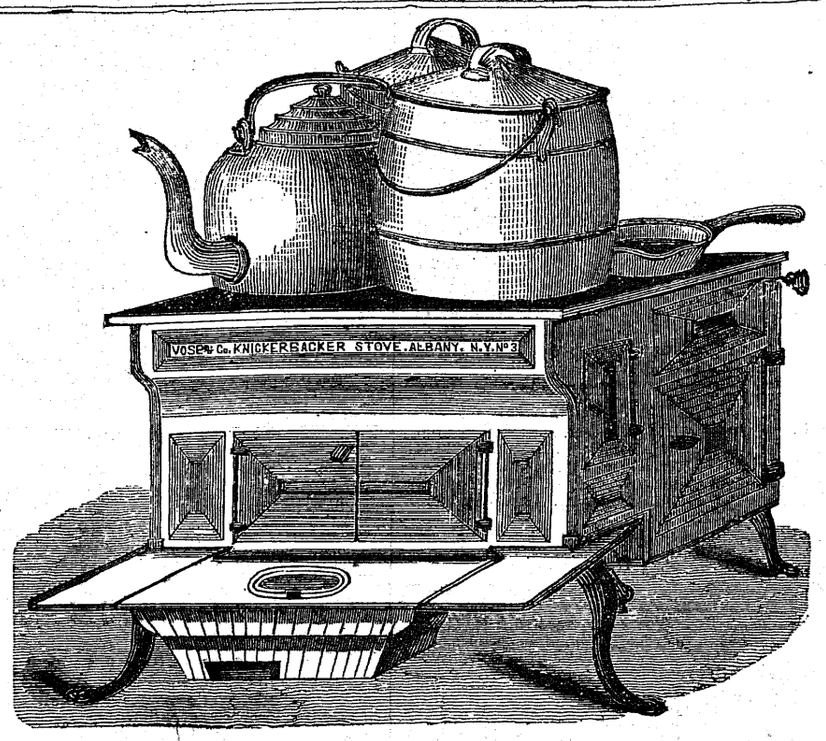
Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.
dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr, Jonathan Ward,



No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21 1845.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store. where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or
READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

ARNEY WILEY,

OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathaway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;
Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas; Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of
Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.
Salem, April 12, 1845.

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

Flour, Corn, Oats, Shorts, &c.

Landing from schr Pioneer,
200 BARRELS Genesee Flour;
20 1-2 do do do
500 bushels Mealing Corn;
500 do Yellow do
500 do Shorts;
20 bbls Pea Beans;
4 bbls Marrowfat Peas;
100 bags Fine Salt;
—Also, in store—
100 bushels Killam Oats, for seed;
100 do Herds Grass Seed;
100 do Red Top do do;
500 do Clover do; (Northern;
For sale by DANIEL RICHARDS,
At the old and well known stand on the Plains.
North Danvers, April 19, 1845.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at thu Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem; by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

EXPLANATIONS; a Sequel to "Vestiges of the Natural History of the Creation,' by the author of that work. Just published and for sale by jan 17 W. & S. B. IVES, Salem.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ. EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.
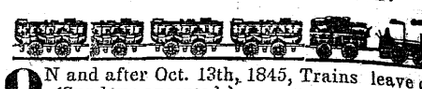
South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.



White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
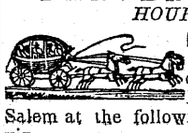
july 12 27 Water street.

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.



ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted,)
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Port and all intermediate places every day.
Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants and on the line of the road at the several Depots
JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will connection with the East Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8
" "	8 3-4		" "	9 1
" "	9 3-4		" "	11
" "	11 1-4		"	12 3
" "	1 3-4	P M.	"	3 P
" "	2 3-4	"	"	4
" "	4 1-2	"	"	5
" "	5 1-2	"	"	6 1
" "	6 1-2	"	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jos G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Ho and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasble terms. SYMONDS & TEE
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Bagga Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sunday cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and N Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attende
Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN
April 19, 1845. 1 v

Great Bargain

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Sale

GARMENTS of all description may be obtai at prices which cannot fail to give entire sa action.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if superior to a y Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as merly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made cording to the wishes of the customer, and will gu antee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR
Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good ass ment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, S Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Tru Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, S and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, m at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesse be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into partnership MICHAEL I. WHIDDEN, they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, un the firm of
OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBL BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch29 1y

DRUGS AND MEDICINES

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicin usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sal the lowest prices, by
DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)
And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinc hoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsa Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; D delion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wa Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompso Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opoc deek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and gen Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plas also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Le Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a va ty of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, C rants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attent to Physician's Recipes.
Danvers, May 31, 1845.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warrant to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 14, 1846. NUMBER 48.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Hunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

[From the Columbian Magazine.]

Wilt Thou Love Her Still.--By C. S.

Wilt thou love her still, when the sunny curls,
That over her bosom flow,
Will be laced with the silver threads of age,
And her step falls sad and slow?
Wilt thou love her still, when the summer's smiles.
On her lips no longer live?
"I will love her still,
With right good will!"
Thou wilt love her still? then our cherished one
To thy sheltering arms we give.

Wilt thou love her still, when her changeful eyes,
Have grown dim with sorrow's rain;
When the bosom that beats against thine own
Throbs slow with the weight of pain;
When her silvery laugh rings out no more,
And vanished her youthful charms?
"With free good will,
I shall love her still!"
Thou wilt love her still? then our dearest one
We give to thy loving arms.

Remember, no grief has she ever known,
Her spirit is light and free;
None other, with falterless step, has prest
Its innermost shades, but THEE!
Then, wilt love her still, when the thought of youth
In their blushing bloom depart?
"Through good and ill,
I will love her still!"
Thou wilt love her still? then our darling take
To the joy of thy noble heart!

Remember, for THEE does she willing leave
The friends of her early days—
No longer to meet their approving looks,
Nor their fond, unfeigned praise.
Forgive her, then, if the tears fall fast,
And promise to love her well.
"I will love her still,
With right good will!"
Thou wilt love her still, then with peaceful trust
We our sobbing sorrow quell.

When her father is dead, and the emerald sod
Lies soft on her mother's breast;
When her brother's voice is no longer heard,
And her sister's hushed to rest—
Wilt thou love her still? for to thee she looks,
Her star on life's troubled sea!
"I will love her still,
Through good and ill!"
With the marriage vow on her youthful lip,
Then, we give our child to thee!

COMMUNICATION.

Journal and Letters from Cuba.

Continuation.

Thursday, Nov 13. For breakfast we have had new milk and bread, as yesterday. The milk has to be boiled to keep it through the day. I went ashore and loafed about two or three hours. The roads here are very bad, mere receptacles for rubbish. The heavy trucks do not improve them and the only travel besides is upon mules and horses which of course makes them worse. There seems to be little walking except on business, and you scarcely meet any but negroes, often boys and girls with baskets or barrels on their heads. I have seen but one Spanish lady in the street; she was apparently 14 or 15 years of age and as she tripped along with a shawl thrown loosely over her shoulders, bare-headed and with a parasol in her hand, I thought she looked quite pretty. The little horses look very funny with their burdens slung over their backs, and perhaps a couple of black boys or girls beside. They are ugly looking animals but seem to be very serviceable. The mule is a much prettier beast. Their harnesses are all made of ropes tied together, and the saddles are usually nothing but bags of straw or palm leaf. As I was walking in the cocoa nut grove I happened to think of the sensitive plant and I determined to hunt for it. As I went along I kicked against every plant having similar leaves and very soon detected the shrinking plant. It grows about a foot or two from the ground and was in bloom with a head of little pink flowers.—I took a specimen to press and send home. I have found many beautiful flowers, but some I have reason to believe are poisonous; and plenty of serpents and lizards with one chameleon, are among the new sights to day. I have taken from life a rough sketch of a cocoa nut tree to send home.

Friday, Nov. 14. This morning Capt. M. could not get our milk and bread from the shore in very good season, so Mrs. M., Miss H. A. and I delayed our breakfast until it came. They do nothing here until about 8 o'clock, as the Mansanilla people do not breakfast till 9 or 10, and have but one other meal, at about 3 in the afternoon. In addition, however, they sip a cup of coffee mornings and evenings. All the fresh water used here except rain water, is brought on horses from the river and sold for fourpence a keg. I am afraid I shall not be ready to make my arrangements for leaving the vessel tomorrow as I hoped, and to spend the Sabbath on shore. By the way, there is to be a Circus on shore Sunday evening.

This afternoon a boat load of soldiers went on board the English bark which lies near us, and returned with three of the crew who were put in jail. There was some mutinous conduct among the men and it is pretty certain that both the officers and crew were drunk. Even Capt. Williams allows that their men are often so and he thinks our crews are much better. I am very glad that American seamen bear so good a character.

Saturday, Nov. 15. Two Spanish vessels arrived here to day, one of them with her colors at half mast, showing that death had been among her crew. Most of the vessels here now are Spanish, two of them built and owned at Mansanilla, and two English and two American making 10 or 12 in all. I have not been ashore to day.—Some of our little company went ashore and visited the circus in company with some of the Spanish residents. The circus came from the States and has four male performers and one female.—It is said not to be equal to those they have seen n Salem. There were nearly 2000 people present, about a dozen of the females wearing bonnets, which are just coming in use here. The exhibition was in an enclosure open at the top.

Sunday, Nov. 16. A holiday seems now to have come. Most of the crew went on shore to spend the day. At Mansanilla of course the day has been set apart for dinner parties, gunning, riding horse-back, &c. We have had a good many on board and some to dine with us. This afternoon the steamboat arrived which was due yesterday. She had on board 50 or 60 negro slaves to work in the new copper mines, 30 or 40 miles back in the country. The boat soon started off again for St. Jago. It is a very good looking boat, American built, with English engineers.

A Mr. Miller has been on board to day, and I have been delighted to learn that I can probably get a place with him. He lives back in the country about two miles and I can have a room, plenty of milk, and a horse when I want one at a slight charge. The river, a first rate place to bathe, is about a mile off. The place is on the road to Bayamo, a considerable city in the interior, and there is considerable passing. Further I know not, but I am to go ashore in the morning and Mr. M. is to be ready at the wharf with an extra horse and I am to try to ride up to his house and see it.

Monday, Nov. 17. This morning Mr. Miller came aboard and took breakfast with us. He is a man of about 50 and came from England when about 12 years old. He speaks English rather incorrectly and often misunderstands what I say, but we make out very well and it will be so much better than where they understand no English.—Soon after breakfast we went ashore and I mounted my horse, and rode through town behind him to the house where his wife now lives and put his horse up. Mr. M. has been a famous cigar manufacturer and the "John Miller brand" has obtained considerable celebrity. A few years ago he removed to his present place to keep a little store, leaving his wife and two slaves in town.—We stopped there a few minutes and then started off for my future home. Only think of my riding horse-back—a pretty figure I must have cut. My horse was a pretty good one but the road is abominable, though the scenery as I rode along was most beautiful. We did not go very fast and I enjoyed the ride very much and arrived at the place about 10 o'clock. I forgot to say that my trunks and all but my bed and bedding and chair were brought ashore with me, the surface of the trunks just glanced at by the custom house officers and then they were carried to Capt. Raymond's store.

I will now try and describe the place where I reside. The house is situated on a corner where the road to the river leaves the main road to Bayamo from Mansanilla. The main road runs in about the same direction as our Main street, our house being situated on the eastern corner of Grove street, Bayamo being in the direction to Salem and Mansanilla towards Danvers, while Grove street represents the road to the river.—There is a pleasant yard about the house and an arbor covered with leaves so that we may sit out of doors and yet be sheltered from the sun.—There are three houses quite near us, one beyond, one just behind us, and the house of Senor Joseph the butcher, opposite. The shop is in front of our bedroom and is rather small, containing a small stock of goods, crockery, rice, tea, coffee, and a little grog in the corner. The bedroom and store are floored with brick but the only floor in the other parts of the house is the ground. There are but two windows in the house, doors being the almost universal substitute. It is the custom here to keep the doors open during the day and evening and to close them at night. The walls outside and inside are whitewashed. The houses are constructed for a warm climate, and although this is so simple, it is on the whole as good as the average. I took my dinner at 12, of bread and milk that Mr. Miller brought from town. The milk was good and the bread the nicest I ever eat. It is in the shape of our rolls, some being larger and some smaller. They sell two of the larger or three of the smaller for 10 cents or ninepence.—It is much lighter and whiter than ours. There is a high duty on flour here which makes it cost twice as much. Milk is about ten cents for three pints but it is very little used here. I have walked a little distance on the road towards Bayamo and towards the river. I found it very pleasant but the sun was too hot and I came back pretty tired. There is a young man with a double hare-lip, a mulatto, who tends in our store, goes errands, &c. We have been able to hold a little conversation in monosylables about the things in the store, &c. By the way, I omitted to mention that there is a pig fastened by a chain in the back yard, and a dozen fowls or more. There is also a paroquette in the house. He talks a little but of course in Spanish which is all Greek to me. The paroquette is prettier than the parrot, having more varied colors and a long graceful tail but he does not learn to talk so easily.

In the course of the afternoon another young man came in, whom I have since found to be one of Mr. Miller's assistants, and he seems to be a very pleasant fellow. I expected Mr. M. back early with my things and it was rather tedious waiting with no one to talk to and not a book or even a newspaper to read. There has been considerable passing here to day. I should think I had seen 30 or 40 horsemen this afternoon. Some stop here to light a cigar or get a glass of grog or buy some other little article.

My supper of course was of bread and milk which latter article has kept through the day after being trudged three miles on horse-back without turning sour. Generally, however, it has to be boiled to keep.

I spent the evening in the shop and there were many callers, all of whom had to inquire who the young 'Senor' was. One gentleman got off from his horse, unstrapped his sword and laid it down and prepared to pass the night here. He and the others had quite a talk upon the universality of the notes in music, do, ra, mi, &c. and the numerals 1, 2, 3, &c. in arithmetic. I was called upon to take part and show that the English use the same notes and figures as other nations. The gentleman asked me who first conceived the idea of written figures, but I could not tell, neither could the others. I rather doubt if anybody knows who the individual was, perhaps some Arab.

Tuesday, Nov. 18. I slept pretty well last night but I waked rather early. The fleas made me restless but on the whole I have not found thus far the insects so troublesome as I was led to expect. The musquitoes are about as great a pest as they are at home in summer. These and the fleas are the only insects that have troubled me at all.

Soon after breakfast we got our horses ready to go to Mansanilla for my things. In half an hour we arrived in town and found the jolly boat of the Nereus at the wharf, where we met our Captain who was just going on board. We stepped in with him and were soon on the quarter deck of the brig. I was quite glad to meet my old companions Mrs. M. and Miss H. A., from whom it seemed as if I had been gone a week. We dined on board and made quite a good meal. Did I tell you that one day on board the brig we had cucumbers, water-melons and musk-melons fresh from the vines? So we did, to say nothing of our own fruits, and I wished that I could send some to you as fresh, they would be such a luxury at this season.

In the afternoon we went ashore and while Mr. Miller was absent in town I went to the beach to pick up a few shells and bits of coral for the children, but the sun was so hot I was obliged to return without having picked up many of any kind. We started to go back just before sunset and had a most delightful ride with a cool refreshing breeze. I found my milk all spoiled but it has been a very warm day. I was obliged to substitute tea for it. This time, also, we failed in getting any conveyance for my baggage.

Wednesday, Nov. 19. To day I had my milk boiled so as not to risk a disappointment like that last night of losing my supper. I have staid at home all day reading in the Spanish reader and strolling about. In the afternoon my things were sgain sent for and came at about 8 o'clock. I was right glad to put on clean clothes and fit up my bed in a comfortable style. My rocking chair came, too, which gives me a much more comfortable seat.

Thursday, Nov. 20. I have not had such a nice and comfortable bed since I left home as I had last night. This morning I have spent in packing my things more conveniently in my trunks. This afternoon I took another horse of Senor Joseph which I like better than the other, and rode down to the river with the hare-lip man. It is a very pleasant road, mostly through groves of palmettos of which there are many behind our house. The river is about as large as that above Fry's mill pond, but the current is much swifter. So the water is not very clear though it is perfectly sweet and good. All the water used in town and for some distance around, is carried on horse-back from this one place. All the washing too is done here, and it is a strange sight to see 30 or 40 negro women almost naked, on the sand by their heaps of clothes, beating them with a kind of paddle. I found the bathing quite a luxury.—They get the water in two carboys such as those used for vitriol, one being fixed on each side of the horse. In the afternoon I went over to Senor Joseph's to sketch Mr. Miller's house for you. As soon as his folks suspected what I was about, they brought me a chair and a table with a cloth as nice as could be. There was so little to draw that it did not take me long.

Friday, Nov. 21. As the brig is to sail in a day or two I must get my things to send home, on board tomorrow. I shall send two or three cocoa nuts and some fruit but I am afraid it will not keep. As to fresh fruit we have oranges, sweet limes, bananas, plantains, jack fruit and others whose names I do not know. Under this tropical zone I have got much tanned and can hardly be called a white man. I have been somewhat disappointed in not having heard from home as yet. There are chances to send me once a month by the vessels that trade regularly at this port, and occasional opportunities at other times. I forgot to tell you that at this season oranges are plenty and may be had at two for a cent and cheaper by the quantity. This goes by the Nereus and I must bid good-bye to my late companions of our voyage.

MISCELLANY.

Marrying a Mechanic.

A TALE OF OLDEN TIME.

Old Esquire Phillips sat in his great arm chair looking into the fire as intently as though the white ashes that slowly gathered on the wood, and occasionally slipped off, leaving some fantastic figure traced on the red ground of the bright coal had seme important meaning treasured in the strange hieroglyphic that was thus unconsciously traced. Near him sat his only daughter, a fair girl of eighteen, in her well laced stays, long bodice, and ample hooped skirt, employed on some fine embroidery, designed to grace the cushion of a fine set of cherry framed chairs, made after a pattern very similar to those now in vogue, save that the needlework of our great grandmother supplied the place of the shining haircloth.—At her feet lay a large gray cat, which she occasionally stopped to caress, as she did so, she never failed to steal a glance at the kind, but unusually serious visage of her father.

The room in which they were seated was furnished plainly but substantially, and the uncarpeted floor looked as white as hands could make it, where it had escaped the sprinkling of sand that Phillis, the colored servant, had presided over every department of household labor, was sure to bestow in generous profusion. A small round table stood in the centre of the room, on which was a set of blue China tea cups, little larger than those which now grace "the doll's cupboard," a platter of cold boiled beef and vegetables, a plate of brown bread, and a bowl of smoking bean porridge. Phillis was busy in making the necessary arrangements, and had taken down the teapot from the shelf, when Mr Phillips turned round and insisted that, as Mrs Phillips would not be at home tea should not be admitted. He seldom drank it, and he intended that Fanny should not cure herself of the indulgence.

Fanny looked up at the emphatic "now," and a deep crimson overshadowed her whole face as she encountered the penetrating gaze of her father.—Phillis's announcement that supper was ready, relieved her embarrassment for a moment, as she busied herself in putting away her balls of crewell; but when she seated herself at the table, opposite her father, and saw, or rather felt, the same earnest glance turned on her, she found herself, from some unaccountable cause, so embarrassed that she could not swallow a mouthful of the substantial supper that he was discussing with such evident relish.

"What! no supper to-night, Fanny, for want of tea?" quoth the old man, half seriously and half playfully. "I'm thinking, my child, that you will do well to take lessons in self-denial while they are easier learned that when enforced by necessity.

Fanny looked up with an expression of childish wonder, and innocently enquired why it should be necessary to take such lessons. "But," she added with unfeigned sincerity, "it was not the tea, father, indeed it was not that which took away my appetite."

'Perhaps not, my dear girl,' said the old gentle man, tenderly; 'but I had reason for insisting that you should learn to practice self-denial, and I thought this a convenient opportunity to explain

Fanny looked up timidly, but did not speak.—After a long pause, her father kindly said—

"I suppose you gave Charles permission to talk with me upon a certain subject—did you not?"

Fanny colored stilled deeper than before, and, as she was speechless, the old man considered the silence a tacit acknowledgement.

"Well," continued he, 'do you think that I could give my consent to such a marriage, Fanny.'

'And why not, dear father?' faintly faltered the young girl, turning suddenly as pale as she had been red a few minutes before. 'Is not Charles as steady, industrious and respectable as any young man in the parish? Indeed, dear father, I thought you approved of him, or—'

'You would not have loved him,' added Esq. Phillips, filling out the sentence that she lacked words to complete.

'I hardly meant to say that,' quivered th white lips of poor Fanny, 'for I don't think e could help loving him; but I could not of thought of marrying him.'

'My dear child, I do love and approve of Charles Lawton, for I think he is one of the finest young men that I ever knew; but, my dear, do you think I would do such a man as he is, the injustice to sanction his marriage with such a woman as you are likely to be? He is worthy of a better wife.'

The great drops stood in Fanny's blue eyes as she turned her face away for a moment, and then brushing them away with her checked handkerchief, she ventured to say—

'Father, If love, true and unchanging, can make a man happy, I can certainly make Charles so; for I know that I can love him, even in the deepest poverty, and he knows it too. He knows that I might have married a rich merchant, or a lawyer either, if I had chosen, instead of a mechanic who had nothing but his own honest industry to rely on.'

'My child,' said the old man, with evident emotion, 'I do not doubt that you think you love Charles, and could love him under any circumstances, but think a moment of your qualifications to become the wife of a poor man. What could you do to make his home comfortable, and to assist him in acquiring a competence? I see that we have periled your happiness by bringing you up as we have done; but I cannot consent that a young man of Charles Lawton's prospects should be ruined by marrying a wife who could not even make bread.'

'But,' said the ignorant child, 'that would not be much; of course we should have a servant, and she would know how to do all such work. No gentlewoman thinks it necessary to do that.—I suppose mother knows how to do all kinds of work, but I never saw her make bread. Surely that can not be a serious objection.'

'A servant of course,' sighed the old man. 'I see how it is, Fanny; you have very little idea of life, much less of the high import of love.—Love seeketh not its own interest and ease, but the happiness of others. If you love Charles consistently, you would seek to advance his interest in every possible way. You would not say we shall have a servant of course, when your own cheerful, well applied strength would be sufficient to discharge all the labor that your small family would at first require And then think how much pleasanter it would be to a young husband to sit down to the neat and well prepared meal, furnished with the hands of his own wife, than to eat the careless cooking of a servant. I assure you Fanny, that a young mechanic, just setting out in business for himself, will not be able to hire a servant, support her wastefulness, and the idleness and extravagance of a fashionable woman, and at the same time be an honest man. If he supports such a style of living, it must be at the expense of his honesty—yes, my child, of his very soul's salvation; for a dishonest man can not be a Christian. Now do you think I would suffer you to become such a snare to Charles? No!—I would sooner cut off my right hand, or pluck out my right eye.'

The old man's voice was indicative of so much earnestness, and his face was so serious in its expression, that Fanny, for some moments, sa speechlesss. But at last, affection prevailed over timidity, and she began once more to plead, if not for herself, at least for Charles. She was sure it would break his heart, were her father to refuse his consent to their marriage.

But still the old man seemed inexorable. He declared a broken heart to be far better than a violated conscience; and he was sure Fanny could not be other than a temptation to evil, with her present ideas of life, and her acquired capacities for the discharge of its duties. Thinking she might imagine that he could be induced to furnish them the means of living in indolence and ease, that he feared, she regarded as desirable, he told her that it would be a violation of long established principles for him to furnish a child, even an only child, with the means of living without labor.

'God,' said he, 'gave you capacity to labor, and that capacity implies a design that you should.—I know that your mother has spared no pains to teach you every branch of needlework, and I am proud to wear the shirts that you made; but her feeble health has prevented her teaching you the equally important arts of the kitchen. The reluctance she has felt to place you in the immediate society of Phillis, has prevented her insisting upon your acquiring the necessary knowledge of a housewife; and till now, we have not realized that you were utterly unfit to become the rational companion of a worthy, but poor and industrious man. I truly value your happiness, and I am satisfied that it would be greatly promoted by your marriage with Charles, were you qualified to fill the station that God designed a wife to fill; but I cannot, I repeat, consent that you should be instrumental in the ruin of one I so highly prize. Were I to waste upon you the property which God has intrusted to me for a higher purpose than selfish gratification, I should do you a lasting injury, for you would be tempted by it to live in idleness and extravagance, and at the same time, I should be robbing God. Dear as you are to me I cannot give my consent that you should marry Charles, save on one condition.

'Name it,' cried Fanny eagerly, as she began to breathe more freely, and the color once more rose to her cheeks.

I fear,' said her father, 'you will think it a hard condition, but remember it is the only one.'

'Tell me, dear father, and see if love does not make it easy.'

'It will try the strength of your regard,' said the old gentleman, less solemnly than he had before spoken. 'It is on condition that you bind yourself apprentice to Phillis, and serve under her till she gives you an honorable discharge as an accomplished housewife, that I consent to your union with Charles Lawton. Will you comply with the terms, Fanny?'

Fanny looked up hopefully, and courageously said, 'I'll try, father.' The old man rose from the table and imprinted a kiss on the cheeks of his child, telling her to be ready to take lessons on the following day. He then took his hat and walking stick, and went to escort his loving wife home from the house of a sick friend, and Fanny was left to arrange her plans for the morrow.

Poor girl! she little dreamed that love was to cost her such self denying labors; but it helped to lighten them in realty, as well as to make them less formidable in anticipation. On the following morning Fanny was up at betimes, and arrayed in a suit of garments that well befitted 'a maid of all work.' Esq Phillips declared he had never seen her look so neatly in any other dress, and old Phillis grinned and tittered when he introduced her to the kitchen, and told her she was to be entirely under her direction till she thought her fit for a house-keeper.

It was baking day. After showing her ignorance in various ways, much to the amusement of the shrewd servant, the bread was at last prepared for the oven. It was designed to bake it without pans, as was then the custom, and it constituted no small share of the baker's skill to be able to toss the loaves into the the oven handsomely with a great wooden bread shovel.

'Now, missy,' said Phillis, 'wet the bread shovel so the loaves will slide off easy.'

Fanny wet the shovel, place a loaf upon it, and made the attempt to land it at the backside of the oven. Of course it did not go as directed, but a part fell in the middle of the oven and the rest stuck to the shovel.

'Te-he-he.' burst from Phillis. 'Guess the silly girl won't wet it again.'

Poor Fanny! her face looked red enough to bake the bread, but as she knew it would be quite useless to resent the trick that Phillis had played so successfully upon her, she only asked what was to be done next.

'Take a knife and scrape the shovel, and when you have washed it clean and dried it, then put on dry flour; guess missy find it won't stick.'

The docile girl obeyed, and succeeded so well that Phillis condescended to praise her. But this was not the only lesson taught her by some luckless disaster, and the wet bread shovel was frequently a source of no small amusement to the faithful servant. But in spite of blistered fingers sprained wrists and tired feet, she persevered till Phillis gave her a diploma, and she received her degree as housekeeper.

I shall not tell how frequently Charles looked in at the kitchen when business called him by the door, nor how many times he praised her beauty in her long checked apron, nor how often he told her that he considered this the surest proof of her disinterested love, because that is a matter that does not concern strangers. But I will tell you that she made him such a wife that he was not always a poor man, and that she never tempted him from his integrity by her extravagances.—When the King of England offered him a commission, he declared he would not dirty his pockets with it, and his wife never grudged the tea that was given to the fishes in Boston harbor. He became a man who was looked up to by his neighbors as an umpire in all differences, and a model for all to follow who sought to be useful and happy. And Fanny, to her latest years, was the cheerful, light-hearted wife and friend that her knowledge of business promised, being never annoyed by those luckless failures that young housekeepers are wont to suffer, and she often, in old age, related to her children and grand children, the history of her first baking of bread.

H. M. T

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB 14, 1846.

Enlarging the Union.

An insatiate desire for territory seems to have seized upon our citizens, and all eyes are anxiously turned to see what promised land is next to come under the protection of our stars and stripes. Texas has rode into the Union on the shoulders of an excitement for extension of territory, and hardly is the "lone star" Republic glimmering in the galaxy, before Oregon is turned to as a country of immense importance, and all the energies of the Government and people are directed to effect its annexation. Cuba is plainly discernible in the perspective, and but a little in the back ground California sits in attractive grandeur.—Extension of territory is the great and absorbing subject. Not content with adding States as they sprung up in the territories belonging to the Union, the public attention has been turned to foreign acquisition. Demagogues have trumpeted in our ears, that all north of the Gulf of Mexico is destined to become one mighty Union; and next, that the whole continent would be the limit of our empire. Extend the Union, is now the political battle cry, and the great mass of the people follow furiously at the call. It carries with it to the minds of many the idea of increased strength and resources, to others it has charms from the benefits to be conferred on the country admitted. Reasons are not wanting to convince the people of the immense advantages of increased territory. This enthusiam is increasing, and we can hardly doubt but that it will have more effect than anything else in determining the result of the next Presidential election. But notwithstanding the plausible pretexts for the extension of territory, we can but regard every advance toward it, with the greatest alarm. Instead of strengthening our Union, every foreign State admitted makes it weaker. The nine original States with their handful of citizens were able to triumphantly withstand the formidable power of Great Britain, through a long and tedious war. We were then 'strong enough for any force the enemy could send against us.' We were strong in our intelligence, our patriotism, our love of liberty. The United States was a glorious embodiment of Liberty, growing up the pride and admiration of the world. On the same territory we have increased with unprecedented rapidity, and our intelligence has at least kept pace with our increase. But by the extension of territory we are becoming overshadowed, and the noble traits which distinguished our fathers, are fast becoming extinct. We are admitting into our Union people of different dispositions and of different character. The family circle of States in which each recognized the others as warm and familiar brothers, wears now a cold and jealous aspect. Strangers are adopted into the family, and the ancient cordiality and familiar freedom is dismissed. We are fast losing our identity. We are fast becoming as it were a different people. Every new State added, stamps the character of its citizens upon our government. The control of the Union is fast passing into the hands of strangers, and unless we awake from our morbid stupidity all may pass like a dream, and history shall speak of our Union, as of the ancient republics—it was, but it is not. Let the people consider what will be for the true interest of the States already in, and use extreme caution in admitting more. If war shall not ensue from the consummation of our present ambitious project, it will be fortunate. Let those who love the Union unite in its support. Let those who love it in the nobleness and purity with which it was transmitted to us by our ancestors, protest, solemnly protest, against its extension.

The License Law Case.

We have just seen a letter from Mr. Huntington, dated Washington, Feb. 10, in which he says in reference to the License case, "I fear I may be detained here some ten days yet. Business proceeds very slowly here and several cases are still before ours." He also adds: "Mr. Choate made a most powerful and eloquent argument on the Rhode Island boundary question. Mr. Webster concluded for Massachusetts yesterday, and Mr. Whipple is now closing for Rhode Island.—The House of Representatives passed by a very large majority the notice resolution, yesterday, as you will see by the papers. I believe this threatening controversy will still be settled by negociation, and I hope shortly."

Temperance Meeting.

The Address of Mr PIKE before the Unity Division S. of T. at the Methodist Church is well spoken of by those who attended. There was a good audience but there would have been more had not the meeting been unfortunately appointed the same evening as the Lyceum.

POPULATION OF DANVERS.

By the annual return of the number of scholars in this town last year, as compared with that of 1840, the population of Danvers must now be about 7000. A comparison of the increase of taxable polls for the last few years shows a result approximating to that of the school Census.

The Leather and Shoe business.

It appears to us that there are unmistakeable indications that the depression that has so long hung over the business of the manufacturers of the great staple of Leather, is about to give way to improvement and that those who have so long waited in hope of a brighter sky will at length witness the dissipation of those clouds which have so obscured the prospect of the future. The great law of supply and demand of itself is to have its effect in bringing about the wished for change, as it is unquestionable that at the present moment and for some time past the consumption of both shoes and leather is greater than the supply, and that of both these articles there is a smaller stock than a year ago while there is at the same time an increase of consumers. It is also a fact that during the downward tendency of the price of leather or any other article the purchaser buys always sparingly in anticipation of obtaining his article cheaper the next time he wants.—In a rising market the reverse is always the case, and at the first turn of the tide purchasers will find their stocks small and will take more goods in anticipation of a rise in their value.

Besides the operation of this great and sure law of business, there are other reasons why we may expect bettet prices for our staple article. The great outlet for the supply of hides from South America is closed for an indefinite period and even if it should be opened the population of that distracted country are so engaged in wars that it will be a long time before the world is to be supplied with this article so fully as it has been. In Europe which has had a large supply from South America the raw article is improving in price, and our market will soon feel the effects of an increased demand on the other side of the water.

Mr. King's Eulogy

This Address delivered on the occasion of the death of Gen. Foster, is just issued from the press and with the Notes and Appendix makes a handsome octavo pamphlet of 32 pages. The Eulogy, so appropriate to the solemn occasion that called it forth and so just to the character of the venerable man whose virtues it commemorates needs no commendation from us. Besides the Eulogy, the pamphlet contains historical matter connected with the Revolutionary period, interesting in a high degree to every inhabitant of Danvers. In the Notes and Appendix, among other matter may be found Addresses delivered by the General on various occasions, several never before published; an account of the celebration at the laying of the corner stone of the Monument; account of Col. Leslie's defeat at North Bridge; extract from the Address of Rev. Mr Sargent; Dr. Nichol's account of Gen. Foster's last illness, and a variety of information relating to the part taken by citizens of Danvers in the Revolutionary struggle and the wars of the colonies.

We learn that the book may be had at several of the stores in town, and that the profits of the sale will be applied to the benefit of the widow of Gen. Foster. We hope our citizens will take care to supply themselves early with copies before the edition is disposed of.

THE OREGON CORRESPONDENCE.

In the late publication of correspondence between our Secretary of State and the British Minister, the latter proposes to settle the question by arbitration either by crowned heads or eminent civilians. This reasonable offer is declined by our government and the claim is advanced for the whole territory. If we take the result of this correspondence in connection with the terms of the notice to Great Britain just passed by the House which repudiates compromise but professes a desire to negociate, we are more and more confirmed in the opinion we have before advanced that it is the object of this administration to barter away the protective policy of the government for the British claim to Oregon. We think the forthcoming Report from Mr Secretary Walker may be the "shadow before" this "coming event."

☞The house of Mr Israel Adams at the North Parish, caught fire on Wednesday night last, but by the deliberate and admirable management of Mr A. and the timely arrival of the Tapleyville Engine it was soon subdued.

Vaccination.

It is not our wish to excite unnecessary alarm on account of the prevalence of the Small Pox in Boston and other places, but the intercourse is so common between our citizens and those of that city and the contagion is so easily spread, that we deem it but the dictate of ordinary prudence to recommend to those families whose members have not all been vaccinated, to resort at once to this easy and safe preventative against this loathsome disease. We learn that there are cases of Small Pox in Marblehead and Lynn, and our hope is to prevent its nearer approach by the only safe method and one which is within the reach of all. We do not know whether our town authorities have made provision for the expense of vaccinating those whose poverty would be likely to deter them from using the proper remedy, but the heavy bill of expense to the town lately incurred by a few cases of this disease seems to make it a measure of economy to do every thing that can reasonably be done to keep off the pestilence.

Would it not be well to institute some enquiry through the public schools or by some other mode, how far vaccination has been adopted or neglected, and call the attention of heads of families to ts importance.

FOR THE COURIER.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

Mr. Courier—As the time is near at hand for the election of a Register of Deeds for the ensuing term of five years, you will confer a favor on many voters by offering to the public as a candidate, the name of

JONATHAN SHOVE,

as one every way fitted to perform to the acceptance of the citizens of the County the duties belonging to this office. The present incumbent has held the situation fifteen years, and this fact of itself will be regarded by many as an important reason why a change should be made.

Sagacious Rats.

We have heard a story related of the depredations of these mischievous vermin, the circumstances of which happened in this town, in a small retail shop. There were two boxes of crackers, one soft and the other hard, on a shelf about two feet from the floor. These boxes were filled one day and partly covered, and the next day the one containing the soft crackers was found to be entirely empty. No clue could be discovered as to the mysterious disappearance until upon looking into an obscure closet connected with another room, where the missing food was found nicely piled up in a corner, some partly gnawed and others with no marks of damage about them. The pilferers must have carried them all (nearly half a bushel) through the shop and an adjoining room into the closet and then through a narrow passage just wide enough for one to squeze through at a time to reach their hoard. The great mystery of the transaction is how they lowered down the soft crackers from the shelf to the floor without breaking, as there were no fragments on the floor or on their track to the closet which would have been the case if they were dropped from the shelf. We have no doubt of the truth of this story, as we have it from one on whose veracity we can rely and who was knowing to the circumstances.

One Price System.

Every person who has had occasion to purchase almost any article for domestic or mechanical purposes, must have been convinced of the rottenness and dishonesty of the present system of trade as carried on by the majority of our shop-keepers. We mean the practice of overcharging or rather of fixing upon all articles two prices, viz: an asking price, (which it is not supposed will be given by any person of shrewdness,) and the real value, or that which is expected to be obtained. We are aware of the causes which have operated to bring about this state of things, and among the most effectual has been the practice of some buyers of universally disputing with the seller the value of the article offered for sale, and of attempting to "beat down" the price however reasonable; still, we cannot conceive of any code of honesty or morals which will justify the dealer in laying for the unsuspecting purchaser a snare of this kind; and it seems to us to be the duty of every person who has at heart the welfare and happiness of society to discountenance in every form this corrupt and unnecessary system of traffic. We have been led to these remarks more particularly at this time by the advertisement of Mr. Edwards, (which will be found in another column,) who, it will be seen, has adopted the "one price cash system" which we trust will give general satisfaction to his numerous customers, and induce many more to visit his "Clothing Emporium."

Steam Factory.

We learn from the Haverhill Gazette, that a paper is in circulation for the purpose of obtaining subscriptions to the stock in a Steam Factory to be located in that town.

TITLE TO OREGON. The Boston Atlas publishes a very interesting article from the London Athenæum, written by M. Duffot de Mofras, a celebrated Frenchman who himself made a personal exploration of Oregon and the Californias, and who professes to be perfectly familiar with the whole course of diplomacy in reference to Oregon; and who is at the same time, deeply prejudiced against England and English Institutions. He denies the right of this country to any portion of Oregon, and declares that England has "an absolute and exclusive right to the possession of the whole territory in dispute."

The Co-operation of Parents solicited by the Teacher of their children.

We have received an Educational Tract of eight pages with the above title which is one of a series to be issued, by some friends of Education to awaken the public mind to this important subject. This Tract bears internal evidence of being the production of one of the Salem teachers, but who has his residence in this town. It treats of a subject too much neglected, and which may bear the same relation to parents, that the address to the people has, in the services of an ordination. It is time for the public to understand that there are duties on both sides, and that the parent has a part to perform as well as the teacher, and that the latter must be encouraged and aided by the co-operation of the former, to enable him to effect the greatest good in his sphere of duty.

We should think that short tracts of a similar character, were calculated to do a great deal of good if generally circulated abroad in the community.

CANDLEMAS DAY. To day, Feb. 14th is "Candlemas Day," considered in England the half way place between the corn and hay harvests, agreeably to the old proverb:—

Just half your corn and half your hay
Should be in the barn on Candlemas day.

Review of the Reports of the Annual Visiting Committees of the Public Schools of the city of Boston for 1845.

We have just perused a pamphlet of the above title. It is one of the most caustic and severe reviews we have ever read. The reports which it examines we regarded at the time of their publication as written with much prejudice and bad feeling towards the teachers. It seemed too much as it the committee were taking up the cudgel for Horace Mann and carrying out his personal resentments. That Mr. Mann has done much for the cause of Education generally in this state cannot be disputed. But the venom and persecuting spirit he has shown since the Boston Schoolmasters have found cause to disagree with him in some essential particulars cannot be too much deprecated. He has shown a disposition which utterly disqualifies him for the responsibilities of his station. It is our opinion Mr. Mann overstepped the bounds of his office, when he undertook to dictate to teachers in matters in which they from their experience had better knowledge of than himself; and particularly that the course he was pursuing had a tendency to degrade the teacher's profession.

In regard to the examination, the reports, of which the above named pamphlet is a review, no one can doubt but that Mr. Mann at the least suggested the manner of it. It all seemed designed to perplex the pupils, and cast blame upon the teachers. Questions were previously prepared of a difficult and unusual character, most of which probably the learned committee themselves could not have answered properly. We will give a short extract from the Review in regard to the words given for the pupils to define.

*

But the most curious paper, "privately prepared and printed," was, "a list of words to be defined." The lexicographer who prepared this vocabulary, will find it for his reputation to keep the secret of his authorship to the day of his death Examine the list, ye who have received but a good English education, suppose yourselves seated before a blank sheet of paper, beyond reach of a dictionary, under the eye of a waiting Committee, and required to expound each of the twenty-eight words in two minutes; how many could you define? This is the list. "Monotony, Convocation, Bifurcation, Panegyric, Vicegerent, Esplanade, Preternatural, Forum, Importunate, Evanescence, Infatuated, Kirk, Connoisseur, Dormant, Aerial, Sphinx, Rosemary, Thanatopsis, Monody, Anthology, Pother, Misnomer, Zoonomia, Hallucination, Machiavelli, Madrigals, Hades." Be aware, that it is a very different thing to apprehend the meaning of a word, when seen in its connection, from defining it with precision when presented alone. Remember that though the Committee selected this list from the reading-book used in the Boston schools,—the children were not permitted to refer to the places in which these words occur, to refresh their apprehension of the meaning of them. They received them as they are given here—stripped of all association which might help remembrance of their use. I mean no disparagement to the Boston School Committee, when I say that they cannot define a list of words, corresponding in difficulty with that before us, so as to afford a greater number of correct interpretations than were given by the scholars. on the list submitted to them. There might be more discretion to deter them from attempting an answer, when they were consciously ignorant; but a larger proportion of intelligent, and approximate definitions could not be expected from a promiscuous Committee of twenty well educated men?

RAILROAD MEETING AT LYNN.

At a legal meeting of the inhabitants of the town of Lynn, held on the 11th inst., the following Votes and Resolutions were passed, viz:—

Voted, That a Committee of five persons be chosen to report Resolutions expressive of the sense of the town, in favor of the petition of David Pingree and others, on the subject of a Railroad from Salem to Malden.

Thomas J. Marsh, John Alley, 3d, George W. Raddin, Stephen Oliver, and Wm. A. Phillips, were chosen to be said committee.

Voted, unanimously, that the following Resolutions reported by the Committee be adopted—373 voting in the affirmative.

Whereas, A petition has been presented to the Legislature by David Pingree and others, praying for a charter to construct a Railroad from Malden, through Saugus, and the westerly section of Lynn, to Danvers and Salem, and whereas an order of notice has been served upon the Town Clerk of Lynn, notifying all those interested to appear and show cause, if any they have, why said petition should not be granted—therefore

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Lynn, in town meeting assembled, being called according to law to act upon said order of notice, do most heartily approve of the proposed road as highly essential to the public convenience, and of the utmost importance to our welfare and prosperity.

Resolved, That we are fully satisfied, from our knowledge of the intended location of said road, that it offers one of the most feasible routes, and can be built at comparatively small expense, and will receive more than sufficient business for its support, at the same time furnishing necessary railroad facilities which the Eastern Railroad does not, and cannot supply, owing to its unfortunate location and terminus.

Resolved, That our fishermen and manufacturers will be greatly benefitted by the proposed road, and a general prosperity in these branches of business would be promoted through our community.

Resolved, That the ferry at East Boston, and the access to and from said ferry, are, in themselves, objections of sufficient importance to justify our preference for the proposed road, and that we do but express the voice of a numerous portion of our female population, who have long felt the inconvenience of the crowd and confusion in passing to and from the boat, and of being compelled to take seats in the cars with men who are strangers to them.

Resolved, That to our knowledge, many of our female population do now go to Boston by the omnibusses, and other conveyances, rather than submit to the inconvenience of crossing the ferry.

Resolved, That the stockholders of the Eastern Railroad can have no just cause of opposition to the proposed road, as the petitioners have no other object in view than to promote the comfort and prosperity of the citizens of this town, and the public generally; that the opposition of the Eastern Railroad Corporation is unjust and oppressive, inasmuch as it brings the wealth and influence of a large and rich corporation in conflict with an industrious people, who are praying their legislators to grant them such comforts and conveniences, by railroad, as are granted to all, or nearly all towns, in the State, which are similarly situated.

Resolved, That the present location of the Eastern Railrord was protested against, at, and before the time of its location, by some of the most wealthy and respectable citizens of this, and other towns, and nearly the same route as now prayed for by D. Pingree and others, was prayed for by Thomas H Perkins and others.

Resolved, That relying on the justice of the Legislature, we do appoint the Selectmen, in connection with the following committee, viz:—Andrews Breed, Joshua Webster, George Hood, Cyrus Washburn, Jas. Newhall, Jr., Samuel J. Ireson, Jacob Purrington, John Alley, 3d, Thomas B Newhall, Abijah Walden, Stephen Smith, and Stephen Oliver, to present our views to them and to urge the passage of an act empowering David Pingree and others to construct maintain said road, as prayed for in their petition Voted, to refer the petition of the Eastern Rail Company to the foregoing Committee, and that be requested to report resolutions on the same.

Voted unanimously, that the following resoluti reported by the Committee, be adopted;—

Whereas a petition has been presented to the islature by the Eastern Railroad Corporation, for erty to alter their track in this town, and whereas order of notice has been served on the Town Cl notifying all those interested to appear and show ca why the prayer of said petition should not be gran therefore

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Lynn, in To Meeting assembled, being called according to the quirements of law, to act upon said order of no do protest against such alteration of said track, a would be of no public benefit, as it does not obv the objections to the ferry at the Boston terminus the Eastern Railroad, neither does it give us a c munication with the northern and western portions New England, which we ought and can have by Salem, Danvers and Malden road, and which alte tion is now evidently proposed to defeat the petit of David Pingree and others, for such railroad fac ties as our comfort, convenience, and prosperity quire.

Resolved, that the Town Clerk cause an attest copy of the resolutions and action of this meeti thereon to be forwarded to the Legislature, and pu lished in all the newspapers in this town and coun and the Boston Courier, Boston Daily Times, a Massachusetts Ploughman.

A true copy of record. Attest,

THOMAS BOWLER, Town Clerk.

Lynn, Feb 11, 1846.

Massachusetts Legislature.

A debate on the Plurality system was continue several days, last week.

Petitions have been presented from John P. Andrews and 144 others, of Salem, for abolishing capital punishment, by Mr. Earle, of Worcester—from inhabitants of Barre for more stringent laws in relation to pedlers—(this has been referred to a specia Committee, of which Mr. Pickman of Salem is a member)—John A. Thurston and others, of Lynn, for law regulating disturbances at Temperance meetings, and Sylvanus Newhall, for change of name of adopted child, by Mr. Peirce, of Salem,—Ichabod B. Wiggin, for change of name. by Mr. Osborne, of Danvers; of Benjamin Greenleaf and others in behalf of the Essex Teachers' Association; of the School Committee of Salem relating to the School fund.

In the House, on Saturday, on motion of Mr. Wilson of Natick, it was ordered, that the Committee on the Judiciary consider the expediency of providing by law that the Governor appoint Registers of Deeds, in case of failure in their election, this appointment to be confined to one of the two persons having the highest number of votes.

Indefinately postponed—The establishing a uniform rate of tolls for grinding grain.

The bill was not thus disposed of until it had been duly debated. Mr. Mayhew, of Edgartown attacked the whole system of laws on the subject, and moved that all after the enacting clause be stricken out, and to insert in the place thereof this provision—'that all Laws for taking toll or grinding grain be repealed.'

This amendment was carriad by a majority of one, and Mr. Chandler of Boston, asked the Speaker how the bill would read in its new shape, and the Speaker proceeded to read it with as much gravity as he could command, as follows:—'An act to establish a uniform rate of toll for grinding grain: Be it enacted, &c., that all laws for taking toll for grinding grain be repealed.'

Now, although the head and tail of this bill were very close together, they by no means agreed in terms or purpose, and great was the mirth of members at the extraordinary union of incompatibilities.

Mr. Chandler moved to strike out the title and en acting clause; and the Speaker, regarding the motion as equivalent to a motion to postpone indefinitely, put it as such, and it was carried.

In the Senate, on Monday Mr Gray, from the Committee on Education, reported leave to withdraw on the petition of sundry towns for their portion of the School fund; the towns reported on, did not make their returns in conformity with the law.

The following petitions have been presented—of John B. Alley and others of Lynn, for Mutual Fire Insurance Company—various petitions for laws restraining peddling—for Railroads from Chelsea to Malden—Petition of School Committee of Salem for portion of Scnool fund. by Mr. Chandler, of Boston—Amory Holbrook and others, for incorporation as the Ontonagon Copper Rock Mining Co., by Mr. Baker, of Beverly—Remonstrance of Selectmen of Marblehead against granting the new town on Salem borders, called Oceana, by Mr Knight, of Marblehead—of George B. Loring and others, for a mining Company, by Mr. Stevens, of Andover,

The hearing in the case of the Salem and Andover Railroad was finished on Friday. No opposition presented itself. And we may look for a favorable report at an early day.

On Wednesday, the plurality law was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. Knight, of Marblehead, presented the remonstrance of 765 voters of that town against incorporating the new town of Oceana—Mr. Baker, of Beverly, the petition of Wm. Pousland and family for change of name.

The Senate and House have each adopted an order limiting the return of orders of notice to March 9, thus showing how far the session is expected to be prolonged.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Correspondence of the Baltimore Patriot.

Monday Feb. 9—2 P M.

In Senate.—The Senate has been engaged all the morning on private bills.

House of Representatives—The House having been organized, and a prayer said, on motion, the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole and took up the Oregon resolutions.

Mr T B King, of Georgia, spoke his hour. He made a vigorous attack upon the administration, for inconsistency and obstinacy on the Oregon question.

Mr Adams next got the floor. He had the 26th 27th and 28th verses in first chapter of Genesis read by the Clerk as the foundation of our claim.

26 And God said, Let us make man in our image after our likeness; and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over all that creepeth upon the earth.

27 So God created man in his own image; in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them.

28 And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it; and have dominion over the fish of the sea and over the fowl of the air, and over every thing that moveth upon the earth.

He also got the Clerk to read the 8th verse in the Second Psalm, as follows:

8 Ask of me, and I shall give thee the heathen for thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for thy posession.

And he also had another passage read—commanding the children of the earth to go forth to multiply, and subdue.

He said this was a controversy between Christian nations. The Pope was generally believed, formerly to be the successor of Him, who gave the command quoted from scripture. The Pope gave to Ferdinhand and Isabella, of Spain, all of this territory. That Spain originally had the title—not very good to be sure—but the same by which England has alone held Ireland. The treaty of 1818 was not, Mr A. contended, for "joint occupancy," but expressly for non occupancy.

Mr A. wanted it terminated, so that we might have a valid title to Oregon, by actual occupation —and then go on to people it, Christianize it, and make it blossom and bloom like the rose.

Mr A wanted the resolution authorizing the notice to be given, to pass. The larger the majority by which it should pass, the better.

P. S.—In the Senate, ending the consideration of the bill to construct ten war steamers, Mr Wescott and general Class declared their belief that war might ensue on the Oregon question. Mr Mangum denounced the administration and its intrigues to drive the country into a war fever, while secretly cherishing the plan of averting war by commercial concessions to England. A system of delusion and disguise was kept up, highly dishonorable to the party in power. Mr Bagly and Mr Clayton expressed their confidence in the administration, believed war probable and advocated the building of the steamers. General took the same ground, and showed the necessity of preparing immediately to repel invasion. Adjourned.

In the House after continuing the discussion until six o'clock, the question on giving the notice was taken, and decided in the affimative, 163 to 54.

The following are the amended resolves authorizing the notice to Great Britain, as they were passed to be engrossed by the House of Congress on Monday, by a majority of over one hundred:—

"Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in congress asaembled, That the President of the United States cause notice to be given to the government of Great Britain that the convention between the United States of America and Great Britain, concerning the territory on the northwest coast of America, west of the Stony Mountains, of the 9th of August, 1827, signed at London shall be annulled and abrogated twelve months after giving said notice.

2. And be it further Resolved, That nothing herein contained is intended to interfere with the right and discretion of the proper authorities of the two contracting parties to renew or pursue negotiations for an amicable settlement of the controversy."

The yeas and nays were as follows:—

Yeas—Democrats 121, Whigs 37, Natives 5—163.

Nays—Democrats 16, Whigs 37, Native 1,—54

On Tuesday in the Senate the Oregon question was debated.

In the House, Mr. Rathbun from the War Committee, made a report upon certain petitions from the State of Massachusetts, accompanied by a resolution, declaring that no alteration whatever is necessary in the present naturalization laws, either to protect the ballot boxes from fraud, or to preserve the purity of the elective franchise. The report and resolution was referred to the committee of the whole House on the State of the Union and ordered to be printed. They also recommended the printing of 5000 extra copies of the report. Objection being made, this last proposition lies over until tomorrow.

☞We are indebted to Hon. D. P. King for several valuable public documents. Also to Adjutant General Oliver for a copy of his Report.

RAILROAD CONTRACTS.—We understand that the Providence and Worcester Railroad Company have contracted with the New England Iron Company, of this city, for rails of their road. The price contracted for is $77 50 per ton. The rails are to be the T pattern, and to weigh 56 pounds to the yard. The New England Iron Company expect to be able to turn out five hundred tons of railroad iron a month, as soon as they get their machinery in operation. No railroad iron, we believe has ever been made in New England.—Prov. Jour.

VIOLATIONS OF THE LICENSE LAW.—Several citizens of Vergennes, Vt. have been indicted and bound up under heavy bonds for violations of the License Law.—Vermonter.

☞The following article is taken from the Christian Watchman, an able and well conducted religious newspaper which is cousidered the principal organ of the Baptist denomination. There is much truth as well as wit in the fanciful comparisons of the writer.

SERMONS ARE LIKE GUNS.—Some are large; others are small; some are long, others short; some are new, others old; some are bright, others rusty; some are made to be looked at, others to be used; some are loaded, others empty; some are owned, others borrowed.

Some are air-guns, some pop-guns, some of every size, from the pocket pistol to the Paixhan gun. Some are charged only with powder, and make a great noise and smoke. Some send only small shot, that irritate rather than kill. Some carry heavy metal, that does execution. Some discharge chain shot, mowing down whole platoons. Some are wide-mouthed mortars, throwing only bombshells. Some are duelling pistols, used only in controversy;—vile things!

Some go off half bent. Some flash in the pan. Some make a terrible fiz, the charge all escaping at the priming-hole. Some shoot too high, some too low, some sideways, a few directly at the point. Some are aimed at nothing, and hit it—Some scatter, prodigiously; some kick their owners over. Some are unerring; others always hit the wrong object. Some have too much wadding, and visa versa.

Some alarm guns; others are complimentary guns, used only for salutes on special occasions. Some are in a series, constituting a battery; others are swivels, made to turn in any direction.—Some are useful, some useless, some dangerous. Some amuse, some frighten, some exasperate, some explode, some gain the victory.

Very much depends upon the manner in which they are made and managed.

☞The New York State Agricultural Society held a meeting at Albany on the 21st. The receipts of the Society for the year have been $6,322; its disbursements, $5,776—leaving on hand a balance of $546. J. M. Sherwood was chosen President of the Society for the ensuing year, and it was recommended by a committee that the nex annual fair be held at Auburn.

Serious Accident on E. R. Road.

As the halt past 2 o'clock train from Boston was approaching the Hotel Depot in Lynn one of the chairs supporting the rail gave way and the engine was thrown off the track by which the baggage master (belonging to Portsmouth) was instantly killed, one of the car wheels crushing his head in a shocking manner. The engineer and fireman were also injured. The cars are somewhat injured.

BOSTON MARKET--Thursday, Feb 12th.

Cotton—Nothing of consequence done today. Provisions—Small sales of prime Pork at $11; mess at $13; prime Beef at $6; Hams at 8 1-2 a 9c; 150 kegs, 50 bbls Lard at 8 a 8 1-2c, 4 mos. Flour—There is rather more firmness in the market. Moderate sales of Genessee, common brands, at $5,62 1-2 a 5,68 3-4. Corn—There is very little doing and prices remain about the same; yellow flat 60 a 62c; white 58 a 59c. Sugar—Sales to the trade of Cuba brown at 3 3-4c. Hides—Sales of 400 New Orleans, dry at 9 1-2c 6 mos.

BRIGHTON MARKET—Monday, Feb 9, 1846.

[From the Boston Daily Advertiser.]

At Market, 490 Beef Cattle, 900 Sheep, and 340 Swine. 70 Beef Cattle and 400 Sheep unsold.

PRICES.—Beef Cattle—We quote to correspond with last week—extra 5 75; first quality 5 25 a 5 50; second 4 75 a 5 25; third $4 a 4 50.

Shnep—Duil. Sales at 1 67, $2, 2 50, 3 25 and 4 25.

Swine—not in demand. No sale of lots to peddle. At retail from 4 to 6.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem, Mr. BLAKE S. DANIELS to Miss ELIZABETH ASHBY. Mr. WM. DOYLE to Miss MARY ELIZA MONIES. Mr. B HOWARD BROWN to Miss SARAH FRANCIS FELTON. Mr. NATHAN M. BARKER, of Chelsea, to Miss MARY E. MERRILL, of Salem. Mr. EDWARD A. SMITH to Miss ISABEL T. FRENCH.

In Reading, Mr. STEPHEN CRANE to Miss SARAH CARTER.

In Boxford, Mr. SAMUEL N. AYRES, to Miss LUCY P FULLER, of this town.

DEATHS.

In this town, North Parish, of consumption, WM. MARDEN, formerly of Saco, aged 15.

In Salem, Mrs. KESIAH RESTELL, aged 59.

In South Reading, Mr. CALEB EATON, aged 72.

Hon. D. P. King's Eulogy.

Eulogy at the Funeral of Gen. Gideon Foster, delivered in the Unitarian Church in Danvers, Nov 3d, 1845, by Hon Daniel P. King. With Notes. For sale by Sylvanus Dodge, R. S. Daniels, M. T. Dole, Charles Lambert & Co. Sylvester Proctor, jr., Joseph Shed, H. A. Potter, New Mills, Thomas Bowen, Plains. feb 14

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday evening

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

The regular meetings of this Tent will be held in future on Monday evenings, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

A. C. OSBORNE, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. feb 14

Lectures on the Bible.

The Second Lecture of the proposed Course, to be delivered in the Universalist Church, in Danvers, South Parish, will be given To-Morrow evening, commencing at half past 6 o'clock. Subject—A glance at the History of the Canonical Books of the Old and New Testament.

feb 14

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

THE ILLUSTRATED

New England Family Magazine.

NEW VOLUME—JANUARY, 1846.

MESSRS BRADBURY, SODEN & Co. will issue on the 20th of December the January number of this highly popular and valuable Magazine; being the FIRST NUMBER OF A NEW VOLUME. The great success which the publishers have met with in commencing a "FAMILY MAGAZINE" that should impart to its readers useful knowledge, as well as amusement and recreation, has determined them to make greater efforts to render the work still more valuable and attractive the coming year. They respectfully ask, therefore, the encouragement and patronage of every person who desires to have useful and instructive works take the place of the light and frivolous love tales, calculated to excite bad passions in the young, which are, under the mask of 'cheap Literature,' now so widely spread over the land.

Specimen numbers will be freely furnished when sent for, free of expense, and the publishers ask of an enlightened public an examination of their work. Particular attention is drawn to the fact that clubs of TEN are supplied with the work at ONE DOLLAR A YEAR, or one copy of the 'Family Magazine' and one copy of 'Robert Merry's Museum are supplied one year for TWO DOLLARS—a degree of cheapness, quantity of matter considered, which has no parallel.

The Family Magazine will be published as heretofore on or near the first day of each month, on clear type and fine white paper. Each number will contain forty-eight double pages of reading matter, and be illustrated with from eight to twelve making at the end of the year a splendid pictorial volume of useful and entertaining matter, containing 576 pages, and more than ONE HUNDRED Wood Engravings.

NEW AND BEAUTIFUL WOOD ENGRAVINGS

TERMS—One Dollar and Fifty Cents per annum, payable in advance. To clubs, as before, when payments are made strictly in advance,

Three copies one year,	Four Dollars,
Five do do	Six do
Ten do do	Ten do

or only One Dollar a Copy!!

☞One copy of the Family Magazine and one copy of Robert Merry's Museum. (a magazine for youth, edited by the famous "Peter Parley,") one year,

TWO DOLLARS IF PAID IN ADVANCE.

Periodical dealers and agents will be supplied with the above work at the most liberal discount. All orders (cash enclosed) must be addressed,

BRADBURY, SODEN & CO.
12 School Street, Boston.

JUST received a fresh supply of Gold Pens, also, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Card Cases, Wallets, Purses, &c. For sale cheap by

G. W. CRAFTS,
feb 14 174 Essex Street, Salem.

NEW BOOKS. Clarborne the Rebel, a Romance of Maryland, under the Proprietary by W H. Carpenter.

Leigh Hunt's Stories from the Italian Poets, in 3 vols.

The Step Mother, a Romance, by G. P. R. James, Esq.

No. 49 Harper's Bible. Just received and for sale by

W. & S B. IVES. feb 14

NEW ARTICLE. Cast Inkstands, a cheap and strong Inkstand, various sizes. Just received at W & S B IVES'S, Stationery Store. feb 14

200 REAMS PAPER various kinds.—J. P. JEWETT & CO., have just received a fine assortment of blue and white ruled and plain, Cap and Letter Paper, from the establishment of Southworth & Co., Springfield. Also—Post Office, cartridge, billet, demy, and a large quantity of the various kinds of Wrapping Paper—cap, double cap, shoe. colored and white. Kentish Paper—cap, double cap, shoe. colored and white. Kentish cap, &c. For sale at wholesale or retail, at the Stationary Establishment opposite the Mansion House. feb 14

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at

C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has taken Rooms

Over Lambert & Merrill's Store, where he intends carrying on the Tailoring Business in all its branches.

His system, or rule for cutting (which is a very superior one) was recently obtained in London, at considerable expense.

Particular attention paid to Gaiter Pants, and his style of cutting is respectfully submitted for examination.

A share of patronage is solicited.

S. AUGUSTUS CARLTON.

WANTED.

Three or Four good TAILORESSES. Apply as above. feb 14

Cash Clothing Emporium.

THE subscriber will, on and after this date, sell and manufacture Clothing of every kind for CASH.

In returning my thanks to those who have been favored with credit and justly paid all demands, and also those who always pay cash, I would respectfully invite such to continue to me their custom, and I trust that the EXTREME LOW PRICES that I shall sell at will be perfectly satisfactory.

ANY ORDERS IN THE TAILORING, CLOTHING, or FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, will be promptly attended to on the CASH and ONE PRICE SYSTEM, at

BENJ. EDWARD'S,
feb 14 No 10 Front street.

NEW BOOKS. Nos. 52, 53 and 54 Library of Choice Reading. Leigh Hunt's Italian Poets, in three parts. Part 1—Dante; Italian Pilgrim's Progress; Pulci—his Life and Genius; Humors of Giants. Part 2—Battle of Roncesvalles, &c. Part 3—Tasso's Life and Genius; Passages from Jerusalem Delivered—37 7-2c each.

The Step Mother, by James, part 1, 25cr

No 49 Harper's Pictorial Bible.

Willis & Co's Bank Note Detector, for February, 18 1-2c

A fresh supply of Dickens's Cricket on the Harth, 6 1-4c

Fremont's Expedition to Oregon—his Journal. &c., 26c.

Review of the Reportr of the Annual Visiting Committee of the Public Schools of the city of Boston, 1845. Said to be written by the author of "Penetential tears." Just issued and for sale by

J. P. JEWETT & CO.,
feb 14 Salem.

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons indebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch.

JOHN NUTTING,
S. D. PENDAR.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845.

GEORGE W. CRAFTS,
ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand. G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb 7

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.

On Saturday.

The superiorfast sailing bark GRANADA, Spooner, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans. feb 7

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.

On Saturday.

To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet schooner OSCAR HOSMER, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. feb 7

SAVANNAH AND BOSTON PCKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial wharf,

On Wednesday.

The fast sailing, coppered, regular packet schl HENRY, Pain, master, is now loading, and wil will sail as above.

D. BALDWIN & Co. Agents at Savannah. jan 10

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.

From Commercial Wharf—On Tuesday.

The coppered sch. CORDOVA, Freeman, master now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

feb 14

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be exceelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. I. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.

Sept 13.

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.

MANNING & SARGENT,

Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,

KEEP constantly on hand and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. C. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

George Southwick,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, innholder, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to JESSE H. SOUTHWICK,

Danvers, February 7th, 1846. Executor.

LITTLEFIELD'S Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan.—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

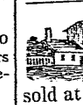
dec 6 1awtf

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

Architectural Drafting.



THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.

Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.

Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

WM. SUTTON.

Dec. 16.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St.,

A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies. Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

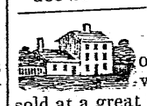
Danvers, Oct 25

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

dec 6

New Stove



Utter's New Hot Air-Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.

LORD & WILEY.

dec 20

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

G. W CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER AND STATIONER,

174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAS constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. mch 15

A GOOD AND VERY CHEAP WORK. The Jerusalem Sinner Saved;—The Pharisee and Publican; the Trinity and a Bhristian;—The Law and a Christian;—by John Bunyan—with his Life, by Rev. James Hamilton, England. This is No. 1 of a Series of Works of the Puritan Diviucs—bound in cloth, 50c a volume.

A fresh supply of Life of Ware, by his brother, with a steel portrait—$1 30.

Hogan on Popery, 75c—The Cricket, by Dickens—Mitchell's Map of Oregon, 75c. Just received at the Bookstore of J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

NEW BOOKS. Warren on the Preservation of Health, second edition.

The Siege of Vienna, a Historical Romance, by Caroline Pichler.

Wild Sports in Europe, Asia, and Africa; by Lt. Colonel E. Napier, (late 46th regiment. For sale by

feb 7 W. & S. B. IVES.

HARPER'S NEW MISCELLANY. Nos. 6 and 7. Life of Paul Jones, by Mackenzie—with a likeness—2 vols, 50c a volume, bound in cloth. Just published for sale by J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

AUCTION.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Zebulon Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 105 feet on said street, and about 163 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct., 35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

W. D. JOPLIN,

AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,

FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "

oct 25

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,

which he will sell very low.

feb 7 J. C. FERRIN.

Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns. Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

DR. J. A. ROBINSON.

SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, opposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street. recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes, for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf No 9. Washington street.

WANTED—A two story Dwelling House, suitable for a small family. A pleasant situation would be desirable, not more than half a mile from the Unitarian meeting-house. Notice may be given to A. A. ABBOTT, Esq., Danvers. jan 30

BUTTER.

JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by

O. F. BATCHELDER.

Danvers, Jan 30.

SELLING OFF.

☞GREAT BARGAINS.☜

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 25 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpacas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceaaed, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars seventy-two cents; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges:—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for considering said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers, that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate,

A true copy of Record,
Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.
jan 10

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed guardian of

Thomas Melburn,

of Danvers, in the county of Essex, esquire, a person given to excessive drinking and idleness, and has taken upon himself that trust by giving conds, as the law directs. All persons having demands against the said Thomas Melburn, are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said Thomas Melburn, are called upon to make payment to the subscriber. And all persons are forbidden to make contracts with said Thomas Melburn.

WINGAT MRRILL, Guardian.

Danvers, Jan. 10, 1846.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,

Danvers, March 29th. tf

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,
TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.
'OAK HALL!'
UNPARALLELLED
In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND
FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!
FALL CAMPAIGN.
THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS
Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims,—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and due and deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Wall of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will

DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in this market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail to that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER☜
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.

nov 8 ep3m

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. dec 13

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND
CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.
DRAPER & TAILOR,
No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.
Also—Neck Stocks, Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,
and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself a No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

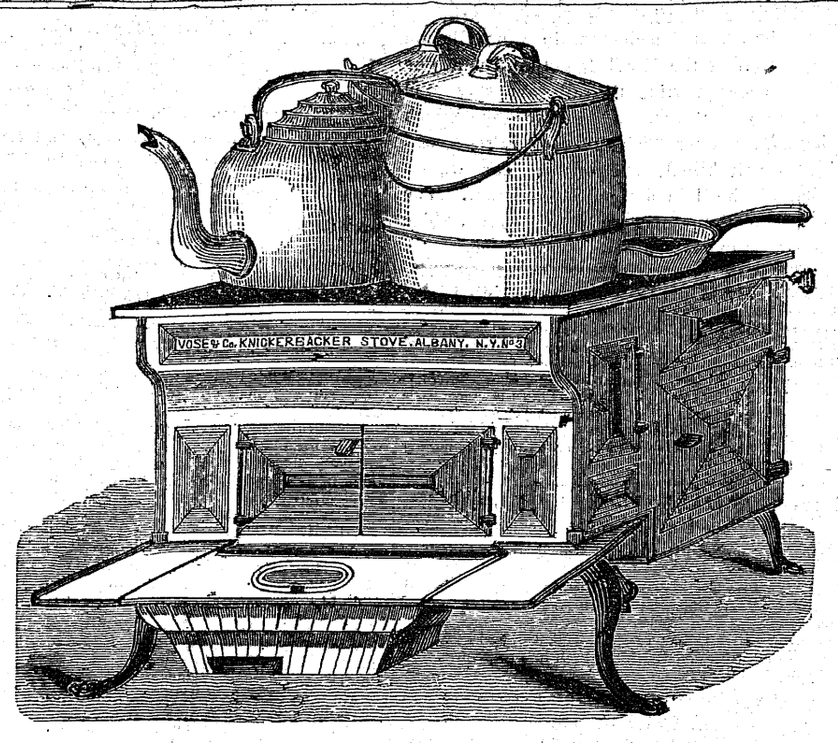
He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,



For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.

ARNEY WILEY,

OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere

South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.

March 15, 1845. tf

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK; 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
27 Water street.

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale at the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT.)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeck; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Beewiths, Lecs' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by

jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

EASTERN RAILROAD.
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted,)

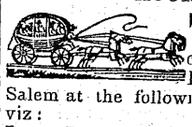
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4, 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2, 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-2, 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4.55 P.M
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.



Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the East Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A
" " 8 3-4 " " 9 1-" " 9 3-4 " " 11 3
" " 11 1-4 " 12 3-4
" " 1 3-4 P M. " 3 P.
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6 1-2
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jose G. Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Hou and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.

apr 19 tf

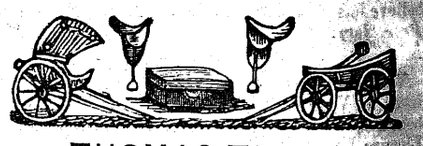
Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended Goods handled with care.

S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Great Bargains



ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washngton Street Clothing Store, Salem

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if not superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE, BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch29 1y

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 21, 1846. NUMBER 49.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

[From "The Flag of our Union."]

The World is Changing.

'Tis true, o'er every thing below
Within time's range,
Upon the face of all we know,
Is written, Change;
The high, the low, the old, the young, the gay,
Alike have passed, and still do pass away.

The mighty works of change are found
In every place;
Above, below, and all around,
Its steps we trace;
The world itself, in one tremendous tide,
Heaving with constant change from side to side.

We come upon the stage of life
Our parts to play;
Share in its hustle, toil and strife,
Then pass away.
Ay, life is all a play, men actors all
The scenery change, and Death the curtain fall.

Then, lady, learn the lesson well,
Forget it not;
The tale it doth so truly tell
May be thy lot;
So pause amid thy hurried joys, and gaze
Upon this chart of life's labyrinthian maze.

To-day, perchance, thy hopes are bright,
And all is fair
But ere shall come to-morrow's night,
Change may be there:
And gloomily around thy pathway fling
The blackest shadow of her raven wing.

Or beauty may have thrown its charms
Around thy form;
And youth would shield thee in its arms
From wind and storm;
But change must come, and age, with slow decay,
Will steal thy beauties, one by one, away.

To-day thy friends in hosts may seem
Round thee to crowd;
But to the future give no dream,
For change will cloud
The scene; and the bright sun, which lately rose
On kindred friends, goes down on bitter foes.

Such, gentle lady, is the course
Which all must run:
Then turn from man away, and place
Thy trust in One
Who knows no change, and He will safely guide
Thy fragile bark o'er life's uncertain tide.

COMMUNICATION.

Letters from Cuba.

Continuation.

Manzanillo, Nov 29, 1845.

I am glad to have an opportunity so soon to write home. My last letter I believe was written on Friday a week ago yesterday. The next day I rode to town, and carried my letters and packages that were to go in the vessel. I dined on board for the last time and left in the afternoon, bidding farewell to the kind friends who had been my fellow voyagers, and to the noble brig that has for four weeks been my home although my new residence seems now more worthy of the name. Sunday, to me, was quite a still day, but here it seems to be just like other days. The stores are all open and no day is there so much loafing and visiting. Our shop was full most of the day, the visitors playing cards, dominos, dice, &c, It is quite a day for sportsmen and gunning excursions by the foreign residents and I somewhat expected a call from some of my American friends while abroad on that errand. One, whom I consider one of my kindest friends, Manuel, a black man, called here and enquired very kindly about my health. He seems to be a real good hearted fellow. He is a slave but hires his time from his master for three or four dollars per week and then works for whom he pleases. In this way he earns enough to support himself, his wife and two children, and lays up something beside to buy his liberty. An old lady died here a short time since leaving a fortune of some thousands, who had obtained her liberty in this way.

Monday afternoon I had my horse and took a ride several miles on the Bayamo road. I rode pretty quick and enjoyed it much. I delight in riding, it is so exhilerating. Wednesday afternoon I rode to Manzanillo for the first time alone. I saw most of my acquaintances, some half a dozen, which includes all but two or three who can talk English in the town—Spent a very pleasant half hour at Mrs B's with Mrs M. and her daughter.

Thursday. This is Thanksgiving day at home. I was obliged to forego the feasting from the inability of my landlord to provide a New England dinner.—Still it was Thanksgiving day and I could not but feel grateful to my heavenly Father for a pleasant voyage, a safe arrival and so pleasant a tarrying place here, besides such good friends and so happy a home to which I hope to return. I need not say how well I should like to have been at that table where I have been missed for the first time, for aught I know, at our New England Festival.

* * * * *

In the afternoon I took a walk with Mr M. to call on a friend of his about a mile distant who lives on a small plantation. The gentleman is a widower with seven children from twenty years old downwards.—We staid half an hour and had a very pleasant time. These Spanish friends seemed very kind and recommended asses' milk for my use, which seems to have quite a reputation here for pulmonary complaints.—A bottle of it was sent to me the next morning and the following day another. The taste is not so agreeable as cow's milk.

I must not omit to say a few words about the flowers on the Island. At this season they are most numerous and beautiful. The flower most common along the roadside is the morning glory, white, purple, pink, blue and yellow. The latter grows in bunches of most beautiful flowers. These plants climb up 15 or 20 feet high upon the trees everywhere. It is just the season for them and they say this is the reason why the wild honey is most abundant and of the best quality now. The monstrous vines that, as you know, often strangle the trees to death in their fatal embrace, are quite a vegetable wonder. Sometimes in riding through the woods in a narrow path I have my foot pulled from the stirrup by one of them and myself almost thrown from my horse, They seem indeed like vegetable serpents. I have little opportunity to study the plants as I should like to, as I have no botany of this region. I find a few flowers that I was before familiar with, but for the greater part they are entirely new. Here the vegetation is so luxuriant that one cannot roam about on the hills as at home and when I walk I have to confine myself almost entirely to the road. There is no smooth turf here, as every spot is overgrown with bushes and trees.

I need hardly say that my time passes pleasantly It is now more than five weeks since I left home and I am glad time passes so quickly, although still slow enough as you may well imagine. Did I tell you before that we have a guitar here? The hare lip man plays a little on it but I do not think he is a great performer. I often think of you as clustering around the fire, while outside, perhaps, the ground is covered with snow. At the same time I am sweating with the heat. Don't you wish you were here?

Dec 1, 1845.

Saturday afternoon I rode to Manzanillo again and returned at 6. I am pretty well satisfied that the town is nearly 4 miles off. I trotted my horse pretty fast but still it took me nearly half an hour to ride home. I like riding horse-back better and better—Here, where every one rides, black and white, men, women and children, pigs and poultry, and every thing else, not much attention is paid to looks. I flatter myself that I look as well on horse-back as half of them and don't trouble myself further, although I should like a leather bridle instead of my present one of rope. Some equipages that pass are ludicrous enough, but I cannot laugh at them, all seems so regular and in the common course, just as they have been three hundred years. But when I try to imagine them in our streets at home they seem droll enough.

Yesterday we had company to spend the day. A lady, a daughter of Mrs Miller, and her child, a boy of two years old who is not able to talk much more Spanish than I do. This lady was married at the age of fourteen to an overseer of a large plantation.—However, this is not considered a very early age to marry here.

I never felt the difference between Sabbaths here and at home as I did yesterday. At home, if prevented from a tending church I have always found means of well employing my time, but now that I have bid farewell to those

"Scenes of sacred peace and pleasure,
Holy days and Sabbath bell,"

I find it harder to be deprived of them than I thought. How I longed to be with you, if it was only to hear that Sabbath bell again.

In the evening I had a call from the gentleman I visited on Thanksgiving day. He has sent me the milk from his beast several times but he wants me to have it fresh both night and morning, so he very kindly offered to lend her to me so that I can have the milk when I please. I tried all sorts of excuses to get rid of the animal, but as I could not refuse his hospitable offer without perhaps offending a good friend, I accepted the proffered kindness and he said I should have the beast sent to me to day. This gentleman seems to be quite intelligent, above the average. He is a magistrate, and I am sorry to say, he dabbles a little in medicine. His eldest son is a lad of 15 and a fine fellow. I am a little acquainted with him, though to be sure we can hardly say a word to each other. I have a few such acquaintances and it is quite pleasant to meet even so slight a one here. As we pass each other we can at least give a smile of recognition and say 'Adios,'* which is a thousand times better than to feel that all are strangers—There are several who seem to take an interest in the stranger and always greet me kindly when they come to the store, and sometimes walk round into my room to have a chat with me, though they know very well that neither can understand what the other says. At these visits there will be a few words in Spanish on one side, perhaps a few English in reply, and then a hearty laugh from both. It would be quite amusing for you to witness some such scenes. As I sit in my chair I am partly visible from the store and in reality I am somewhat in the condition of a wild animal in a show.

Thursday, Dec 4.

Last Monday afternoon I rode down to the town with Mr M. and hoped to hear of something from home It is now six weeks since I left and I have heard nothing. I certainly thought I should have heard every month. It was evening before we got back from Manzanillo and with the young moon shining on the beautiful landscape it was a most splendid ride. I met a negro girl singing "Ave Maria," pronouncing it 'Ah-va M*h*-ree-ah" and laying considerable stress on the italicised sylables. It sounded most beautifully especially on account of the associations connected with the words.

"Ave Maria! 'tis the hour of prayer!
Ave Maria! 'tis the hour of love!
Ave Maria! may our spirits dare
Look up to thine and to thy Son's above!
Ave Maria! O that face so fair!
Those downcast eyes beneath th' Almighty dove."

This is about all I have yet seen of the Roman Catholic religion.

Monday, Dec. 22.

Since my last writing I have received by the Angola the bundle containing so many precious letters from home. As soon as I got my treasures I hurried home and made my poor nag go over the ground faster than ever before. I was soon deep in the kind epistles from so many hands and the newspapers too, so that for a while I almost thought I was really at home with you. I was glad to receive the Courier and was surprised to learn from it of Gen. Foster's death. The funeral services must have been very impressive.—With the fires and other things there was more news in a month than even I expected.

* * * *

In my absence from dearly loved friends and in times of despondency I frequently think of that queer old couplet which often cheers me as it occurs to my mind:

"The darkest day—
Live till tomorrow—will have passed away."

Sunday, Dec. 7 was a great day at Manzanillo for feasting and gambling of every kind. The 8th was the day of the Virgin Mary the patron saint of the town but they chose to celebrate it the day before because it was Sunday. There was a ragamuffin procession at Manzanillo but I did not witness it and the person who informed me about it laughed so immoderately in attempting to describe it that I did not learn much. The gambling, feasting, &c. continues every night till Christmas. The day after the celebration was a holiday with all classes. I had a call from Capt. B. of the New York Brig Angola and several other American friends who stopped here on their ride. It is quite pleasant to have such a party where you can talk with them all. Capt B. advised me not to drink (ardent spirits) immediately before or after eating fruit, as he says it is very bad. This is no doubt good advice and I certainly shall regard it.

I believe I stated that Mr M. my landlord was an Englishman. I misunderstood him, he is a genuine old Castilian. He sailed from Spain when a boy, was taken by an English vessel under Spanish colors, remained in the English service several years where he lost his Spanish and learned English, and when his vessel was at Jamaica he ran away and came to Manzanillo.—That was about thirty years ago and now he has learned Spanish again and is losing his English. His name is properly Juan Mila, and he is universally known here as Don Juan, pronounced Don Hoo-ahn. On Christmas day I expect to be left here alone as Mr M. goes to town with his two roosters to the cock-fight. These are principally held on Sundays and holidays and are well attended. About every family has its fighting-cock which is taken great care of and made quite a pet. They have to go through a course of treatment to prepare them for the contest.

The dry season having fairly set in, the regular order from the Governor has come that no fires shall be built in the fields or streets, under penalty of a fine. One notice has been posted on our door because at a little distance off, a bridge was almost destroyed by fire which some travellers left after cooking their supper. Everything becomes so perfectly dry that a fire would be very dangerous at this season.

The most important incident to myself since I last wrote, is my journey to the mountains. I left home Monday afternoon and came back Wednesday night. The distance is about 36 miles which made something of a ride for an invalid.—I enjoyed it very much, though I found tedious riding, course living and still worse accomodations for sleeping. But I expected all these and enjoyed myself none the less. I should like to take such a journey every month. Strange to say, I experienced no bad effects from it, not even a cold though it was quite chilly on the mountains.—I send the particulars of this journey on another sheet after the manner of Marco Paul's adventures. So you see I have to be Jacob Abbot as well as Marco.

* * * * *

* A familiar greeting, answering to our 'How do you do?'

MISCELLANY.

THE LOST GLOVE.

A STORY OF DOMESTIC LIFE.

BY MARIE C. SUBLETT.

Gathered around the large fireplace of an elegantly arranged parlor, one cold winter evening, were a group of interesting young people. They had been spending a social evening with the master and mistress of the mansion—Mr. Weston and his beautiful wife—who had recently taken up their residence in the village, and of whom little was known, except that he was a young physician, eminently handsome, with a dignified and impressive manner. The young being who was his wife had been the talk and admiration of the village since her arrival in it. Rather above the middle height, graceful and elegant, her manner was so fascinating that few could withstand its influence. Her beautiful hair was dark chesnut, and curled in natural ringlets over her neck and face. With a complexion of dazzling firmness, and so very changeable that many tho't it too pale, while others contended that the deep carnation which sometimes dyed her cheeks was unnatural, her eyes were so dark that it was but seldom their blue tint could be discerned. Then the thrilling glance of those eyes revealed an intellect of great power, and a heart full of warm and passionate emotions.

If the reader is tired of admiring our lovely hostess, and wishes to know the subject of the animated conversation carried on in the parlor to which we have introduced him, his curiosity shall be gratified. It was love, courtship and marriage—subjects more generally interesting, we believe, than any other. Some of the younger ladies professing profound ignorance on the subject of courtship, had requested a widow lady of the company to enlighten them, and she had just given her experience, in which she related, laughingly, that the gentleman whom she had married had been, unfortunately, so timid and bashful, that it required much encouragement and patience on her part to enable him at least to make a declaration.

'I am sure that will be my case,' said a bashful young gentleman present. 'If I loved ever so devotedly I don't think I could ever summon courage to tell my love to the object of it—no, never!' he repeated, despairingly.

'Then you deserve to be an old bachelor all your life!' exclaimed a sparkling little beauty. A loud laugh followed this gay sally. Our bashful man blushed crimson, and the young lady continued, more seriously—'I do not agree with you, I think, if a warm attachment subsists between any two persons, nothing is more easy or natural than the expression of their feelings.'

'I am just of your opinion,' said Mrs Weston, with a glance at her husband.

'Oh, Mrs Weston,' said the young lady, eagerly, 'I am thinking your courtship must have been very interesting; you are so romantic, so beautiful, and so unlike others, that your love passages must have been very different from anything we poor girls have any idea of. Now do relate it to us, my dear Mrs Weston,' continued the gay girl; 'it will not only be intensely interesting, but it will be of use to a little unsophisticated creature like me.'

This request was echoed by the whole company but the lady playfully refused, until Mr Weston said—'Suppose you relate it; at least that part which concerns the sleigh-ride.'

Mrs Weston laughed, blushed slightly, and consented. Her listeners deposed themselves to hear the relation of their beautiful friend, and she commenced.

'I was about seventeen when Frederic and I believed our destiny was decided at the first glance. We did not see each other very often, nor did he pay me any particular attention, but I fancied that his manner was different when he addressed me, from what it was to others, and I was sure that when his eye met mine it expressed more than it did to any other. As yet, I had not acknowledged to myself that I loved him, but my heart beat quicker when he approached. I trembled when he touched my hand. Thus several months passed, and our love remained unexpressed save by that beautiful language of the soul which no one that loves can express.

'One evening I had promised to attend a large party with Frederic. I was already dressed and awaiting him, when a vehicle dashed up to the door, and in a few minutes Mr Ashby, a young gentleman who had recently come into the neighborhood, and who was reputed wealthy, entered the room in which I was sitting. He came to request my company to the party, when I replied that I was under an engagement to accompany another gentleman, he said, 'I regret it extremely, Miss Isabel; but may I ask who was so fortunate as to be before me?'

'I was conscicious of blushing slightly, for his eyes were fixed eagerly on my face while I replied, 'Dr Weston.'

"'Oh,' exclaimed Mr Ashby, in a tone of vexation, 'I suppose we must all give up to Weston; he is privileged, at least with you.'

'You are very much mistaken, said I, considerably annoyed; 'Dr Weston is no more to me than you or any other gentleman.'

'Well,' replied Mr Ashby, 'I suppose I must believe you, though report says the contrary.—Now do, Miss Isabel, prove your words by going with me this evening; you would not hesitate, I am sure, if any other gentleman were concerned.'

'This provoked me again, and I began to waver, for I was very anxious to prove to Mr Ashby and the world that I was perfectly indifferent to Dr Weston. Mr Ashby saw my hesitation, and took advantage of it.'

"'Be generous for once, Miss Isabel," said he, 'and consent; besides, I am sure, Weston has been prevented from coming, or he would have been here before; it is already late, and it will require an hour to drive there.

'Oh well,' said I, rising gaily, if you think so, I will go with you immediately.'

'In a few moments we were driving rapidly from the house. I was in high spirits. Conscious of acting ungenerously, I tried to banish my unpleasant thoughts by forced gayety.

'We had gone but a short distance when I saw a carriage approaching.

'There is Weston after all,' exclaimed Mr Ashby. 'Now, Miss Isabel, I shall discover the truth or falsity of these reports,' he continued, laughing. 'I shall watch you very closely as we pass.'

'Do so, said I, gaily; 'make use of all your penetration.'

'Before he could reply, we had passed the other carriage. Though we were driving fast, Frederic's eyes met mine, and such a look! It haunted me for long months after. Though I was very wretched, I believe I succeeded in appearing as usual during the ride; but my thoughts were so painfully interested that they were indelibly impressed on my memory, while the frivolous conversation I carried on with Mr Ashby has long since been forgotten.

'I determined to apologise to Frederic, for he might ascribe my conduct to unworthy motives. Mr Ashby was very rich, and Frederic was poor and withal unmeasurably proud—he would never forgive me—and all for a thoughtless though foolish act, which I was so bitterly repenting. I was relieved when we arrived at our destination. I wished to escape from Mr Ashby, whose company had become in a few moments hateful to me.

"I will not describe the weary passing of that long evening. I looked around the room in vain for Frederic—he was not there. When would I see him again?—perhaps never. The thought was agony, and I repressed it.

"During the next fine day I looked anxiously for him, but he came not. At last I heard he had left the neighborhood, to be absent several months!

"For a whole week, which had seemed years, he had been the subject of every thought. I had firmly resolved, when I saw him again to confess that I had acted wrongly; but now he was gone—if he had cared for me, he would have forgiven so slight a transgression—pride came to my aid, and before the expiration of the term of his absence, I had persuaded myself that he was forgotten.

"After a lapse of about four months, I heard of Frederic's return, and, in spite of myself, my heart beat wildly at the tho't of seeing him again; but I blushed for momentary weakness, and determined, if I must meet him, to be as cold and unconscious as himself.

"After this we met frequently, and treated each other as common acquaintances. I always tried to be gay and thoughtless in his presence, but it was not so with him; he was more grave and serious than usual, and I fancied he was very pale, and seemed in delicate health. This idea was confirmed one day by the careless words of a lady whom I heard telling mother that Dr. Weston intended leaving for the South soon, as he had been threatened with consumption.

"Then I knew that I had been deceiving myself: that he was as dear to me as ever, and in the solitude of my own room wept without restraint. I felt utterly desolate—all hope of reconciliation was over—and I must in reality forget the past—the bright and beautiful past!

"Winter was approaching, and a heavy fall of snow was the commencement of merry-making among the young people in the vicinity; sleigh-rides without number, and that old-fashioned amusements, quiltings, were all the rage. Several young ladies were staying with me, and we had been invited to a quilting at the house of a friend, some miles distant. Early in the morning some of the beaux arrived in sleighs for us. Dr. Weston was among them; a very unusual piece of gallantry for him—as he had almost given up the company of ladies. After a gay discussion as to who were to occupy the different sleighs, and a thousand different opinions had been expressed, I found myself alone in a sleigh with Frederic!

'I had been so long since we had any intercourse with each other, that we were both embarrassed. There was very little said by either of us, but I tho't he was less cold to me than he had been since that fatal evening. Our conversation consisted of the most common-place remarks in the world—but then we were friends! Intoxicating thought! He had forgiven me! I knew it—I felt it—and when I sprang from the sleigh on arriving, I was the happiest being in the world. I am sure Mrs Brown may thank Frederic for the small amount of work I accompli hed that day: but fortunately some of the company proved themselves able quilters, for about dark it was finished, and then came the most delightful bustle imaginable—dressing laughing and talking—for we were to have a regular ball that night. About eight o'clock we commenced, and danced until twelve. I will not attempt to describe the ball,—all of you no doubt have attended a country frolic of the kind

'Most of us were to return home that night as the moon shone so brightly on the snow, that it was as light as day, and a thousand times more beautiful. I had just wrapt my shawl around me, and was ready to depart, when good Mrs Brown, our hostess, came up to me.

'Why, Isabel,' said she, 'you are not going out this dreadful cold night, with nothing on your hands but them little gloves?' pointing to a pair which about half covered my hands.

'Oh! Mrs Brown, I shall not be cold,' I said, hastily; 'I can keep my hands under my shawl.'

'No, no,' replied the good lady, 'you must take mine,' and she gave me a pair of thick woolen gloves, in one of which I could have thrust both my hands. She would take no refusal, and putting them on, I gave my hand to Frederic, and we soon left the door at a rapid pace. For some time, neither of us spoke—I suppose we were admiring the beautiful effect of the moon-light on the glittering snow.

'We had not proceeded far, when I observed that Frederic wore no glove on the hand which held the reins—it was very cold, and at last I ventured to ask him why he wore no glove on that hand.

'I must have dropped one of my gloves before we left the house,' he replied; 'but it makes no difference.'

'Your hands must be very cold,' said I, pityingly; 'take one of mine. Mrs Brown would lend me these great thick things. I am sure they are long enough for you or any one else,' said I, laughing; and, drawing off one, I handed it to him.

'Oh, of course I would not deprive you of it he replied, with a glance which sent every drop of blood to my heart; and you must know that glances in the moonlight are very different from glances any where else.

'Indeed, you must take it!' I said; you are obliged to expose your hand in driving, and mine will be sufficiently protected by my shawl—now do take it; I shall be offended if you do not.'

'Nothing could be more dreadful to me than your anger,' he replied, in a soft low voice, 'but I cannot take it!' Then smiling, he continued—'except on one condition.'

'What can it be?' said I, raising my eyes to his but there was something in their expression which caused me to turn mine away.

'That you will permit me to clasp that little hand, while I deprive of its covering,' said he, in a thrilling voice.

'I could scarcely speak, but pretending to think him in jest, I said, smiling:

'But I am really in earnest; you must take the glove; I ask it as a favor.'

'I too am in earnest,' he said; 'I will wear it on one condition.'

'I was almost dying with vexation—it would be unmaidenly—improper to accept his condition—I could not do it! Then his hand; it would certainly be frozen! For some moments I hesitated—but his poor hand looked so blue and cold that I could not refuse. I handed him the glove with downcast eyes, and a burning blushing on my cheeks. Frederic clasped my hand with a look of ineffable tenderness, saying:

'Forgive me Isabel—an '"——

Mrs Weston ceased.

'Go, on! go on!' cried several voices.

'Oh, no,' exclaimed the interesting story-teller, 'I can tel you no more! Frederic may tell the rest.'

Frederic begged to be excused, and the young people were obliged to content themselves with an unfinished story.

There were 107 deaths in Philadelphia last week the largest number of any one disease being 10 of small pox. If there should be half as many deaths by yellow fever, in the summer, in our cities, as there have been for two months past of small pox the whole population would be in a state of alarm. We have been remarkably free from this loathsome disease in this town, but with it all over the country, both on the seaboard and in the interior, cannot hope to escape so well hereafter, unless resort is had to generat vaccination.

The above remarks from the Newburyport Herald apply with equal truth to our own town.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB 21, 1846.

Responsibility of Rail Road Managers.

It has long appeared to us that there ought to be some provision by law, by which the Directors of Railroads or their servants should be made responsible to the public for the disasters which take place on their roads. Would it not be well to have commissioners appointed whose duty it shall be to examine into every case of Railroad disaster and ascertain the true cause and thus fix the blame where it belongs. We have been led to these remarks in consequence of the late accident on the Eastern Railroad by which one life was sacrified and many others endangered. We are not disposed to do injustice to this corporation whose conductors and superintendents have hitherto so deservedly won the confidence of the travelling public by their great care and attention to the safety of passengers, but this one instance of negligence even if it is the first, ought to lead to the most energetic measures to prevent its recurence on this road or any other. In the published accounts of this appalling accident, dark hints are thrown out of carelessness, somewhere, but the public are not made acquainted with the names of the culpable individuals, nor is any promise given of amendment in future. We have a State board of Railroad commissioners who are not overburdened with business and if this commission was constituted a tribunal to look after the delinquences of the several corporations, perhaps it might be made more servicable to the public.

Registry of Deeds.

We have noticed with much pleasure the repeated announcement of the name of our townsman, Mr. Shove, as a suitable candidate for the above-named office. Mr S. is very favorably known throughout the County as a man of high character and talents, and as possessing in a marked degree those business qualifications and that ease and urbanity of manners, which peculiarly fit him for the faithful and pleasing discharge of the duties of such a post. We earnestly hope that his fellow citizens will give him their suffrages and support; and especially, that his neighbors and townsmen, who best know and most esteem him, will evince by their hearty co-operation in the work of his election, their true sense of his personal worth and abilities.

We feel that in thus urging the claims of Mr S. we are doing no shadow of wrong to the present incumbent—Mr French has now held his office for three successive terms—in all, fifteen years—and refraining from any complaint of his official conduct, and without subscribing to the doctrine of "rotation," in its radical acceptation, we may be allowed to say that he has had his share of the public support and held his office long enough. At the first, he had no better claims than a thousand others. At any rate, it is now time that one of those equally competent and deserving, and equally needing the pecuniary emolument, should have his turn. Among these we again present the name of Jonathan Shove. His intelligence, integrity, and courtesy, his extensive acquaintance with the business and people of the County, and his past public and private services, are a sure guarranty that his election would give general satisfaction. while at the same time it secured the services of an able and faithful public officer. Let us give Mr Shove a cordial support, so that if there is to be any contest, we may finish it at a blow.

Railroads.

The hearing before the Railroad Committee on the petition for the Salem and Malden Railroad, was probably concluded last evening. E. H. Derby was to close on the part of the Eastern Railroad against the granting of a charter, and Hon Rufus Choate in favor of the Road. We learn that the friends of the Road have abundant reason to be satisfied with their case as it appeared in evidence before the Committee, and they can anticipate no valid reason why a bill should not be reported in their favor.

Annexation to Salem.

We learn that the Commitee on Towns to whom was refered the petition of C. A. Dearborn and others have, after several hearings and a visit to the disputed territory, made their Report to the Legislature recommending a reference of the subject to the next General Court. This is what one of our Senators calls 'politely bowing out' the petitioners. We believe however the object of the committee was to afford an opportunity for the parties to agree on a new line of division which would be satisfactory to all.

Cotton Bleachery—We see by the Legislative proceedings that T. W. Walker, Esq. of Boston, has petitioned for an act of Incorporation as the Foster Company for Manufacturing purposes, and it is understood that it is the intention of the corporation to establish a Bleachery on an extensive scale in this town at the Foster Mill Pond. It is said that the water is uncommonly pure and well adapted to bleaching purposes.

THEATRICAL PERFORMANCES. The Mechanic Hall in Salem, has been occupied several times within a year or two, for the exhibition of what have been called "Temperance Plays,' 'Moral Plays,' &c. Last week, the members of the Mechanic Association, which owns a number of share in the building, voted unanimously to express their disapprobation of this use of the hall, which they did in a series of resolutions, and "Voted—That the President, in behalf of the Association, respectfully request the Mayor of the city not to license any theatrical exhibitions or equestrian performances.

Oratorio of Moses in Egypt.

This beautiful Oratorio has been performed by the Boston Handel & Haydn Society eight times this season, and the ninth is to take place next Sunday evening. It is received by the public with marked favor. Every night of its performance the spacious Hall, "the Melodeon" has been filled with delighted listeners. It has proved an attraction as strong as "Sampson," the celebrated Oratorio, which was performed to full houses thirteen times last season. The Handel & Haydn Society deserves patronage when it brings forward such music as this, and we are gratified to know that it receives it abundantly. Many of our musical friends of this town and of Salem, Lynn and Beverly, have already attended; and we are glad to state that some arrangements are making by which many more will attend on next Sunday evening, from each of these places. It is found to be more convenient for Danvers people to be conveyed in carriages, than by the Railroad cars, taking into account the distance we are obliged to travel to reach the Salem Depot, the intolerable nuisance of walking whether it be snowy muddy or dry, from the cars to the old Ferry way, and the disagreeable and almost interminable route from the Boston Depot to the Melodeon.

We hope all who love pure music, will avail themselves of some good opportunity to hear this splendid performance. It will amply compensate for the trouble and expense of attendance.

Naumkeag Steam Factory.

At a casual visit to this establishment last week, we were surprised at its extent and the progress that has been made towards the completion of this vast industrial edifice. Workmen were engaged in adjusting steam pipes around each of the apartments or rooms, and although but a small portion of the pipe had received the steam, there was a genial, summer-like warmth in the building quite grateful to a visitor from the cold air without.

We were particularly struck with the extent of the building. To say that it is 400 feet long by 60 feet wide and four stories high, may give some idea of its capacity, but when we estimate its size by the number of human beings it will contain, we have a more vivid conception of its vastness. Let us suppose that a single room, which includes the space in a single story of the building, is to be fitted with seats for an audience, and the same space allowed for each auditor as at Lyceum or Mechanic Hall, and you have accomodations for 5000 people, beside room for aisles and the rostrum. Now there are four such rooms and an attic with about two thirds of the space of one of them, which shows fully that the building would afford room for every man, woman and child in Salem and Danvers to be comfortably seated. Noah's ark, according as it is represented in the scriptural account, was but a cockle shell compared with this solid temple of brick and mortar.

We were pleased to observe that the height of the ceiling from the floor in each story is 12 feet. This not only helps the external appearance of the edifice, but is favorable to the health of those who will occupy the rooms. Where there is to be such a mass of life in a single building, every possible care should be taken that a sufficient supply of pure air can circulate through it.

We ascended to the room in the fourth story and were struck with admiration at its extent, unobstructed as it is by any partition, stairway, columns or posts, the floor above it being supported entirely by its connection with the roof.

We were informed that this mill when in full operation, will give employment to about one thousand persons. The same company have asked and obtained liberty to increase their capital, and contemplate erecting another mill as large as this. We have heretofore, in speaking of the introduction of the Cotton manufacture into Salem, observed that we considered it a new era in her history and the commencement of a long career of prosperity. In the wish that it may be so we only express the feelings of our citizens who all regard the prosperity of Salem as important to the advancement of their own town.

Massachusetts State Prison.

The usual documents relating to this institution have been laid before the Legislature. The inspectors express a belief that its general interests and condition were never more prosperous, nor its objects more fully attained than at present.—The Sabbath School connected with the prison is in a prosperous condition. A larger supply of books for the use of the convicts is recommended the present number being 279.

The report of the Warden states, that in Oct. 1st. 1844, the number of convicts was 276.

During the year ending September 30th, 1845, 96 were received, and 85 discharged—leaving in the prison at the end of that time, 287—of whom 130 are between the ages of 20 and 30—7 are between 60 and 70. The terms of fourteen of the convicts are for life. The number from England, is 18—from Ireland, 27—from Scotland, 3—from Canada, 4—from Nova Scotia, 4—from Massachusetts 103.—Of their occupations, 62 are stone-cutters, 20 blacksmiths, 10 tin-workers, 61 cabinet-makers and upholsterers, 26 brush-makers, 8 coopers, 3 tailors, 6 hatters, 9 carpenters and 15 shoemakers.

Almost all punishment inflicted here, is by solitary confinement, from one to a few days, and has generally been found sffucient to subdue the offender.

REV. CHARLES T. TORREY. A petition has been presented to Gov. Pratt of Maryland, for the pardon of Rev. Charles T. Torrey, who is now confined in the penitentiary for assisting slaves to escape. The application is predicated on his ill health. It is proposed that he shall pay for the slaves, be pardoned, and leave the state. It is said that he admits that he acted wrong, and hopes to be forgiven; but knowing the man as we do, we think this part of the story highly improbable. His wife has petitioned in his behalf, and there are numerous other applicants.

Statistics of Fruit.

The Boston Mercantile Journal has an abstract from the lately published Statistics of the State, relating to the quantity and value of Fruit raised and sold annually. In this return we find that Danvers stands first as a fruit-growing town in the county of Essex, and the fourth in the Commonwealth. Wilbraham in Hampden county stands first, having raised 51,832 bushels. West Cambridge next, 50,340 bushels—Southwick next, 44,004 bushels. Then comes Danvers, 42,420 bushels. The following are the towns in Essex County which produced more than 15,000 bushels, with the value as estimated in the returns:—

ESSEX.	Bushels.	Value.
Amesbury,	15,426	$6,200
Beverly,	25,000	12,250
Boxford,	27,534	3,000
Bradford,	22,096	3,683
Danvers,	42,420	15.117
Haverhill,	29,246	4,648
Ipswich,	16,332	3,153
Methuen,	15,469	6,193
Newbury,	41,497	8,299
Rowley,	18,543	1,975
Salisbury,	19,675	3,062
Wenham,	31,843	7,961

The Journal remarks; We find that the largest quantities of fruit are produced in the vicinity of large towns, and command a higher price. This may also be owing to the superior quality. It is a "fixed fact," as Caleb Cushing said of John Tyler, that good fruit will always command a good price, and there is no danger of overstocking the market; and the people, generally, in our cities and large towns, are getting to be tolerable judges of fruit, and will not be satisfied with a choke pear, a wild cherry, or an apple sour enough to paralyze the proboscis of a pig!

VIOLENT SNOW STORM.—On Sunday morning last, a snow storm of unusual severity commenced in this vicinity, and continued during the day.—The snow fell in great quantities and before noon the streets became almost impassible. At some of the churches no meeting was held in the afternoon, and those which held public services were but poorly attended.

Our exchanges come to us filled with heart sickening accounts of the loss of life and limbs, by shipwreck; and amongst the most distressing is that of the packet ship John Minturn, bound from New Orleans to New York, which went ashore having on board several passengers. The captain, his wife two children, five cabin passengers, and others of the crew amounting to twenty-eight persons perished. Sixty lives it is already ascertained have been lost by shipwrecks during this storm.

ROWDYISM—Some of our young rowdies have been amusing themselves lately in Grove Street, and its vicinity by obstructing the road—throwing into the travelled path billets of wood, timber, &c., Last Wednesday night a large joist was placed across the sleigh path, evidently with the design of tripping up a horse, which if successful might have done great injury to life and limbs.

Mr King and Gen Chipman.—The following account of a very amusing scene which occurred in the House of Representatives on Friday last we copy from the N Y Tribune.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the State of the Union, and took up the private calendar. During the discussion upon one of the bills allowing the heirs of a deceased soldier the benefit of the pension laws, a rich scene was enacted between Mr King of Massachusetts, (the Representative from this District) and General Chipman of Michigan, who regards "Education as the enemy of Democracy." Mr. King, during an explanation, said something about a "country lawyer"—at which the intrepid General Chipman, who pledged himself to take Canada in 90 days, took great offence. He raved like a mad-man, shook his finger most ominously and declared that no man should call him on that floor "a country lawyer?"—(Shouts of laughter.) But that he regarded it far more creditable to be a country lawyer, than to be advocating dishonest claims either before the committee or in the House, like the one under consideration. Mr Tibbats thinking the General had blown off a sufficient quantity of steam, and that there was now, no danger of his collapsing, called him to order. Mr King replied with a great deal of coolness, that the gentleman from Michigan had entirely misunderstood his remarks, That he had never for a moment suspected the gentleman of being a lawyer of any kind, and he did not believe the House had. Here, Mr Tibbatts again interposed and called Mr King to order, and the farcical encounter ended. The committee decided by a vote of 76 to 56, to report the above bill to the House and recommend its rejection.

A CHANGE. The Lowell Courier informs us that Rev Mr Remington, for twenty years a Methodist preacher, formerly of Boston, and more recently of Lowell, has announced to his people his conversion to the faith of the Baptists, and his resignation of his pastoral charge.

SLANDER SUIT. Some three years ago there was considerable excitement in the Western part of this State, growing out of an incident which took place in the Female Seminary, under the care of Miss Ingham, at LeRoy. The case, as it came before the Court, at the Orleans County Circuit, was entitled Mary N Ladd vs. Marietta Ingham. The plaintiff was a pupil of the defendant, and was charged by her with having stolen a gold watch. The affair has occupied a large share of public attention. It was first tried in Genesee County, on a charge of false imprisonment; Miss Ladd having, if we recollect correctly, been confined in a room of the seminary with a view of drawing a confession from her. The result of this trial was a small fine.

The cause recently decided in the Orleans County Court was for slander, and the jury have given for the plaintiff a verdict of three thousand dollars.

In reference to Miss Ingham, the Rochester American says:—"Notwithstanding these repeated legal decisions against her, public opinion is not a little divided in regard to the merits of the controversy.—Miss Ingham's Seminary has all along continued to be one of the most flourishing institutions of the kind in the State."

There was considerable animal magnetism, or rather clairvoyance, mixed up with the case; the aid of a somnambule having been called in to discover the missing property and designate the thief.—N Y Com

☞At a town meeting in Newburyport on Friday, it was voted—yeas 262, nays 174—to reconsider the vote by which the town refused to consent to the union of the towns of Newbury and Newburyport. The citizens of Newbury, however, upon the same day, voted against the union, 191 to 134.

Massachusetts Legislature.

Leave to withdraw has been granted to John B. Alley and others, of Lynn, petitioners for a Mutual Eire Marine Insurance Company; but the House have, for the present suspended action on the subject, in order to give the petitioners an opportunity to modify their application somewhat, so as to obtain a sufficient amount of actual capital to provide for their marine risks. Leave to withdraw has also been reported in the case of the Waltham and Boston Railroad.

There have this year been several applications for new towns and altering old town lines—most of which, however, meet with much opposition.

The hearing on the Bridge to Naumkeag Factory has been postponed, to give the Committee an opportunity to view to the premises.

The Newburyport and Georgetown Railroad has been before the Committee, and remonstrances against the same have been presented by Mr. Little, of West Newbury, and Mr. Ingersoll, of Bradford. The Eastern Railroad do not oppose this grant, it being expressly avowed that this road is not intended to compete with them, but looks to an ultimate connection with Lowell.

Leave to withdraw has been reported on the various applications for school fund from the towns which had not fully complied with the law in the returns—including your goodly city, which, by this decision, loses several hundreds of dollars.

Bills have been reported incorporating Wm. H. Chase and others as the Forest River Lead Company—capital $100,000; T. W. Walker and others as the Foster Mills, at Danvers—capital $200,000.

Several petitions, and the resolutions of the town of Lynn, have been presented in favor of Salem and Malden Railroad.

The plurality bill has been defeated by a decisive vote.—Salem Reg.

In the Senate on Monday, Mr. Condrey, from the Committee on Mercantile Affairs and Insurance, reported Bills giving John W. Trull and Benjamin Lamson leave to extend their wharves.

Mr Wheatland, from the Committee on Parishes and Religious Societies, on the petition of the proprietors of the new Meeting House in Dedham for authority to tax pews, reported leave to withdraw.

In the House of Representatives. The following petitions &c. were presented and referred: of W. Hood and others, and of W Oliver and others, in aid of the petition of David Pingree; of Miles Osborn and others, and of Samuel Tufts and others, for an alteration of the act regulating the use of steam engines and furnaces.

Orders adopted—On motion of Mr Fowler of Danvers, that the Committee on the Judiciary inquire into the expediency of enacting a statute by which married women, minors, shall be authorized to convey real estate, in the same manner as those of age.

On motion of Mr Gardner, of Wales, that the Committee on the Judiciary inquire into the expediency of altering the laws relating to mortgages of personal property.

The first matter in the orders of the day was a bill authorizing the conveyance of the real estate of deceased persons, or persons under guardianship, with amendments introduced by Mr Perkins, of Salem.

Mr Whitney, of Stow, introduced some amendments to Mr Perkins's amendments, which were adopted.

Mr Whitney and Mr Perkins spoke in favor of the amendments. Mr Barton opposed them.

On motion of Mr Sargent, of Cambridge, the bill was recommitted.

Mr Thurston, from the Committee on Towns, reported a bill setting off a part of Ipswich to Boxford.

A petition has been presented, of Oliver Carlton and others, for an act of incorporation as the Massachusetts Teachers' Association.

On Wednesday, on motion of Mr Wilson of Natick, the order submitted by him some time ago respecting abolition and slavery, was taken from the table, and Mr Wilson spoke at length in support of the principles embodied in the preamble and resolutions accompanying the order. On motion of Mr Tolman of Boston, the bill was laid on the table by a vote of 97 to 71.

The applications from the city of Salem and other towns, for school fund, have been decidedly rejected.

The hearing on the Salem and Malden Railroad commenced on Monday—C T Russell, Esq. and Hon R Choate for petitioners—N J Lord and E H Derby, Esq's, for the Eastern Railroad.

The Foster Mills in Danvers are for bleaching purposes, proposing to use the water of Brown's and Spring Ponds, &c.

On Thursday, a bill was reported to incorporate the Essex Railroad Corporation, to construct, and locate a Railroad from Salem to Methuen, through Andover, (North Parish.)

FROM TEXAS. The Galveston, Capt. Wright, arrived yesterday from Galveston. She left there on Monday. We make up the following from the papers which she brought us:

It is estimated that one thousand families of emigrants have crossed the ferry at Washington, (on the Brazos) during the last three months.—There were four hundred persons collected at one time on the east Bank of the Brazos, waiting to pass over the ferry. [New Orleans Delta, 5th Feb.

LIFE INSURANCE. John Thornton of Boston, died very suddenly, on Monday, of an affection of the heart, aged about 63. A few days before his death he procured a life insurance for two thousand dollars.—His family, which otherwise would have been left nearly or quite destitute, will, thus have the benefit of that sum—an amount which, to a widow and five minor children, is no trifling consideration, when thus deprived of him who has been their stay and support.—Mass. Spy.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Wm D. Northend Esq., of this town has been appointed agent for the N. E. Mutual Life Ins. Co., for Danvers, and vicinity.

AN OLD COAT. Mr Little has found under one of the pews in the old East Church, a coat which evidently belonged to one of the carpenters employed in erecting the house, a hundred and twenty-eight years ago. It is a specimen of old-fashioned economy, having more patches upon it than could be found among a troop of beggars at the present day. In one of the pockets was a gimlet and a piece of chalk, and in the other a cotton handkerchief, in perfect preservation. Gaz.

☞Counterfeit $5 bills of the Manchester (N H) Bank, are in circulation, and well circulated to deceive. They are signed Nathan Parker, Cashier; J W Parker, President; and dated Oct. 3d, 1845—letter A. The central engraving, at the top of the notes, represents a group of cattle.

FOR THE COURIER

Mr. Editor—The notice in your last paper, of the pamphlet lately published, containing King's Eulogy on GEN. FOSTER, with notes, & induced me to procure the book and examine it. I found it to contain much interesting information Facts worthy to be known and remembered all. Every thing that relates to our Revolutionary struggle and the events of that time, is worthy of remembrance. In no place was the flame Liberty earlier lighted than in this vicinity, and in none did it burn with an ardor more intense. The facts disclosed in this publication, show that the first hostile movements were made on our territory; and that they were met with a promptness that knew no fear. If the incidents connected with the life of one of the actors, awaken much interest; how much more would be aroused could all the facts and events of the times be faithfully portrayed. Nearly all those who took part in these events, or witnessed them are now gone. Before they all disappear, it is most desirable, that what they know and saw should be collected and recorded. Many of the towns in this County have already furnished highly instructive volumes, detailing the events of their early history. In none were these events more numerous and striking than in the territory that constituted the town of Salem; and especially that part of Salem, now known by the name of Danvers. The person who shall trace these events, and arrange them, with sound judgment and good taste will do a service that will long be remembered with respect and gratitude. We hope the same gentleman who has done so well in the pamphlet that induced these remarks, will persevere in his researches, until a compilation shall be made worthy of the subject.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP CAMBRIA,—THIRTY-ONE DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Steamship Cambria arrived at Boston about 11 o'clock on Wednesday evening; have made the passage in a little more than 14 days, which for this season of the year is very remarkable.

The angry debates in Congress relative to Oregon appeared to create very little concern in England. The general tone of the English press is pacific.

From Ireland there is nothing of importance.

M. Guizot had made a flaming speech in the French Chamber of Peers relative to the President's Message which caused a good deal of talk, but did not harm anybody

The most important news is the new commercial scheme of Sir Robert Peel, which has created great excitement, and is thus set forth in the European Times;

It is at once simple and comprehensive; and under its operation the exchange of commodities between this country and the United States will be carried to an extent, and will be mutually productive of advantages greater—to quote, not irreverently the words of the sacred volume—"than the eye hath yet seen, or the heart conceived." The new scheme embraces with a full sense of their importance, the principles of free trade—repudiates all protection for commerce, manufactures, and agriculture; admits corn duty free at the end of three years, with a scale, in the interim, which will probably oscilate between four and six shillings per quarter, and at once admits maize and buckwheat duty free, without any restriction whatever.

Proposed Alterations of Duties on American Produce.

	Previous Duty.	Reduced to.
Bacon	14s per cwt	Free.
Beef, fresh	8s "	"
Beef, salted	8s "	"
Hay	16s per load	"
Hides	2d per lb	"
Meat	8s per cwt	"
Pork	8s "	"
Butter	20 "	10s per cwt
Candles, tallow	10s "	5s "
Cheese	10s 6d "	5s "
Clocks	20 per cent	10 per cent
Hams	14s per cwt	7s per cwt
Hops	90s "	45s "
Indian Corn	heavy duty	1s per qr
Rice	6s per cwt	1s "
Tallow	3s 2d per cwt	1s per cwt

There are many other articles manufactured by the American artizan which may be exported to England with advantage, provided this new tariff is fully carried out.

On Thursday, the 22d of January, Parliament was opened by the Queen in person.

In regard to the difficulties existing between the two governments concerning the Oregon boundary, the Queen in her address to Parliament says:

"I regret that the conflicting claims of Great Britain and the United States in respect of the territory on the north-western coast of America, although they have been made the subject of repeated negotiation, still remain unsettled. You may be assured that no effort consistent with national honor shall be wanting on my part to bring this question to an early and peaceful termination,"

ANNOUNCED BIRTHS.—The Pittsfield Eagle says that fifty years ago it was the custom of the pastor of a New England congregation, to announce the event of a birth of a child on the opening of the services of the Sabbath, and return thanks for the mercy. This custom finally became so tedious from the multitude of cases, that it was thought best to discontinue it. We recollect of hearing an anecdote of old Dr Parsons of Amherst, in point. The Rev Doctor was so bored with announcements of this kind, that he hardly had time left to go through his regular explanation of the doctrines of his text. One morning he rose and astonished his congregation with the announcement that the 'occasion of a birth of a child had become so common a mercy, he thought it best to dispense with the service of giving thanks.'—Springfield Republican.

The Boston Traveller says—The custom of "returning thanks for mercies received" had not gone into disuse hereabouts, even twenty-five years ago. We well remember some who, within that time, were accustomed to make an annual offering of gratitude for these peculiar favors. Now, however, public giving of thanks is entirely dispensed with—gratitude being in such cases perfectly understood. Fifty years ago, it was the custom here to carry an infant to "meeting," for baptism, on the next Sunday after its birth, and if it should be born on Sunday morning—then it was if possible sent out on that very day. In an article in the last number of the Journal of Health and Monthly Miscellany, entitled "My own Times or Fifty Years Since," by Dr W Channing, the following anecdote, in illustration of this practice, is related:

"Rev Mr.——went to meeting one Sunday morning, at an early hour, as usual, and while waiting for the hour of service to arrive, he saw the sexton bringing in the Christian Basin. After the short prayer, the singing, the reading of the scriptures, he walked down from the pulpit to christen the child who had been brought into the house. He asked what the name was to be. The person who presented the infant said he did not know. The minister then asked whose child it was. He was told that his own wife had given it birth since he left home, and that according to custom it had been brought out for the rite of infant baptism."

The custom alluded to above, was observed in this place much more recently than appears by the above extracts. It is matter of tradition here that public prayers were formerly offered in anticipation of the event which afterwards drew forth the grateful offering from the pulpit, of thanks for 'mercies received.' There was usually much similarity in the phraseology of these thank offerings although they were sometimes varied from the common form In one of the congregations in this town a note was offered in which after the usual 'thanks for mercies received' a petition was added for a 'continuance of such needed blessings.'

CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, Feb. 17th

In the Senate to-day, Mr Allen, from the committee on foreign relations, reported the joint resolution from the House' abrogating the convention of 1827, without amendment. He was instructed, he said, to move that the resolution be made the special order of this day at 1 o'clock, which was agreed to.

Thus, the committeee of the Senate have adopted the House resolutions instead of their own.

The Oregon question was taken up and debated.

Mr Dix has the floor to-morrow.

In the House, Mr Thomas Smiih again offered his resolution instructing the committee on foreign affaiis to inquire into the expediency of reporting a joint resolution requesting the President to enter into negotiation with Spain for the purchase of Cuba; and it lies over, under objections, for debate.

The bill making appropriations for the payment of revolutionary pensions for 1847, and oth. er purposes, w s amended and passed.

The House af Representatives on Wednesday, went into committee on the bill making appropriations for the expenses of the Indian department and for fulfilling treaty stipulations with the Indian tribes, for the year ending 30th June, 1847.

Mr Culver of New York, and Mr Giddings, of Ohio, took exception to all the items for carrying the treaties into effect, for the reason that a portion of the money was to be paid for slaves, as property, taken from the Indians. The recognition of slaves, as property, by the House, would be a perpetual blot on its character.

Mr Giddings declared that the Seminole war arose from the attempts to recover runaway slaves in Florida.

Mr Wick said that, admitting the fact, the government was bound to pay for slaves as property. We demanded and received payment from Great Britain for slaves taken during the last war.

Mr Giddings was called upon for proof of his assertion that any part of the money was to be paid for slaves.

Mr G. said the proof could be found in the public archives.

Mr Sawyer went into a physiological examination of his colleague's constitution, showing that by applying a strong microscopic power to a drop of his colleague's blood, it would be found to be full like all other blood, of very active animalcule; with this difference, that his colleague's blood would show millions of strapping neg oes, which on all occasions set his colleague in motion and produced his monomania.

Mr Brockenbrough denied that the Siminole treaty alluded to on this bill provided for payment for any negro slaves. Whatever claim there ever was for slaves was paid long ago, and amounted to a very small sum.

Mr Culver offered an amendment providiug that no part of the money be paid for fugitive slaves. This was rejected.

Bennett, of the New York Herald, has sued Major Noah for various libels, and laid his damage at $10,000,000. A decidedly valuable character which can be damaged to such an amount!

☞There is in operation in this State 700 miles of railroad. These roads cost $23,000,000.

☞We learn that Rev. Mr. Banvard, of the 2d Baptist church, in Salem, has accepted the invitation of the Baptist Society, worshipping in Harrison Avenue, Boston, to become their pastor.

A large defalcation has been discovered in the accounts of Barker Burnell, Cashier of the Nantucket Bank, and he has decamped.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem, Mr. WM. PROCTOR to Miss LYDIA ANN DA COSTA.

In Lynn, Mr. GEORGE CHURCHILL to Miss JULIA A. SOULE.

DEATHS.

In this town, 16th inst., Mr. ELIJAH POPE, aged 80.

In Salem, Miss SARAH ELIZABETH DAVIS, aged 24. Mr JAMES BARTLOW, aged 55. Mrs HANNAH PALFREY, aged 46. Mrs. HARRIET, wife of Capt. Timothy Bryant.

In South Yarmouth, RUSSELL DAVIS, aged 75. An esteemed minister og the society of Friends, formerly of New Bedford.

☞The Lecture on the Bible, postponed from last Sunday evening, on account of the storm, will be delivered TO-MORROW evening, should the weather prove favorable. feb 21

Hon. D. P. King's Eulogy.

Eulogy at the Funeral of Gen. Gideon Foster, delivered in the Unitarian Church in Danvers, Nov 3d, 1845, by Hon Daniel P. King. With Notes. For sale by Sylvanus Dodge, R. S. Daniels, M. T. Dole, Charles Lambert & Co. Sylvester Proctor, jr., Joseph Shed, H. A. Potter, New Mills, Thomas Bowen, Plains. feb 14

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday evening

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

The regular meetings of this Tent will be held in future on Monday evenings, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

A. C. OSBORNE, C. R.

WM. PRICE, Sec. feb 14

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.,

Having received their Charter and duly organized and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns, Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

TREES. TREES.

All persons in want of Fruit or Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Herbaceous Plants, Vines, etc., can be supplted in any quantity from the nurseries of Parsons & Co., Flushing, the most extensive establishment of the kind in the United States. Orders should be sent in early, as trees should be taken up as soon as the frost is out. Catalogues may be obtained of the subscriber, who is now ready to receive orders.

Danvers, Feb. 20, 1846. W. D. JOPLIN, Agent.

PORTRAIT PAINTING.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to the citizens of Danvers, that he has taken a room over Lambert & Merrill's store, where he would be happy to wait upon any who may faver him with their patronage. Visitors are requested to call.

feb 21 P. DERBY.

S. DODGE has just received a new assortment of Plain and Ruled, Cap and Letter Paper of the best quality. Also—Plain and Tuck Bibles and Testaments; Plain and Ornamental Cards; Dunbar's Blue and Black Ink; Gillott's School and extra Fine Pens; Wafers, Sealing Wax,—together with a new assortment of Toy Books, Primers, Games, etc., to which he would particularly invite the attention of his little friends, whom he will not fail to please on very reasonable terms. feb 21

DOLLARS! DOLLARS!! DOLLARS!!! can be saved by purchasing your Clothing and furnishing Goods at EDWARD'S Cash Store. Why? because he sels for nothing but the Cash, and you will not have to pay for others who do not pay. feb 20

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, (Office, Merchants' Bank Building, State street, Boston,) since commencing February 1, 1844, have issued 547 policies, the number monthly having varied from 30 to 72—the amounts from $200 to $10,000 each—net fund accumulated (owing to the favorable turn of the risks thus far being mostly New England lives) $36,600—well invested for the proportional benefit of those who shall become, as well as those already members—surplus to be refunded to members at the end of every five years from December, 1843—no insurance on credit, and no loss by any member, by bad premium-notes of others.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, ROBERT HOOPER, WILLIAM PARSONS, CHARLES P. CURTIS, FRANCIS C. LOWELL, GEORGE H. KUHN, WILLIAM W. STONE, R. B. FORBES, PETER WAINWRIGHT, THOMAS A. DEXTER, JAMES READ, and OTIS TUFTS, Directors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President.

JONATHAN AMORY, Secretary.

The subscriber having been appointed Agent for Danvers and vicinity, of the above named Institution, would hereby give notice that he is ready to receive applications for Insurance on lives, for one year, seven years, or for life, at very low rates of Premium.

The advantages of Life Insurance are becoming every day more apparent, and its excellent effects appreciated by the community.

Blank forms of application and any additional information will be given on application to

W. D. NORTHEND.

Danvers Feb 21, 1846.

FINE STEEL SPECTACLES. Just received, another lot of those fine, spring tempered, steel bowed Spectacles, a very superior article.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,

feb 21 222 Essex street.

NEW WORKS. Pulpit Elocution, comprising Suggestions on the importance of the Study,—the Rules of Reading—Observations on the Principles of Gesture, &c.—by Wm Russell, Instructor in Elocution—Including articles on the Study of Elocution, by Prof. Park, and 1 vol. neatly bound in cloth.

Thoughts of Blaise Pascal—translated from the French—with a Sketch of his Life. 1 vol 14 mo.

Philanthropy of my Mother's Bible—founded on an incident which happened in New York—from the Press of the Harpers—18 mo.

A Defence of Capital Punishment by Dr. Cheever—New ed.. with an essay on the ground and reason of Punishment, by Taylor Lewis. With a Review of Burleigh on the Death Penalty, 50c.

A Synopsis of Popery as it was, and as it is—by Wm Hogan—formerly Catholic Priest—25c.

Popish Numneries, by Hogan—25c.

A fresh supply of Festus, a Poem, by P. I. Bailey—first Am. edition.

The Elves, from the German of Tieck, by T. Carlyle, 25c. Rec'd at the Bookstore of

feb 20 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

CHEAP German Paint Boxes. One case of the above of various sizes, just received and for sale at wholesale and retail, by

feb 21 J. P JEWETT & CO.

DR. FLINT'S DISCOURSES delivered on taking leave of the Old Church of the East Society, in Salem, Dec 28, 1845; and the Dedication of their New Church, January 1, 1846. Just published and for sale by

feb 21 W & S B IVES.

SOMETHING NEW. For the Sick Room. A French perfume, for purifying sick rooms, by removing all disagreeable smells, Pastilles Fumantas, Ordorferants, pour parfumer les appeartments Just received and or sale at the bookstore of

J P JEWETT & CO.,

feb 21 Opposite the Mansion House.

A CURE FOR COLDS, COUGHS, &c.—The Bronchial Comfit, an excellent article, as all testify who have used it. Singers, Clergymen, and others who nse their voice in public will find it very beneficial. 25c per box. Fresh supply just received by the Agents

feb 21 J. P. JEWETT & Co.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Saturday.

This vessel takes neither Ice or Lime.

The superior, fast sailing bark BRIGHTON, Snow, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. Weld & Co., Agents at New Orleans.

feb 21

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
First fair wind
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet schooner OSCAR, Hosmer, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. feb 21

For Norfolk, City Point and Richmond.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE.
From Commercial Wharf—On Tuesday.

The coppered sch. CORDOVA, Freeman, master now loading, will sail as above.

For freight or passage, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAMUEL WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

feb 14

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines, usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale a the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT.)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trufant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic, and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

TO LET

Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street. Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.

Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has taken Rooms Over Lambert & Merrill's Store, where he intends carrying on the Tailoring Business in all its branches.

His system, or rule for cutting (which is a very superior one) was recently obtained in London, at considerable expense.

Particular attention paid to Gaiter Pants, and his style of cutting is respectfully submitted for examination.

A share of patronage is solicited.

S. AUGUSTUS CARLTON.

Cash Clothing Emporium.

THE subscriber will, on and after this date, sell and manufacture Clothing of every kind for CASH.

In returning my thanks to those who have been favored with credit and justly paid all demands, and also those who always pay cash, I would respectfully invite such to continue to me their custom, and I trust that the EXTREME LOW PRICES that I shall sell at will be perfectly satisfactory.

ANY ORDERS IN THE TAILORING, CLOTHIMG, or FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, will be promptly attended to on the CASH and ONE PRICE SYSTEM, at

BENJ. EDWARD'S,

eb 14 No 10 Front street.

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons iadebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch. JOHN NUTTING,

S. D. PENDAR.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845.

GEORGE W. CRAFTS,
ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand. G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb 7

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself a No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability eannot be exeelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church.

dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

FOR SALE.

The subscribers offer for sale the three story building, with the Land under and adjoining, now occupied by them as a Currier's shop, situated on Foster street The building is in good repair. Terms reasonable. J. & T. HARDY.

july 26 tf

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in the city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN, sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing uuder the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindinge, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made. W. & S. B. IVES,

Bookstore and Bindery,

jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.

MANNING & SARGENT,
Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,

KEEP constantly on hand and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. C. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

LITTLEFIELD'S Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)
SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers.

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.

dec 6 lawtf

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

George Southwick,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, innholder, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to JESSE H. SOUTHWICK,

Danvers, February 7th, 1846. Executor.

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.
DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of

BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks. Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon the establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

apr 15 tf

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,

oct 25 Essex st. Salem.

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to

Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25

GOLD FOB CHAINS.

HEAVY Gold Fob Chains, just received and for sals low at 222 Essex street, Salem, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, JR.

dec 6

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of

HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845,

G. W. CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER AND STATIONER,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAS constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at the lowest rates. meb 13

New Stove
Utter's New Hot Air Tight Stove,

FOR Coal or Wood, designed for parlors and sitting Rooms. The Patentee warrants a saving of 50 per cent in fuel, and in attending fires, 100 per cent. The subscribers have been appointed agents for the sale of the above stove in this town.

dec 20 LORD & WILEY.

AUCTION.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Fabulus Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 105 feet on said street, and about 163 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct.,

35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

BY ORDER OF THE COURT OF PROBATE, will be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 16 day of March next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

SO much of the Real Estate of Ezra Gowing, late of Lynnfield, in the County of Essex, yeoman, deceased, as will raise the sum of Thirteen Hundred and Twenty Five Dollars, for the payment of his just debts and incidental charges.

Said Estate consists of a certain Farm situated in Lynnfield, afore said, bounded Northerly by land of Daniel King, North-easterly and South-easterly by land late of Aaron Foster, deceased, and South-westerly, by land of William Skinner, jr. containing forty acres; be the same more or less, with all the buildings thereon.

Also, about one acre of Upland and Meadow, situate in said Lynnfield, bounded Northerly by land of the heirs of Thomas Chasson, dec'd; Easterly and Southerly by land of Asa Gardner. and Westerly by land formerly owned by Thomas Bancroft, Esq.

Thy sale will be at the dwelling house on said farm, where the condition and particulars will be made known.

Persons wishing to view the premises, are respectfully requested to call upon William Skinner, jr. who lives near the premises, who will show the same and give such information as may be wanted.

Salem, feb 21 WILLIAM GOWING, Admr.

W. D. JOPLIN, AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18, 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FARENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "

oct 25

DR. J. A. ROBINSON.
SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, oposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street, recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth,

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

SELLING OFF.

☞ GREAT BARGAINS. ☜

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes, for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf No 9, Washington street.

ESSEX ss. At a Court of Probate holden at Salem, in and for said county, on the first Tuesday in January, A. D. 1846.

On the petition of William Gowing, administrator of the estate of

Ezra Gowing,

late of Lynnfield, in said county, yeoman, deceased, intestate, showing that the debts against the estate of said deceased, amount to fourteen hundred fifty-four dollars, seventy-two cents; and that all his personal estate amounts to only one hundred and fifty dollars; and praying that he may be duly empowered and licensed to sell so much of the real estate of said deceased, as shall be necessary, together with such personal estate, for the payment of said debts, allowances and charges of administration, with incidental charges:—

Ordered, that the third Tuesday in February next, eleven of the clock before noon, be assigned as the time for considering said petition, at a Court of Probate then to be holden at Salem, in said county; and that said administrator give notice to all persons interested by causing an attested copy of this order to be published three weeks successively in the Danvers Courier, printed in Danvers, that they may be present and shew cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.

D. A. WHITE, Judge of Probate,

A true copy of Record,

Attest, NATH'L LORD, Jr., Register.

jan 10

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,

which he will sell very low.

feb 7 J. C. FERRIN.

BUTTER.

JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by

O. F. BATCHELDER.

Danvers, Jan 30.

JUST received a fresh supply of Gold Pens, also, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Card Cases, Wallets, Purses, &c. For sale cheap by

G. W. CRAFTS,

feb 14 174 Essex Street, Salem.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law
OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building,
Danvers, March 29th.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase—they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills. we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quire a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan. 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Sir: I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 Brattle Square, Boston.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach the brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.
Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass.,
April 20th 1944.

Sir.—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass.,
June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and this, combined with my other maladies, rendered me truly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a consumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS and now every body tells me that I am well;—I feel as well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly.. Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demands against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 13

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

HARPER'S NEW MISCELLANY. Nos. 6 and 7 Life of Paul Jones, by Mackenzie—with a likeness. Vols. 3 & 4 volume, bound in cloth. Just published for sale by J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

HALF A
Million Dollars
Worth of Clothing,
TO BE SOLD THIS YEAR—1845.
'OAK HALL!'
UNPARALLELLED
In the Annals of History as to prices of
READY MADE CLOTHING AND FURNISHING GOODS!!
Brilliant Career and Unprecedented Success!
FALL CAMPAIGN.
THIS TERRIFIC WHEEL IN FULL REVOLUTION.
COUNTRY TRADERS
Look to This.

An endless variety of every quality, style and fashion of ready made clothing, rich piece goods and furnishing goods, at

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

BOYS' CLOTHING, in all its variety. "OAK HALL" continues the "GRAND THEATRE OF ATTRACTION." A living panorama of human beings flock to this fashionable resort daily—and to meet the FULL ANTICIPATION of my numerous friends and customers, I have FRESH MANUFACTURED a

FIRST RATE STOCK

Of Ready Made Clothing and Furnishing Goods adapted to THIS FALL and coming WINTER, that will eclipse in Brilliancy and astonish all. IN QUANTITY ALMOST SURPASSES BELIEF. Together with an IMMENSE STOCK of

PIECE GOODS.

of all qualities, grades and colors, of rich VESTINGS VELVETS, SILKS, SATINS, &c. CLOTHS, CASSIMERES, DOESKINS, &c., that will be sold by the yard, or manufactured to order at prices so low an to

DEFY ALL COMPETITION.

A half million dollars worth of Ready Made clothing and Furnishing Goods to be sold THIS YEAR of our Lord, 1845 "Large Amount," the reader exclaims.—True." Some may laugh—others may sneeze—and the remainder may turn the white of their eyes, at what I am going to say, but it is my settled conviction—at conviction, mind you, that I have arrived at by the slowest imaginable degree of cogitation, and the ard deliberate calculation—that

THIS IS A LARGE COUNTRY

we live in, and my customers are scattered over every inhabitable part of the globe. The name of

"OAK HALL"

has been Proclaimed from, and posted on, the Wall of Canton and echoed back to Europe, and re-echoed All Over every inhabitable part of the globe.

With all the powerful machinery I can bring to bear, I have been able to reduce the price of the necessary article.

Ready Made Clothing,

at so low a price that I will
DEFY THE WORLD TO UNDERSELL

By doing so IMMENSE a trade I am enabled to keep that

TREMENDOUS WHEEL

in motion. SLOW and SURE is its revolution—clothing in its TURN by thousands, until the end of the year its revolution completes a half million dollars worth sold, and brings us in a new career for 1845.

COUNTRY TRADERS

I would invite your attention to as SPLENDID a variety of Fashionable goods as were ever offered in his market—comprising the latest patterns and styles of French, English and American manufacture.—You are invited to call, or send your orders by mail o that Great Market.

"OAK HALL!"

A saving of some 20 per cent, can be made, and every article constituting a Gentleman's Wardrobe can be found by the dozen, package, or ship load. Those living at a distance, preferring their clothes Fashionable Made at a First Rate

BOSTON HOUSE,

are informed that by post paid application they can receive a PROSPECTUS, explanatory of my system of business, directions for measuring, statement of prices, &c., &c. If three or four gents club together, one of my travellers will be dispatched to wait upon them. Recollect all of this

IMMENSE STOCK OF GOODS,

Shall be closed up at prices so Extremely Low as will astonish all, and set the world to WONDERING how it can be done. As my my motto this year is

To Clothe the Public

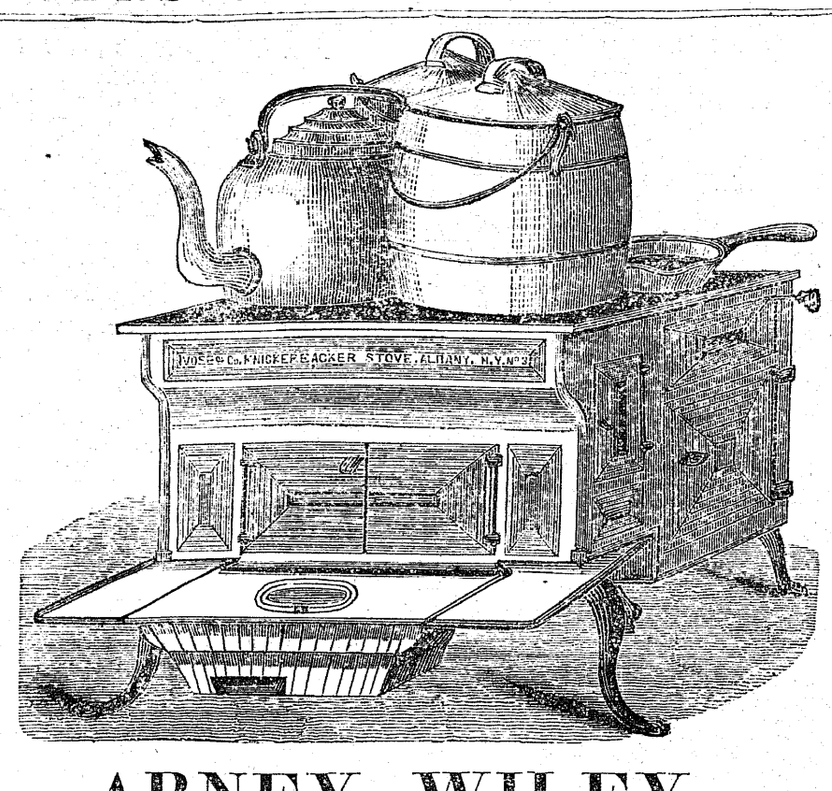
at a SMALL EXPENSE, and make out that large amount

Half a Million Dollars!

FOR PRICES,

see small advertisements in all the principal papers in the United States. Also, my poetical circular and small bills

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
PROPRIETOR OF THE
Celebrated Clothing Establishment,
"Oak Hall Building!"
32, 34, 36 and 38 Ann Street,
OPPOSITE MERCHANTS' ROW.
Entrance No. 32, Wooden Building.
☞REMEMBER☜
ENTIRE OAK FRONT, DIAMOND WINDOWS,
BOSTON.



nov3 ep3m

J. & H. HALE
IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

F. A. FABENS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

N. B. To be let, two very convenient Chambers, suitable for counting rooms. Apply as above.
Sept 13.

ARNEY WILEY,
OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbacker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;
Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;
Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks; Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortment of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on hand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfect ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

☞The readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.
May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.
Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

NEW ARTICLE. Cast Inkstands, a cheap and strong Inkstand, various sizes. Just received at W & S B IVES'S, Stationery Store. feb 14

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, whea it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

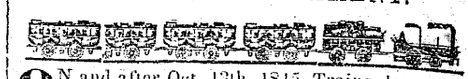
As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf



Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.
Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

EASTERN RAILROAD,
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M, 12 1-4 2 1-2, 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9, 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.
Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots
JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8	A.M
" "	8 3-4		" "	9 1-2
" "	9 3-4		" "	11 3-4
" "	11 1-4		"	12 3-4
" "	1 3-4	P M.	"	3	P.M.
" "	2 3-4	" "	"	4
" "	4 1-2	" "	"	5
" "	5 1-2	" "	"	6 1-2
" "	6 1-2	" "	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
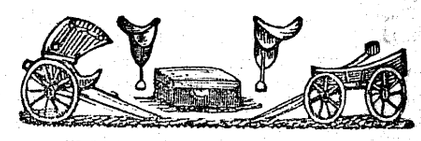
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggen

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No. 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to.

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y



Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisfaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & P pering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch29 1y

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes a prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.
MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.
Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE
july 12 27 Water street

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 28, 1846. NUMBER 50.

THE DANVERS COURIER.

IS PUBLISHED BY

GEORGE R. CARLTON,

EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

TO ONE DESPONDING.

In the sunshine, dancing
Flows the gentle stream—
Every wavelet gleaming
Beneath the orient beam;

'Mid the wood's deep shadows
Echoes gaily play
With the wild bird's music,
Whiling hours away.

On the straying zephyrs
O'er the shady dell,
Floats perfume the richest
From lily and harebell.

In the lonely cottage,
In the stately hall,
Mirth and joy and gladness
Wait alike on all.

Glorious light and beauty
Deck heaven, earth, and sea,
Then why should thou thus revel
In sorrow gloomily?

A thousand voices call thee
To light and life and love—
A holy influence draws thee
To trust in Heaven above;

Come! banish gloom and sadness
Away from out thine heart!
Bravely stem the torrent;
Act a manly part;

Sink not beneath life's troubles;
Danger boldly met
Is stripped of half its terrors;
Up! up! and conquer yet.

Yes or No.

When of a man I ask a question,
I wish he'd answer Yes or No,
Nor stop to make some smooth evasion,
And only tell me, May be so.

I always doubt the friendly meaning
Of well,—perhaps,—I do not know,—
When for a favor I am suing;
I'd rather hear the answer, No.

When of a friend I wished to borrow
A little cash,—to hear him say,
I've none to-day, but on to-morrow,
Is worse than if he'd told me Nay.

Why all this need of plastering over
What we in fact intend to show?
Why not at once, with much less labor,
Say frankly, Yes, my friend, or No?

I, from my soul, despise all quibbling;
I'll use it not with friend or foe;
But when they ask, without dissembling,
I'll plainly answer, Yes or No.

And when I ask that trembling question
Will you be mine, my dearest Miss?
Then may there be no hesitation
To say distinctly, YES SIR, YES.

COMMUNICATION.

Letters from Cuba.

Continuation.

Tuesday, Dec. 23.

It is now more than a week since I began to write to you, and as usual when I begin I fill up all the space and know not when to stop. Since then I have made a little excursion to the mountains and written two letters home. I found a good field for a Geologist in my journey but I had no time to collect specimens, and I know so little of the science practically that it would have been of but little use if I had.—Much of the rock is volcanic, and lime stone and red sandstone are the principal stones. It is a secondary region, there being none of the primary rocks such as granite, &c. I could have studied Botany better but I have no work that describes the tropical plants.—Mrs Lincoln has only a few of the common garden exotics and I hardly know what to look after. The Spanish names are so different from ours that as to their aid I might as well be without them.

The pitch pine grows on the top of some of the mountains near where I went, so that if I could climb up to them I should pass by the productions of every climate. Even to the height that I went, the vegetation had changed from that of the plain and looked more like home. Still almost every plant was different from ours. I have thought it best to describe the events of my journey in a manner to make it more interesting to the juveniles of the family and so have put it in the style of Abbot's writings for children.—The account is all true but the name, and I shall call it

MARCO'S JOURNEY TO THE MOUNTAINS.

Our friend Marco had been at Cuba about a month when one day Don Juan told him that he would start for the Mountains that afternoon. He was going with another person to buy some mahogany trees.—Marco thought he should like to go, and Don Juan told him it would be a long ride of 30 or 40 miles and he would be obliged to get a passport. Marco would also require a better horse than the one he usually rode and he could have him to ride to town and try him. He then mounted his new horse a white one and started for town carrying a few lines in Spanish, to the Consul to enable him to get his passport. He found no difficulty in getting it and the Consul said it would be 25 cents. He smiled when Marco handed him just the change, as it probably pleased him to find that the young foreigner understood what he said, although it was in Spanish. Marco liked his horse well, he was so spirited, and he got home at about one.

Marco then began to get ready for his journey.—He rolled up a blanket and sheet together and Don Juan provided him with a hammock to carry, and after eating his Spanish dinner of Hydeacca he was ready to start. Don Juan had also provided himself with a white horse and they started off together and were to call on their way for Domingo, the man who was going with them. The first few miles of their ride was upon a pretty good road with scattering houses, but the travellers soon came to the open country where there were no houses and few trees. The land was quite level and Marco could see the mountains to which they were going, looking like dark clouds in the distance. As they were riding along, he saw a great black bird as large as a turkey, upon a post by the side of the road, and he asked his companion what it was. Don Juan gave him the Spanish name and said it was the one "they throw rotten things to," so Marco concluded that it was some kind of vulture, Our travellers now passed through several forests by a narrow path, and as it began to grow dark, Marco thought he should have lost his way if his guide who went before him had not had a white horse which he could see through the trees. They forded two rivers that were 20 or 30 feet wide but not very deep at that time as it was the dry season. Marco saw many new and beautiful flowers along the road, but he did not dare often to stop and pick them, as his companion rode so fast. Once in this way Marco lost him for some time.

"After riding two hours they turned from the road to go to the house where they expected to sleep.—The way to it was through the woods, so that they brushed against the bushes on both sides as they went along, and when they reached the house they found they could not be accomodated. Don Juan then said that they must go 3 or 4 miles farther to where Domingo lived. After crossing a prarie and a little stream they came to another plain much more extensive than the first. It seemed to be bounded on all sides, except towards the mountains, by forests. As it was now rather dark and the grass was tall, Marco would sometimes lose sight of his guide and have to strain his eyes to catch a glimpse of a moving object to find him again. This vast plain seemed to him as he rode over it, like the ocean. The waving grass as the rising moon shone upon it, looked like water, and the distant forests and mountains was like land seen from sea. There seemed to be no road nor even a path across this "Savanna," as such large plains are called, and Marco asked his companion how he found his way? His reply was, "by calculation," and Marco concluded that he had some kind of land navigation that guided him through these 'trackless wilds.' They rode on in this way several miles, when they came near the forest on one side, and after looking for Domingo's cottage Don Juan told Marco that they had passed 3 or 4 miles beyond it. So they were obliged to turn back and as they saw a light gleaming in the distance, they rode towards it. After they had travelled half an hour they seemed to get no nearer to it, and finally lost sight of it altogether, and then Don Juan confessed that he had lost his way. Still they continued to go on and Marco lost sight of his companion he rode so fast, but after a little while he came up with him. Presently they came to where some cattle were feeding, then they heard the joyful sound of a dog barking, and soon they came to a little cabin just on the edge of the forest. Here Don Juan inquired the way to Domingo's and they were glad to learn that it was the next house at a little distance and our weary travellers soon reached it. It was then after 8 o.clock in the evening, and Marco was glad to get out of the saddle and sit down in a chair. Don Juan fixed up their hammocks in one of the cabins which was little more than a roof supported by posts, and Marco got into his after taking a cup of warm tea. This was not China tea although it tasted like it, but was made of some herb that grew near the mountains.

Marco was up early in the morning after a good night's sleep, and started off again with Don Juan and Domingo. At first for a short distance their way was along a level plain, but they soon came to dark woods and streams. One of the rivers was so deep that Marco wet his feet, although he held them up as high as he could while crossing. He now began to feel a little hungry as he had eaten nothing since he left home, so he supplied himself with some of his biscuit and ate them as he rode along. Somtimes the road was through the dry bed of a stream, which with the steep banks and trees on each side, looked very beautifully. At about the middle of the forenoon they stopped to get their breakfast near one of the beautiful little streams that come leaping down from the mountains. The water was very clear and sparkling, and when Marco tasted it he found it much cooler and better than that on the sea-coast.—Our travellers soon made a fine bonfire of dry sticks on the sand, by which to cook their meat which was in narrow strips and dried. Domingo stuck it on a pointed stick which he used as a spit and it was soon cooked. A sheep-skin was then laid on the grass for a table, and with the crackers and some Cassava bread they made a good meal. Marco made some lemonade as well as he could without sweetening except some sweet limes that Don Juan plucked for him.

The parties then mounted their horses and started on their way again, riding through narrow paths in the woods where the trees met over their heads so as to make it quite dark. Marco was several times knocked from his saddle by the straggling vines and branches, and once he was fairly thrown out upon the ground. After this they came to the hills which were so steep that he could hardly keep from sliding from his horse who always ran up the hill as nimbly as a cat, while he walked slowly and carefully down. They stopped a few moments at a small house to get some water and plantains and then they rode on again. The mountains now looked quite high and they could see clumps of trees upon the declivities, and Marco's companions pointed out a coffee plantation on the side of one of the mountains. As they rode along, Marco filled his pockets with limes and lemons which he plucked from the trees without getting from his horse or even stopping. At about two o'clock in the afternoon they came to another little cottage where they were joined by another man whose business it was to hew the logs of mahogany square. The four travellers now rode on for an hour longer, when they stopped at an open place in the wood, and the three men went out on foot to look at the mahogany trees, leaving Marco to take care of the horses. He was almost tired of waiting for their return which was more than an hour after they left him. Don Juan had killed an enormous great snake twelve feet long and as large round as his leg and Marco was disappointed that he did not have a chance to see it. Once more they started off and in a little while they came to the house where they were to stop which brought them to the end of their journey. It was a neat little cottage, high up on the hills and almost surrounded by the mountains. There was a fence around it enclosing a few cotton trees, an orange tree and a large rose-bush, the only one Marco had seen on the island. It was 10 or twelve feet high and spread out its branches very wide and had many beautiful roses upon it. Besides the cattle, Marco saw pigs, goats, hens, peacocks, doves, as well as cats and dogs in plenty. When they went into the house they found a young man, Manuel, a young lady and an old gentleman, Diego, their father. The young lady's name was Beatrice, and she wore a white dress, a shawl over her head, and a string of black beads around her neck. Although she was smoking, Marco thought she looked quite pretty, but he would not like to see any young lady of Danvers with a cigar in her mouth. Two other young men came in soon after, whose names were Juan and Jose. Marco was left to talk with them while his companions went to the woods, and being tired he sat down with the family in the house. They tried to talk with him, but at first they said nothing that he could understand. After a while they succeeded better, and they seemed much pleased when he could understand and answer them.—Marco would sometimes start a conversation by asking the name of some strange thing, as he could say, "Como se llama esta?" "What is that called?

Once they wished to ask him if his father and mother were dead; so they said "papa i mama?" and pointed to the skies, but as Marco did not notice that they were asking a question, he supposed they were telling him something, so he answered them yes. Just then Don Juan came in and told him what they meant and he quite astonished them by saying that he had a father, mother, brothers and sister, living. Marco wonders that he is so often asked this question unless they think that none but orphans would leave their country. They told him that they thought he could get a parrot for his little sister in the spring before he went home.

To be concluded.

MISCELLANY.

FOR THE COURIER.

THE TWO KINGS.

AN OLDEN CHRONICLE.

By the Author of the Norseman's Revenge.

CHAPTER I.

Amid the dim and shadowy regions of the extreme North, and in a period of time so remote and unknown that we defy the most enlightened critic to dispute our historical accuracy there lived two Kings, both wise and just, (which attributes by the way are novelties to Kings in general, whose names and deeds have not come down the tide of time to us so clearly as we could wish. Notwithstanding we have hunted a certain archive, the only one, accessible to us, in search of any chance, musty scrolls and parchments, that might, haply, have survived the lapse of years that are passed away, our diligence has been but poorly rewarded. though not wholly unsuccessful, for we did at last, light on a yellow, time discolored-piece of manuscript, almost illegible, from which, after much labor and pains bestowed, we have gleaned the following particulars. They are to the effect, as we stated at first, that two monarchs, the one, King Porkus, the other King Jarl, reigned once in peace and prosperity, each over his separate province which provinces were contiguous, the dividing line being a river not very wide, but exceedingly long, insomuch that it formed the only boundary between the kingdoms and ran the whole extent of the country north and south. In the rear they were both begirt by the ocean, whose roarings could be easily heard of a still summer's night, not being above twenty leagues distant; in fact, these realms, though sundered, were one island, or nearly so, connected with the main land only by a narrow isthmus. So much for localities. Before we proceed any farther, it behooves us to give some description of the respective courts and governments of these mighty potentates, with a general glance at the condition of their subjects, and we cannot do better than to quote the enthusiastic and glowing language of the worthy old Chronicler to whom we are indebted for the materials of this tale. "What pen of bard, what tongue of minstrel," cries the sage who appears to have been a contemporary of the times, 'may fittingingly depict or sing the glory and splendors of the illustrious kings, Porkus and Jarl?. Who may describe the magnificence of their palaces, number their retinue, calculate the riches of their treasures or count the warriors whom each could summon at the blast of the battle-horn? And what warriors which the world ever saw, might equal them in bravery, who more valorous in hunting the tenants of the deep? Who more potent at the feast of Thamor when the shark and the walrus smoke upon the board when the nation are assembled to thank the Gods? Who can dewour larger quantities of fish at the solemn banquet, and wash it down with more copious libations of strong ale? Where are fairer women than in Freezeland, the kingdom of Porkus? who greater than Porkus himself? the earth shakes when he walks because of his stoutness he wieldeth a ponderous club as though it were a feather, there are none in all the universe who may compete with him saving his friend and brother the high and puissant Jarl, King of Bergen.' It will readily be conjectured from the foregoing extract that the two sovereigns were living at the time this was written, which no doubt induced the worthy annalist to make his panegyric, sufficently strong and eulogistic an example which has been followed by many an honest historian since those days. But to our tale. For many long years the most friendly relations had subsisted between the rulers. they had visited each other's courts, they had exchanged presents consisting of salted walrus, corned shark, train oil used for sauce, horns, furs &c., when either party experienced a scarcity and the weather was unfavorable for hunting. They had united together to resist the agressions of other nations from the Continent who had invaded their soil, carrying death and destruction to their own private and personal seals and sea cows and other valuable chattels. In short, the most amicable intercourse had exist between Freezeland and Bergen up to the period whereof we treat. But at last the harmony was broken; a dark ominous cloud gathered in the sky, a frowning pall boding strife and bloodshed in the two kingdoms. This alarming aspect of things was brought about on the side of King Porkus solely by the plot and machinations of a catiff who had possession of the royal car, when his own, with his body attached, ought to have been in the custody of the law's finisher. This immense villian was no other than Olaus, the king's prime minister and confidential adviser, the channel through whom the affairs of the realms were conducted, and the cause that prompted him to this vile wickedness is explained thus. King Porkus had a daughter who was fair and beautiful exceedingly, as, of course, all kings' daughters are! Nora was the delight of the old man's eyes, the joy of his heart, the solace of his age, the sun flower of his domestic garden more particularly the latter, because her hair was of a bright golden yellow, like the hue of that plant. She was as straight as the towering cedars of her own icy clime, as graceful as the mountain roe, as noble as the royal oak that rose proudly from the jutting peak which overlooked the ocean near her father's lofty palace. Such is a sketch of Nora's charms taken from the inventory drawn up by Mudlud, a national poet of her day. Up to this flower of sweetness, growing on the loftiest summit of human grandeur, did the presumptuous, overweening minister Olaus, dare to lift his sacriligious eyes in love, or what he professed as such. Being a perfect marvel of ugliness himself to expect that he could find favor in the eyes of the princess, who setting aside her high rank, was a paragon of loveliness, in whose face and form mantled a thousand, yes, nearer twelve hundred divine graces, to hope to win such a bundle of blessings—the idea was preposterous, absurd.—But the prime minister had been tempted by his boundless ambition which like that of Napoleon, knew no limits, he furthermore reckoned on the sanction of the king, and knowing himself to be high in favor, in the confidence, and indispensible to that party, had been emboldened to the attempt. But when he had ventured, some before the commencement of our story. to hint his wishes to Porkus, the king, at first was filled with amazement and incredulity, doubting that he had heard aright; but when he at length was satisfied that Olaus was in earnest, his wrath was prodigious. Yet he smothered it in a great measure, recollecting that the aspirant had been a most valuable servant, and so contented himself with a calm, yet decided refusal to the wild petition, enforcing it with several endorsatory knocks upon the ground with his club. Foiled, therefore, in this important quarter and rejecting as useless, any advances to the princess herself who rendered a filial obedience to her parent, and who, moreover, with his approbation, was on tender terms with the young prince Snarl, second child of King Jarl; Olaus surrendered his hope and nourished thenceforth a deadly intention of revenge. Hate, against the king, against the princess Nora and prince Snarl now absorbed his whole mind, and his long meditations how to gratify it to the utmost extent, resulted in a scheme which we shall immediately unfold in another Chapter.

CHAPTER II.

King Porkus was an ardent lover of the chase; the stirring notes of the hunter's horn echoing among the sylvan solitudes had greater charms for him than the court minstrel's song or the lofty lay of the poet. He would frequently forsake the duties of royalty, leaving them to the charge of his servants, and ere the dawn began to streak the east, sally forth with a few chosen attendants to a wild and dreary forest that bordered the coast, some twenty miles from tha royal mansion. There fastening their steeds beneath an aged oak on foot, they would plunge into the woodly covert in pursuit of bears, deer and other animals with which it abounded, nor would they emerge therefrom till the shades of night falling around, put an end to the sport, and gave to the persecuted game, a brief respite from the dread visitation. Now this district was the king's own peculiar hunting ground. his royal park, exclusively. Entered according to Act of Congress, as we might say, consequently no other huntsmen were permitted to enter its sacred precints, under pains and penalties of the utmost severity. Olaus knew that an invasion of this prohibited territory would be sufficient to rouse the monarch's deepest ire; to cause him to pursue with the sword of vengeance the trespassing party, be he whom he might. Wherefore he resolved by a forged tale, to attribute a violation of this kind to king Jarl, drawing him into a furious war with Porkus, which he hoped, (the king of Bergen being by far the most powerful,) might result in Porkus's complete destruction It was the noontide hour, and the king of Freezeland sat at meat; a fat bunch of bear savory and tender, steamed on the table sending up a grateful incense to the blackened and smoky rafters, Porkus was busily engaged in conveying portions of the delicate fare to his mouth, occasionally pausing to wipe his greasy fingers, (knives and forks were not then,) on a part of the skin which formerly belonged to the animal, which was spread over his breast by way of a napkin.

A servant appeared, and announced to the king, that Olaus was without and desired audience.—'Let him be admitted to our presence forthwith,' said Porkus, 'we will hear his tidings as we dispatch our repast; it is not meet to let our meat cool for the sake of business. Such was the fashion of our illustrious predecessor, the immortal King Cole of happy memory, and, by the Gods we will not depart from it.' The crafty statesman soon entered the banqueting room, and bowing low, craved permission to lay before his majesty a rumor which he had just heard, of a disagreeable nature but which he trusted might prove false.—He went on to express his repugnance on making the communication, with much circumlocutory flourish, by way of preamble, when the King, whose patience who exhausted roared out 'speak forth man, and to the point, at once; wherefore this beating of the bush; let us have thy story, if thou hast any, and that somewhat of the quickest; thou wert not wont of yore thus to dally.' Thus admonished, Olaus who had lingered merely to give effect to his tale, informed his master that one of the people who had occasion to journey towards the coast early the previous day, had seen a large gally anchor in a creek near the King's forest, from which a hunting party landed, headed by one whom he knew to be the King of Bergen from some words addressed to him by an attendant.—Moreover that he saw them enter the forest and commence the chase? that he remained in the vicinity until nightfall when he beheld them emerge from the woods laden with abundance of game, and embark and bear away. Now we said at first Porkus was a good sovereign, but he was also exceedingly choleric, when therefore, this artful fabrication had been imparted to him, language could not portray his excessive wrath. He rose from his seat almost choked with indignation and a huge wedge of bear's meat which he was just then introducing to his stomach; he succeeded in effecting a lodgement of the one, but the other, which he did not attempt to swallow, burst forth like a tempest. 'Ha! did our brother Jarl presume to do this thing! by the Gods of our forefathers but we will have signal vengeance! to invade our soil thus, by Jork the mighty, but he shall rue it! ho, there let Thundergutus our chief poet attend!' The man of rhymes soon appeared. 'Take pen and parchment' said the incensed king, 'and write as we shall dictate. The poet obeyed, while Porkus delivered himself of a manifesto, tthesubstance of which was to this effect, viz., that he (Porkus) had heard with feelings of he most extensive description, of the base and high handed aggression perpetrated by his Majesty King Jarl, (to whom this war message was directed) and that he deemed it advisable in consequence thereof to send us a kind of avant Courier the present announcement of an agreeable visit he intended shortly to pay him.

At which time, he begged leave to inform his good friend and brother, he would have the pleasure of putting his (Jarl's) eyes out; besides other personal attentions which could not fail of delighting him, only one of which he would then mention, which was that he designed to skin him alive, a performance that, he assured him, was a perfect luxury to enjoy. Furthermore, he would briefly say, that he had it in contemplation on the same happy occasion to do himself the honor of burning several villages, concluding as an after-piece, with reducing the royal palace to ashes; adding finally, that the above entertainments though they might end in smoke, would not be necessarily failures, but on the contrary prove to him (Jarl) highly satisfactory, life-like and real. Having finished this piece of ferocious pleasantry, Porkus affixed to it his seal, and royal arms, the device of which was a young bear dancing the Polka, and committed it to the hands of a messenger to be transmitted without loss of time to the King of Bergen.

CHAPTER III.

We advance at once, in point of time twenty-four hours, which by a curious coincidence was just the period required for the messenger to reach Jarl's court. With the reader's leave, and altogether for his sake, we will step over to Bergen, to witness the fun consequent upon his arrival.—The jolly monarch was taking his afternoon's nap, when a page entered the sleeping apartment and aroused the King, apologising however, for his rashness, and presented him with the flaming missive of Porkus. Jarl broke the seal in some surprise and began to read; as he perused it, amazement and wonder at first overspread his face; these soon changed to roars of laughter, so hearty and energetic that the merry king whose spanty breath was exhausted in his fat body, was compelled to kick the rest of his mirth out as he lay extended on his couch. At last, having somewhat recovered, he found voice enough to speak: 'By the bludgeon of Bruno the head God of our race, but our brother Porkus hath lost his senses—that is, if he ever had any! why, what can the fool mean? 'Invasion of territory'! we never yet invaded it, unless, perchance, we went thither in our sleep. Some demon of delusion hath possessed him; he is under magical influence; there can be no doubt. We ought to be angry at his insulting epistle, were it not evidently thus: 'Certes, our brother is amusing in his madness!' Hereupon Jarl relapsed into risibilities, at the recollection of Porkus's excentric tirade. 'But this demands an immediate reply,' said Jarl: 'summon our scribe to the presence!' the which order was quickly fulfilled by the entrance of that functionary. An answer was shortly prepared to be despatched to the King of Freezeland, the chief points of which were as follows; "That the King of Bergen had duly received the message containing the friendly greeting of his good neighbor and ally the King of Freezeland: that he felt unspeakably grateful for the inestimable favors to be conferred upon him, but that he feared he could not enter into the spirit of the joke, a slight difficulty, which he was grieved to say, having occured to mar the beauty of the treat which difficulty was occasioned by the absence of a corresponding inclination on the part of him (Jarl) to be skinned. He had some objections, also (strange to say) thus wrote Jarl, 'to the delightful operation of having, his eyes put out. In short, he was constrained to declare that he found fault with the whole programme of performances, he begged his good ally not to think him unreasonable and hard to please, for there never was a more easily contended person in the world he assured him: but in this instance for once, there was a difference of opinion, a circumstance, to him wholly unaccountable. 'In regard to one item of the letter the alleged invasion of hunting ground, he would inform his neighbor of Freezland, that the accusation was entirely false, and must have emanated he gently hinted, from his own disordered immagination. Nevertheless if he thought otherwise in these things he might come over when Jarl would make a point of being at home to give him a suitable reception. This rejoinder being concluded, was sealed with the king's signet, emblematical of a corpulant walrus meditating beneath a cliff, and entrusted to the runner who brought the first, to be put immediately into the hands of Porkus.

Chapter IV.

While the national affairs of the two kingdoms were coming to this critical pass, seeming, in fact about to result in the horrors of a cruel and bloody war, a happy incident occurred which cleared at once the frowning skies and caused the glad welcome rays of sacred Peace to descend and tranquilize the troubled waters of life. The princess Nora had heard from her father the tale of Jarl's violation of territory, and the story, though she had some doubts of its truth, filled her with anguish and sorrow: she saw in it, not only the germ of war and misery and havoc, but also an utter separation from him she loved,—the prince Jarl. She tortured with the belief that the story, in its essential particulars, at least, was untrue yet unable to devise any plan whereby to ascertain the truth, without repairing to the court of Bergen, which after all would be of no use: for had not her father's messenger returned, bearing the strong denial of King Jarl? couched also in such cool, contemptuous terms, as drove the valiant and pugnacious Porkus into an utter frenzy of wrathfulness? What chance was there, in his then state of irritation, that he would listen to her arguments, of the glaring improbability of the outrage? None at all, though she possessed great influence over the mind of her parent, who often experienced the benefit of her good counsels; still she felt, that in this case, her persuasive powers would prove of no avail. Thus she sat in her chamber long, pondering on the untoward event which had taken place, while the tears of grief coursed down her cheeks. Her melancholy thoughts were at length put to flight by increasing sounds which broke harshly upon her ear, and conjured up the stern realities of the calamity she had been dwelling on. It was the startling din and preparation for battle? there were shouts of command, loud voiced orders, the hurrying tramp of many hasty feet, the ominous rattle and clashing of sword and spear, and the fierce notes of the boding warhorn. She heard the imperious tones of her father, issuing his mandates, and trembled. With a shuddering sickness at her heart Nora turned away from the casement but could not shut out the noise and tumult, which knelled death and woe to her senses. To escape, therefore, she threw on her shoulders, her cloak of furs, and descending left the palace, taking her course (as was often her wont) along the banks of the river, spoken of in the begining of our tale.—For some time she wandered over the smooth beach in painful reverie, unremarking the declining sun, which was just sinking beneath the horizon, mindful rather of the far distant waves that glowed in the departing beams like liquid gold, flowing on towards Bergen. At last the Princess paused in her walk, and turned aside to where a collection of piled up rocks, intervening in the path, projected far into the water; there was a narrow passage that wound along in sinuous course through the cliff, which she entered a little way, till she came to a recess, which seemed scooped out of the granite wall; a sort of channel piercing the stony battlements and opening beyond to the river. This was a kind of rustic grottoe which Nora had often sought before, when she wished for retirement and meditative solitude. She entered it now, and setting down upon a shelving piece of rock, was soon lost in a train of dismal cogitations: not long however, had Nora ruminated, when the sound of voices, and approaching footsteps attracted her attention. They came nearer and nearer towards her retreat, and at length she plainly distinguished the voice of Olaus in earnest conversation with his companion. They stopped almost opposite the entrance of the grottoe, and within a few feet of her; happily there was not much danger of her presence being discovered, for the shades of night had fallen and Nora was moreover concealed by an angle of the rock. Not that the Princess entertained fears for her safety in case of surprisal but some words from the speakers had awakened her attention, words which bore reference partly to herself, and partly to the king, her father. Nora remained therefor still and watchful, while the two pursued their discourse, and soon her horror stricken ears became fully possessed of the base scheme devised by Olaus to embroil his master in a cruel war with Jarl. It is not needful to recount in full the dialogue which she overheard; suffice it to say that it referred chiefly to the proceedings of Olaus's companion, from which it appeared that the tale of the former was in some degree true, for his subordinate together with others whom he had by his offers of reward corrupted had indeed landed as he stated, and after destroying several animals, the carcasses of which, being skinned, they were careful to leave in conspicuous places, that Porkus might be assured of the verity of the outrage, embarked and bore away.

Thus then was this diabolical machination unintentionally revealed by the principal actor himself, to the excited princess. She waited in trembling eagerness until the pair who had resumed their walk, were out of hearing, and then turned her flying feet homeward. Nora lost no time in seeking the presence of her father, whom she found in the court yard, inspecting warriors, weapons, &c. to be ready for the morrow's march. She quickly unfolded to him the intelligence so luckily obtained, and was frightened almost into fits, at the excessive wrath of Porkus, who, for some time could only pound the earth with his club. At last he regained speech and the first use he made of it was to give orders for the instant apprehension of Olaus which was easily effected, he, being as he thought secure having no occasion of flight. When brought before the King, the culprit confirmed the account of the Princess by acknowledging his guilt without offering anything in extenuation of his crime. And what does the reader think was his fate. 'Oh burnt or crucified to say the least.' Neither of the two. King Porkus being an unenlightened, benighted heathen, was opposed to Capital Punishment; moreover his anger was abated, for he was glad to know that his old crony Jarl with whom he had persecuted bears and boars in company, was innocent of wrong.—So he contented himself with banishing Olaus to a distant part of his dominions where game was scarce, which he thought would be sufficient severity for his offence. He also sent an envoy to King Jarl informing him of the happy turn affairs had taken, together with due explanations of the circumstances, at the same time, assuring him that he might still expect his arrival though there would be an entire change of performances from those embodied in his manifesto. All of which took place, for Porkus set forth on the following day with a grud retinue, and in proper time it reached the court of his brother king, with whom after a perfect reconciliation had been established, some fifteen thousand sompliments having passed between them, he joined forces in a great hunting match which lasted an entire week. This period was so disastrous in its consequences to the afflicted bears, boars and walruses, &c., that if those martyrs had kept written histories, it would have ranked in their annals with as awful prominence as the Massacre of St Bartholomew does in ours. So ends the Chronicle of the "Two Kings."

We find but little more worthy of transcription in the Manuscript from which we have gleaned this Tale; the remainder of it appears to consist almost entirely of Orations and Addresses delivered on account of the happy termination of the war, which resemble very much our own Fourth of July and other speeches. There is however a beautiful 'Ode' composed by Thundergustus, the King of Freezeland's Laureate, on the occasion of the union of prince Snarl and the Princess Nora which we should be glad to extract were it not for its extreme length.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB 28, 1846.

Our Railroads.

This week the Andover and Salem Railroad Bill has passed several of its stages, and will soon without opposition become a law. Its advocates have had only to present their case on the evidence, without argument of counsel, and a bill was almost immediately reported. We are pleased with this result not only on account of the advantages it will afford to our citizens, but because it has been effected in a manner so quiet and business like and in the ordinary course of legislation.

It appears to us that our other Railroad project ought to have been carried to a successful issue in the same quiet manner. Instead of this, the petitioners were last year met at the committee rooms of the State House by a wealthy corporation who had secured the services of most able counsel, and otherwise spared no exertions or expense to oppose and delay the contemplated road and in that case the petitioners were "politely bowed out" of the Senate chamber.

Notwithstanding this unfavorable result of their efforts, these petitioners came forward again this year and urge their claims for liberty to make a road on which they may convey themselves and their merchandise to Boston. The spontaneous feeling of almost every honest mind in this state of things, is, that the petitioners should present their case without counsel, without expense, and only with the array of facts which abundantly prove the public convenience and necessity of such a road, and a charter almost of course will be granted. Instead of this they meet with opposition. Not from those whose lands are to be taken to build the road, not from the towns through which it is located, for these all wish and pray for it, but from that same overgrown and wealthy corporation, which again appears with its distinguished advocate, backed up by a little army of witnesses, principally its own stockholders and paid servants, who are brought before the committee to prove nothing at all, but that the petitioners propose to build a road that will compete for the patronage of the public with theirs. There appears no other motive but a grasping dog-in-the-manger selfishness which cares nothing for the accomodation of the public, but everything to maintain its own monopoly.

To meet this powerful opponent it becomes necessary to employ counsel as able, and present facts as convincing as can be offered on the other side. The expense is burdensome on private individuals, but they are driven to it by their rich and powerful opponent and it is incurred. Statistics are collected and presented, and our case is now fairly before the committee, whence we cannot doubt that it will be viewed in that simple and common sense light, which shall ensure it a favorable report. We have every reason to be satisfied with the manner in which the case was presented to the committee, both in evidence and argument. It was opened in an able manner by Mr. Russel, who has had much experience in Railroad legislation, and it was closed by Rufus Choate, who, although feeble in body, exerted the great power of his mighty intelleot in a most splendid effort for the petitioners. We hope his argument may be printed and have a wide circulation. We extract the following from a report in the Salem Register;—

Mr Choate closed his argument for the Salem and Malden Railroad on Tuesday afternoon, to as large an audience as the dignity of the Senate would allow to occupy their chamber. He had spoken on Monday to about as crowded an assembly as ever occupied the Hall of the House; but his evident illness obliged him to take Tuesday afternoon to close in, on which occasion he was more manifestly himself again. It would be idle for me to attempt a report of his brilliant and powerful appeal. I saw Mr Tileston, the Atlas reporter, present, and understand the whole speech is to be published from his notes.

The petitioners in this case contend that this is no new question, and that it springs from no artificial, temporary or speculative excitement, but is intended to promote great and important interests, which the 'fair and impartial Hudson' and his associates distinctly recognized and with great difficulty avoided in 1836; that, when the Eastern Railroad was located, they felt it to be no Railroad for them, and that their interests were deserted and abandoned—but they gave its projectors fair warning that if, as they expected, it should fail to accomodate their interests, they, nor their children, nor their children's children would cease, neither day nor night, to seek such accomodation; that, having given this matter a fair trial, and enlarged by ten years' growth, stimulated by ten years' experience, and warned by ten years inconvenience, they now seek that accomodation which they believe will best promote their interests; that the original location of the Eastern road, 'stealing out of South Salem and creeping over the barren marsh,' connected with that 'vast practical nuisance,' the Ferry, coupled with the 'offensive and shameful annoyance' of the entrance to Boston, was 'a most stupendous blunder,' which, if now left to the 'uncommonly intelligent' President of that road, or any other man of sense, could never have been located there; that the vast amount of merchandize transported between Danvers and Boston needs steam power to move it, which cannot otherwise be had, besides that to Lowell, Haverhill, &c.; that West Lynn has also large demands for freight transportation, and that Saugus is increasing in her demands for the same accomodation; that 110,000 passengers would annually, by this grant, obtain a safe, secure and agreeable Railroad entrance to Boston; that the granite quarries of Danvers, (intensely native to Massachusetts,) which now furnish mill-stones to a great part of the Union, besides doing a large local business, would by this have their market much enlarged; that the line of this road runs along by one of the sweetest and purest ponds of water on earth, capable of furnishing annually, 100,000 tons of ice, (the gift of our own stern nature,) which would thus be brought to market—large quantities of fresh fish would be vastly facilitated on their interior journey, and large brick manufactories would thus be brought to a near market; that much unimproved territory would be brought into market for summer residences; that it now takes one hour and a half for Danvers people to get to Boston, and the contemplated route will convey them in half that time; that two of the largest towns in the county, in their corporate capacity, and over 3,000 petitioners, including 1,000 of the matrons, mothers and sisters of the men of Essex, demand this accommodation; that they have estimated its cost, traced its line, and earnestly entreat the privilege to build it; that, if refused now, it will never be abandoned; that the only party who oppose is a private company, (probably numbering less than the population of Saugus, the smallest of these towns,) and who live quite respectably by selling Railroad accommodation; that there are no restraints of law, honor or equity, forbidding this grant; that even if this would injure the Eastern road, however much we might regret it, yet, as a vast aggregate of public accommodation would be promoted thereby, this should outweigh all such objections, and that sound discretion and good policy dictated this grant.

Mr Choate also argued that the very map of Massachusetts which beams and sparkles with railoads like the firmament was a contradiction of the assumptions of the other view—that the Eastern Road itself was chartered three years after the parallel Upper Road—that we desire this accommodation in the way we seek it,—by a connection with our ancient and (by their own showing) more orthodox friend, the upper road. That the location of the East Boston route decided nothing against this route, as that was merely a choice of evils between a short and long ferry as admitted in the Report of the then Committee, and that the principles advocated in that Report were in favor of this grant. That by the confession of Col Fessenden and others who were 'taxed to the very verge of ingenuity and veracity upon the subject,' the public sentiment was greatly on the increase against the ferry—that this was practically a shorter route for Boston, as while the old route was crossing the ferry, the other, 'leaping like a greyhound from the slips,' will be three miles on its way before the old one starts from East Boston. The advantages of the ferry were commented upon, and the gratification of meeting friends for five minutes was hardly considered a compensation for having their wives tossed into the arms of other gentlemen—and the manner in which two Salem merchants, who, for the last twenty-five years had spent nine hours a day together in the Insurance Offices of that city, would rush into each other's arms upon a recognition aboard the boat, was truly affecting! The evils of steering by the mariner's compass and a fog bell, as well as the detentions by ice, &c.—were alluded to and the most broad and liberal policy was advocated in granting Railroads, which, like the Sabbath, were, for the people,—and which had other purposes in view than merely to precipitate people into Boston and ejaculate them out again. The great moral and social uses of these corporations were dwelt upon with much force and beauty; it was alleged that the ferry route was originally located through the influence of a solemn, specious, adroit, and skillful engineer,' representing the difficulty at the draws of bridges as far greater than the Ferry, all of which experience has proved delusive;—and that although as long ago as 1836, branches to Danvers and West Lynn were admitted to be needed, yet they had never been offered them until their eyes had been opened and apprehensions quickened by this application. This grant, which would tend to develop the resources, quicken the wealth, and gratify the rational desires of so large a portion of the community was called for by every dictate of good policy, and was of such an excellent character that it would only be a Legislative luxury to grant the same, and the days of any administration which should refuse such grants at this were numbered. The benefits of competition were admirably shown up, and much other matter bearing on the case was presented, for which I have not room, nor could I do justice thereto Mr Choate declared his profoundest personal convictions of the justice and necessity of this application, and was much affected when speaking of the people of Danvers, and how much he owed them.

I neglected above to state that the fullest confidence was expressed that the stock would be taken and the road built without delay. In fact Mr Choate stated that Danvers herself had better build it if she lost 100,000 at the outset.

As we before observed, we have great confidence in a favorable if not unanimous report from the committee and its passage through both branches; but if it should prove otherwise, there can be but one reason, and that involves a doctrine so odious to the people, and so anti-republican withal, that its adoption by our Legislature, in a manner ever so remote, would create such indignation in the public mind that all mere party questions would be disregarded until this shall be put at rest.

Life Insurance.

We believe the benefits of obtaining insurance on lives, are not so generally known and adopted here as in many other places. This must arise partly from a lack of knowledge of the principles of this kind of insurance and its novelty, the subject not having been until recently very fully presented to the public. Every one must admit that it is susceptible of nicer calculation and more equal results than any other kinds of insurance. It is founded on the law of mortality from which none can escape. The calculations are made from the average of bills of mortality of individuals between certain ages, and on the Mutual Insurance principle—the profits above that average are reserved to the insured. It has been found that the class of persons having their lives insured have been those whose lives have been longer than the general average of the whole population about them. This longevity is thought to be partly owing to the relief from care and anxiety for the future, from which they are exempted who take this method to provide for those who are to come after them.

By the rates of the New England Mutual Life Ins. Co. a person of 30 years of age may secure to his family $1,000 at his decease by paying an annual premium of about $12. If the person wishing insurance is older, the premium will be more, and if younger, it will be less.

Annual Town Meeting.

The annual March Meeting will be held on Monday next, at Union Hall, at which a large amount of important business is to be transacted. There will be some other than the usual routine of business and among the rest we notice a clause designed to establish regulations for the orderly government of town meetings. Now that our population is so large, it seems important that some regulations should be adopted not only to prevent waste of time, but to restrain the disorderly conduct of individuals who may be disposed by personalities or otherwise to create disturbance. It is not to be expected that strict parliamentary usuage is to govern our town meetings, but there ought to be so much of form and attention to the established rules of deliberative assemblies as shall prevent such scenes of disorder as have sometimes been witnessed.

We can see no objection to the adoption of Rules and Orders which govern the proceedings of the Massachusetts House of Representatives so far as they will apply to the business of Town Meetings. It certainly would be more appropriate, than to follow the rules observed at Washington, which have been decided failure so far as they are intended to preserve that dignity and courtesy which should characterize a grave assembly of legislators.

School Exhibition.

We learn that there was a very interesting exhibition of Mr Valentine's school, in District No. 11, last Tuesday evening, which gave much gratification to a large auditory of parents and friends of the pupils, and other invited guests. Those who attended speak in high praise of the proficiency of the scholars and the readiness with which they responded to the questions proposed. The exercises in composition and declamation, it is said, were highly creditable to those who took part in them. Refreshments were bountifully provided for guests and scholars. We were prevented from attending by other engagements, but from what we hear of this School District Festival, which was intended as a commemoration of Washington's birth day, we are inclined to think that our friends in District No. 11 will wish to celebrate its anniversary in coming years, as Valentine's Eve.

In connection with this subject, we cannot but feel regret that the inhabitants of this populous and wealthy District have voted to place their new School House on the little spot of land now occupied by the present one. We fear that they will never regret it but once and that will be always. It may be somewhat burdensome now to buy another lot of land, but the satisfaction afterwards of having it as it should be, will more than compensate for the extra cost. We doubt not the small people who now attend school would not only thank their elders for the allowance of a little more play ground, but be willing to pay the whole expense of it when they grow up to be voters and tax-payers.

Charles Sumner, Esq.

Our citizens are to have an opportunity on Monday evening, to hear this gentleman lecture before the Lyceum, at Upton's Hall. The reputation he has acquired as a ripe and elegant scholar, not only here but in Europe, and the celebrity of his famous fourth of July oration on "The true grandeur of Nations," will, if we mistake not, prove greatly attractive and ensure an intellectual as well as numerous audience.

Drowned. On Sunday afternoon last, a man named Smith, was drowned by falling through the ice near the Iron Factory, in this town. He has left a wife and eight children.

☞The following jurors have been drawn from this town, for the March Term of the C. C. Pleas, to be holden in Salem. Moses Black, jr., Grand Juror; Simeon Putnam, Charles Lawrence, Petit Jurors.

Hon. Barker Burnel has published a card in the Atlas, in which he denies the truth of the charges which have been circulated against him as a defaulter.

OAK HALL, IN SALEM.

It will be seen by an advertisement in another column, that the enterprising proprietor of this celebrated establishment, will offer for sale, on Tuesday next, the 3d day of March, at Phenix Hall, Central street, Salem, a large lot of ready made, New Clothing, from his extensive stock at Boston, and gentlemen who seldom visit that city can have an opportunity to purchase at 'Oak Hall' prices, any garment they may wish.

The New City. We learn that another Manufacturing Company has been formed with a capital of $2,000,000 to use the water power to be created at Methuen.

Weather at New Orleans. A letter from a friend, dated New Orleans, Feb. 5, 1846, says: "The weather here for the last two weeks has been very pleasant, and with the exception of two rainy days as warm as June in Massachusetts. Gardens are all made and planted; radishes are abundant in the market. The ladies use their parasols as much as in midsummer."

Prince Joseph Napoleon Bonaparte and suite are now in this City, on their way to Boston, to embark for England in the Cambria, which sails on Sunday. The Prince goes immediately to London, where he hopes to obtain permission from the French Government to make a tour through France, the country of his ancestors, which he has never yet been permitted to visit. The Prince does not relinquish his estate at Bordentown, and will probably return to this country.—N. Y. Tribune.

New York State Normal School.

We have received a copy of the Report of the Executive Committee of this School, which describes it as in a highly favorable condition. We have before had occasion to speak of this educational establishment while it was but an experiment, and we rejoice to find by this Report, that it has had such good success and given so great satisfaction to the government and people of the Empire State. We think we can see evidence in this Report of wisdom in planning and skill in the practical working of the Normal School system, which it would be well for our Massachusetts Board of Education to imitate. In this School there is a corps of ten instructors, David P. Page formerly of Newburyport, being the Principal, and to his unwearied toil and faithfulness much of the gratifying success of this great experiment is owing. We have room for only one extract from the Report;—

But is there a reasonable prospect that the Normal School as an educational scheme, will be more succesful than the plans which have preceeded it? To this it is answered, that if the school continue under the charge of teachers, every way so competent as the present instructors, and if fostered by the Legislature, it cannot fail. And the committee feel justified in speaking strongly, from the success that has already crowned the effort. The minds of the pupils have been aroused, and they have labored with commendable zeal in the acquisition of knowledge and of best modes of imparting instruction. No one can enter the recitation rooms of the Normal School without feeling, that teachers and taught are in earnest, that here there is no child's play. Of nearly all the thirty-four graduates who have gone forth from the school, it may be affirmed, that their educational fabric is granite from the base to the top stone And those who occupy the seats during the present term, are busily engaged in quarrying, polishing and laying the same solid material.

FOR THE COURIER.

Mr. Editor—I was gratified to observe that one of your correspondents had placed before the public the name of Hon. Jonathan Shove, as a candidate for the office of Register of Deeds. It will not be questioned but that Mr. Shove is as well qualified to perform the duties of the office with credit to himself and satisfaction to the public, as any other person. His prompt and ready manner of transacting business, his gentlemanly manners, his willingness to impart information to those who need it, and a large proportion of those who visit the office are uninformed as to the manner of proceeding—eminently qualify him. Mr. S. is the right man to render such information as may be needed, and will do it kindly and freely. He has no starch about him—no repulsive manners. Mr. S. has been unfortunate, but his misfortunes should not be allowed to operate against him.—Let us recollect that it was occasioned in part by his readiness to lend a helping hand to the distressed and embarrassed. Let his fellow townsmen give him a good vote on Monday next. It is estimated by some a small affair to cast a vote, but it is an invaluable privilege, and when we can exercise it to cheer an old friend or help a fellow townsmen, one who was born and always lived amongst us,—let it be done and done freely.

Things in Washington.--Licence Law Postponed.

Washington, Feb 24, '46

From what I learn, I think it is quite probable that the Tariff Bill, prepared with so much trouble and expense by Sir Robert Walker's Committee, will never see the broad daylight of the House. It will be strangled in Committee.—Gen. McKay, of N. C., thinks he can make a much better bill with much less assistance than Sir Robert

The License cases from Massachusetts and Rhode Island, have been continued, by order of the Supreme Court, til the next term which commences in December next. They will then be brought up by special privilege, among the very first business of the Court. You will recollect that the Massachusetts case was continued from last term, as the Court was so divided that there was not a majority of the whole court voting either way. As the decision would define the Constitutional power of the States to make these laws, less than a majority of the whole was thought insufficient to settle such a grave question. The Court finds itself now in a still worse condition. Judge McKinley continues sick, and Judge Wayne or Judge Catron is compelled to leave to attend Circuit, which would leave three vacancies on the Bench instead of two as last year. The case was to be argued by Senator John Davis and A. Huntington, both of Massachusetts, for the State—and by Dan'l Webster and B. F. Hallett, against the constitutionality of the law.—N. Y. Tribune.

A Bill has passed the House of Representatives of Indiana, by a vote of 63 to 20, that gives to the jury, in cases of capital crimes, a discretionary power of deciding that the prisoner be placed at solitary confinement in the State's prison for life or that he be hung. Under the present state of public feeling this will, in effect, be an abolishment of capital punishment.

The Steamships.—There will be two steamers from England next month, although the semi-monthly passages do not commence until April. The Unicorn will leave Liverpool for Halifax and Boston, on the 19th of March.

The jury in the case of Wyatt, indicted for flogging to death a convict in the Auburn (N. Y.) State prison, having been unable to agree upon a verdict.

The Rev. Dr. Cleveland has declined the invitation of the Maverick Congregational Church and Society at East Boston, and has accepted, or is about to accept, the call of the Second Congregational Church in Providence, R. I., to become their Pastor.

The Howard Athenæum Destroyed by Fire. About half past 11 o'clock on Monday night, a fire broke out in the building formerly known as the 'Miller Tabernacle,' and more recently as the 'Howard Athenæum.' The whole establishment with its entire contents of scenery, wardrobe, properties &c. was consumed in half an hour.

The building was owned by Messrs. Ford & Brayley, and was partially insured; but the contents of the building, scenery, wardrobe &c. the value of which is estimated at between 6000 and $7000 were a total loss to the proprietors. (Boston Traveller.

☞All public Executions in Virginia, are hereafter to be within the prison wall—not more than ten persons to be present.

Mr Mann's Ninth Report.

We acknowledge the receipt of the Ninth Annual Report of the Secretary of the Board of Education which makes a thick pamphlet of 158 pages and is replete from beginning to end with matter and reflections useful and interesting to every friend of Education. Much of the Report is taken up in a description of the Teachers' Institutes in the western counties of the state and in suggestions as to the best mode of government and communicating instruction in schools. In regard to the sucess of female teachers he has the following remarks:—

Reason and experience have long since demonstated that children, under ten or twelve years of age, can be more genially taught and more successfully governed by a female than by a male teacher. Six or eight years ago, when the employment of female teachers was recommended to school committees, not a little was said against adopting the suggestion. But one committee after another was introduced to try the experiment, and the success has been so great that the voice of opposition is now silenced. So far as can be learned from the committees' reports, I believe there is now an unbroken unanimity among them, on this subject. It is found that females will teach young children better than males, will govern them with less resort to physical appliances, and will exert a more genial and kindly, a more humanizing and refining influence upon their dispositions and manners.

In this Report Mr Mann dwells frequently and strongly on the immense importance of that part of a teacher's duty, the moral as well as intellectual instruction of the young. On this point he is often eloquent and his language breathes with philanthrophy. In this connection he pertinently asks—'Why should the public inquire more frequently respecting the school or college where a great man has been educated than respecting the influence under which a good man has been trained? Is the duty of forgiveness as much insisted on as the rules of grammar? Are the elementary ideas of right and wrong as laboriously explained as the elements of arithmetic?' We close our remarks by quoting the following striking paragraph relating to this subject.

With pleasure, it is admitted, that there are cases of reformation, where the evil that was beckoned by a youth of error, is averted by repentance, and followed by a life of uprightness. On the other hand, also, it must be conceded, that there are instances, where all the hopes that were cherished by a childhood of innocence, have been blasted by a manhood of profligacy. But, on both sides, these cases are exceptions to the general rule; and they are no further to be recognized as grounds of action, than as they admonish us, never to sink into the inaction of over-confidence, in regard to the good, nor into the hopelessness of despair, in regard to the bad. A venerable clergyman belonging to the State, always watchful of the condition of youth, and regarding the conduct of the child as foretokening the character of the man, has informed me that he taught school, for many years, in the town where he was afterwards settled as a minister; that it was his practice, while in school, to keep a detailed record of the diligence, proficiency and moral deportment of his pupils, which record he has preserved; and now, on recurring to this School Diary, he finds, with but few exceptions, that it would answer very well as an Index, or Table of Contents, for the Acted Volume or their subsequent lives. There is one vice, indeed, or rather a prolific parent of all vices, which disturbs this great law of probabilities, and often falsifies the indications given by an exemplary youth of an honorable old age It is the vice of Intemperance. This vice is a horrid alchemy, which transmutes every thing good into evil; and not merely changing affinities, but corrupting the very elements on which it works, renders it possible ever afterwards to restore them to their pristine strength and purity. It is the theological opposite of regeneration, for it depraves depravity itself.

CONGRESS.

SATURDAY, Feb 21.

The Senate did not sit on Saturday. In the House it was agreed to adjourn over Monday in honor of Washington's birthday, which was on Sunday. The Senate bill allowing Mr. Page to take out a patent for Electro-Magnetic machines, notwithstnding the restriction applying to those who, as he is, are engaged in the Patent Office, after a discussion in which Mr King of this State, took part, was laid on the table by a vote of 113 to 64.

The House then took up the private calendar and discussed two bills. The first was laid on the table, and without any further question, the House adjourned.

MONDAY, Feb. 23.—The House did not sit today.

The Senate met and Mr Mangum moved that the reading of the journal be dispense with, and that the Senate adjourn, which was agreed to, no one dissenting.

The rumor is current that Mr Crampton has brought out instructions to Mr Packenham to re-open negociations by an offer of the 49th parallel, the whole of Vancouver's Island, and the navigation of the Columbia River for 20 years.

It is said that Mr Polk will not take the responsibitity of accepting the offer, but will submit it to the Senate for advice.

TUESDAY FEB. 24.

In the Senate, Mr Dickinson, spoke on the Oregon question, claiming all of Oregon—and opposing the plan of negotiating with Great Britain about Oregon, in order to afford her an opportunity to set up a claim to our soil.

Mr D. saw nothing, he said, in the late news, that should induce us to alter our course as to Oregon.

It had been stated in the other House (by Mr C J Ingersoll) that the Government paid the counsel a fee of five thousand dollars on that occasion—a fact which was before unknown.

Mr Webster here remarked, 'It is false, whoever asserts it!'

Mr Dickinson said he was very happy to hear it.

For the Courier.

Mr. Editor—I wish through your paper, to call the attention of the public to the "PRISONER'S FRIEND," a weekly sheet published in Boston, by John M. and Charles Spear, two untiring, whole-souled philanthropists, who devote all their time and means in behalf of unfortunate prisoners, especially those "appointed unto death." They are not only dealing mighty blows at that relic of barbarism, the Gallows—but they are successfully laboring to ameliorate the condition of the prisoner in his solitude, and make some provision for him when his term of imprisonment shall have expired, that he may go forth into the world, a man again; subject to kindness and good moral influence, rather than to the taunts and jeers of an idle throng, who are ever more ready to curse and condemn, than to restore and forgive, an erring brother. Terms, one dollar per year, or 50 cents for six months. Subscriptions received at Dodge's Book Store.

We cheerfully comply with the request of a subscriber, and insert the following communication from the Salem Gazette;—

It seems that there are not less than four candidates for the office of Register of Deeds, all of whom, no doubt, are well qualified to perform the duties of the office. But I shall vote for Mr Eleazer M Dalton, for the following reasons, viz: he is a man of good business habits, and an excellent penman. He is a strict temperance man and always has been. He is a Mechanic; is in every respect qualified for the office, and probably no one could be found who would give more general satisfaction to the people of this county; and besides, it is time that the farmers, mechanics and laborers should awake from the degradation to which they have so long been subjected, and one way to do this is to put men of their own class, who have the requisite qualifications, into some of the offices, instead of bestowing them all upon gentlemen of the professions.—For the foregoing reasons, I shall vote for Mr Dalton, believing that he is abundantly qualified, and because I believe that if he should be chosen it would have a tendency to elevate the working classes to their true position in community, by showing that there are those among them who are capable, and that they are able, when they set themselves about it, to choose such to fill some of the offices; thereby breaking the spell that has heretofore bound them, viz: that all the offices of honor and profit belong exclusively to a particular class of the community,—As this is not a political office would it not be well for the people to unite and choose Mr Dalton. This they can do, if they are true to themselves,

A MECHAAIC.

MARRIAGES.

In this town, 9th inst., by Rev. Mr. Field, Mr. JASPER POPE to Miss SARAH FELTON.

In Salem, Mr. WM. H. MERRILL to Miss SOPHIA A. PATCH. Mr. JOSEPH M. DUTEY to Miss MARY ELLIOT. Rev. CALVIN TERRY, of Enfield, Conn., to Miss MARY E. BROOKS, of Salem. Mr. JOHN F. BLINN, of Weathersfield, Conn., to Miss MARY A. GOULD, of Salem.

In Wenham, by Rev. D. Mansfield, Mr. ALFRED ROBINSON to Miss ELIZABETH BROWN. Mr HENRY VERY to Miss MARY F. PUTNAM, both of this town. Mr. WM. E. BURNHAM of Essex, to Miss ELIZABETH P. LANGMAID of Wenham.

DEATHS.

In this town, on the 23d inst., GEORGE WATSON, son of Lauriston and Lucinda M. Stiles.

"Though now thy frail body in death is reclining,
Thy bright, spotless spirit with angels is shining:
For our Savior, to us, an assurance has given,
That of such as thou art is the kingdom of Heaven."

[Com.

In Salem, Mrs. MARY STETSON, aged 65. Miss CYNTHIA MARIA GIDDINGS, a native of Vermont aged 17. LUCINDA, daughter of Mr John Bott, aged 4 years. Mr. BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, youngest son of Capt. John Waters, aged 24.

In Greenville, Ind., on the 11th inst., Mr. HENRY M. WILDER, aged 31, son of Hon. David Wilder, of Leominster, Mass, at one time a resident of this town.

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

Lecture on Monday evening, by CHARLES SUMNER, Esq., of Boston. Subject—Improvement of Time.

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

The regular meetings of this Tent will be held in future on Monday evenings, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

A. C. OSBORNE, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. feb 14

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed.

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.
S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

COTTONS. COTTONS.

JUST opened, Merrimack, Salmon Falls, Bartlett, Forest Mills and Waltham Sheetings. For sale cheap by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

CALICOES.

A GOOD variety of new styles of Prints. Just opened by M. T. DOLE, feb 28

SPRING GOODS.

A FEW Pieces of Corded Cashmeres and Cashmere de Laines, elegant patterns. Just received by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

German Worsteds.

A GOOD assortment of the various shades. Also, Cruel Patterns, Canvass, Cruel Needles, &c. Just received by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

HAY. HAY.

300 BUNDLES Hay, of very prime quality, and in good order, for sale by J. DIKE, 27 Water street, Salem.
feb 28

NEW BOOKS.—The Select Works of Miss Ellen Pickering, in one volume, embossed cambric.
The Dead Boxer, an Irish Legend, by Wm. Carleton.
Kruitzner, or the German's Tale.
Cousin Hinton, or Friend or Foe, a novel, by Miss Pickering. Just rec'd by
W. & S. B. IVES,
feb 28 232 Essex street, Salem.

TREES. TREES.

All persons in want of Fruit or Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Herbaceous Plants, Vines, etc., can be supplied in any quantity from the nurseries of Parsons & Co., Flushing, the most extensive establishment of the kind in the United States. Orders should be sent in early, as trees should be taken up as soon as the frost is out. Catalogues may be obtained of the subscriber, who is now ready to receive orders.

Danvers, Feb. 20, 1846. W. D. JOPLIN, Agent.

NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has taken Rooms Over Lambert & Merrill's Store, where he intends carrying on the Tailoring Business in all its branches.

His system, or rule for cutting (which is a very superior one) was recently obtained in London, at considerable expense.

Particular attention paid to Gaiter Pants, and his style of cutting is respectfully submitted for examination.

A share of patronage is solicited.

S. AUGUSTUS CARLTON.

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons indebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch.

JOHN NUTTING,
S. D. PENDAR.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1845.

Phenix Hall—Salem.

☞ SPLENDID EXHIBITION. ☜

FAIR AND SALE OF FASHIONABLE

READY MADE CLOTHING,

From Simmons's Popular Tailoring Establishment,

OAK HALL, BOSTON.

FOR TWENTY DAYS.

I WOULD most respectfully invite the citizens of the City of Salem and neighboring towns to a LARGE SALE OF FASHIONABLE READY MADE CLOTHING AND RICH FURNISHING GOODS, consisting of

Over Coats, Cloaks, Dress and Frock Coats, Pants, Vests, Dressing Gowns, &c. &c.

with an endless variety of Furnishing Articles. The above Stock is all Fresh Goods, and made for my regular sales, and owing to the mildness of the first of the Winter, remain on hand; and if low prices and a strong determination to sell, combined with the new Winter which has just appeared to set in, will effect a sale; I shall succeed in closing all up the above Stock previous to leaving Salem.

The young Lion, taking a short trip from his accustomed forest, shakes the dew drops from his prolific mane, and gives a real old fashioned

"ROAR."

Those who remember the events of 1842, in Boston, the raising of the sign of "Oak Hall," will not easily forget the tremendous excitement produced in the Fashionable Ready Made Clothing Line, in the debut of the subscriber. It first developed itself in gentle ripples upon the sluggish sea of this Branch of Trade, anon the ripples took the form of swelling waves rolling each upon the other, increasing one upon another, until its deep bosom was lashed into a Tempest fearful to behold, sweeping the high Price and Long Credit system into the deep gulph below. But to descend from this high style of metaphor. Until April, 1842, when GEORGE W. SIMMONS took the field, it was not supposed for a moment, that any individual possessed the temerity to take the attitude of innovator of Old Established customs of Trade. Until this time, men had gone on their old plodding way, giving Long Credits, demanding as a recompense for the long hope, from Fifty to one hundred per cent advance. At this interesting epoch the startling announcement was heard, emanating from "Oak Hall,"

Large Sales and Small Profits.

This announcement awoke the dreaming thousands. Old men arose from their recumbent position, rubbed their heavy eye-lids, stretched their cramped and benumbed limbs,—young men congregated on the corners of streets, and looked unutterable things; guesses and suprises were rife—when straight all began to cry, 'Mad Dog.' Still on I went, unawed by threats nor cajoled by flattery, until finally I have laid fast and strong, a pinnacle stone, as lasting and durable as the hills.

To prove the advantage of the Cash System above all others, needs no lengthy tale. It must be apparent to the most casual observer, that while it shields the vender from the ruinous losses often attendant upon the Credit System, it protects the purchaser from the equally ruinous profits, demanded by merchants to cover bad debts created by a system of long credits.

To those, therefore, who can command the Ready Cash, this sale offers the strongest inducement. This Stock being purchased fresh this Winter at Auction, and direct from the Manufacturers, at some 50 per cent less than the cost of Importation, and being satisfied with Small Profits, will sell at a slight advance upon Auction prices. But at this sale, even less than that, as the object is to reduce a large stock of Fresh Manufactured Ready Made Clothing to Cash.

To accomplish this, each and every article will be marked the price, and no deduction made. This arrangement will give all those purchasers who are no judges as to quality, &c., an equal chance.

PHENIX HALL---SALEM.

Sale will commence on TUESDAY, the 3d day of March, at 12 o'clock, and continue Twenty Days.

Open in the morning, at 8 1-3 o'clock and close at 2; re-open at 3 and close at 6; re-open at 7 and close at 10 o'clock in the evening.

Oak Hall Express will be in readiness to convey all Parcels, Packages, &c. through Salem and adjoining towns.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
Proprietor of Oak Hall, Boston.

Head Quarters at the Essex House, Salem. All communications addressed there, will be attended to,
feb 28 1m

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.

On Wednesday
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet ship THOS. WRIGHT, Gardner, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf,

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. feb 28

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.

ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.

On Saturday,
This vessel takes neither Ice or Lime,

The superior, fast sailing bark BRIGHTON, Snow, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAML WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
feb 28

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845.

GEORGE W. CRAFTS,
ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand. G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb 7

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF

TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St, Peter Street,
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.

june 21, 1845.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

NEW WATCHES.

RECEIVED this moruing, an assortment of Silver Lever, Lepine and Verge Watches, of superior quality, which are offered for sale low, at 222 Essex street, Salem. WM. ARCHER, JR. oct 25

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hundreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street opposite the First Church.

WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.
dec 6

Cash Clothing Emporium.

THE subscriber will, on and after this date, sell and manufacture Clothing of every kind for CASH.

In returning my thanks to those who have been favored with credit and justly paid all demands, and also those who always pay cash, I would respectfully invite such to continue to me their custom, and I trust that the EXTREME LOW PRICES that I shall sell at will be perfectly satisfactory.

ANY ORDERS IN THE TAILORING, CLOTHING, or FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, will be promptly attended to on the CASH and ONE PRICE SYSTEM, at

BENJ. EDWARD'S,
No 10 Front street.
eb 14

PORTRAIT PAINTING.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to the citizens of Danvers, that he has taken a room over Lambert & Merrill's store, where he would be happy to wait upon any who may favor him with their patronage. Visitors are requested to call.

P. DERBY.
feb 21

DOLLARS! DOLLARS!! DOLLARS!!! can be saved by purchasing your Clothing and furnishing Goods at EDWARD'S Cash Store. Why? because he sells for nothing but the Cash, and you will not have to pay for others who do not pay. feb 20

S. DODGE has just received a new assortment of Plain and Ruled, Cap and Letter Paper of the best quality. Also—Plain and Tuck Bibles and Testaments; Plain and Ornamental Cards; Dunbar's Blue and Black Ink; Gillott's School and extra Fine Pens; Wafers, Sealing Wax,—together with a new assortment of Toy Books, Primers, Games, etc., to which he would particularly invite the attention of his little friends, whom he will not fail to please on very reasonable terms. feb 21

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, (Office, Merchants' Bank Building, State street, Boston,) since commencing February 1, 1844, have issued 547 policies, the number monthly having varied from 30 to 72—the amounts from $200 to 810,000 each—net fund accumulated (owing to the favorable turn of the risks thus far being mostly New England lives) $36,600—well invested for the proportional benefit of those who shall become, as well as those already members—surplus to be refunded to members at the end of every five years. from December, 1843—no insurance on credit, and no loss by any member, by had premium-notes of others.

Willard Phillips, Robert Hooper, William Parsons, Charles P. Curtis, Francis C. Lowell, George H. Kuhn, William W. Stone, R. B. Forbes, Peter Wainwright, Thomas A. Dexter, James Read and Otis Tufts, Directors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President.

JONATHAN AMORY, Secretary.

The subscriber having been appointed Agent for Danvers and vicinity, of the above named Institution, would hereby give notice that he is ready to receive applications for Insurance on lives, for one year, seven years, or for life, at very low rates of Premium.

The advantages of Life Insurance are becoming every day more apparent, and its excellent effects appreciated by the community.

Blank forms of application and any additional information will be given on application to

W. D. NORTHEND.

Danvers Feb 21, 1846.

FINE STEEL SPECTACLES. Just received, another lot of those fine, spring tempered, steel bowed Spectacles, a very superior article.

WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
feb 21 222 Essex street.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

George Southwick,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, innholder, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to JESSE H. SOUTHWICK,
Danvers, February 7th, 1846. Executor.

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.

MANNING & SARGENT,

Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,

KEEP constantly on hand and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. C. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

LITTLEFIELD'S

Oyster Depot, and Eating House,

No. 8 Front Street, (HENFIELD BLOCK.)

SALEM.

THE Subscriber would inform his friends and the public, that in addition to his former accommodations, he has now made arrangements, and completed his rooms for a general EATING HOUSE, upon the European plan,—MEALS, CUTS, &c.

Extra Suppers, and Parties furnished at short notice, and on reasonable terms. He will be supplied with the best the market affords and guarantee that it will be served in satisfactory style

OYSTERS Stewed, Roasted, Fried, or Scolloped, and sent to any part of the city. CLAM CHOWDER every Evening.

He also continues the sale of Literature and Newspapers,

N. B. From the patronage already obtained, he is enabled to present to those desirous of purchasing, as good an assortment of Camphene and Burning Fluid Lamps, as can be had in this City. Also, Chemical Oil, and Porter's Burning Fluid, pure and unadulterated, as cheap as elsewhere.

Grateful for past favors, he respectfully solicits a continuance. A. LITTLEFIELD.
dec 6 lawtf

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent,

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

Magazines and Pamphlets

OF all descriptions, such as the Lady's Book, Graham's Magazine, &c., bound in neat and elegant Bindings, from 50 cents and upwards. Also, Old Books rebound in a substantial manner. When a number of volumes are taken at one time, a reasonable deduction is made.

W. & S. B. IVES,
Bookstore and Bindery,
jan 10 Corner of Essex and Washington Sts.

NEW WORKS. Pulpit Elocution, comprising Suggestions on the importance of the Study,—the Rules of Reading—Observations on the Principles of Gesture, &c.—by Wm Russell, Instructor in Elocution.—Including articles on the Study of Elocution, by Prof. Park, and 1 vol. neatly bound in cloth.

Thoughts of Blaise Pascal—translated from the French—with a Sketch of his Life. 1 vol 12 mo.

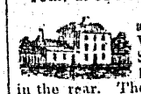
Philanthropy of my Mother's Bible—founded on an Incident which happened in New York—from the Press of the Harpers—18 mo.

A Defence of Capital Punishment by Dr. Cheever—New ed., with an essay on the ground and reason of Punishment, by Taylor Lewis, With a Review of Burleigh on the Death Penalty, 50c.

A Synopsis of Popery as it was, and as it is—by Wm Hogan—formerly Catholic Priest—25c.

Popish Nunneries, by Hogan—25c.

A fresh supply of Festus, a Poem, by P. I. Bailey—first Am. edition.



The Elves, from the German of Tieck, by T. Carlyle. 25c. Rec'd at the Bookstore of

J. P. JEWETT & CO.
feb 20

AUCTIONS.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises,

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Zebulon Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 165 feet on said street, and about 163 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct.,
35 Lawrence Place, Salem.
Jan 24 Salem Register

BY ORDER OF THE COURT OF PROBATE, will be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 16 day of March next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

SO much of the Real Estate of Ezra Gowing, late of Lynnfield, in the County of Essex, yeoman, deceased, as will raise the sum of Thirteen Hundred and Twenty Five Dollars, for the payment of his just debts and incidental charges.

Said Estate consists of a certain Farm situated in Lynnfield, aforesaid, bounded Northerly by land of Daniel King, North-easterly and South-easterly by land late of Aaron Foster, deceased, and Southwesterly, by land of William Skinner, jr. containing forty acres; be the same more or less, with all the buildings thereon.

Also, about one acre of Upland and Meadow, situate in said Lynnfield, bounded Northerly by land of the heirs of Thomas Chasson, dec'd; Easterly and Southerly by land of Asa Gardner, and Westerly by land formerly owned by Thomas Bancroft, Esq.

Thy sale will be at the dwelling house on said farm, where the condition and particulars will be made known.

Persons wishing to view the premises, are respectfully requested to call upon William Skinner, jr. who lives near the premises, who will show the same and give such information as may be wanted.

Salem, feb 21 WILLIAM GOWING, Admr.

W. D. JOPLIN,

AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD.

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET. SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. BABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem,
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON "
oct 25

SELLING OFF.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpacas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.
Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,

which he will sell very low.

feb 7 J. C. FERRIN.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel. Iron. etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes, for which that is used. Put up and for sale [illegible] pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf N[illegible]

DR. J. A ROBINSON.

SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, opposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street, recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER.

Periscopic Spectacles,

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction in all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st. Salem

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Tolyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dressmaker. apply to

Dec. 16 WM. SUTTON.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St. A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of

WEST INDIA GOODS,

Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.

Danvers, Oct 25.

BUTTER.

JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by

O. F. BATCHELDER.

Danvers, Jan 30.

LORRAINE'S PILLS.

All persons require Facts

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills, have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,

J. E. F. MARSH.

—

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,

E. MASON.

—

Chelsea. Jan- 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,

W. M. HALSTAL

Sir. I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

—

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach he brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,

JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

—

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one dose of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

—

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

BOSTON, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and his, combined with my other maladies, rendered me uly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a nsumption. Since, I have taken LORRAINE'S PILLS nd now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

—

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E.Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch, CHAS. A. DEARBORN.

Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

Co-Partnership Dissolution.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of CARTER & BATCHELDER, is this day dissolved by mutual consent All persons having demand against the firm, are requested to present them, and all those indebted to make immediate payment to SAMUEL CARTER, at the old stand, who is authorised to settle the same.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

—

O. F. BATCHELDER having taken the Stock and Stand of the old firm, would respectfully solicit from the former patrons of the establishment and the public generally, a continuance of their favors, being determined that no efforts on his part shall be spared to give entire satisfaction to all who may favor him with a call.

Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

REMOVAL.

EDWARDS'S TAILORING AND CLOTHING EMPORIUM has been removed to No. 10 HENFIELD'S BLOCK, 3 doors east of the former store, where he will be pleased to see his customers, and all others in want of TAILORING, or

READY MADE CLOTHING oct1

HARPER'S NEW MISCELLANY. Nos. 6 and 7. Life of Paul Jones, by Mackenzie—with likenesses—2 vols. 50c a volume, bound in cloth. Just published for sale by J. P. JEWETT & CO. feb 7

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN

HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,

Agricultural Tools and Ploughs

PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps.

CARPENTER'S TOOLS,

HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs,
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.

No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.

march 15 tf

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn be trade. dec 13

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself at No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, amoug which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.

dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

G. W CRAFTS.

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER AND STATIONER,

174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAS constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at the lowest rates. meh 15

BENJAMIN EDWARDS.

DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably; and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon the establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.

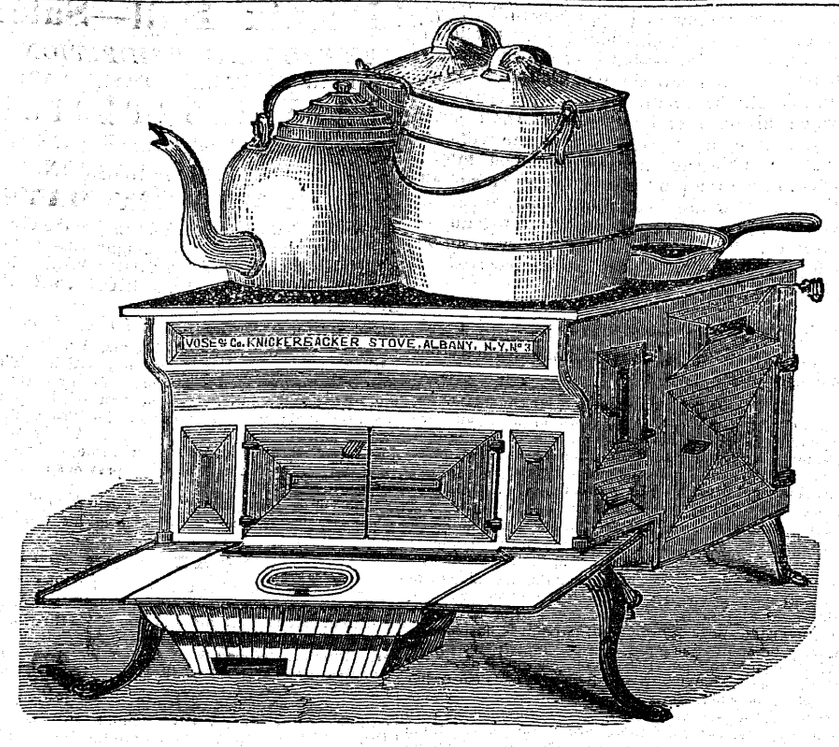
apr 15 tf

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2 S. DODGE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.

Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

TO LET



Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.
Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
291 Essex street, Salem.
aug 1

NEW ARTICLE. Cast Inkstands, a cheap and strong Inkstand, various sizes. Just received at W & S B IVES'S, Stationery Store feb 14

ARNEY WILEY,

OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entirely new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or withou ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.

205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2

(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call..

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March15, 1845. tf

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN

FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC

HARDWARE.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF

Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,

NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 tf

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by jnue 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.

dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

NEW ENGLAND

TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Bostor, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can ee him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on nand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

Greenhouse Plants for sale.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will ue warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

CHEAP German Paint Boxes. One case o the above of various sizes, just received and for sale at wholesale and retail, by

feb 21 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

EASTERN RAILROA

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains lea (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1. 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.

Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P M.

Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.

Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.

Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A. 4 1-4 P.M.

South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.

Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2

Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4

Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

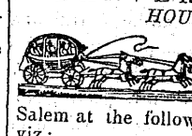
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Por and all intermediate places every day.



Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN
oct 11 Master of Transportati

Winter Arrangement of the

DANVERS AND SALEM

HOURLY COACHES.

THE Danvers and S Hourly Coaches wil connection with the Eas Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at 7 1-4 A.M. Leave Salem at 8
" " 8 3-4 " " 9
" " 9 3-4 " " 11
" " 11 1-4 " 12 3
" " 1 3-4 P M. " 3
" " 2 3-4 " " 4
" " 4 1-2 " " 5
" " 5 1-2 " " 6
" " 6 1-2 " " 8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jo G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex H and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reas ble terms. SYMONDS & TEE apr 19 tf

---

Danvers Express and Bagga Waggen

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and N Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended

Goods handled with care.

April 19, 1845. S. F. TOWN. 1 y

Great Bargain

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE

Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem

GARMENTS of all description may be obtain at prices which cannot fail to give entire sati action.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of e ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if n superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as fo merly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made a cording to the wishes of the customer, and will gua antee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.

Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assort ment of

SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses a be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.

Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co-partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & P pering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to,

SIGN PAINTING

IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.

mch29 1y

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use, a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street

RAILROAD,
ANGEMENT.
1845, Trains leave daily
4 A.M., 2 1-2 P.M.
7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M
, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M port, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and
7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1-2
3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.
M., 3 1-4 P.M.
and Newburyport, 8 A.M
2 A.M., 3 P.M.
3 1-2 P.M.
lls for Boston, 9 A.M. and n, 9.25 A.M, 4 55 P.M.
7 1-4, 10.* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M
8 10 3-4* A.M. 6 1-4* P.M
9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. n the East.
AD BRANCH.
ead for Salem, at 7 1-2
P.M.
head, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M.
P.M. ll leave Boston, Portland
s every day.
n, No. 17 Merchants Row
at the several Depots
JOHN KINSMAN,
Master of Transportation.
ngement of the
AND SALEM
COACHES
HE Danvers and Salem
Hourly Coaches will on nection with the Eastern lroad, leave Danvers and
hours,
A.M. Leave Salem at 8 A.M
" " 9 1-2
" " 11 3-4
P.M. " 12 3-4
" " 3 P.M
" " 4
" " 5
" " 6 1-2
eniture's Hotel, or at Joseph vers, and at the Essex House em.
taken at the depot on the ar
Boston and the East.
rnished at any hour on reason
SYMONDS & TEEL.
tf
ress and Baggage
Waggon
and Boston, daily (Sundays ex
Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jo
No. 14 Blackstone, and No. on, will be promptly attended t
ntrusted with care.
S. F. TOWN
1 y
Bargains
BEING HAD AT THE Clothing Store, Salem
ll description may be obtain annot fail to give entire sati n taken in the getting up of which is warranted equal, if n ing in the city.
ders to take measures as fo are bespoken, will be made t of the customer, and will gua fit.
S. CHAMBERLAIN, Jr.
tf
MAS TRASK,
Main Street, Danvers,
antly on hand, a good assort
AND HARNESSES,
Also—Fire Buckets, Sle
Boot Top Travelling Trun
Corner Bags, Chaises, Sle
Equipments, etc.
short notice, and on th
ns of all kinds and quality, ma and an assortment of Harnesses m establishment.
ss Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
ly
NERSHIP NOTICE.
OSBORNE has taken into Co
MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and Glazing & Papering
S. Main, No 10 PARK STREET, Salem
RNE & WHIDDEN.
N PAINTING
N OF WOOD, MARBLE
AND GLASS, &c.
nd Clock Repairing.
om the citizens of Dan
he has established him
LEN'S BUILDING,
in the Watch and Clock
by strict attention to
to merit a share of
N. CONANT.
RY REPAIRED, and a sup
SH GLASSES, constantly o
COAL.
AL COAL.
AIN R. A COAL, from the Company, a well known and Coals,
NUT COAL, of various sizes,
for furnaces and stoves
Smith's use, a prime article.
and HAY. For sale
PARK LIME and HAY. JOHN DIKE
7 Water street.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 7, 1846. NUMBER 51.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Field's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

FORGIVE AND FORGET.

When streams of unkindness as bitter as gall,
Bubble up from the heart to the tongue,
And Meekness is writhing in torment and thrall,
By hand of Ingratitude wrung—
In the bent of injustice, unwept and unfair,
While the anguish is festering yet,
None, none but an angel of God can declare,
"I now can forgive and forget."

But if the bad spirit is chased from the heart,
And the lips are in penitence steeped,
With the wrong so repented the wrath will depart,
Though scorn on injustice were heaped;
For the best compensation is paid for all ill,
When the cheek with contrition is wet;
And every one feels it is possible still,
At once to forgive and forget.

To forget? It is hard for a man with a mind,
However his heart may forgive,
To blot out all perils and dangers behind,
And but for the future to live;
Then how shall it be; for at every turn,
Recollection the spirit will fret,
And the ashes of injury smoulder and burn,
Though we strive to forgive and forget.

Oh harken! my tongue shall the riddle unseal,
And mind shall be partner with heart,
While thee to thyself I bid conscience reveal,
And show thee how evil thou art;
Remember thy follies, thy sins, and thy crimes,
How vast is that infinite debt!
Yet Mercy has sworn by seventy times
Been swift to forgive and forget.

Brood not on insults or injuries old,
For thou art injurious too—
Count not the sum till the total is told,
For thou art unkind and untrue;
And if all thy harms are forgotten, forgiven,
Now mercy with justice is met,
Oh, who would not gladly take lessons of Heaven,
And learn to forgive and forget?

Yes, yes, let a man when his enemy weeps,
Be quick to recieve him a friend;
For thus on his head in kindness he heaps
Hot coals—to refine and amend:
And hearts that are christian more eagerly yearn,
As a nour-e on her innocent pet
Over lips that, once bitter, to penitence turn,
And whisper, Forgive and forget.

COMMUNICATION.

Letters from Cuba.

Continuation.

MARCO'S JOURNEY TO THE MOUNTAINS,

Concluded.

In the evening they sat up around the table, Beatrice and all, selecting some dried tobacco leaves and afterwards two negroes came in and rolled them into cigars. They had quite a merry time, but as Marco was rather tired he soon left them to retire to his hammock.

The next morning he was up quite early, and went into the cook house where he found a blazing fire of sticks between some stones, and half a dozen of the family around it warming themselves and making their coffee. He took a cup full of it sweetened with honey, as they had no sugar It was rather a chilly morning, much colder than on the lower ground, and they, not being used to cold weather, complained of "mucho frio." As they had promised the day before, they caught one of the cows, and gave him some nice new milk, of which with some biscuit he made a fine breakfast. Don Juan and the other two men were out all the forenoon, and Marco had a very pleasant time at the house. The party started on their way back at about noon, and just before they left, la Senora Beatrice gave Marco three fine ripe oranges. They then bade adieu to the cottage on the mountains, but I have not time to describe their journey back. It was after nine o'clock when Marco arrived home, having in the three days rode 80 miles and been in the saddle 21 hours.

Manzanillo de Cuba, Dec. 29, '45.

It seems a long week since I began my other letter to go by the Angola, as there has been such a scene of confusion here for the last three days.—The Christmas holidays are just over and we have hardly yet got settled in our new residence in town. There is a report that the steamboat between this place and St. Jago, is lost on the reefs.

Last evening we went to the Ranchos, to see the gambling which forms so great a part of the diversions upon the holidays. It was upon a large vacant lot, partly covered by a roof and well lighted. A small portion of the space was appropriated for the music and dancing, and the rest for the gamblers around the tables which were set thickly together. There were half a dozen or more at each table, playing most earnestly at various games, cards, dice, roulette, &c., and there were great heaps of silver all about on the tables. Perhaps there were 40 or 50 tables with their several groups, and you can scarcely conceive of such a scene of hilarity, the mingled noise of every one talking eagerly and the various sounds of the apparatus. The bets go as high as $10 or $12, and it is not uncommon for many to win or lose several hundreds in one night. There were also refreshment tables all about, with liquors, cakes, confectionary, &c., and on the whole the scene resembled an old-fashioned "training day" as much as anything I can compare it with. All this is quite respectable, and I noticed quite a number of ladies around the gaming tables, no less earnestly engaged than the men. A considerable sum is paid for a license for the Ranchos the amount of which goes to our Most Holy Church. It is several hundred dollars at least.—At about midnight those who please leave the Ranchos and go to hear Mass. These sports have been continued night after night ever since the 8th of December, especially since Christmas. They close on the 6th of January.

On the forenoon of Christmas day, Mr. Miller and our man Jose went to see the cock-fighting. After dinner I went to town also. The steamer had arrived, so she was not lost but only delayed beyond her time. There was great disappointment this night as the Ranchos were forbidden on account of the arrival of the steamboat. It is forbidden by the Captain General at Havana, and our Manzanillo government is afraid he will hear of it by the steamer! As soon as she leaves, all will go on as before.

In the evening I went to one of the negro Fandangos which are not prohibited by our dignified government. It was held in a kind of shed and was as joyous an assemblage as that of the Ranchos. There were several musicians making a tremendous din, and about them a crowd of blacks, with a few whites dancing and screaming with all their might. It was a most lively scene and they seemed perfectly happy. We passed by another Fandango on our way home where we arrived about nine o'clock.

Friday I staid at home and packed my things to move to town next day. I felt quite sorry to leave my little room and to exchange the view of foresis of palms and fields of sugar cane from my door, for the old houses and dirty streets of Manzanillo. Early Saturday afternoon we sent off the last of our things by the wagons and I took my horse for the last time to carry me to my new home. Our country house seemed pleasanter than ever and I almost regretted leaving it though still I expect to like better in town on the whole.

After I arrived in town I went to a 'Barberia' and got shaved and my hair cut. My hair had grown quite long, which shows the lapse of time since I left home. To lather my face the barber put a wash basin, with a notch in it for my neck, up under my chin and then rubbed the soap and water over my face with his hand. He shaved me very nicely. He cut my hair the Spanish fashion, short behind and not long before. Towards evening I went to Mrs. M. to announce my arrival in town. By the way, I forgot to say that the barber and I had quite a conversation in Spanish. He asked me if I wanted my hair cut and to be shaved, where I came from, if I came in the Angola, if I did not have some trouble with my lungs, &c., all of which I was able satisfactorily to answer. He also loaned me some Spanish newspapers, 'La Preusa,' a daily paper published in Havana.

In the evening I went to church with Miss M. From what I had always heard of the Catholic service I was prepared to be much impressed with its sublimity. The inside of the church is large, with arches at the sides, the altar being on a raised platform in the back part, and a small pulpit (not unlike our old-fashioned high ones) with a sounding-board above it, is situated a little on one side. When we went in, there were perhaps 30 or 40 persons kneeling upon the floor in front of the altar, the women with their heads covered with a shawl, and some one appeared to be speaking, while the others occasionally responded. Afterwards the priest came in and waved some unpleasant smelling incense before the altar and then recited something in Latin. The music then struck up, which sounded like a 'training,' and two men with loud and gruff voices sung.—The musicians were seated up on a staging of boards on the side of the church opposite the altar. I believe the instruments were a bass viol, a fiddle and a clarionet. By the door, just inside of the church, was a basin of holy water in which the people as they passed in dipped their fingers and crossed themselves. Sometimes a negro would just go in, wet his finger, then come out and mark half a dozen children and depart apparently quite satisfied. A large proportion of the audience were women and many of them were negroes. I could not look upon the scene and regard it otherwise than as amusing. When the service is well carried out and upon a larger scale it might be different, as there is, you know, "but one step from the sublime to the ridiculons.—One service is early in the morning of Sunday and one in the evening, giving all a good opportunity to regale themselves through the day with card playing, cock-fights, or at the billiard table, according to their several tastes. From what I can learn it is not considered disreputable for the priest himself to spend the day in this manner.—I have heard of one who lacks in punctuality at the mass in order to finish his game at cards or at the billiard table. He certainly ought to be punctual, at least.

Thursday, Jan.. 1, 1846.

It is New Year's day and another holiday here.—I have wished myself much at home to hear the merry voices repeating "I wish you a happy new year." We had a few English sailors here to day, so we exchanged the salutation of the season with each other, and it seemed really good to meet them. They belong to an English bark which arrived last Sunday, and they are bound to Liverpool. One of them had been to Boston and Charlestown and liked very well, and he said that if he had not been a d——d fool he would have stayed there. Even this was something like hearing from home.

Last evening I went with Mrs. M. to Mr. Hall's, to visit a young lady who had just arrived from New York They live in a fine little house back upon the hill overlooking the town and the bay. Mr. Hall has been here 20 years or more and married a Spanish lady, and has several children who only talk Spanish, except the eldest a pleasant looking girl of 18 or thereabouts who has picked up a few English words. After staying there for two or three hours we all went to the Ranchos together. The ladies who danced there were dressed beautafully, and it was quite an animating scene and strikes one more from the contrast with everything else around. I staid until after nine o'clock when I went home and was not sorry to get back to my little room.

Wednesday night a little thached cottage was burned down and one person was burned considerably. They have no engines or anything for putting out fires, and such houses will burn down almost in a moment.

Yesterday the little wax figure of the infant Jesus was carried through the streets as on Christmas day, to give every one an opportunity to kiss it. It was brought into our house. It was on a doll's bed fixed up with rosettes of tissue paper, &c. and looked just like a doll with fat cheeks.

Jan. 3, '46

You have probably inferred from my letters that I like here very well, the only trouble being that I love home, but I should not wish to stay long on any account. It is so pleasant here that you may like it for a while, say through the winter. There is fine sport gunning, they say, the game being ducks and other wild fowl, the ducks being three or four times as large as ours and I have never yet seen a white one. Then you may enjoy yourself by a sail in the bay in one of their canoes with a couple of negroes to row you about where you please. The luscious fruits too suit the taste admirably, but still you would be troubled with many inconveniences, the manner of living is so different from what we have been accustomed to.

They have a beautiful breed of dogs here, perfectly white, with a fine soft wool. They are stunted in their growth by putting rum in their ears while young. They are often not more than ten or twelve inches long and they are kept in almost every house by the women for pets. My landlady, Mrs. Miller, has one which always lies down by her when she is sewing. His name is Mor-fe-o (Morpheus.) We have another, a larger dog named Romantico, but Mr. Miller usually calls him Roma, which reminds me of an individual of the same species at home. These little white dogs are very affectionate and playful, and can be learned many little tricks. When they are carried to a colder climate, their wool grows thicker and coarser and they do not look so pretty.

Domingo called here a little while on New Year's day. Marco was very glad to see his old travelling companion again. He said that he had not been to the mountains since their journey together but that he expected to go the next Monday.

Jan. 5.

Last evening a funeral passed by, the first one I have seen since I have been here. The corpse of a child was covered with black and carried in the midst of about thirty or forty persons, all of them with candles. It looked very singular.

A few days ago we had rumors of the United States being at war with Mexico. Of course we were a little alarmed but we did not place much confidence in them. I have just been to the barber's and looked over the Havana papers as late as Dec. 25.—In one of them there was a long article headed 'United States,' and giving an account of the President's Message. So far as I could understand it, there has been no declaration of war. I should prefer not to have any war, or if it must come, not till I get safely at home. I suppose all this is an old story to you but we are anxious to have the Nereus arrive and give us the truth, as no doubt what we shall hear at present will be much exaggerated.

Tomorrow will be another holiday, it being one of the Saint's days, the patron Saint of the sailors.—They are to have a procession and march round the town by the water, and fire vollies of musketry. People were very busy yesterday making cartridges.—We are fairly tired of so many holidays. The Ranchos stop after tomorrow.

MISCELLANY.

AN AMUSING SKETCH.

MRS PELL'S PILGRIMAGE.

BY MRS. C. M. KIRKLAND.

Mrs Pell would go. She was rather a meek and mild-mannered person, generally; but those are the very people who are hardest to manage when once they take hold of a moving idea. Her husband, a retired sea captain, who had never slept out of his own comfortable house since he made his last voyage round the world, years and years ago, tried his very best to dissuade her from so rash an enterprise; even to frighten her, by a recapitulation of the dangers of hard-travelling, which he sincerely believed much more formidable than those belonging to the sea, inclusive of doubling the Horn, and trading among the cannibals.

Mrs Pell owned she should be afraid to go up the Hudson in a sail-boat. but a steam-boat was quite a different thing.

"Steamboat!" said the captain. "How absurd to fancy that the danger from water is lessened by heating it to the boiling point!"

But Mrs Pell would go, and she would take little Tommy, too!! Now little Tommy was the apple of the eye to both his parents, and on this occasion he came very near becoming an apple of discord. For the mother voluntarily to subject herself to all sorts of inconveniences and dangers was bad enough, but to insist on taking that poor innocent child!

Little Tommy was the only child of a somewhat late marriage, Captain Pell having followed the sea round and round the world until it gave him a competence before he thought of settling himself. Being by that time a little rheumatic and weather-beaten, he provided in the first place the snuggest of all possible dwellings, with holes in the closet shelves to stick spoons and glasses in, and all the settees ingeniously contrived to serve for lockers, so as to have everything convenient. When all was fitted out and abundantly stored, the captain bethought him that a mate was necessary to keep things right; and he soon fixed upon a person for that responsible situation. This was Mrs Beulah Beers, the comely widow of a nautical friend, who had some years before died in his berth like one of Hood's heroes. This lady had no family, and she stepped from a very similar home quite naturally into Captain Pell's, bringing with her so many additions to his outfits for the voyage of life, that the most fastidious worshipper of worldly conveniences would have owned that nothing could be added to render the worthy couple more completely unfit to live any where else.

After these hints, one need not say that both Captain and Mrs Pell were rather particular people, but the timely advent of little Tommy upon the stage prevented them from turning into absolute tee-totums, since he now occupied a large share of the attention which had formerly been concentrated upon a double-self.

But here trouble had arisen—and so unexpectedly; and all through Mrs Pell's headlong determination to go ever so far to visit a nephew who had just married a rich wife!

'What good will her riches do you?' said Captain Pell, who was vexed almost beyond the amenities. 'What good will they do you? She will not give you any of them.'

'I don't want any, thank fortune,' said Mrs Pell; 'but Putnam is the first of our family that ever married money, and I am determined to see with my own eyes what sort of wife has come with it; and I will take Tommy, too, for it will be such a good opportunity for him to see something of the world.'

'But you may be sure Putnam will bring his wife to town, and then you could see her without going through so much. And as to taking Tommy——'

'But in town she would be just like any other woman—buying finery and seeing sights. I want to see her and Putnam together in their own house. And as to taking Tommy, I shall not stir a step without him.'

So Mrs Pell would go. Captain Pell said she was past listening to reason—meaning, probably, that she would not listen to him. He, therefore, with a very husbandish air, made up of a sense of superior wisdom, a feeling of pity for the wilful folly of the weaker vessel, and a very legible look of 'I wash my hands of the consequences,' set about aiding Mrs Pell in her preparations—hunting up the key of the huge brown hair trunk which was to contain her choicest costume in honor of her rich niece; engaging a passage for her on board the steamboat, and ordering a cab at six to be ready for the boat at seven.

And now such clear-starching; such ironing out of every thing that was rumpled; such rackings to the thread-and-needle store of muniments for the voyage; such fillings of camphor and cologne bottles; such beggings of cloaks and India-rubbers; such basketings of cake and oranges, with both Mrs Pell and the captain were convinced could not be obtained after once leaving New York.

'Take my spy-glass, my dear,' said the good captain; 'it will be an excellent thing to see the scenery with. You can slip it into the same case with the umbrella, and parasol, and sun-shade, and then it will give you no trouble at all. And I have a capital neat little pocket compass, too, that you must take; it will be such a satisfaction to know which waw you're going.

The neat little pocket-compass was like a monstrous watch, but Mrs Pell put it in her pocket, resolved to omit nothing that could enhance the pleasure of the trip. She took her large leather fan in case it should be warm, and three shawls of various thickness as provision against cool mornings and evenings. The captain would have liked to add a famous old pea-jacket of his, for fear of storms, but to this the lady objected, thinking her cloak would probably protect her until she could find shelter somewhere. A bottle of Preston salts went to keep the compass in countenance, and there was still room in that capacious reservoir—an elderly lady's pocket—for a travelling manual, a memorandum-book, a pen and pencil case, and seals, not to mention the thimble, the nutmeg, and the bit of calamus that always reposed there a purse well stocked, especially with change, (which would of course be very difficult to procure,) and a few small nails, which the captain' care added in case any thing might give way about the trunk.

'In the large basket, my dear,' said Captain Pell, 'you will find the cakes and oranges and a pound of sweet chocolate, which you must remember if you should get a poor supper any where; and the Graham biscuits, and a box of guava marmalade are in this corner, and the powders and the camphor in this. Don't forget to take your lozenges, they are in the red box. Your thick shoes, remember, and Tommy's great coat, are in the top of the trunk: you must make the chamber-maid take them out for you if the decks should be damp.'

By and by, with the aid of the captain, the washer-woman, the seamstress, the dress maker, and various others—all artists in their way—Mrs Pell and Tommy were ready for the cab; and there they sat waiting full ten minutes after the appointed time, Mrs Pell in the parlor and Tommy on the front steps, perfectly assured that they would be left. The delinquent cabman when he did appear, was well-rated, and ordered to drive for his very life; which he did of course,—not forgetting however, to take very good care of the lives of his horses.

The steamer was nearly as quiet as she had been in the morning. No passengers had come down but a few fidgetty people; and Captain Pell had abundant leisure to bestow Mrs Pell's baggage in what he considered the very best place, to seek out the captain and commend Mrs Pell to his especial care, and to reiterate his charges and cautions as to the various difficulties and perils of the way

'You had better sit where you can keep a look out on the baggage, and if anybody offers to touch it, send for the captain at once. This carpet-bag and the two band-boxes, and the large basket and the case with the umbrella and parasol, and sun-shade, and telescope, can stand in one corner of the cabin, and you must keep an eye on them too. And don't set down your hand-basket; and above all things don't lose sight of Tommy, or he'll be crushed in the machinery before you know it.'

Thus good Captain Pell run on, in a sort of despairing under-tone until he began to be jostled and bounced about by the thronging passengers in such a way that his eloquence became sadly fragmentary. His further converse, if properly noted, would have been as full of breaks and dashes as a pathetic novel. At length a bell, loud, piercing, imperative, made him fairly jump—treading as he came down, upon three ladies' toes at once.

'Oh, run, father, run! do go, quick!' said little Tommy, pushing and butting at his father with all his might. 'Run, or you'll be left!'

'What a careful, dear little soul it is!' said both parents.

'Good-bye, my dear; good-bye, Tommy!' followed by two or three very audible kisses, preceded Captain Pell's departure by only a moment. He darted over the gangway, with the air of a man trying to dodge the blasting of a rock after the train is lighted, and made his way up Courtland street without loss of time.

Mrs Pell now felt decidedly that she had commenced her journey. 'Is the boat agoing, Chambermaid?' said she.

'No Madam,' said the stately bronze dame.

'There, now it moves, doesn't it, Tommy?' said Mrs Pell, after waiting painfully a whole minute rather than seem importunate.

Tommy didn't know, but he rather thought it did.

'Now we're going, ar'nt we, chambermaid?'

'No, madam,' was all the satisfaction she could obtain, and she waited in subdued silence until the frightful bell sounded again.

'Good gracious! has anything happened, chambermaid?'

'No, madam.'

Poor Mrs Pell gazed at the great eyes of the Indian queen of the cabin, as if seeking in their calm depths the source of such wonderful fortitude. Presently the cry of all ashore, roused her to quivering life.

She rushed frantically from the cabin, not forgetting to drag little Tommy after her. 'What has happened? Do tell me—do for pity's sake tell me! Must we all go ashore?'

Then, observing that the shore receded rapidly, she showed a disposition to jump from the gangway; but the sailors fortunately closed it just then, and she jumped into the captain's arms.

'Oh, what is the matter?' she said once more but faintly, for she had spent her strength in former alarms,

'Nothing at all, my dear madam,' said the captain, very politely, at the same time offering his arm for a return to the cabin. 'I hope you'll make yourself as comfortable as possible, and fear nothing whatever.'

At this moment there happened to be a slight escape of steam. Mrs Pell clung convulsively to the stout arm she held. 'Ah, captain, what is that?' she said in a faintly reproachful tone—as much as to say, 'You assured me there was no danger!'

'Only the steam, ma'am,' said the captain.

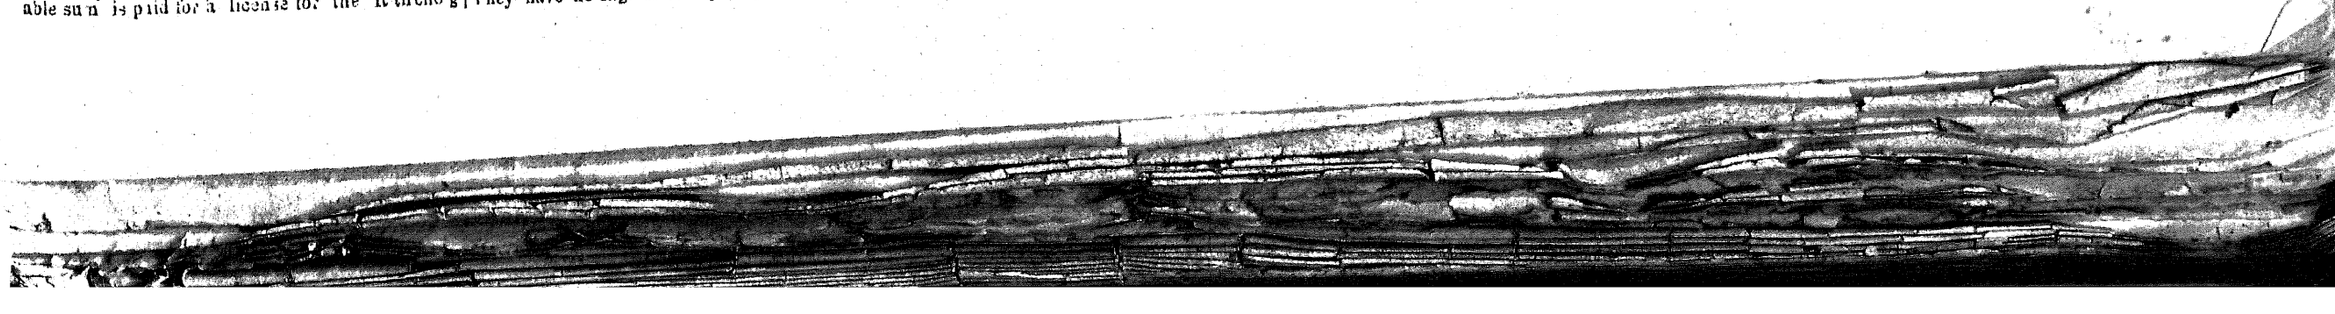
'Ah! we shall be all scalded to death!' said the unfortunate lady.

'Scalded, my dear madam,' said the captain, who began to see into the case a little. 'This is an engine of the newest construction, and requires the water to be only blood warm.'

So saying, he deposited Mrs Pell, a good deal pacified by this assurance, in a rocking chair in the cabin, and then darted off as if he had a propeller in his pocket.

To be continued.

Daniel Webster.



The following remarks on the style of oratory of the great Massachusetts statesman, are from the London Sun. The writer had an opportunity to hear him and Mr. Choate, as well as other American orators at a mass meeting.

He commences his speech in a low, deep, yet perfectly distinct tone, and silence instantly pervades the vast multitude. As he proceeds, the volume of his voice increases, until, like a mojestic stream, it flows onward in its deep channel with resistless power. He does not deal largely in tropes or metaphors; and yet, occasionally, he delights with the most poetical passages. His style of oratory is not the ornate, but the massive, and he is rather clear and forcible than florid or captivating. Appealing to reason and good sense, rather than to feeling and passion, he produces almost marvellous effects. He softens his audience by the beauty of his style and diction, and then, down he comes with the ponderous sledge hammer of his eloquence, and moulds them to his will. His eloquence, contrasted with that of another distinguished American orator, Mr. Choate, is as the simple grandeur of a pyramid in opposition to the elegance of a Corinthian temple. The effect of his speech on the occasion to which I am especially referring, cannot be better described than by adopting the unconsciously correct criticism of a Yankee from Connecticut, who stood near me, and exclaimed at its conclusion, "Well, I guess, as every word in that ere speech weighed a pound." Sidney Smith, when asked what he thought of Mr. Webster, after hearing a speech which the American made at an agricultural dinner in Oxford, expressed the same astonishment in a different manner—'What do I think of him, sir!' said the witty canon, 'why, he is a steam-engine in breeches, sir.'

QUALIFICATIONS FOR A SENATOR.—A Washington letter gives this sketch of one of the U. S. Senators from Georgia:

Mr Colquitt is not only an able legislator, but a sound lawyer, and a good preacher. He is a man of decided talent, energetic, persevering, and industrious. He is said to have made, in one day, two stump speeches, preached two sermons, argued a case in Court, and joined a couple in the holy bonds of wedlock! He also possesses, according to his friends, another very eminent qualification for a Senator of the United States. To use the language of the authority referred to, 'he can thrash any other man wrapped up in the same quantity of skin!'

☞ The Boston Traveller says that poor families in some parts of Boston have to pay for every pail of water which they use, two cents.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 7, 1846.

The North and the South.

In every question upon which the North and South are at issue, concessions are made by the North. Scarcely a subject can come up in Congress, upon which the South feels interested, but that some Quixotic champions will array themselves with brazen faces in her defence, with a determination to browbeat down all opposition, and in this they are too often successful. The North is too acquiescent. Her members sit tamely by and see her interests injured, and hear her honor traduced, without even so much as an indignant rebuke. The great institution of the South, and upon the basis of wh ich all her other are formed is slavery. It is diametrically opposed to the interests and institutions of the North.—But the history of our legislation upon this subject, is but a continued series of concessions on the part of the north. If the chains of the slave needed strengthening, the North gave her tacit consent. If to cherish and keep alive the institution, increase of territory was deemed essential, the North never opposed it. Her voice was rarely heard in solemn protest against any measure for the support of that institution, which was bearing her down to earth.

And what has been the reward when the North has asked for protection to her interests and institutions in return for all this, has the South in magnanimous gratitude allowed it? The utter defeat which so many of her applications have met with, and the desperate struggles with which others have been forced through, afford a sufficient reply. A protective tariff which is absolutely necessary for the prosperity and advancement of the North, has ever been contested inch by inch by the generous hearted South, and with shame let it be said, northern men have succumbed, and voted against their own interests through fear of southern sarcasm and southern influence.

It is time that an end were put to this. It is time that the North should define her position and send such men to Congress as are both willing and able to assert her claims and defend her rights.—Let this be done, and slavery will receive a shock from which it will never recover, and the interests of the North will receive a due and just support.

The Railroad Committee.

We are yet in the dark in relation to the character of the Report of the Committee, before which the hearing took place on the Salem and Malden Railroad. In the middle of the week a rumor was quite current that a Report in favor of the Road was forthcoming, and about the same time the Boston Post declared that there would be no Report until after the hearing on the South Reading Road. On Thursday, the Boston Courier stated that the Committe, six in number (one of them, Mr. Crowninshield, having withdrawn himself on this case) was equally divided. Should this be true, which we shall be slow in believing, there can be no Report on the merits of the case on either side, at least in the usual form of a majority and minority Report, The Traveller of Thursday evening, revives the rumor that the Committee have decided to defer their Report until after the hearing on the Chelsea and South Reading Roads. The existence of so many rumors, without any certain information, shows that the Committee mean to keep their own counsel until they are ready to report.

We have been accustomed to look upon the decision of this question as one involving a great principle of right, which affects alike not only the citizens of Danvers, but the people in the farthest town in Berkshire and those at the extreme end of Cape Cod. The question is, whether the people of this Commonwealth belong to the Railroads which they have chartered, or whether these roads are made for the people. If the people of Danvers have been mortgaged to the Eastern Railroad and are to be compelled to pay perpetual tribute into the coffers of that corporation, the people of every other section of the state are also liable to be sold by the Legislature to the first Corporarion which may get a charter to lay down a Railroad in their vicinity. We should deprecate the delay which has occurred in the case of our own application, if we were not desirous that this question should be placed distinctly before the whole people. We hope this opportunity will not be lost to show in its proper light to both houses of the Legislature and through them to the people, the arrogant claims of existing Railroad Corporations and the cool effrontery with which they snap their fingers in the faces of those who gave them all the power they now possess. We have the utmost confidence in the present triumph of the people over these outrageous claims of the mammoth corporations, and we shall rejoice that the popular cause has in this case been espoused by Whig legislators and under a Whig administration.

Superintendents of Schools.

It seems to be the intention of the City of Boston to create a Superintendent of her public schools. We have before expressed our approbation of the practice of having County Superintendents as they have in New York and as we hope will yet be engrafted upon our public school system. Geo. S. Hilliard Esq is one of the principal advocates of this system in Boston, and we take pleasure in publishing a few extracts from his speech before the Common Council.

SMALL POX. This loathesome disease has made its appearance in Salem.

Town Expenses.

The Annual Statement of the Receipts and Expenditures of the town, is in the hands of our citizens, and many will feel astonishment as well as regret to find such a heavy balance against the town, after the unusually large tax of the last year. The town debt, too, as represented by the same document, has become truly formidable in its amount, being more than $27,000! In view of this discreditable and alarming state of our town finances, we appeal to our fellow citizens for their attention to this subject, and we ask them soberly if it is not time, and high time, that a stop should be put to this profuse appropriation and expenditure of money. Let the evil be looked boldly in the face, and a remedy speedily and faithfully applied. To show the great increase of expenditure of last year compared with former times, we subjoin a comparative statement of the four principal items of expense in 1845.

	1845	1840
Free Schools - -	5,587,20	3,074,11
Highways and Bridges	2,905,09	2,446,20
Support of the Poor -	2,290.67	1,573.55
Fire Department - -	4,804,27	1,113,72

We do not presume to say that this is a fair comparison of expenditures in the several departments in proportion to the population of the two periods, because we know there are always special causes occurring in different years, which will justify an increase of expense in a particular department. Under the head of the Fire Department, for instance, the occurrence of those disastrous fires which destroyed the central portion of two of our principal villages and a large manufacturing establishment in a third, disposed our citizens to put the fire apparatus in good condition almost regardless of the cost. It is this feeling which has required the Firewards to contract such large liabilities in their department, in obedience to the will of the town. Now that the whole apparatus and Engine houses have been put into such good condition, it seems a favorable time to practice such a strict economy as will be consistent with keeping everything in serviceable order.

With regard to the Schools, we believe there is not the least disposition to interfere with the admirable arrangement now existing, by which the amount raised depends entirely on the number of scholars entitled to its benefits. Under this system, the additional expense from year to year cannot increase faster than the increase of population.

On Highways and Bridges, the year 1840 was considered one of extraordinary expense, yet it is exceeded by the last. The town is now so cut up and dissected in every direction with roads, that there is scarcely need of any more for the sake of shortening distances. It may be a question whether the time has not arrived when new avenues or streets should only be laid out where there is a fair prospect of such increase of property and consequently of taxation, as shall make it a wise economy to locate them. At any rate we think much may be saved in this department of expense without detriment to the interests of the town.

In the Alms House department there have been necessarily great expenditures, and we hope tha the present excellent condition of that establishment will enable the guardians of the poor to make some reduction of annual expense, without the least abridgement of the comforts and conveniences of the unfortunate persons committed to their care.

In conclusion, we hope that our citizens will be convinced of the absolute necessity of "turning over a new leaf" in the appropriation of money, and also of creating such a re-action in the public mind as shall check the habit of inconsiderate and lavish expenditure. We believe the time has arrived when that town officer, or board of town officers, that shall be disposed to take a firm and decided stand against the evil of which we complain, will be sustained with the approbation of the great majority of the town. To carry into effect the desired reform, it is not necessary to adopt a niggardly or parsimonious course, but only to check the propensity to run inconsiderately into any schemes of doubtful utility, without regard to their cost.

☞The brig Falco, of Lynn, Capt. Mosely, having on board the American consul for New Zealand (Mr J. B. Williams, of Salem,) was lost on the 26th July, off Table Cape. Most of the books, stationery &c., of the consul were stolen, and destroyed, together with the mail bags and a large part of the vessel's cargo.

The Hutchinsons, we learn from the Pioneer have met with an enthusiastic reception in England.—Their concerts have been attended by some of the most distinguished personages, among whom are —Chas Dickens and wife. Douglass Jerrold, Samuel Rogers—the celebrated poet, and Mrs. Norton, a distinguished poetess.

Adjutant General's Report—We have received this document from Adj. Gen. Oliver from which among other interesting matter, we learn that the citizen army of the state, uniformed, armed and equipped and ready for service, consists of 6069 men which is about aqual to the U. S. army. Gen. Sutton's Brigade which includes Essex County, has 903 men, 250 of whom are Artllery and 50 are Riflemen. The enrolled militia of the State amounts to 84,470 men.

☞We understand that Rev. S. Cobb, of Boston will preach at the First Universalist Church at New Mills, on Sunday next.

☞Don't forget that the stock of Clothing at Phenix Hall, Salem, will remain but a few days, and those who wish to purchase at great bargains must call soon.

Donation Visit.

On Friday evening of last week, we understand, the members of the Second Universalist Society in this town assembled at the residence of their pastor—Rev Mr Prince—for the more especial purpose of manifesting their gratitude for his faithful labors among them, by various useful and valuable donations. Among others was a beautifully finished, easy chair, on the front of which is a silver plate, bearing the following inscription :—"From the young men of the 2d. Uuiversalist Society, Danvers, to John Prince." On the occasion of its presentation, a brief and appropriate address was delivered by Henry M. Osborn, and was happily responded to by the pastor. The value of the donations including the articles contributed, is about $120.

The company was very numerous, and the evening was spent in an agreeable manner, by social, friendly greeting, singing, etc., and the happy and cheerful countenances of all present, afforded much pleasure and satisfaction to their pastor, as will be seen by the following acknowledgement:

CARD.

The subscribers take this methed of expressing their grateful acknowledgements to the members of the 2d. Universalist Society in Danvers, and other friends, tot the numerous and substantial tokens of their regard, received at the Donation Visit, kindly paid them, at their dwelling on the evening of Friday, the 27th ultimo. Vivid are the impressions that were made by the social greeting, as well as the other manifestations of sincere friendship; and they will not soon be obliterated from the tablet of appreciating remembrance, or become shadowy and indistinct. The path (however humble) of philanthropic effort for the dissemination of principles, honestly apprehended to be true, and for the inculcation of charity and mutual tolerance, is always irradiated and cheered by the light of conscientious conviction; but in addition to this source of encouragement, the scattering of flowers in the way is by no means unwelcome.

JOHN PRINCE.
MARY P. PRINCE.

Danvers March 7th. 1846.

Fire.—On Tuesday afternoon, the house of Capt Benjamin Porter, known as the 'Crowninshield House,' situated near the Iron Factory in this town, took fire in the one story attachment, occupied as a kitchen, and was confined to this part of the building, in which was stored a large quantity of blinds, which were entirely consumed. The whole amount of the damage is estimated at $50⁰. The engines were soon on the spot, and but for the very active exertions of the firemen the house must have been wholly destroyed.

A CARD.

The Officers and members of the General Foster Engine Company No 7. tender their sincere thanks to Capt David Caldwell, for the liberal snpply of refreshments after the fire, at Capt Benjamin Porter's.

Per order. JOSEPH D. MORLAND, Clerk.
Danvers March 3. 1846.

A CARD.

The members of the Volunteer Engine Company, No 8, tender their thanks to Capt David Caldwell for the bountiful supply of refreshments furnished by him after the fire, on the 3d. inst.

Per order
A. W. TIFFT Clerk.
Danvers March 7th, 1846.

WHOOPING COUGH This troublesome and distressing complaint is now quite prevalent in this town and many of the children are in consequeuce of it, kept from school. It is not so virulent as at some former periods when it has prevailed here, but there have been many cases of severe sickness and suffering from its attacks. Some of adult age, as well as children, have been afflicted with the disease.

New Cities.

The towns of Roxbury and Cambridge have taken measures to obtain each a city charter. There are several other large towns which will soon make application for the same privilege, as they have already the requisite number of inhabitants. We may expect a large batch of new cities within a few years, and we should not be surprised to see Springfield, Charleston, Worcester and New Bedford petition for the more energetic but less republican form of Government. New Bedford has once declined to accept a city charter, but she may yet get tired of the evils of doing business in large town assemblies, and adopt the city form. There are several other towns having almost the required population (12,000) to enable them to become cities.

Our thanks are due the Secretary of State for several very valuable State documents.

PROF. MAFFIT'S RELIGION. This gentlemen in accepting an invitation to lecture in Oswego, said: "I am a Methodist Christian, but my religion is not confined, nor intolerant, nor bigoted. It is free as air, and sweet as Heaven."

THE TARIFF. The Philadelphia American Sentinel, a Locofoco journal, in speaking of Sir Robert's tariff bill, says:—

'The Tariff bill of Mr. Walker, which will be found in another column, is calculated to inflict a serious blow on the manufacturing interest of this State. It becomes the friends of the Tariff, throughout this Commonwealth, therefore, to speak out in unmistaken language on this subject. If Mr. Walker's bill shall pass, and our work-shops be closed, we shall witness a scene of distress in this country, that scarcely had a parallel in any former history of our country. The British are now awake to their interest, hence we find that the Parliament of Great Britain have ordered the annual report of Mr. Walker to be printed. When his Tariff bill shall reach that country, we shall see how kindly it will be received by the British Ministry. The British are in favor of all acts that break down the manufacturing interests of this country.'

TOWN MEETING.

At the Annual Meeting on Monday last, the following Officers were chosen :—

Moderator—Lewis Allen.
Town Clerk—Joseph Shed.
Town Treasurer—Robert S. Daniels.
Selectmen and Assessors—Wingate Merrill, Nathaniel Pope, William Dodge jr. and Kendall Osborne, one vacancy.
Overseers of the Poor—Wingate Merrill, Levi Preston jr. Samuel P. Fowler.
Constables—Andrew Torr, Thomas Bowen, Benjamin Upton.
Fence Viewers—Daniel Osborn, Joseph Stearns, Asa Bushby, Simeon Putnam, Daniel Taylor.
Surveyors of Lumber—George Porter, Alfred Taylor, Alfred Fellows.
Pound Keepers—James Brown jr. Ezra Gowing, Benjamin Fuller.
Auditor of Accounts—John W. Proctor, Jacob F. Perry, Lewis Allen.
Health Committee—Andrew Nichols, John R. Patten, George Osborne, George Osgood, David Grosvernor. Joseph Osgood, Moses Black jr.
Firewards—N. P. C. Patterson, William H. Little, John V Stevens, Henry Fowler, Jeremiah L. Kimball, Simeon Putnam, Perley Tapley,—5 vacancies.

W. J. C. Kenney, Amos Osborne jr. William Dodge jr. were chosen Firewards, but declined.

At the Annual meeting of the Inhabitants of the Town of Danvers, qualified to vote in Town affairs, holden at Union Hall, in the South Parish on Monday, the 2nd day of March, in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, during the time of the day when there was an unusually large concourse of its citizens, the 17th Article of the Warrant was called up, which Article related to the Order of Notice from the Legislature, on the petition of the Eastern Railroad Co. for extending branches from their Road into Danvers, &c. and to become interested in any Railroads that may be hereafter construct ed —the following Preamble and Resolutions were offered, read and accepted by the Town with only two dissenting votes.

Whereas, The Eastern Railroad Company ask leave of the Legislature to construct a branch Railroad from Salem to Danvers, and for liberty to become intersected in new Rail-roads which may be chartered, therefore the Inhabitants of the Town of Danvers, in a Town Meeting legally holden to act on the order of notice on the same, would respectfully represent their views in the following Preamble and Resolves:—

By the exposition which has lately been made, on the petition for the grant of a new Railroad, as prayed for by David Pingree and others, it has now become well known to the public, and to the Hon. the General Court, that Danvers, with her population, her industry, her material. and her position, lying as she does, in the direct route between the two cities of Boston and Salem, has long been desirous of, and is entitled to Railroad facilities, with both of these places. This, her claim, has been fully admitted, both by a Committee of the Legislature, and by her great opponent, the Eastern Railroad itself. It is also well understood, that the citizens of Danvers, early sought, as a right, on the ground of public exigency, that the projectors of the Eastern Railroad should run their main line through this town. It is well known that they protested against the Ferry—that failing in their main object, they shbsequently looked to the Eastern Railroad Company to grant them a branch to their main line. In all of which, and for a long time finding their petitions and remonstrances, their interests and rights, unheeded, if not spurned while other towns such as Marblehead and Gloucester, with not half the pretensions which Danvers has, have received every accommodation, they have now reached through ten years suffering and experience, that point of their endurance, when their interests will submit to no compromise. They ask now for a road from Salem, through Danvers to Malden, to connect with the Boston and Maine Railroad, and they offer to build it themselves. To the accomplishment of this object, they now bend their energies, and concentrate their efforts, determined that no pretext, either in the shape of a road in which the Eastern Railroad may become interested, or branches from that road to Danvers, or any other ruse of their opponents, shall decoy them from the great object of their grave desires. They therfore, after mature deliberation have come to the determination to pass the following resolves:—

Resolved, That the town of Danvers protests against any Railroad, or branches from Railroads, being constructed in, to, or through their Town, which shall in any manner or degree tend to defeat or impair, either in length, breadth, location, or terminus, the object of their earnest and solemn desires, viz:—The Railroad as petitioned for in the petition of David Pingree and others, from Salem through South Danvers to Malden.

Resolved, That we believe it will be very prejudicial to our interests to allow the Eastern Railroad to become interested in other roads, which may be chartered, first, because we regard it as a very singular and unusual request, and one, which, if granted, will give the company unlimited power; second, because we regard the Company as a sufficiently large monopoly now, exerting a power over the community far too great for the public good, influencing our elections, and opposing with their wealth, the wishes and interest of a large portion of the people; third, because we believe the whole intent and purpose of the petition at this time, is to enable the company to obtain control of the Charter for a new Railroad from Salem through Danvers to North Andover, that they may construct the same immediately, as far as Danvers, without intending, at least for the present, to complete it to North Andover, and thus monopolise the only convenient location for a route between Salem and Danvers, and force upon us what we have ever opposed, and shall ever continue to oppose, a branch from the Eastern Railroad, and throw an obstacle in the way of our obtaining a charter for the road petitioned for, by David Pingree and others, which road we anxiously regard as essential to the future prosperity and growth of the Town; therefore we strenuously oppose the granting of the prayer of the Petition.

Attest,
JOSEPH SHED, Town Clerk.

FIRE IN W. ROXBURY.—Brook Farm Mansion destroyed. On Tuesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock, a fire broke out in the large dwelling house at the Community, in West Roxbury, which was totally destroyed.

The building was of wood, three stories high, 175 feet long, and 40 feet wide, and was designed to accommodate all the families connected with the Association.

The building was erected within the last year, and was not entirely completed. The loss is estimated at nearly $10,000, without, we believe, any insurance.—The origin of the fire has not been definitely ascertained, but it is supposed to have been caused by accident.—Daily Sun.

GERRIT SMITH, the Abolitionist, advertises for sale something like three-fourths of a million of acres of land, all in New York State. A good portion of it is to be sold at auction.

At a Meeting of the Members of Volunteer E Company, No 8, on Tuesday evening, Marc the following preamble and resolutions were u mously adopted :—

Whereas by a late regulation of the Firewa Danvers, regarding the furnishing of horses fo Engines, we are in effect, deprived of the use of ses at the expense of the town, to assist in gettin Engine belonging to the company of which we members, to and from a fire; and although finding it impossible to get our Engine through snow, we did furnish horses at our own expense to the fire at Capt. Porter's, we are neither abl willing to do so in future,—therefore

Resolved—That unless the Firewards will fur horses to assist in getting our Engine to and fro fire, or allow a reasonable compensation therefor do not wish to be considered members of said Co ny, after the expiration of the present year.

Resolved—That we have always taken too m pride in our Engine and in the efficiency of the D vers Fire Department, of which we are members be dragging along at a snail's pace, while Engi from other towns can pass us, and get to work, a fire in Danvers, by having a good supply of hor furnished them by their respective towns.

Resolved—That while as good firemen, having n ing at risk but our lives, we are always willing rally, by day or night, at an alarm of fire, whether Danvers or the adjoining towns, we deeply regret ing prevented from showing our good will, by bei deprived of the means of getting our Engine to a fi by that mean spirit of pretended economy, shown part of the Firewards, which is calculated to destr our confidence in the Board and pride in the F Department.

Voted—That the above be published in the Danve Courier.

A. W. TIFFT, Clerk.
Danvers, March 7th, 1846.

Four Days Later From Europe.

The packet ship Toronto, Capt Tinker, arrive at New York, on Wednesday morning, from Lo don and Portsmouth, after a passage of 23 days. She sailed from Portsmouth on the 9th ult., ar in lat. 45, long. 47 to 53, passed through a conti ued field of ice and icebergs.

The advices from London received by this arri al, are to the 7th, and Liverpool to the 6th ultim four days later than those received by the Cambria

The failures of the potato crop continued to be the subject of general interest and remark. There is nothing new from Ireland. The country con tinues to be a scene of excitement and agitation The Times of the 7th, has an article commending the course of Mr Calhoun. The House of Commons had been almost exclusively engaged upon rail-way bills—especially for Ireland—during the two days of which we have accounts. In the other house, the Marquis of Clanricade had brought forward a proposition of relief for Ireland.

GREAT ABOLITION PLOT!

The New York Sun gives by the latest arrival from Hayti the following astounding disclosures, relating to a combination between General Pierrot and the abolitionists of Boston! The Sun says:

It appears that we are to have a second massacre of the whites in that unfortunate Island. It is dangerous to give the blacks the supremacy there, although they have the money and the aid of abolitionists.

This is predicated on the following letter:

St. DOMINGO, Jan. 25, 1846.

* * * * There is much anxiety in consequence of the threatened invasion by the Haytiens, under President Pierrot. His instructions to the army have been made public, by which it appears that the dreadful scenes of the old massacre are to be re-enacted.

He is to save only the most beautiful white women for his officers. All our women, over forty years of age, captured by his army, are to be taken to his palace, chained back to back. Our young women under that age, down to girls of five years of age, are to be delivered over to his officers and soldiers! This is the monster work your abolitionists in New York, Philadelphia and Boston, are helping with ships and money! He is now only waiting for a steam propellor, which the abolitionists of anti-slavery societies of Boston are to send him, to carry out his horrible designs upon this little handful of white people!

MICHAEL WALSH AGAIN SENTENCED.—The third trial of this individual, for a libel on John Horsepool, a respectable cabinet maker of this city, was terminated yesterday by the rendition of a verdict of guilty—and Mike was immediately sentenced to Blackwell's Island, for six months.

DEATH OF GOVERNOR STOCKTON.—The Philadelphia papers announce the death of Major Thomas Stockton, Governor of Delaware. He died suddenly on Monday, at Newcastle, while sitting in the office of the Clerk of the Orphans' Court, conversing on business. He was elected to the gubernatorial chair in the fall of 1844, and would, had he survived, have continued in office until January, 1849. Major Stockton was a brave and distinguished officer of the last war, and won a renown on our northern frontier, which will long servive him.

Gough in Virginia.—A letter of Tuesday last from Gen. Cocke, formerly Governor of Virginia, mentions that Mr. Gough and his wife are his guests, and speaks of his speeches in that vicinity (Fluvana Co.) as in the highest degree effective. He addressed Gen C.'s colored people in his domestic chapel—an assemblage of tee totallers—with excellent effect on Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Cleaveland has declined the invitation of the Maverick Congregational Church and Society at East Boston, and has accepted, or is about to accept the call of the Second Congregational Church in Providence, R. I., to become their pastor.

At the Court of Common Pleas in Portsmouth, N. H., a man named Sleeper obtained a verdict of $250 damages for unskilful treatment in setting his collar bone, which had been broken. The bones united, but not in the proper place.

GREET SING. Mr Bradbury, who teaches the juveniles in New York, is about to get up a festival, in which one thousand young ladies are to take part.

NANTUCKET BANK.—A letter from Nantucket, dated the 24th ult announces the arrival there of Hon. Mr. Burnell, who affirms that he is not a defaulter; that he has never used a dollar of the funds of the bank, and that he will, in a few days, bring things to light which will clear all matters up.—N. Y. Sun.

ECLIPSE. On the 25th of April there will be a partial eclipse of the sun. The degree of obscuration will be about five digits in Illinois, nearly seven in Boston, and eleven in Florida; gradually increasing as we approach the island of Cuba, near the middle of which it will be central and total. This will be the last large eclipse of the sun that will be visible to us until May 26th, 1854.

The Lyceum.

The Lecture will be delivered on TUESDAY evening of next week, instead of Monday as usual. — The subject is a good one and well adapted to the talent of the lecturer, J. A. Browne. Esq., and we hazard nothing in saying that those who receive pleasure from listening to a chaste and beautiful production, will not be disappointed.

We learn that the North Danvers Lyceum will close its present course next Wednesday evening, by a lecture from A. A. Abbot, Esq. Subject, Zenobia, Queen of Palmyra.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

	French	Dalton	Shove	Others
Salem,	611	357	141	5
Danvers,	188	23	149	4
Middleton,	60	10	0	0
Georgetown,	62	32	8	14
Topsfield,	55	2	48	2
West Newbury,	124	21	0	0
Amesbury	6	75	45	18
Lynnfield,	50 majority

County Treasurer—In Danvers Wm F Wade had 204; and 19 votes, intended for Register of Deeds, were put into the box in which were the votes for Treasurer, and of course were counted as such. The vote through the County is nearly unanimous.

CONGRESS.

The Senate did not sit on Friday.

On that day the House after some debate, went into Committee of the Whole, Mr D P King, of this State, in the chair, for the consideration of private bills, which might not be the subject of debate. After an hour spent in attempting to reach such a bill, the consideration of each one called being objected to, the Committee rose.

A number of Senate bills were then advanced one stage without debate, and after rejecting another motion to go into Committee on the private Calender, the House adjourned.

On Saturday the Senate was not in session.—The House was engaged on the private calender. Nothing of general importance was done.

Mr King, of Mass., reported on Saturday, a bill for the relief of the heirs of Major DeKalb.

In the Senate on Tuesday, Mr Clayton offered a resolution calling on the President for all correspondence on our foreign relations since the fourth of February. Lies over.

The Oregon relations were then taken up, and Mr Dayton took the floor and delivered a forcible speech on the Notice. Still speaking.

In the House, Mr Hilliard's resolution, calling on the Postmaster General in regard to the mail arrangements between the United States and foreign countries, and to state the terms, &c., was taken up and adopted.

The New Jersey contested election case was then taken up. Mr Jenkins, of N York, is speaking.

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

In the House of Representatives on Thursday the following petitions were presented, Johnson Robinson and others, concerning the Chelsea Bleachery; Alfred Taylor and others, for a law concerning the alewive fishery in Salem and Danvers; Simeon E Drake and others, for a law regulating peddling.

The bill to establish Teachers' Institutes, and to appropriate certain sums for their encouragement —after some discussion, in which Mr Porter, of Buckland, alone assailed the bill, which was supported by various members, was passed to be engrossed—171 to 5.

FAST DAY. Gov. Briggs has appointed Thursday the second day of April, as the day of Annual Fast in Massachusetts.

☞Miss Betsy Emery, 22 years of age, committed suicide in Monroe, (Me.) on Saturday, 21st ultimo, by hanging herself with a skein of yarn.

☞While the Lowell and Nashua railroad train was passing the Middlesex crossing on Saturday evening, Mr R. Nickless, a wachman, was accidentally thrown upon the track, his arm was broken in three places, and he was otherwise injured. He was thrown between the rails and laid there while the thirty cars of the Nashua freight train passed. Dr Kimball cut off his arm, and, though his hip is dislocated and his leg badly bruised, he will probably recover.

EDUCATION IN N W JERSEY.—From the annual report of the Trustees of the School Fund it appears that there are in this State about 120,000 children between the ages of 5 and 16, and of these nearly two-thirds are sent to the public schools during some part of the year. The schools have been kept open on an average 9 months in the year, and the price of tuition averages $2 per quarter. The amount expended from the school fund and by vote of towns was $90,000.—N. J. Advocate MURDEROUS STREET FIGHT. A bloody rencontre took place in Richmond, on Wednesday, between John H. Pleasants, late editor of the Richmond Whig, and Thomas Ritchie, jr., of the Enquirer, son of the editor of the Union. This disgraceful affair was by agreement, the parties advancing upon each other and using pistols and swords. Pleasants was severely, it is said mortally, wounded by a gash upon the abdomen, and Ritchie slightly. The latter at last accounts was at the house of his father in Washington.

Pleasants is about 55 years of age—Ritchie about half as old. The immediate cause of the meeting was a card in the Enquirer pronouncing Pleasants 'a coward.'—N Y. Com.

Pleasants has since died of his wound.

MARRIAGES.

In Salem, Mr JAMES RICARDSON to Miss MARY SHILLABER. Mr JOHN RESTELL, jr., to Miss MARY M STEPHENS. Mr GEORGE D LAW to Miss HANNAH A. HAM. Mr JOSEPH B. CLARKE to Miss MARY HUMANS, both of Beverly. Mr WILLIAM HAYFORD to Miss ALMIRA MOULTON, both of Salem. Mr WM. B. ASHTON to Miss MARGERETTA MICKLEFIELD. Mr ELIOTT F. SMITH, of this town, to Miss MARY ELIZABETH WARD, of Salem.

DEATHS.

In this town, North Parish, Mr EDMUND PARKER, aged 81.

Feb. 16th, of throat distemper, HELEN SPRAGUE, only child of George and Elizabeth Tapley, aged 3 years and 2 months.

In Salem Mr CHARLES R. LABAREE, aged 35.

In Boxford, Mr PHINEAS FOSTER, aged 81.

MASONIC NOTICE.

The members of Jordan Lodge are hereby notified that their next regular meeting will be held on WEDNESDAY Evening next, in Ashland Hall. Brethren of the Order are respectfully invited to attend.

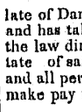
N. P. C. PATTERSON, Sec.

Danvers, March 7, A. L. 5846.

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

The Lecture next week will be on TUESDAY Evening, by JOHN A. BROWN, Esq., of Boston. Subject—"The cultivation of the Judgement and Taste."

FOR SALE.



ALL the Furniture of the subscriber, consisting of Beds, Bedding; mahogany, cane, flag and common Chairs; Bureaus, Secretary, Tables, Sofa, Light Stands, Looking Glasses, Clock, Carpets, Mats, Books and Case; Glass, Crockery, iron, tin and wooden Ware; Stoves, Andirons, Shovels, Tongs, Brushes, Brooms, Maps, Pictures, Lamps, Barrels, Boxes, Firkins, &c. &c., all of which are now offered for private sale, until TUESDAY, March 10th, when the balance will be closed at Public Auction, at 1 o'clock, P. M.

March 7, 1846. THOMAS HARDY.

House and Sign Painting.

THE subscriber continues at his old stand, opposite the Danvers Bank, the business of House and Sign Painting, Graining, Marbling, Papering and Glazing.

Also, constantly on hand—A supply of Glazed Window Sashes, of every variety, as low as can be purchased elsewhere. JOSEPH W. CAREY.

FOR SALE as above—Two Houses, with Barns adjoining, situated on Fulton street. Also, one two story House, on North street, Salem, opposite the School House. For price and terms of either of the above houses, apply as above.

Danvers, Mch 7, 1846

A CARD.

M. TELYEA,

WOULD inform his friends and the public, that he has just returned from Boston, with a select Stock of Broadcloths, such as German blue black and English blue black and olive

Very nice VESTINGS for Spring and Summer.

Tweeds of all kinds, which he offers at the lowest prices for cash.

He continues to make Garments to order, at short notice, and warranted to fit,

I also return thanks to my friends and the public generally, for their past patronage, so bountifully bestowed upon me, and hope by honest dealings, and strict attention to business, a continuance of the same

Corner of Grove and Main Sts.

Danvers, March 7, 1846.

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

I. & T. HARDY,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent. Those having demands are hereby notified that the estate will be settled by ISAAC HARDY, Jr.

ISAAC HARDY, Jr.,
THOMAS HARDY.

Danvers, March 5th, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of

Joseph Griffin,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make pay ment to

JOSEPH GRIFFIN, Adm'r.

Danvers, March 7, 1846.

STEEL PENS—Warranted not to Corrode. A new article of Silver, Steel and Platina Pens, which are warranted by the manufacturers to be anti-corrosive; combining the elasticity of the quill, and obviating the objection which has existed in the Steel Pen. Banks, Offices, Schools and Dealers, can be supplied by the quantity, at the Book and Stationery store of J. P JEWETT & CO. mar 7

THERMOMETERS.

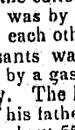
J. P. JEWETT & CO., have just received from the Manufacturer, a large supply of the above Instruments made expressly for this market, and warranted correct. Some with 'ground glass,' much superior to the common ones. For sale at the lowest prices, at wholesale or retail, at the Book and Stationery Establishment, opposite the Mansion House. mar 7

OSBORNE'S Superfine Water Colors. Warranted equal to any imported, put up in neat mahogany boxes, prices from 20c to $5 per box. Also the same colors in small cakes with Paper boxes. A large supply of the different sizes just received, and for sale as low as can be bought, at wholesail or retail, by J P JEWETT, & CO. Booksellers and Stationers, opposite the Mansion House. mar 7

PHONOGRAPHY IN MUSIC. A newly invented method by which Schools, classes, and individuals may be taught to read music at sight, with the greatest facility, in every possible key. The music is written in numbers instead of notes. This work is just published by H. W. Day, A.M. price $6 per dozen. For sale by the dozen or single copy, at the Music Store of J P JEWETT & CO. march 7

GILLOTT'S STEEL PENS. No 303, the Victoria Pens, a very superior article in boxes, together with a large variety of other kinds. Just received by W & S B IVES march 7

SECOND-HAND COLBURN'S SEQUEL. A quantity on hand, for sale at 25 cents each—at the bookstors of W & S B IVES, mar 7



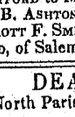
FOR CASH. A good assortment of Dress Coats Frocks, Pants and Vests, for sale by mar 7 EDWARD'S, 10 Front Street.

EDWARDS'S LINIAMENT is now put up in junk bottles for stable keepers and Senmen.—Price 75 cents per bottle. For sale at No 10 Front street. mar 7

SCHOOL BOOKS. All the different varieties of School Books, in use in the public Schools in this city, in good substantial bindings, for sale at wholesale and retail, at the Bookstore of W & S B IVES, mar 7 Stearns's Building.

TAILOR'S CRAYONS. The Subscriber is agent for J EDWARD'S celebrated Tailors Crayons, and has just received a lot of the best quality. march 7 B. EDWARDS, No 10 Front St.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Tuesday.
This vessel takes neither Ice or Lime.



The fast sailing ship GLOUCESTER, Geo Pollard, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans. mch 7

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELTCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday.
To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet ship THOS. WRIGHT, Gardner, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms, apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. mch 7

Hon. D. P. King's Eulogy.

Eulogy at the Funeral of Gen. Gideon Foster, delivered in the Unitarian Church in Danvers, Nov 3d, 1845, by Hon Daniel P. King. With Notes. For sale by Sylvanus Dodge, R. S. Daniels, M. T. Dole, Charles Lambert & Co. Sylvester Proctor, jr., Joseph Shed, H. A. Potter, New Mills, Thomas Bowen, Plains. feb 14

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not cousidered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

J. C. PERKINS, Pres't,
A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

Sept 13.

Greenhouse Plants

FOR SALE.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heleotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will be warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter. GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

The regular meetings of this Tent will be held in future on Monday evenings, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

A. C. OSBORNE, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. feb 14

UNITY DIVISION No. 9, S. T.

Having received their Charter and duly organized, and Officers regularly installed

Their regular meetings will be held on Monday Evening, at the Methodist Vestry, at 7 1-2. Punctual attendance is requested. Members of other Divisions in regular standing are invited.

MOSES K. SAWYER R S.

S. Danvers Jan 3. 1846

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.

Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

TRESS. TREES.

All persons in want of Fruit or Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Herbaceous Plants, Vines, etc., can be supplied in any quantity from the nurseries of Parsons & Co., Flushing, the most extensive establishment of the kind in the United States. Orders should be sent in early, as trees should be taken up as soon as the frost is out. Catalogues may be obtained of the subscriber, who is now ready to receive orders.

Danvers, Feb. 20, 1846. W. D. JOPLIN, Agent.

NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has taken Rooms Over Lambert & Merrill's Store, where he intends carrying on the Tailoring Business in all its branches.

His system, or rule for cutting (which is a very superior one) was recently obtained in London, at considerable expense.

Particular attention paid to Gaiter Pants, and his style of cutting is respectfully submitted for examination.

A share of patronage is solicited.

S. AUGUSTUS CARLTON.

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons indebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch. JOHN NUTTING,
S. D. PENDAR.

Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

German Worsteds.

A GOOD assortment of the various shades. Also, Cruel Patterns, Canvass, Cruel Needles, &c. Just received by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

HAY. HAY.

300 BUNDLES Hay, of very prime quality, and in good order, for sale by feb 28 J. DIKE, 27 Water street, Salem.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed executor of the last will and testament of

George Southwick,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, innholder, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate are called upon to make payment to JESSE H. SOUTHWICK,

Danvers, February 7th, 1846. Executor.

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, (Office, Merchants' Bank Building, State street, Boston,) since commencing February 1, 1844, have issued 547 policies, the number monthly having varied from 30 to 72—the amounts from $200 to $10,000 each—net fund accumulated (owing to the favorable turn of the risks thus far being mostly New England lives) $36,600—well invested for the proportional benefit of those who shall become, as well as those already members—surplus to be refunded to members at the end of every five years from December, 1843—no insurance on credit, and no loss by any member, by bad premium-notes of others.

Willard Phillips, Robert Hooper, William Parsons, Charles P. Curtis, Francis C. Lowell, George H. Kuhn, William W. Stone, R. B. Forbes, Peter Wainwright, Thomas A. Dexter, James Read and Otis Tufts, Directors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President.

JONATHAN AMORY, Secretary.

The subscriber having been appointed Agent for Danvers and vicinity, of the above named Institution, would hereby give notice that he is ready to receive applications for Insurance on lives, for one year, seven years, or for life, at very low rates of Premium.

The advantages of Life Insurance are becoming every day more apparent, and its excellent effects appreciated by the community.

Blank forms of application and any additional information will be given on application to W. D. NORTHEND.

Danvers Feb 21, 1846.

FINE STEEL SPECTACLES. Just received, another lot of those fine, spring tempered, steel bowed Spectacles, a very superior article. WM. ARCHER, Jr., feb 21 222 Essex street.

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845. GEORGE W. CRAFTS, ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand, G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb7

NEW BOOKS.—The Select Works of Miss Ellen Pickering, in one volume, embossed cambric.

The Dead Boxer, an Irish Legend, by Wm. Carleton.

Kruitzner, or the German's Tale.

Cousin Hinton, or Friend or Foe, a novel, by Miss Pickering. Just rec'd by W. & S. B. IVES, feb 28 232 Essex street, Salem.

METALLIC POLISHING POWDER for Silver, Brass, Copper, Table Cutlery, Steel, Iron, etc This article is superior to Bristol Brick, for the purposes, for which that is used. Put up and for sale by the box or pound, by CHARLES R. STORY, nov 27 eptf No 9, Washington street.

Phenix Hall—Salem.

☞SPLENDID EXHIBITION.☜

FAIR AND SALE OF FASHIONABLE

READY MADE CLOTHING,

From Simmons's Popular Tailoring Establishment,

OAK HALL, BOSTON.

FOR TWENTY DAYS.

I WOULD most respectfully invite the citizens of the City of Salem and neighboring towns to a LARGE SALE OF FASHIONABLE READY MADE CLOTHING AND RICH FURNISHING GOODS, consisting of

Over Coats, Cloaks, Dress and Frock Coats, Pants, Vests, Dressing Gowns, &c. &c.

with an endless variety of Furnishing Articles. The above Stock is all Fresh Goods, and made for my regular sales, and owing to the mildness of the first of the Winter, remain on hand; and if low prices and a strong determination to sell, combined with the new Winter which has just appeared to set in, will effect a sale; I shall succeed in closing all up the above Stock previous to leaving Salem.

The young Lion, taking a short trip from his accustomed forest, shakes the dew drops from his prolific mane, and gives a real old fashioned

"ROAR."

Those who remember the events of 1842, in Boston, the raising of the sign of "Oak Hall," will not easily forget the tremendous excitement produced in the Fashionable Ready Made Clothing Line, in the debut of the subscriber. It first developed itself in gentle ripples upon the sluggish sea of this Branch of Trade, anon the ripples took the form of swelling waves rolling each upon the other, increasing one upon another, until its deep bosom was lashed into a Tempest fearful to behold, sweeping the high Price and Long Credit system into the deep gulph below. But to descend from this high state of metaphor. Until April, 1843, when GEORGE W. SIMMONS took the field, it was not supposed for a moment, that any individual possessed the temerity to take the attitude of innovator of Old Established customs of Trade. Until this time, men had gone on their old plodding way, giving Long Credits, demanding as a recompence for the long hope, from Fifty to one hundred per cent advance. At this interesting epoch the startling announcement was heard, emanating from "Oak Hall,"

Large Sales and Small Profits

This announcement awoke the dreaming thousands. Old men arose from their recumbent position, rubbed their heavy eye-lids, stretched their cramped and benumbed limbs,—young men congregated on the corners of streets, and looked unutterable things; guesses and suprises were rife—when straight all began to cry, 'Mad Dog.' Still on I went, unawed by threats nor cajoled by flattery, until finally I have laid fast and strong, a pinnacle stone, as lasting and durable as the hills.

To prove the advantage of the Cash Systam above all others, needs no lengthy tale. It must be apparent to the most casual observer, that while it shields the vender from the ruinous losses often attendant upon the Credit System, it protects the purchaser from the equally ruinous profits, demanded by merchants to cover bad debts created by a system of long credits.

To those, therefore, who can command the Ready Cash, this sale offers the strongest inducement. This Stock being purchased fresh this Winter at Auction, and direct from the Manufacturers, at some 50 per cent less than the cost of Importation, and being satisfied with Small Profits, will sell at a slight advance upon Auction prices. But at this sale, even less than that, as the object is to reduce a large stock of

Fresh Manufactured Ready Made Clothing to Cash.

To accomplish this, each and every article will be marked the price, and no deduction made. This arrangement will give all those purchasers who are no judges as to quality, &c., an equal chance.

PHENIX HALL---SALEM.

Sale will commence on TUESDAY, the 8d day of March, at 12 o'clock, and continue Twenty Days.

Open in the morning, af 8 1-3 o'clock and close at 2; re-open at 3 and close at 6; re-open at 7 and close at 10 o'clock in the evening.

Oak Hall Express will be in readiness to convey all Parcels, Packages, &c. through Salem and adjoining towns.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
Proprietor of Oak Hall, Boston.

Head Quarters af the Essex House, Salem. All communications addressed there, will be attended to.

feb 28 1m

Cash Clothing Emporium.

THE subscriber will, on and after this date, sell and manufacture Clothing of every kind for CASH.

In returning my thanks to those who have been favored with credit and justly paid all demands, and also those who always pay cash, I would respectfully invite such to continue to me their custom, and I trust that the EXTREME LOW PRICES that I shall sell at will be perfectly satisfactory.

ANY ORDERS IN THE TAILORING, CLOTHING, or FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, will be promptly attended to on the CASH and ONE PRICE SYSTEM, at

BENJ. EDWARD'S,
feb 14 No 10 Front street.

PORTRAIT PAINTING.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to the citizens of Danvers, that he has taken a room over Lambert & Merrill's store, where he would be happy to wait upon any who may faver him with their patronage. Visitors are requested to call.

feb 21 P. DERBY.

DOLLARS! DOLLARS!! DOLLARS!!! can be saved by purchasing your Clothing and furnishing Goods at EDWARD'S Cash Store. Why? because he sells for nothing but the Cash, and you will not have to pay for others who do not pay. feb 20

S. DODGE has just received a new assortment of Plain and Ruled, Cap and Letter Paper of the best quality. Also—Plain and Tuck Bibles and Testaments; Plain and Ornamental Cards; Dunbar's Blue and Black Ink; Gillott's School and extra Fine Pens; Wafers, Sealing Wax,—together with a new assortment of Toy Books, Primers, Games, etc., to which he would particularly invite the attention of his little friends, whom he will not fail to please on very reasonable terms. feb 21

NOTICE.

THE Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of LORD & WILEY, is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

WILLIAM A. LORD,
ARNEY WILEY.

Danvers, Jan 30, 1846.

All persons indebted to the firm are requested to make immediate payment, and all having demands to present them to ARNEY WILEY, who is authorized to settle the accounts of the firm, and who will continue to carry on the Stove and Tin Ware business, at the old stand.

COTTONS. COTTONS.

JUST opened, Merrimack, Salmon Falls, Bartlett, Forest Mills and Waltham Sheetings. For sale cheap by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

CALICOES.

A GOOD variety of new styles of Prints. Just opened by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

SPRING GOODS.

A FEW Pieces of Corded Cashmeres and Cashmere de Laines, elegant patterns. Just received by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

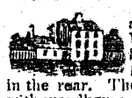
☞Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,



which he will sell very low.

feb 7 J. C. FERRIN.

AUCTIONS.

ASSIGNEE'S SALE.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on TUESDAY, March 10th, at 11 o'clock, A. M., on the premises.

The House with the Land under and adjoining, recently occupied by Zebulon Woodbury, situated on Wallis street, South Danvers. The Land measures about 105 feet on said street, and about 163 feet in the rear. The house contains ten well finished rooms, with woodhouse adjoining, and a good well of water, with a pump in the house.

Also—at the same time and place, a Carpenter's shop, 23 feet wide by 36 feet long, and one and a half stories high, and well fitted for such a purpose.

For terms, &c., inquire of H. A POTTER, at New Mills, or I. D. SHEPARD, Auct., 35 Lawrence Place, Salem.

Jan 24 Salem Register

BY ORDER OF THE COURT OF PROBATE, will be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 16 day of March next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

SO much of the Real Estate of Ezra Gowing, late of Lynnfield, in the County of Essex, yeoman, deceased, as will raise the sum of Thirteen Hundred and Twenty Five Dollars, for the payment of his just debts and incidental charges.

Said Estate consists of a certain Farm situated in Lynnfield, aforesaid, bounded Northerly by land of Daniel King, North-easterly and South-easterly by land late of Aaron Foster, deceased, and South-westerly, by land of William Skinner, jr. containing forty acres; be the same more or less, with all the buildings thereon.

Also, about one acre of Upland and Meadow, situate in said Lynnfield, bounded Northerly by land of the heirs of Thomas Chasson, dec'd; Easterly and Southerly by land of Asa Gardner, and Westerly by land formerly owned by Thomas Bancroft, Esq.

Thy sale will be at the dwelling house on said farm, where the condition and particulars will be made known.

Persons wishing to view the premises, are respectfully requested to call upon William Skinner, jr. who lives near the premises, who will show the same and give such information as may be wanted.

Salem, feb 21 WILLIAM GOWING, Adm'r

W. D. JOPLIN, AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,

Auction and Commission Store,

No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

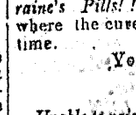
REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem.
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON " oct 25

SELLING OFF.

☞GREAT BARGAINS.☜

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.



GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Sattinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.

Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

FOR SALE.

A two story house and lot of land on Holten street. The House is convenient for two families and will be sold at a great bargain. Inquire of HIRAM GRANT.

Danvers, April 19, 1845.

ALFRED A. ABBOTT,

Attorney and Counsellor at Law

OFFICE IN FELTON'S (late Osborne's) Building, Danvers, March 20th. tf

LORRAINE'S PILLS.

All persons require Facts

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,

J. E. F. MARSH.

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach he brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I took LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respectfully, your ob't serv't,

JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

LOWELL, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir.—For the last few months I have been afflicted with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard that I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It is a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to say that I was cured immediately upon taking one box of Dr LORRAINE'S PILLS. J. BROOKS.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E. Stimson
North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller,
Beverly Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. F. Adams.

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints. Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subscriber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.

DANIELS. POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards. jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March15, 1845. tf

NEW ENGLAND TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston, entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can see him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on nand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. Jonn Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand. As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Road's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.

May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

DR. J. A. ROBINSON. SURGEON DENTIST,

SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, opposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street, recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,

IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.

MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.

Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at the Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by jnue 14 B. H. CHAMBERLAIN.

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.
Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves.

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use: a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.

MANNING & SARGENT,
Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,

KEEP constantly on hand and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. C. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

J. & H. HALE

IMORTERS AND DEALERS IN
HARDWARE GOODS AND CUTLERY,
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HOUSE KEEPING ARTICLES AND FANCY GOODS,
Agricultural Tools and Ploughs
PLOUGH CASTINGS, FRICTION ROLLERS AND CRANKS,
Iron and Copper Pumps and Lead Pipe,
WINDOW GLASS,
CAMPHENE,
CAMPHENE LAMPS, HANGING, SIDE AND ASTRAL—A GREAT VARIETY OF STYLES,
Cut Glass, Britannia, Brass, Bronze and Mantle Lamps,
CARPENTER'S TOOLS,
HOUSE TRIMMINGS,
Shoe Makers' Tools, Nails, Thread and Pegs.
BOILER DOORS AND OVEN MOUTHS,
Furnaces, Cast Iron Hollow Ware, Tubs, Pails, Mats, Cut Nails, Emery, Zinc, Lead, &c.
No. 215 Essex Street, SALEM, Mass.
march 15 tf

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,

MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these artieles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Braeelet and Daguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn he trade. dec 13

BENJAMIN EDWARDS. DRAPER & TAILOR,

No. 10 FRONT STREET, SALEM.

GARMENTS Cut and Made to order, and Fashionably, and warranted to give entire satisfaction

Constantly on hand, a good assortment of
BROADCLOTHS, CASSIMERES AND VESTINGS.

Also—Neck Stocks Italian Cravats, Scarfs, Shirt Bosoms, Collars, Feetings, Braces, Umbrellas, Hair and Clothes Brushes, Cologne Water, Wallets,

and other articles necessary for Gentlemen's use.

Grateful for the very liberal patronage which has heretofore been bestowed upon ihe establisment, he hopes by care and attention to business to merit a continuance.

Any order for Goods in the TAILORING LINE, attended to with fidelity and despatch.

All Garments Repaired and Cleansed CHEAP.

Any of the above articles if not on hand when called for, will be furnished at short notice.
apr 15 tf

DRUGS AND MEDICINES.

A GOOD assortment of Drugs, Medicines. usually kept in a Druggist Shop, constantly for sale a the lowest prices, by

DR. JOSEPH SHED, (Ag't.)
(OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT,)

And a variety of Patent Medicine, consisting of Brinckerhoff's Health Restorative; Buchan's Hungarian Balsam; Schenck's Pulmonary Balsam; Trefant's Compound; Dandelion and Tomato Bitters; Davis' Compound Tooth Wash; Harrison's Peristaltic, and Worm Lozenges; Thompson's Eye Water; Warren's Croup Syrup; Whitwell's Opodeldeek; Different kinds of Pulmonary Balsams, and genuin Thomsonian Medicines; Jew David's or Hebrew Plaster; also, Brandreths, Indian Vegetable, Becwiths, Lees' Dean's, Parr's, Richardson's, Relf's Asthmatic; and a variety of other Pills. Candies, Nuts, Almonds, Citron, Currants, Nutmegs Meac, Cloves, &c. Particular attention to Physician's Recipes.

Danvers, May 31, 1845.

SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

JUST received a fresh supply of Gold Pens, also, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Card Cases, Wallets, Purses, &c. For sale cheap by
G. W. CRAFTS,
feb 14 174 Essex Street, Salem.

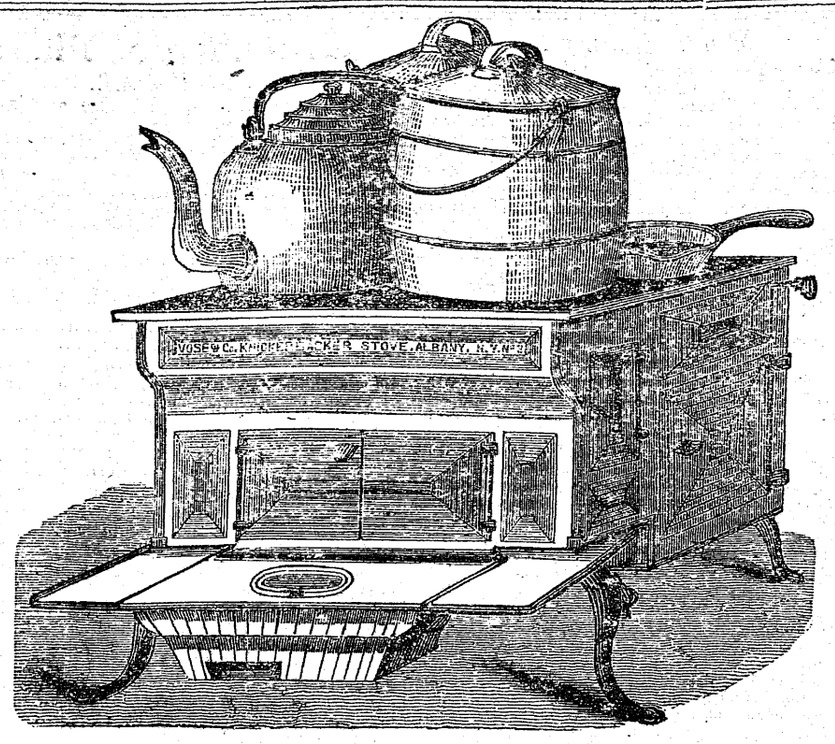
Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns, Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in tha city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2. S. DODGE.



WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.
Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

TO LET
Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.
Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 291 Essex street, Salem.

NEW ARTICLE, Cast Inkstands, a cheap and strong Inkstand, various sizes. Just received at W & S B IVES'S, Stationery Store feb 1

ARNEY WILEY,

OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment of

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved; Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.

SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found,

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cradles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

G. W CRAFTS,

BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER AND STATIONER,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAS constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at he lowest rates. inch 15

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself a No. 2, Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

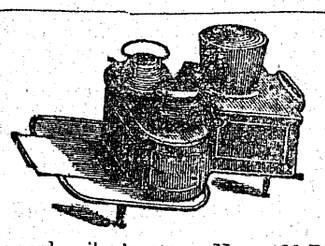
SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are
Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press; Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.



dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.
Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other c heap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to
Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

NEW CASH STORE.

D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street, where he will be kept a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS,
Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25.

BUTTER.

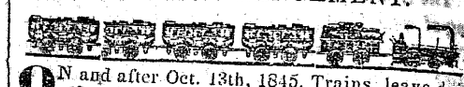
JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by
O. F. BATCHELDER.
Danvers, Jan 30.

POOLE & STEDMAN,

MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,

For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,

No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.



Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21, 1845.

CHEAP German Paint Boxes. One case o the above of various sizes, just received and for sale at wholesale and retail, by
feb 21 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

EASTERN RAILROAD,

WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave daily (Sundays excepted.)

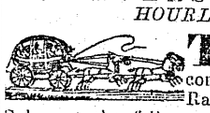
Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 A.M. 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 and 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 2 1-2, 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 A.M. 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P.M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. and 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M.
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2* P.M.
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4* PM.
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, A.M. 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.

*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-2, 9 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.



Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A.M. 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portland and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants Row and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN
oct 11 Master of Transportation.

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Salem Hourly Coaches will in connection with the Eastern Railroad, leave Danvers and Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8	A.M
" "	8 3-4		" "	9	1-2
" "	9 3-4		" "	11	3-4
" "	11 1-4		" "	12	3-4
" "	1 3-4	P M.	"	3	P.M.
" "	2 3-4		" "	4
" "	4 1-2		" "	5
" "	5 1-2		" "	6	1-2
" "	6 1-2		" "	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Joseph G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex House and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the arrival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonable terms.
SYMONDS & TEEL.
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Wagon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays excepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & Jacobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No 1 Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended to.

Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y

Great Bargains

ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem.

GARMENTS of all description may be obtained at prices which cannot fail to give entire satisaction.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of every garment, all of which is warranted equal, if no superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as formerly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made according to the wishes of the customer, and will guarantee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, JR.
Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,

Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers,

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assortment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,

of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Solid Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunks, Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Stage and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on the most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, made at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses as be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand.
Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Copartnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, and they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, under the firm of

OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
mch29 1y

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers and vicinity, that he has established himself at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business, and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share of patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases.

Hndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street opposite the First Church.
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.

DANVERS COURIER.

VOL 1. DANVERS, (MASS.) SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1846. NUMBER 52.

THE DANVERS COURIER.
IS PUBLISHED BY
GEORGE R. CARLTON,
EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,
In Lunt's Building—next West of Mr. Ficlt's Church—SOUTH DANVERS.

Terms—$1 50 if paid in advance, or $2 00, if not paid within one month of the time of subscribing.

Advertisements will be inserted on favorable terms.

The carriers are not allowed to sell any copies of the Courier. Single copies may be obtained at the office, at 5 cents each.

JOB PRINTING neatly and promptly executed and on reasonable terms.

POETRY.

Oh, no--not even when first we Loved.

Oh no—not even when first we loved
Were thou as dear as now thou art,
Thy beauty then my senses moved,
But now thy virtues bind my heart.
What was but Passion's sigh before,
Has since been turned to Reason's vow;
And, though, I then might love thee more,
Trust me, I love thee better now.

Although my heart in earlier youth
Might kindle with more wild desire,
Believe me, it has gained in truth
Much more than it has lost in fire.
The flame now warms my inmost core,
That then but sparkled o'er my brow,
And, though I seemed to love thee more,
Yet, oh, I love thee better now.

THE STARS.

Stars! in rich beauty, hegemming the sky,
What are the dreams, in your brightness that lie?
Whence is the power of your magical spell?
Why, ye bright orbs, do we love you so well?

Ye are clad in beauty, and beaming in joy,
And lovely and high is your blissful employ;
Marking the seasons, and tracing their bounds,
Ever and aye, in your measureless rounds.

But, not this is the charm in your beams that I see;
Not here is the joy of your presence to me;
Oh! a stronger power, and a mightier spell,
Ye mystic orbs! in your radiance dwell.

Ye bring back thoughts of the lovely and dear,
Their dwellings must be in your own blessed sphere;
The winds, in their night-song, bear dreams to my heart,
Which glory and light to their presence impart.

They tell me of friends on that lovlier shore,
Who have met in gladness to part no more;
They whisper sweet thoughts of their mansions of light,
And repeat their glad songs in the watches of night.

Ye blessed orbs, when my sin-clouded day,
In darkness and death shall have faded away,
In the bowers of your beauty, eternal and true,
May the home of my spirit be ever with you!

MISCELLANY.

AN AMUSING SKETCH.

MRS PELL'S PILGRIMAGE.

BY MRS. C. M. KIRKLAND.

Concluded.

'Is this your band-box, madam?' said the dame in the Madras turban; 'and this, and the large basket?'

'Yes—yes! Do not disturb them; they must stand just here, where Captain Pell put them.'

'They must all go out of the cabin, madam.--It's against the rules to have anything of the kind here.'

Mrs. Pell was tempted to appeal to the captain, but feeling already weak and weary, and observing that the other ladies submitted, she shook her head desparingly, and no longer resisted the authorities. The rocking-chair was of a consolatory and lulling depth and motion, and with a slight snuff at the Preston salts, and then a camphor lozenge, and the large fan——

But 'that way madness lies.——' Where was the fan?

'Perhaps that's it that that lady's a-setting on,' said an honest country dame who sat among the satin, damask and French embroidery, looking like a cabbage in a conservatory. The 'lady' did not stir, and Mrs. Pell, catching a glimpse of her beloved fan, was at some pains to rouse her from her Saratoga reverie.

'Ma'am?' drawled the languid Carolinian.

'My fan, ma'am, is under you,' said our traveller, with heroic politeness; and at last she succeeded in rescuing the magnificent turkey-tail which had fanned the dim aisles of many a Georgian forest, now not a little marred by having been used as a cushion.

By this time the rocking chair was appropriated by a nurse and baby, and Mrs. Pell, reflecting that the true use of travel was to see the world, resolved to try the upper deck. At the top of the stairs, just as she came in sight of the company, the wind took the voluminous skirt of her black silk dress entirely over her head, and by the time she and Tommy had succeeded in getting it down again, the beloved fan was floating in the foaming bosom of the Hudson.

'Stop the boat! stop the boat!' cried Mrs. Pell, to the infinite diversion of the passengers; but the evening breezes bore her fruitless entreaties to the Palisades, where they doubtless moved the oaks and pines as much as they had done the grinning waiters.

But great emergencies call up great resolution; and Mrs. Pell soon making up her mind that these things must be expected when we venture on the treacherous waves, applied herself to the observation of the scenery. Here Captain Pell's excellent glass came to mind, and to think of it and to descend at once to the cabin for it, regardless of the difficulties on the way, were but the work of a moment with our heroine, who grew every moment more confident in her powers. At the top of the stairs she was again enveloped in a cloud of black silk; but nothing daunted she pursued her way, found the glass, and bore it to the deck in triumph, having taken the precaution to pin the more rebellious skirt to some more sedate portion of her dress.

Unfortunately the shades of night had made the glass utterly useless before this was accomplished; and as it was of something near the weight of a Kentucky rifle, Mrs. Pell bestowed it in a convenient corner for the present. When the bell rang for tea, a gentleman offered to take care of it, so that all trouble was at an end on that score.

The souchong was good and the toast not very cold, and a bland satisfaction was beginning to enliven the countenance of our friend, when a man touched her elbow, and wanted her 'tea ticket.' She had none.

'Half a dollar, ma'am, if you please.'

'But my passage is paid! Captain Pell paid my passage!'

'Yes, Ma'am; but the tea——'

'I shall ask the captain.'

The man waited quietly, but with his hand pertinaciously open. At length a benevolent old gentleman said, 'Hadn't you better pay now, ma'am, and ask the captain afterwards?' and Mrs. Pell finding no consolation in the tittering faces about her, at length put her hand in her pocket for her purse. The exclamation which followed might have made one suppose that she had found a snapping turtle there.

She drew forth a piece of glass, firmly imbeded under the nail of one of her fingers, from which the blood was streaming. The various hard substances jostling in that deep receptacle had nearly pulverised the crystal of Captain Pell's compass, leaving only a few fragments large enough to cut fingers. Occasion for heroism again—to wind a handkerchief about the wound, and to pay a dollar for two teas.

Soon after this began the skirmish which always takes place when berths are to be appropriated; but first Mrs Pell and Tommy sought the upper deck once more, to reclaim the telescope. Strange to say, the benevolent individual who had offered to take charge of it was nowhere to be seen, and, not to be tedious, we may as well say here that he never yet has been discovered, though Mrs Pell expected for some time that he would still return the trust with many apologies.

Every body who has travelled much upon the principal routes, knows from recollection or experience how such ladies as our adventurous friend pass a night on board the steamboat. They get in and out of bed every half hour, find the light hinders them from sleeping, and the darkness makes them afraid; the open window dangerous for the rheumatism, the close air threatening suffocation; the beds too hard, the pillows too small, the jar of the engine dreadful, and the crying of little babies more dreadful still. The rattling of the rudder chains wakes them out of every little nap, and they wake with a sort of nightmare feeling, saying aloud, to no body in particular, that they dreamed they were buried alive

Just such a night was that of our traveller. She walked about, threading her way among beds of all sorts and sizes, now stepping on a baby, now jostling the outstretched foot of some rather snappish dame, now going back to gaze fixedly at Tommy, whose features she could scarcely discern in the dim, shaded light. We will not venture to guess that she wished herself safe at home, but it is certain that each of these exploring expeditions ended with a deep sigh, and a return to the settee. At length the small hours, which are so apt to bring calm to all sorts of disquietude, fairly got the better of Mrs Pell, and in spite of her determination not to sleep a wink, she fell into a sound slumber.

A clap of thunder disturbed this kindly oblivion Mrs Pell started up, rushed on deck, beheld the entire horizon in ghastly distinctness from what seemed almost one continuous flash of lightning, and the air filled with dust from the Highlands through which the steamer was passing. While she yet gazed, motionless with terror, the rain came down with such a rush that she was wet through in a moment. This was travelling, to be sure! One might go to England a dozen times without seeing as much of the world. However, one must never lose one's presence of mind; so our heroic friend dressed herself, awakened Tommy, and endued him in all the clothes he could possibly carry, and calmly awaited the result in solitude and silence, for nobody else thought it worth while to get up.

Morning came at last, and with it a bright sun and much relief to those who had watched several hours by a dim lamp, expecting death at every clap of thunder. By the united aid of chamber-maid, captain and several waiters, Mrs Pell and her moveables were deposited in safety at a comfortable hotel, the lady feeling particularly grateful for the attentions of a young gentleman who sat by her in the omnibus and expressed much satisfaction upon hearing that she was going so far on his way. When Mrs Pell sought for her purse the next time it was missing; and when she looked about her at breakfast, intending to claim the sympathy of her obliging young friend, he was missing too—a coincidence which puzzled her exceedingly.

But even the loss of a purse could not mar the exhilarating sense of danger past and adventures to come. A fresh supply of money from a trunk put our travellers in condition again, and the baggage being safely locked up in a car, they were able to enjoy a capital breakfast at Troy, with a walk on the balcony afterwards, when Tommy, whose spirits were very high, (considering every thing, poor dear!) amused himself in opening and shutting his mama's parasol in the hope of frightening some omnibus horses that stood below.

'All aboard for Saratoga!' was the cry, and our travellers were the first to obey, leaving behind them in their flurry the bag containing the umbrella and sunshade, which they duly remembered after they were seated in the cars. Here was food for reflection! The fan, Captain Pell's pet telescope, the purse, and now the umbrellas! We can hardly deny that reflections connected with these matters occupied Mrs Pell's thoughts to the exclusion of everything but the fear that Tommy would get his fingers cut off, since he would persist in letting them project beyond the edge of the window.

At Saratoga, the luggage had to be shifted from the cars to a stage-coach, and Mrs Pell was desired to identify hers. This she did very readily, until the large band-box was in question. That article proved very difficult to recognize, for it had unfortunately been squeezed into the shape of the shield of Achilles, the stray flutes of lace and loops of ribbon which had escaped though numerous breaks serving for border.

'Oh, my caps! my caps!' sighed the disconsolate pilgrim, who was not so indifferent to the things of this world as pilgrims should be. 'What shall I do? They are ruined entirely!'

'Sure an' such a good-lookin' lady as yerself doesn't need any caps and the like o'that to set her off?' said a jolly Irishman who stood by; and with such consolation the good-looking lady was obliged to be content, though she did groan when she saw them hold the band-box up edgeways.

Deep sandy roads, and not very easy coaches, to Glen's Fall—celebrated, as the driver informed his passengers, for having been the scene of one of Cooper's novels. It is a most romantic rocky dell, certainly; and if it had not been for the band-box, Mrs Pell would have been delighted with the rush of waters and the huge piles of rock on all sides, though she held fast of Tommy with both hands, fearful that he might fall out of the stage into some of those awful caverns. Now a good dinner rather hastily swallowed, a further drive of some miles, and, then a nice little canal-packet, with a very obliging captain, and various books and other things to make the time pass pleasantly. If it had not been for the band-box and the purse, and telescope and umbrella and sunshade, and the compass and the feather fan!!

Tea at Whitehall, good beds and a quiet house. Mrs Pell and Tommy rose refreshed, had a capital breakfast with a punkah over the table, moved by invisible power, but, alas! out of doors a pouring rain. A rainy day for Lake Champlain! where if anywhere, one wants all one's eyes to see the beauty which is spread so lavishly on every side. The Green Mountains on one hand and the Adirondacks on the other; the rich, verdant, deeply-indented shores, with their endless variety of foliage, and their dottings of neat farm-houses, peeping out from quiet 'nooks of greenery;' rocky islets, where we could easily build inaccessible fortresses if we had refractory kings and queens to manage; and over all, such skies as belong only to mountain scenery—all these was our unlucky friend compelled to forego, and sit quietly thinking over her trials and losses watching the drops as they rather poured than trickled down the glass that enclosed Captain——'s ample deck.

Presently she became aware that Tommy had quitted her side. She called him—no answer. She sought him in the cabin—all over the wide deck—in the dining room—in the forecastle--in the engine! She asked the waiters—she asked the sailors—she asked every passenger singly—and by this time her questionings became frantic. At last she rushed to the captain's office and demanded her child. 'He is gone! drowned! killed! crushed in the machinery?'

'Impossible, my dear madam! Don't be alarmed; I'll have him found in a moment.'

But Mrs Pell had renounced all hope, when Tommy came coolly along, quite unconscious of the cause of his mother's disturbance. He had taken a fancy to sit on the promenade deck in the pouring rain, by way of variety, and could not understand why his mamma should cry so about nothing. She, however, was determined to avoid this trouble at least; and she had just tied Tommy securely to one of the settees in the ladies' cabin, when the cabin maid informed her that the young gentleman could not stay there.

'Why not, pray?'

The prim dame pointed to the announcement upon the door—'Gentlemen not permitted;' and Mrs Pell found she must either be separated from her son, or sit on the deck, which the rain made very chilly, although it is partially enclosed. She chose the latter, of course; and while there, fell into a very natural reverie—one in which many other ladies have indulged, we will venture to say, as to why cabin maids are tolerated in steamboats? They are never of any possible use, unless it be to ascertain what amount of interference and constraint lady-passengers can be induced to bear without complaint. Most of them seem to suppose ladies are there upon sufferance, addmitted gratis, and liable to be discharged upon any transgression of what they choose to term 'the rules.' It is very certain that the same amount of impertinence attempted where gentlemen are concerned would not be tolerated for a moment, even among good natured Yankees, who will bear more than any other people in the world.—We should vote for leaving these supernumeraries on shore, and we are sure Mrs Pell would join us after her experience in some of the best steamboats with some of the best captains in the United States.

But Burlington draws near. There is Camel's Hump, far in the misty distance, with his gigantic brethren reposing about him, all more or less veiled in clouds, though now the slant beams of the setting sun begin to illuminate some eastward eminences. The Adirondacks, too, seem to smile through tears, as the golden rays touch their varied summits, while the lake is like a sheet of pure amethyst, and the bending trees along its brink drop living pearls into its bosom.—There is an island walled with rock; and there is one that looks as if a shepherd's hat had been thrown down upon the water and left to petrify—its round crown and broad brim lying fairly developed, with scarce a fringe of green to enliven its proper hue of gray.

Mrs. Pell was near her journey's end. She had encountered many trials, but they would soon be more than compensated. She would soon see her rich neice and her happy nephew. She had "had losses," to be sure, but they were almost forgotten as she gazed upon the beautiful amphitheatre of hills in which this prettiest of towns lies bosomed, and thought of the stately dwelling into which she was soon to be ushered, and the honor and glory of having one of the family 'marry rich!,

'Drive to Mr. Pitney's—Putnam Pitney's!' said Mrs. Pell, with a somewhat swelling air as the last bandbox (the pancake one) was placed on top of the baggage like a sort of lid or shelter from the weather.

The driver nodded, and, after some ascent and many windings, at last stopped before a neat suburban cottage, where a young woman was sweeping the water off the first step.

'This is not the place! Is this Mr Pitney's?'

'Yes, ma'am,' said the damsel.

'What! Putnam Pitney's?'

'Yes, ma'am.'

'Prudent young man!' said Mrs. Pell to herself as she alighted and walked into the narrow entry. 'Is Mr. Pitney at home? Call him, if you please, and say that his aunt, Mrs. Pell from New York, is here.'

'What! is this aunt Pell? Oh, dear aunty, how happy I am to see you!' said the maid, throwing down her broom, and kissing Mrs. Pell very affectionately. 'And you've come so far to see us—and brought this dear little boy too! Sit down in the rocking chair, and I'll call Putnam in a moment.'

And so saying, the rich niece ran off into the garden, whence she soon brought her husband, who had been hoeing carrots, and did not wait to put on his coat.

Mrs. Pell could hardly speak to him. Was this all?' Had she come all this way, and encountered all these dangers and losses, just to see a loving young couple beginning the world in a small way, and living in as primitive a style as did their progenitors who first settled the Green Mountains? What could it mean?

Tea was over, and the rocking-chair carried out upon a piazza that looked towards the rich purple west, and Mrs. Pell and her nephew, and his bright, cheerful young wife, sat quietly down to talk over all sorts of things, while Tommy amused himself by trying to stick his uncle's rake through a toad that had come out to enjoy the fine evening after the rain.

'I have bought this house, aunty,' said Mr. Putnam Pitney, in the course of conversation, 'and here Mary and I mean to live till we're able to afford a better; and when that will be, nobody can tell—for a poor lawyer gets along but slowly!'

'But, Putnam,' began Mrs, Pell—for the question could be restrained no longer—I thought you had married rich?'

'Rich?' Ah, Mary's riches will hardly make us proud, whatever they may do for our great grand-children. She had some thousand acres of western land, on which there are large taxes to pay, while it has never yielded a dollar's income. It will take all we can save to keep it from the hammer at the annual tax sales.'

So, here was a break down of poor Mrs. Pell's airy castles! Yet she bore the disappointment with wonderful equanimity, so charmed was she with her new neice, with the enchanting scenery, and with the agreeable society to which her nephew introduced her. She made a month's visit, during which time Tommy had torn all his clothes to pieces, lost his hat, and narrowly missed breaking his neck by falling out of the hay-loft. Mrs. Pell, now forgetful of the perils of the way, thought of writing to the captain that he must come for her if he ever expected to see her again, when Mr. Putnam Pitney decided to treat his wife to a sight of the great city, and see his aunt home in safety.

Mrs. Pell had become entirely reconciled to her disappointment, learned to love Mary dearly, thought a fortune would not make the young people any happier, and at last took leave of Burlington with regret; and as the steamer once more bore her from the wharf, cast a look of lingering and reluctant farewell at the beautiful village and the noble background of mountains, and watched till the latest moment the silver dome of the college, gleaming ever and anon upon the eye after miles of hill and forest had been passed.

We have only to add that the journey home was prosperous; that our traveller found the missing parcel, and that she considers herself at present in a condition to give advice to any lady who contemplates a solitary tour anywhere within the bounds of these United States.

Seventh Agricultural Meeting.

On Tuesday evening the farmers met again in the Representatives' Hall. Dr. Stone, one of the Vice Presidents, in the chair. The Committee of Arrangements requested the Hon. B. V. French to open the subject, which was, fruits and fruit trees.

Mr. French went at some length into the history of horticulture, as connected with the progress of human affairs. He said we were mainly indebted to two eminent men, Mr. Knight, of London, and Prof. Van Mons, of Antwerp, for improvement in fruits. He said many of the apples that rank high in England, do not always suit here. Perhaps it is owing to climate. Many varieties of pears will not ripen here, or are nearly worthless, unless artificial heat is employed.

The pear is a fickle fruit. A number of the immense variety brought here can be recommended. He has set nearly two hundred varieties of the apple, and nearly as many of the pear; but he would not be understood to recommend to any one to set so great a variety. He was not in favor of setting pear trees near a wall. Mr. Tudor had produce. some of the finest pears in so exposed a situation as Nahant. It was extremely important to select thrifty trees—he would not be parsimonious as to price, if he could have good roots—he would not set them deep.

He had never found any remedy for borers but to pluck them out. Caterpillars are easily destroyed—fall caterpillars worse than others Knew of no remedy for the excrescences on the plum tree. He has no idea that particular kinds of fruit 'run out.' He handed the reporter a specimen of the Pomme d'Appi, known at Paris one hundred and fifty years ago. Prof. Lindley held to that opinion.

Mr. French then proceeded to give a full account of the varieties of fruit that he had cultivated on his farm in Braintree.

Rev. Mr. Sanger, of Dover complimented the speaker, said he had received much information—inquired of him as to the influence of air and light on fruits. Mr. F. said there should be a free circulation of air; the fruit was better in such cases.

Major Benjamin Wheeler, of Framingham, said he set an orchard thirty years ago, in which he had not been troubled with borers; he attributed this to washing his trees with strong ley. The Messrs Winship of Brighton, had tried ley with the same result. This wash has an effect to keep away the canker worm, as it cannot so well lay its eggs on bark that is rendered smooth. Wood-lice and moss are also killed by this wash which leaves the bark smooth Nursery men do not shape their apple trees right—his mode was to cut out the centre branch and make the top umbrella formed. Apple trees should be shaped when young; after they come to bear he trims them but little. Peach trees he heads in to keep them within reach. He knows no fruit more desirable than the plum. He had tried for twenty years, and did not raise half a peck; but nine years ago he formed a new garden within a few rods of the old one, where he has plums enough—he cannot account for it. His St. Michael pears blasted for a number of years, but now they were doing well again.

He thought the raising of grapes was too much neglected. They are easily raised, but are picked too early. They should hang on the vine till they are in danger of freezing.—He thought there was a great deficiency of fruits on our farms. Nothing is more healthy or desirable; people must have something to gratify taste, and nothing is more innocent than fruit. Even the common red currant ought to be cultivated more extensively; it will hang on the bushes for three months after becoming red.

Mr. H. G. Merriam had sowed salt and saltpetre among peach trees, and had applied ashes around them three times a year, and washed the bodies with a mixture of soft soap, salt, and saltpetre, which gave his trees a fine appearance. He said the Middlesex Society had given him a premium on trees. He had made quince bushes bear in three years.

Mr. S. W. Cole exhibited some apples, the Gloria Mundi, very large, though he thought the purchaser might not want a second lot at the same price—$3 a barrel. He also exhibited the Esopus Spitzenburg and the late Baldwin which differs slightly from the common Baldwin

J. M. Earle, Esq., from Worcester, spoke of the fine seedling pear, raised by George Bullard of Framingham; he thought one of the finest he had seen.

Mr. Gray of Boston moved that the same subject be continued for the next evening, as there was much more to be said upon it. This was adopted.

THE BOSTON ADDRESS.

"Esteemed Citizens of Boston in New England:"

"We the inhabitants of Boston in Old England, assembled at a public meeting convened by our Mayor, or, in the Town Hall, 26th January, 1846, beg leave respectfully to present you this friendly address on the subject of International Peace.

"Two centuries ago, the inhabitants of your city, because they had received from this place the persecuted but truly venerable minister of the Gospel, Mr. John Cotton, honored our town by changing the name of their own, and adopting that of Boston. We trust that the respect then showed, will always continue to be deserved; and that friendship, along with commercial intercourse, will for all generations be perpetuated, never to be interrupted by national jealousies, or by the horrors and crimes of war.

"We believe war to be an evil—a pure evil, unattended by any good in its motives, actions, or results; an evil so tremendous, that no earthly consideration can justify it.

"We are convinced that war is destructive to all the interests of humanity, to happiness and liberty, to commerce and wealth, to science, arts, and civilization, to learning and intelligence, to philanthropy and religion.

"We regard war as UNREASONABLE; for even should it prove which party had the most STRENGTH, it would never show on which side was the most RIGHT: and we doubt not that any good, which may in some cases be supposed to have resulted from fighting, could have been secured in a greater degree, more rapidly, more effectually, more widely, more permanently, and far more cheaply, by negociation.

"We observe that any government designing an attack on the rights, liberty, happiness and commercial prosperity of any other nation, in all cases commence by assailing the rights, liberty, property, happiness and commerce of their own people.

"We consider war to be condemned alike by the voice of conscience and experience; by natural and revealed religion; and to be unworthy of the nature of man, and contrary to the will of God. We therefore protest against our being called out to fight either against you or any other portion of the one family of man. We hope to see the day when it will be proved that war is as needless as it is pernicious, that it may be avoided; that the friends of reason and religion are able to awaken such a public sentiment on the subject, as will render it impossible for the selfish and the ambitious to turn the hand of man against his brother.

"Citizens of Boston! permit us to exhort you to cherish and to spread these pacific principles; till all nations shall repose amid all the blessings of a universal and perpetual peace.

Signed on behalf of the Meeting,
J. NOBLE, Chairman.
A Member of the Town Council of Boston, Lincolnshire, England.

BENJAMIN FARRINGTON,
(Baptist Minister,) Secretary.

Trouble.—It is said that Mrs Jarvis, wife of Dr. Jarvis, of Middleton, Conn., intends to sue for a divorce from her husband.

DANVERS COURIER.

SATURDAY MORNING, MARCH 14, 1846.

PEACE! PEACE! PEACE!

It is now more than thirty years since these joyful words sent a thrill of delight through the whole length and breadth of the land. Almost three years had been spent in a war with our brethren of the British nation, with alternate success of victory and defeat.—We had lost an army at Detroit, and gained splendid victories by Sea; every mail was laden with news of success and disaster, the former always exagerated, and the latter glossed over with plausible reasons for each defeat. On this coast, a hostile fleet floated in our waters, burnt our vessels, and kept the neighboring towns in constant alarm. From our hill tops could be seen the smoke of the contest between the frigate Shannon and our ill-fated Chesapeake whose decks were slippery with the blood of our bravest seamen. Lawrence and Ludlow fell in that engagement and were buried with military honors at Halifax, by a generous foe. Their mangled bodies were then brought to Salem for a second burial, and we well remember the day when their remains were entombed. A crew of sea captains had brought their honored freight from Halifax to Salem harbor, and a procession of boats gliding with measured strokes of their oars, escorted their bodies to the wharf. Minute guns were fired as they moved onward to the church where he Eulogy was to be delivered and other funeral services performed. The flags were all at half mast, the town was filled with strangers, and the gay uniforms of the military and naval officers showed in contrast with the sad countenances of those who wore them. Our youthful curiosity was most attracted by the groups of hardy tars who bore the heavy, leaden coffins that contained the remains of the deceased commanders, and deposited them in the tomb. They wore a uniform dress of blue jackets and white trowsers, their tarpaulin hats banded by a blue riband on which was inscribed the name of their country and their ship.

This was in the early part of the war and was almost its only reverse with anything like equal force on the ocean. On land our arms were less successful but still enough so to give great confidence in the superior bravery of our countrymen. At length the people became tired of victory as well as of defeat, as they found war to be a losing game even to the victor. Property was lost and won by the piracy of privateersmen, and lives were sacrificed faster by the exposures and fevers of the camp than by the enemy's shot. Taxes were piled on taxes until the exciseman penetrated into the workshop, the dwelling and even the watch fob, to claim his portion for the support of the war. People then became wearied with all this, and began to complain of the exaction. The channels of commerce and trade were stopped and industry was languid. People were tired of paying 16 dollars a barrel for flour, 20 cents a pound for sugar, and 3 dollars a pound for tea. They were tired of burnt rye as a substitute for coffee, and potatoes for bread.

It was in this state of feeling that the joyous intelligence came across the Atlantic that a treaty of PEACE had been negociated at Ghent, and the nation's great heart was at once elated with joy! No question was asked about the terms of the treaty; it was enough that it was for PEACE. We verily believe that the people would then gladly have surrendered half of Maine and "the whole of Oregon" for the boon of Peace, as they actually did surrender all that they went to war about, the impressment of seamen and the conquest of Canada, and even gave up to England an island in the bay of Fundy, which before belonged to us.

The news of peace came in February, we believe, and a day was set apart for general rejoicing. We have a vivid recollection of mingling with the crowd in Salem and witnessing the gay preparations for public rejoicing. Flags of every country were floating in the breeze, and the stars and stripes were seen folded in loving union with the British red cross of St. George. Banners of white were emblazoned with the word PEACE in flaming capitals, and hung from the house tops and upper windows. The boys caught the joyous feeling, and in imitation of their elders PEACE was written with chalk on the sides of the houses, on the fences and on the walls of the school houses. Public buildings and private houses were brilliantly illuminated with variegated lights, and burning tar barrels sent up their tongues of flame from the tops of the hills. Grave men as well as boys joined in the Jubilee and swung their hats in the air at every cheer of the multitude. All seemed wild with delight. PEACE was in every body's mouth.—They shouted it, they toasted it, they drank themselves drunk upon it. The bells rang it, the cannon's roar repeated it and the pulpit proclaimed it. It was the burden of sermon and song, a universal pouring forth of a nation's gratitude at its deliverance from a heavy calamity.

Now, alas, with what foolish recklessness do our public men seek to bring the same distress, the same bloodshed and calamities on our country. It is from the dignified forbearance and higher principles of our opponent in the controversy, and not from the administration of our own country, that we are happily to escape the horrors of a contest such as humanity would deplore and such as we hope the world is now too old again to witness among civilized and Christian nations.

Election of Gen Houston as U. S. Senator from the state of Texas—A correspondent of the Journal of commerce under date of Galveston, Feb 24th, states that news had just been received there of the election of Gen. Sam. Houston to the U. S. Senate. The other Senator had not been elected and it was uncertain whether Jones or Rusk would succeed.

GEN. JACKSON'S EPITAPH. The Union, Nashville, Tenn., says the following will be the epitaph on Gen. Jackson's tombstone: "Andrew Jackson, born on the 15th of March, 1767—died on the 8th of June, 1845.

We copy the following Resolutions of the City Government of Salem, which seem to imply that there is a necessary conflict between the Andover and Malden Railroads. We have always been accustomed to consider them distinct undertakings, both of them advantageous to the people of Salem and its vicinity, and that each should be supported on its own independent merits and on this ground that both were worthy of support. We were aware that there was a strong and unanimous feeling in Salem in favor of the Andover route and that its citizens regarded the undertaking as feasable and promising great advantages to their city. That the people of Danvers were also in favor of this road, notwithstanding their fears that their great opponent the Eastern Railroad Corporation was making the honest desire of the Salem petitioners for this project, a pretext for defeating their own, is sufficiently evident from the tones of the following Resolution which was passed by an overwhelming vote in a large town meeting.

Resolved, That we approve of the petition of J. S. Cabot and others, for a Railroad from Salem, through Danvers, to Methuen or Andover; that the construction of such a road will be important to the town of Danvers—that it will add to its convenience, prosperity and general advancement and that it is worthy the efforts of the citizens of Danvers.

At the same meeting when this vote was passed Resolutions in favor of the Malden route were also adopted, with the same overwhelming majority. This was a sufficient proof of the right state of feeling here in regard to both undertakings. It was not until at the recent meeting of the town, called in consequence of an Order of Notice the Eastern Railroad asked to "become interested" in roads passing through our territory that any thing from Danvers as a town could be found in appearance even at all adverse to the Andover road. The preamble and Resolves passed at that meeting will be found in our last paper and will speak for themselves. They were no doubt designed as a Protest against any interference of that Corporation to defeat the Malden road. We believe our citizens did not understand them to mean anything more than this and that all retain the same friendly feelings in favor of a Railroad to Andover. We regret, however, that the town did not in common fairness allow the preamble and resolves to be read from the chair so that modifications could be proposed, or at least so as to enable the people to vote understandingly.

Now as it regards the Salem Resolutions, we understand that these passed the Common Council after a single reading without a word of debate, by not a strong vote and that no division was called for to ascertain if any dissented. Although it is one of the rules of that body to require all its members to vote on every question it is not enforced unless called for and in this instance was not complied with as it would have been had any member seen fit to demand a division.

As to the framing of the Resolves, the first will not compare in earnestness with that passed in favor of the same Andover road, in the Danvers town meeting, and the other two are remarkable for nothing but an implied admission that unless the Malden Road is defeated the Eastern Railroad will not come in to the aid of the Andover project now that the Charter is granted. We were not before prepared to believe that the petitioners for that undertaking were so entirely dependent on the will of the E. R. R. Corporation for their success after obtaining their Charter. If these petitioners and the City Government of Salem are willing to place themselves and their city in this humiliating position at the feet of that Corporation we have nothing to say about it, only that it affords another proof, if more proof was wanting, of the dangerous power of such a monopoly.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council of Salem, the project of a Railroad to Andover is one fraught with advantage to Salem and the towns in its vicinity: that in the opinion of the City Council, the citizens of Salem generally feel a deep interest in the success of said Railroad, and that they are very desirous that said Railroad should be completed and put in operation as speedily as possible.

Resolved, That in the opinion of the City Council, neither of the other Railroads prayed for from Salem, would be of any essential advantage to the City of Salem in themselves; but would be likely inasmuch as they would be parallel roads, and would involve the necessity of an immediate competition, as said roads were built, to prevent the stock of said Essex Railroad from being taken and the road built.

Resolved, That the Representatives of the City of Salem be requsted to use all fair and honorable means to promote the success of the Essex Railroad as beneficial to Salem and the County of Essex generally; and to oppose the passage of any act which would be likely to render the charter of the Essex Railroad granted by the Legislature inopperative.

Accident on the Boston and Maine Railroad.—The train from Haverhill this morning, met with an accident, by running the engine, tender, and baggage car off the track. They were thrown on the side, about four feet below the track, and were somewhat injured, the passenger cars remaining on the track. One passenger, only, was injured. He was standing on the outside of the car. The train had stopped at Prison Point Bridge, to leave passengers, and was going at the time of the accident very slowly. The engineer saw that the switch was not right, and immediately reversed the engine. The damage is inconsiderable, probably not exceeding two hundred dollars. The injury to the passenger is not supposed to be serious.—He returned to South Reading in the train at half past eleven o'clock.—Merc. Journal.

Wood is eight dollars a cord by the sloop load, at Philadelphia, and much suffering to the poor has resulted in consequence.

The Town Finances.

We are glad to find that the statement of the Auditors submitted to the Annual Town Meeting, has attracted the attention of the prudent and thinking part of the community to the alarming condition of our financial affairs. The necessity of an immediate and vigorous effort to stop the tide of profuse expenditure is so apparent that none can help seeing it, and it becomes the duty of every good citizen to do his part and make sacrifices even, to place the town in a more creditable condition. A high rate of taxation must be submitted to and a most vigorous economy pursued. Taxation alone without a reduction of the expenses will not do and the strictest economy without an increase of taxation will do nothing to reduce the debt of the town.

Charity.—Few of our citizens probably are aware of the amount of suffering, from poverty and other causes, daily endured in our midst. Within a few days several instances of this description have come to our knowledge, which call loudly for sympathy and relief. It is true that several charitable societies exist amongst us, and by their untiring and humane efforts have done much to supply the more urgent necessities of life. But it is much to be regretted that so little interest is felt in the prosperity of these societies by those competent to assist and encourage them, and their means of usefulness should be so cramped and limited. We understand that it is in contemplation by one of these societies to give a social entertainment for the purpose of increasing their funds, and should this design be carried into effect we doubt not it would prove successful.

Row at the National Theatre, Boston. On Tuesday evening last, the audience assembled at this place of amusement, manifested their displeasure at the non-appearance of Mr. Thorne and his wife who had been announced to take part in the performance, by destroying the furniture of the theatre, breaking windows, &c. Several arrests were made by the police. On the succeeding day 30 mechanics were at work repairing damages.

☞At a meeting of the legal voters of School District No. 11, held on the 9th inst. the following gentlemen were chosen their Officers for the ensuing year, viz: Orlando E. Pope, Clerk.—Francis Baker, Alonzo P. Phillips, and John M. C. Noyes,—Prudential Committee.

Fire in Beverly—On Sunday morning a fire broke out in a two story dwelling house, belonging to Mr. Trow, which was entirely consumed together with the barn and out buildings adjoining, and the house of Mr O. Gage, and the barn of Mr Joseph Cole. The house of Mr Gage was insured at the Holyoke office for $600. Mr Snow at the same office for $600.

☞The Gloucester Telegraph says, that Mr. David S. Rowe, formerly of Rockport, has been selected by Hon. Horace Mann, to take charge of the Normal School at Westfield.

Annexation to Salem.

A writer in the Salem Gazette strongly urges the expediency of annexing the South Parish of Danvers to that city as a fifth ward. However desirable such a re-union may be, it seems to be a settled point with the Legislatiure to make no important changes in town lines unless all the parties interested can agree to an equitable division. Under these circumstances we do not see how such a division can be effected unless the proposal is first made or assented to by the North part of the town. We think also that Salem will not be in haste to receive us after looking carefully into the present condition of our town financial affairs.

REGISTER OF DEEDS.

	French.	Dalton.	Shove.	Others.
Salem,	611	357	141	5
Danvers,	188	23	149	4
Saugus,	37	43	10	2
Middleton,	60	0	0	0
Georgetown,	62	32	8	14
Topsfield,	55	2	48	2
West Newbury,	124	21	0	0
Lynnfield,	50 majority reported,
Amesbury,	6	75	45	18
Wenham,	74	2	5	0
Methuen,	176	20	1	103*
Lynn,	69	33	469	4
Marblehead,	217	25	52	5
Beverly,	87	56	1	58†
Haverhill,	3	5	0	484‡
Newbury,	154	4	20	68
Hamilton,	25	33	25
17 towns—	1998	731	974	767

*This vote was cast for Mr. Phillips, of Andover.
†For John I. Baker, of Beverly.
‡For Isaac Ames, of Haverhill.

Rev. Dr Brazer.—The melancholy intelligence was received here, on Saturday, of the death of Rev. JOHN BRAZER, D. D., a distinguished Unitarian clergyman, and Pastor of the North Church in this city. He left Salem about two months ago, for the South, with impaired health, and died, we understand, of dropsy on the chest and organic disease of the heart, on the 26th of February last, at the residence of his friend Dr. B. Huger. He was 57 years of age. The bells were tolled on Saturday afternoon, and the bereavement was appropriately noticed in the churches yesterday, by his clerical brethren of various denominations.—Reg.

A WOMAN AND WHEELBARROW. This unnatural conjunction, common enough throughout Europe, where the women bear a full share of the most laborious and filthy out-door labors,—was yesterday seen in Salem, for the first time, we suspect, in its history. The phenomenon was a respectable looking foreign woman, who had been long enough in the the country to be well and even handsomely dressed, and who was taking a turn with her little boy in wheeling some of her household furniture over the sidewalk, in Essex street.—Gazette.

Capture of a Slaver, with nine hundred Slaves on board—Horrors of the Slave Trade.

By the brig Otho, Capt Rider, from the Coast of Africa, we learn that the United States sloop of War Yorktown, Capt Bell, has captured an American Slaver, with nine hundred slaves on board.—Capt Rider has furnished us with Monrovia papers to December 10th, and a Circular of the 17th, published at the Methodist Episcopal Mission Office, Monrovia, Liberia, 'containing a few facts relative to the re-capture of nine hundred slaves in the barque 'Pons,' of Philadelphia—their horrible condition on board—their liberation at the colony of Liberia—their distribution at said colony, &c.' addressed to the friends of Africa and African Missions, and intended as an Appeal to the humanity and benevolence of the Christian public. The details expose anew all the horrible attrocities of the infernal traffic and cannot be read without a shudder.—Salem Reg.

The Rev W. B. Hoyt, another missionary who had arrived in the Roanoke, and had just spent his first Sabbath in Liberia, says, on Monday, the 15th:—

'I had read and heard much of slavery and the horrors attendant upon the Slave Trade; now an opportunity offered to know from actual observation, whether the statements with which I had been acquainted, were exaggerated or not. In company with His Excellency Governor Roberts and several others, I this morning went on board the prize. I had been prepared, to some extent, for a scene of horror, by the account of Lieut. Cogdell, the gentlemanly officer in command; but I found the half had not been told me. Nay, it is utterly impossible for language to convey an appropriate idea of the suffering of that wretched company. The decks were literally crowded with poor abject beings. The living and the dying were huddled together with less care than is bestowed upon the brute creation. Here and there might be seen individuals in the last agonies of expiring nature; unknown, and apparently unnoticed. There was no offer of sympathy to alleviate in the least their misery. Their companions appeared dejected, weighed down with their own sorrows. My heart sickens at the remembrance of that awful scene. As I came on the crowded deck, I saw directly in front of me one emaciated and worn down by long suffering to a mere skeleton, pining away and apparently near eternity. I looked over into the steerage. The hot, mephitic air almost overpowered me. At the foot of the ladder, lay two of the most miserable beings I ever beheld. They were reduced, as the one above named, so that their bones almost protruded from their flesh. Large sores had been worn upon their sides and limbs as they had been compelled to lay upon the hard plank composing the deck of the vessel. They lay directly under the hatchway, whither they had crawled, apparently to obtain a little purer air. One I thought dead until by some slight motion of the limbs I discovhis agonies were not yet ended. The other lay with his face toward me and such an expression of unmitigated anguish, I never before saw. I cannot banish the horrid picture. These were not isolated cases, but as they were those that were first noticed, they made perhaps a stronger impression on my mind. In another part of the vessel lay a little boy pining away, with two others watching over him. They were not brothers, but had been captured from the same place. They had procured a bit of muslin that had probably been thrown away by some of the crew, and had placed it under his aching head for a pillow.—Could you have seen them, I am sure the fountain of feeling would have been broken up and the tears would have forced themselves from their hiding place. For the fourteen days that the vessel had been under the charge of the present commander, they had been assiduous in their care; one or the other of them attending on him constantly, and keeping watch alternately at night for this purpose.—Oh! if I could portray the scene as I saw it, could I present it to your imagination without any coloring, as it was actually presented to my view, your blood would chill in your veins.—Five had been thrown over dead, this morning, and many more were apparently just expiring. And yet they tell me, this is comparatively nothing; and I should judge so, if the statement of the captured captain can be relied on.—He says that they left some 400 or 500 more at the factory, that he had intended to have taken with him on the same vessel, but was prevented by the proximity of an English cruiser.'

Mr. Editor—As the resolutions passed at our town meeting, are having a somewhat extended circulation, and as some of your subscribers in this part of the town totally dissent from the spirit and language contained in them, I trust you will do us the favor to insert the following article from the Atlas in reply to them. The statement in your paper that there were only two dissenting votes on the passage of the resolutions in question, is calculated to give an erroneous impression. It should be known that after the resolutions had been read by the mover, (and he was not fully heard by the meeting,) a request was made that the moderator should read them again; this reasonable request was unheeded, the question was put immediately, without any debate, and the resolutions were thus indecently "gagged through," and are now paraded as the deliberate sense of the Citizens of Danvers, while in fact many refused to vote at all, under such circumstances.

North Danvers, March 10, 1846.

MESSRS EDITORS.—In your paper of this date is a statement of the proceeding of the town of Danvers, on the subject of the petition of the Eastern Railroad Company, or a branch from Salem to that place. It is well known how easy it is for excited and interested individuals, by the aid of a few personal friends, specially assembled for the purpose, to carry any measure, or any set of resolutions they may have prepared for the occasion, in any of our ordinary town meetings. Such, it may be hoped, for the honor of the respectable and intelligent community which such a meeting, prima facia, represents, was the fact in this case. Whoever is acquainted with the history of the Eastern Railroad, knows that its location was the subject of long and close investigation before the Legislature of the State, by whom the present route was selected as the one that would best subserve the interests of the whole of this section of the country, after every possible mode of access to Boston had been proposed. It was built only by great exertion, and after great sacrifices. Its stock was, for a long time, much depressed, and many of those who orginally subscribed to it were severe sufferers. Nevertheless, as soon as the stock had permanently reached its par value, so that new shares could be created to meet the new expense, a branch to Danvers was proposed, and at first met the approval, it is believed, of every man of business in that town. Before, however, the project could be submitted to the Legislature, it occurred to a few individuals that they might turn a penny by a road in another direction; and they soon found persons enough, who, in the hope of bringing about a competition that would result in extremely low fares, were ready to join in a crusade against the existing road. Thus the very branch road which they complain of not being built, was resisted the moment it was petitioned for, and by the very who now make the complaint that it was not propo before. They insist upon it that it is only a pre defeat "the great object of their grave desires."

They will have no road that is not based on destruction of the property of their neighbors, will break down all the conservative principles w have so long distinguished and honored their to that they may, perchance, derive some trifling pe al advantage. Whatever may be due to those at great risk and loss, first undertook and ca through this great improvement; whatever of pu faith, or private property, may be violated, their allel and rival route must be granted—and nothi however important to their own town, or to o towns, or to the whole country, or the whole wo must be permitted, "that shall in any manner or gree, tend to defeat or impair, either in bread length, location or terminus, the object of their earn and solemn desires." Whence this haughty and percilious tone? Does it proceed from the sa sources that threaten to drive honest and impart men from their seats in the councils of the State, a who dare to call in political hopes and political fe to their aid to sustain a cause that is bolstered up principles more dishonest than were avowed by most rabid repudiator of Mississippi? The offer money to a legislator, as a bribe, is looked upon the most flagrant insult that can be offered to Government, and the most flagitious act of which a man can be guilty. Yet, in what is it worse than make his vote in this case the test of office; to av a determination to sacrifice the political standing policy of the State on the altar of the Malden road—to raise a local and artificial clamor to overa the action of the Representatives of the people—a by threats of political annihilation, endeavor to bre down those just principles of private right and pub policy, which have heretofore made Massachuse the sacred depository of all who sought safety their property or justice for their children?

The insinuation, in the Danvers resolves, that Eastern Railroad Co. have attempted to influen their town elections, is worthy of men who ado such a system of bragadocia and domineering to c ry out their purposes; but it is unworthy of the to of Danvers, and will never be placed to her accou as the deliberate sentiment and action of a place th contains so many citizens of sound sense and hone intentions. Such may possibly be deceived by hi toned rhapsody, by extravagant epithets, or by elab rate misrepresentation; but they will never, kno ingly, sanction falsehood, or covet their neighbor property.

H.

March 6.

Correspondence Commercial Advertiser.

Washington, Tuesday, March 10th,

In the Senate, to day, a communication was r ceived from the Post Master General concernin the contracts for the transportation of the U. State mail between ports of the United States and thos of foreign powers, in pursuance of the act of Marc 3d, 1845.

The P. M. General gives his reasons, at leng for making a contract with Mr Edward Mills, o N. York, instead of taking the bids of Mr Sloo, Mr A. D. Mann, or Mr Junius Smith.

He considered Mr Mill's bid the lowest, an was made perfectly satisfied as to his means an responsibility.

He gives his reasons for varying the origina proposals.

'I became satisfied, he says, that touching a Cowes, on the Isle of Wight, and making Bremen the terminas of the line on the continent, the pub lic interest, as well as the mail service, would be best promoted, and proposed to give Mr Mills 400,000 for the service for five years.

Mr Mills accepted this, but reserved the right to go to Havre from Cowes alternately, which will make the line cost $350,000 annually.

The contractors have already commenced t build the ships. They will cost 400,000 dollars each. At least one vessel will be ready for ser vice by the first of January next.

The Postmaster General asks for an appropria tion for the first quarter's service, 'that no doub may remain on the minds of the contractors of the confimation of the contract.'

The line is to consist of four steamers, to run semi-monthly, from New York to Cowes and Bremen.

Another proposition, for the performance of mail service by ocean steamers between Liverpool and New York, was made by E. K. Collins, of New York—a gentleman of the highest reputation for judgement and skill, as well as ability to perform the service his proposes.

This was submitted after the acceptance of Mr Mill's offer, but it is submitted to Congress for their acceptance, should it be their pleasure to extend the service farther.

In farther execution of the law the Postmaster General has made a contract with Charles Morgan for the transportation of the mails from New Orleans to Galveston, in steam ships, once in every five days, and agreed to give him 75 per cent of the nett proceeds of the office at Galveston, and of the Galveston distribution to Texas, for four years.

It is submitted to Congress whether a line of steamers shall be contracted for to run to Chagres. And one from Panama, by the Sandwich Islands to the mouth of the Columbia River. Contracts have been offered for this and other service, by Mr Vandewater.

An approbation is asked to meet the contract with Mr. Mills, in order to assure the contractors of the confirmation of the contract by Congress.

Mr Pierce of Me. presented a memorial of citizens of Maryland on the Oregon question and in favor of conciliation and compromise.

Mr P. made some remarks in support of the views of the memorialist.

Mr Evans concluded his masterly speech against the Oregon notice.

Mr Reverdy Johnson will speak to morrow.

The Government has despatches from Mexico, but the tenor of them has not transpired.

The House was chiefly engaged on the harbor and river bill.

At the Semi-Centennial celebration, held at Cincinnati on the 26th December, Dr. Drake, the orator of the day, pronounced an oration which occupied three hours and a half in the delivery!—Dinner was waiting!

☞A FUNERAL DISCOURSE will be delivered at the North Church, (late Rev. Dr. Brazer's,) tomorrow forenoon, by Rev. Dr. FLINT.

The remains of Dr. Brazer were interred in the tomb of the friend with whom his closing days were spent. We understand they are to be conveyed to this city for re-interment, without the ceremonies of a public funeral, in compliance with the expressed wishes of the deceased and of the members of his family.—Salem Gazette.

15,000,000 of building Brick are made annually in Albany. This is an immense number, but use is found for them all. During the next year the amount will be still greater.

From the Boston Atlas of Yesterday.

NEW HAMPSHIRE ELECTION.

New Hampshire is redeemed, regenerated, disenthralled! Williams is beaten by a majority nearly, if not quite as large as that by which Woodbury was defeated last November! In one of the largest votes ever thrown in the State, if not the very largest, pro-slavery Loco Focoism is thrown into a minority of TWO THOUSAND VOTES. In 172 towns, comprising five sixths of the population of the State, the majority against Williams is 2868.

The towns that remain to be heard from may reduce this to about two thousand. The House of Representatives is completely revolutionized.—The Locos can hardly have chosen more than two of the twelve Senators, and all the vacancies will be filled up with Whigs or Independents.—Nobly have the Whigs and their allies fought this great battle in behalf of freedom and the rights of man—and their success has been as glorious as it was unexpected. In the towns received, there has been an increase of 11,303 votes, as compared with November. The present Legislature will have to elect a United States Senator for an unexpired term of one year, and a full term of six years.

By the returns from 172 towns the house of Representatives stands—114 Whigs, 26 Independents and 88 democrats.

The Whigs and Independents together have 140 members. In the last House the whole number was two hundred and fifty. The present House will not be much, if any larger; and there will therefore, be a majority against the Locos of at least THIRTY. Well done, New Hampshire!

We are requested to state by Dr Osborne and Fitch Poole, Esq. that they decline being candidates on the School Committee ticket

MASSACHUSETTS LEGISLATURE.

From the Salem Register.

The Salem and South Reading Railroad petitioners had their hearing on Monday. Hon Lilley Eaton, of S. Reading, and Hon. Asa T. Newhall, of Lynnfield, appeared for the petition. The other parties represented were the Eastern Railroad by President Neal and N. J. Lord, Esq., and the town of Danvers by their Representatives. T. P. Pingree, Esq., of Salem, and John W. Proctor, Esq., of Danvers, I understand, appeared among the friends of this project.

Leave to withdraw has been reported for the projected roads from Cohasset to Quincy and Weymouth to Quincy, and upon various other matters; and bills have been reported to establish the South Shore Railroad from Duxbury to Quincy, and the Hanover Branch Railroad.

Several propositions in regard to salaries of Judges, Registers of Probate, &c., have been offered.

From the Salem Gazette.

Mr Kimball presented the petition of J H. Hill, for change of name. Mr. Knight, of Marblehead, that of 300 voters of Mhrblehead, and 70 of Lynn, in aid of Lynn and Marblehead Railroad; and of Wm. Fabens and 200 others for the abolition of capital punishment. Bills have been reported upon this subject of abolishing the death penalty in all cases except murder in the first degree, Mr. Fowler, of Danvers, has presented the petition of W. Foster Wade, jun., and others of Ipswich, to be incorporated for manufacturing purposes, with the privilege of flowing certain meadow lands in that town.—Mr. J. C. Perkins of, Salem has presented the petition of J. Knowlton and others of Gloucester, respecting the boundary line of Kettle's Cove.

In the course of some discusssion upon the public lands in the State of Maine, belonging to our Commonwealth, one of the economical measures of the famous Retrenchment Legislature under Gov Morton's administration, was quite aptly introduced, by which it seems several of the Governor's prominent friends were provided with fat berths as Land Commissioners at an expense to the Commonwealth of some $6000, which might have been done by practi- Engineers for one fourths part of that sum.—The friends of Gov. Morton here confidently anticipate his confirmation; his evil genius 'The Soldier of Fortune,' has returned in despair, as I am informed, President Polk having more faith in the Morton dynasty than in their antagonist.

MASSACHUSETTS AND RHODE ISLAND.—The Supreme Court has decided this important question. Judge M'Lean delivered the opinion of the Court in favor of the state of Massachusetts. It is a question of great interest and excitement in the neighborhood of those states. The claim of Rhode Island, had it prevailed, would have dismembered Massachusetts of the whole or principal part of six valuable towns, viz:—Wrentham, Bellingham, Blackstone, Uxbridge, Douglass, Menden and a part of Franklin; and it would have disturbed a possession of that part of territory which has been enjoyed by that state of period of 196 years, under a line actually traced by persons appointed for that purpose in 1642, and since that time repeatedly renewed. The claim of Rhode Island was founded on an alleged construction of the Charter of Massachusetts (which is of anterior date to that of Rhode Island) from that by which the actual line was determined. The ambiguity of the language of the charter has led to repeated discussion as to its proper interpretation.

For the Courier.

PUZZLE.

I am composed of eight letters.
My 8, 4, and 7, is a kind of spirituous liquor.
" 8, 2, 3, 6, and 5, is a kind of provender for animals.
" 6, 7, and 5, is an accommodation for travellers.
" 3, 6, and 2, is that without which we could not live.
" 2, 3, and 8, is a substance upon which we write.
" 3, 5, and 7, is the name of a lady.
" 2, 3, 6, and 7, is what we should be thankful for.
" 1, 3, 6, and 5, is what we all desire.
" 1, 4, and 8, is a vehicle drawn by my 7, 3, and 8.
My whole is to be found in almost every house.

COBLER.

FINE STEEL SPECTACLES. Just received, another lot of those fine, spring-tempered, steel bowed Spectacles, a very superior article.
WM. ARCHER, Jr.,
feb 21 222 Essex street.

Mr. JOHN F. GERALD, of Taunton, who has been lecturing in Salem and vicinity upon the subject of Temperance, with good effect, will address the citizens of Danvers upon that subject, at the Methodist Church, THIS EVENING, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Citizens one and all are particularly requested to attend. mch 14

Rev. Mr. SARGENT is expected to preach in the Unitarian Church, next Sabbath, and in the evening will repeat the Lecture delivered at Salem, before the Female Anti-Slavery Society. mch 14

HOWARD TENT—No. 87—I. O. OF R.

The regular meetings of this Tent will be held in future on Monday evenings, commencing at 7 o'clock.

Brethren of the Order are invited to attend.

A. C. OSBORNE, C. R.
WM. PRICE, Sec. feb 14

MECHANIC INSTITUTE LYCEUM.

There will be no lecture next week.

☞ The 4th Lecture on the Bible, notified for to-morrow evening, will (on account of Mr. Sargent's lecture) be postponed one week.

Have you used the Dandelion and Pomato Panacea? If you have, you can testify to its efficacy, and are willing to acknowledge that it is as yet unsurpassed for the removal of those complaints which originate in the blood, and cannot be cured so long as the blood remains impure. If you have not used it, try it at once, and I will guarantee to you a speedy and permanent relief, from any one of the complaints you are afflicted with, where a purifier of the blood is required. It is prepared from the strong fluid extracts of the Dandelion, Tomato, and Sarsaparilla, forming, says the Daily Mail, Boston, "one of the best alteratives and purifiers of the blood now before the public." See advertisement in another column.

MARRIAGES.

At Chelsea, by Rev. Mr Langley, Mr. ISRAEL W. ANDREWS to Miss ELIZA J. TAPLEY both of Danvers.

In Beverly, Mr NATHAN HAYNES to Miss ELIZABETH H. TOWNE, both of Roxbury.

In Georgetown, Mr. JOSEPH LOMBARD to Miss HARRIET ILLSLEY.

DEATHS.

In this town, March 1st, widow HANNAH MICHELL, aged 86.

In Salem, JAMES HENRY EMMERTON, aged 3 years, 6 months. CAROLINE S. LINDSEY, aged 13 1-2 months.

In Beverly, Miss ANNA TRASK, aged 90 years. Miss RUTH TRASK, aged 80, both sisters, within 8 days of each other. JOHN W. WALLIS, aged 19.

In Lynn, Mr. WILLIAM QUINER, 29.

In Newburyport, Mr. SAMUEL PILSBURY, aged 86.—EPHRAIM W. ALLEN, Esq., aged 66 years. Mr. Allen was the conductor of the Herald for thirty years, interrupted only by one or two brief intervals of absence.

NEW SPRING GOODS.
AT A. C. DIX'S—240 ESSEX ST., SALEM.

SOME beautiful Corded Cashmeres; Mousseline de Laines; Alepines; Alpaccas; Silks; Calicoes, etc; Shawls; Fancy Doeskins, new styles for Pants; Flannels; bleached and brown Cottons; Tickings; Blankets; Linens; Linen Sheetings; Pillow case Linens; Linen Hdkfs, from 12 1-2 cents to $1 50, and many other articles; making a prime assortment, none of which which will be offered for less than cost at present; but those about to purchase are informed that some of the OLD styles of Dress Goods will be offered VERY CHEAP INDEED, (allowing them to be the judges,)

A lot of super all wool French M' de Laines, such as were sold last Summer from 62 1-2 to 87 1-2 cts, will now be sold at 50 cts per yard, and are better styles than some of the new Goods at 75 cents—they are worthy the attention of those about to purchase Dress Goods.

☞ New Goods will be added almost daily to the Stock, and any article on hand will be sold as low as can be purchased elsewhere. tf mch 14

THE BOSTON MELODEON, a collection of secular melodies, consisting of Songs, Glees, Rounds Catches, &c., including many of the most popular pieces of the day; arranged and harmonised for four voices, by E L White, teacher of the piano forte and organ. Also Howe's Biano Forte Instructor, containing new and complete instructions; by Elias Howe. Just published and received by W & S B IVES, mar 14 Stearns's Building.

NEW BOOKS.—The Mother, by T S Arthur, price 25 cents. Arthur's Magazine for March, splendidly illustrated, price 25 cents. Just recd at mar 14 W & S B IVES'S Bookstore.

NEW MUSIC BY WHITE.

THE BOSTON MELODEON—A collection of Secular Melodies, consisting of Songs, Glees, Rounds, Catches, &c. including many of the most popular pieces of the day; arranged for four voices by E. L White. 1 vol, bound—price $1. Just published and for sale at the Music Store of mch 14 J P JEWETT & Co.

SELF FORMATION, or the History of an Individual Mind, intended as a Guide for the Intellect through difficulties to success—by a Fellow of College. First American from the London edition, 1 bound vol. $1. Just from the press, and for sale at the Book-Store of J P JEWETT & Co. mar 14

JUST RECEIVED at No 2 Allen's Building. A beautiful article of colored Letter Paper—also a lot of first rate Drawing Pencils. On hand a grand assortment of Steel Pens, an excellent article of Red Ink, &c.

A few more left of Dicken's Cricket on the Hearth, 'a Fairy Tale of Home,' for only six cents.
mch 14

LACE GOODS.

PLAIN, figured and plain spot Cap Laces, Thread, Lisle Thread, Gympure and Smyrna Edgeings, Muslin and Cambric Insertings and Edgeings

ALSO—Wrought Muslin Collars, various prices and very Cheap. For sale by M T DOLE.
march 14 tf

KNITTING COTTON. Blue Mixed, Drab, Unbleached and White. Just opened by march 14 M. T. DOLE.

SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
MANUFACTURING JEWELLERS,

HAVE just finished a large amount of Jewelry which, together with our former stock, makes a complete assortment. We would call the attention of purchasers to examine these articles, some of them entire new patterns, which we can warrant to be made of the best of gold, and as cheap as can be bo't at any other store in the city.—We are now manufacturing a new article, designed for a Bracelet and Duguerreotype Miniature, which will make a beautiful present. As we are constantly increasing our stock by the addition of new patterns of Jewelry, and other goods usually found in such a store, persons in want of such articles would do well to call before purchasing elsewhere.

All kinds of Jewelry repaired in a superior manner and warranted. Old Gold or Jewelry made over or exchanged for new, at

291 Essex street Salem.

Wanted, as above, a Boy about 15 years of age, to learn the trade. dec 13

ANOTHER LOT!

JUST received another lot of those heavy knit Shirts and Drawers.

Also—a small lot extra fine do.
dec 27 M. T. DOLE.

FOR CASH. A good assortment of Dress Coats Frocks, Pants and Vests, for sale by mar 7 EDWARD'S, 10 Front Street.

Greenhouse Plants
FOR SALE.

THE subscriber has for sale at his Green house in Aborn street,

A good assortment of Tea, Bourbon, Noisette and China Roses; Geraniums, Verbenas, Heliotropes, Fuchias, Calceolarias, Cactuses, Hyacinths, Ixias, and most other Plants commonly kept in a Greenhouse, at lower prices than inferior plants are frequently sold at Auction.

Every plant sold will be warranted what it is sold for, or the money refunded.

N. B. Boquets and Cut Flowers for sale through the winter.

GEORGE C. PEIRCE.

Salem, Nov. 1, 1845.

House and Sign Painting.

THE subscriber continues at his old stand, opposite the Danvers Bank, the business of House and Sign Painting, Graining, Marbling, Papering and Glazing.

Also, constantly on hand—A supply of Glazed Window Sashes, of every variety, as low as can be purchased elsewhere. JOSEPH W. CAREY.

FOR SALE as above—Two Houses, with Barns adjoining, situated on Fulton street. Also, one two story House, on North street, Salem, opposite the School House. For price and terms of either of the above houses, apply as above.
Danvers, Mch 7, 1846

A CARD.
M. TELYEA,

WOULD inform his friends and the public, that he has just returned from Boston, with a select Stock of Broadcloths, such as German blue black and English blue black and olive

Very nice VESTINGS for Spring and Summer.

Tweeds of all kinds, which he offers at the lowest prices for cash.

He continues to make Garments to order, at short notice, and warranted to fit,

I also return thanks to my friends and the public generally, for their past patronage, so bountifully bestowed upon me, and hope by honest dealings, and strict attention to business, a continuance of the same

Corner of Grove and Main Sts.
Danvers, March 7, 1846.

If you have not time to peruse this at present, preserve it for a leisure moment—it is of importance. In again presenting to the public the

DANDELION AND TOMATO PANACEA,

THE Proprietor would not claim for it, that it is a specific for ALL the diseases to which the human frame is subject: but does claim that in all complaints where a purifier of the Blood is required that this Panacea is infallible, and its powers are admitted by all who have used it, and it has the sanction of our first Physicians.

He would ask for it only, that need to which the public may deem it entitled—and would prefer that its beneficial results be its sole recommendation, and the relief and health which must accrue to the diseased and suffering from its use should proclaim its virtues.

For any of the following complaints, the Dandelion and Tomato Panacea, is the best remedy that has yet been offered, and no article has given such universal satisfaction for Headache, Dizziness, Sleepiness, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Erysipelas, Salt-Rheum, Jaundice, Scrofula, Scurvy, and all cutaneous eruptions of the Skin, Chronic Diseases, Rheumatism, General debility, or any complaint that HAS ITS ORIGIN IN IMPURITIES OF THE BLOOD.

This PANECEA is composed as all must be aware who know anything of the DANDELION, TOMATO, and SARSAPARILLA, its principal ingredients, from the most innocent as well as the most effectual remedies to be found in the Vegetable kingdom; and who does not know that for all those Diseases, in which a complete and radical change in the composition of the Blood, in the secretions of the Liver, and in the formation of the solid parts of the body, are regarded there are no remedies, that will for a moment compare with them.

That it is purely a Vegetable composition, the public may rest assured; but should any prove sceptical, I can show them the VOUCHERS of EMINENT PHYSICIANS to that effect, who have examined the formula, have tested its virtues.

CAUTION.

The purchaser will be careful, to see that my name IS SIGNED on the wrapper of each bottle, as there are worthless articles put up in in smaller bottles, pretended to produce the same result, but are not safe to use. Be sure therefore and enquire for Ransom & Stevens Dandelion and Tomato Panacea, which may be obtained for my duly appointed Agents.

JAMES KIDDER, Jr., Proprietor.
Druggist and Chemist, Maverick Square, E. Boston.

For sale in Danvers by Joseph Shed and Sylvester Proctor.

Salem—J. S. Harrison, Henry J. Pratt James Emerton, George P. Farrington. 1y mch 14

Dissolution of Co-Partnership.

THE Co-Partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

I. & T. HARDY,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent, Those having demands are hereby notified that the estate will be settled by ISAAC HARDY, Jr.

ISAAC HARDY, Jr.,
THOMAS HARDY.
Danvers, March 5th, 1846.

NOTICE is hereby given that the subscriber has been duly appointed administrator of the estate of

Joseph Griffin,

late of Danvers, in the county of Essex, yeoman, deceased, and has taken upon himself that trust, by giving bonds, as the law directs: All persons having demands upon the estate of said deceased are required to exhibit the same; and all persons indebted to said estate, are called upon to make payment to

JOSEPH GRIFFIN, Adm'r.
Danvers, March 7, 1846.

NEW ORLEANS AND BOSTON PACKETS.
ALLEN & WELCH'S LINE, From Commercial Whf.
On Wednesday.

This vessel takes neither Ice or Lime.

The superior, fast sailing ship RIALTO, Chase, master, is now loading, and having a large portion of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight, cabin or steerage passage, apply to S R. ALLEN or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

Steam taken at the Balize.

Messrs. F. M. WELD & Co., Agents at New Orleans.
mch 14

MOBILE AND BOSTON PACKETS—ALLEN & WELCH'S LINE—From Commercial Wharf.
On Saturday

To go up to the City.

The fast sailing packet ship THOS. WRIGHT, Gardner, master, now loading and having the most of her freight engaged, will sail as above.

For freight or passage having elegant accommodations, with spacious state rooms; apply to S. R. ALLEN, or SAM'L WELTCH, 21 Commercial wharf.

JOHN PHILLIPS Agent at Mobile. mch 4

NOTICE. The ESSEX MECHANIC MUTUAL FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY give notice, that they continue to issue policies on property not considered extra hazardous. Applications will be received at the office, No 208 Essex street, Salem, opposite the Market, or by Mr. JOSEPH A. GOLDTHWAIT, duly authorized Agent of said Company.

J. C PERKINS, Pres't,
Sept 13. A. BROOKS, Sec'y.

Another Lot.

THE subscriber would inform his friends and the public generally that he has just received a new and fresh lot of DRY GOODS, which he will sell for cash, as low as they can be purchased elsewhere.

☞ Purchasers will find it for their advantage to call.

He also keeps constantly for sale

W. I. GOODS AND GROCERIES,

which he will sell very low.
feb 7 J. C. FERRIN.

Phenix Hall—Salem.

☞ SPLENDID EXHIBITION. ☜
FAIR AND SALE OF FASHIONABLE
READY MADE CLOTHING.
From Simmons's Popular Tailoring Establishment
OAK HALL, BOSTON.
FOR TWENTY DAYS.

I WOULD most respectfully invite the citizens of the City of Salem and neighboring towns to a LARGE SALE OF FASHIONABLE READY MADE CLOTHING AND RICH FURNISHING GOODS, consisting of

Over Coats, Cloaks, Dress and Frock Coats, Pants, Vests, Dressing Gowns, &c. &c.

with an endless variety of Furnishing Articles. The above Stock is all Fresh Goods, and made for my regular sales, and owing to the mildness of the first of the Winter, remain on hand; and if low prices and a strong determination to sell, combined with the new Winter which has just appeared to set in, will effect a sale; I shall succeed in closing all up the above Stock previous to leaving Salem.

The young Lion, taking a short trip from his accustomed forest, shakes the dew drops from his prolific mane, and gives a real old fashioned

"ROAR."

Those who remember the events of 1842, in Boston, the raising of the sign of "Oak Hall," will not easily forget the tremendous excitement produced in the Fashionable Ready Made Clothing Line, in the debut of the subscriber. It first developed itself in gentle ripples upon the sluggish sea of this Branch of Trade, anon the ripples took the form of swelling waves rolling each upon the other, increasing one upon another, until its deep bosom was lashed into a Tempest fearful to behold, sweeping the high Price and Long Credit system into the deep gulph below. But to descend from this high state of metaphor. Until April, 1842, when GEORGE W. SIMMONS took the field, it was not supposed for a moment, that any individual possessed the temerity to take the attitude of innovator of Old Established customs of Trade. Until this time, men had gone on their old plodding way, giving Long Credits, demanding as a recompense for the long hope, from Fifty to one hundred per cent advance. At this interesting epoch the startling announcement was heard, emanating from "Oak Hall,"

Large Sales and Small Profits

This announcement awoke the dreaming thousands. Old men arose from their recumbent position, rubbed their heavy eye-lids, stretched their cramped and benumbed limbs,—young men congregated on the corners of streets, and looked unutterable things; guesses and suprises were rife—when straight all began to cry, 'Mad Dog.' Still on I went, unawed by threats nor cajoled by flattery, until finally I have laid fast and strong, a pinnacle stone, as lasting and durable as the hills.

To prove the advantage of the Cash Systam above all others, needs no lengthy tale. It must be apparent to the most casual observer, that while it shields the vender from the ruinous losses often attendant upon the Credit System it protects the purchaser from the equally ruinous profits, demanded by merchants to cover bad debts created by a system of long credits.

To those, therefore, who can command the Ready Cash, this sale offers the strongest inducement. This Stock being purchased fresh this Winter at Auction, and direct from the Manufacturers, at some 50 per cent less than the cost of Importation, and being satisfied with Small Profits, will sell at a slight advance upon Auction prices. But at this sale, even less than that, as the object is to reduce a large stock of

Fresh Manufactured Ready Made Clothing to Cash.

To accomplish this, each and every article will be marked the price, and no deduction made. This arrangement will give all those purchasers who are no judges as to quality, &c., an equal chance.

PHENIX HALL---SALEM.

Sale will commence on TUESDAY, the 8d day of March, at 12 o'clock, and continue Twenty Days.

Open in the morning, at 8 1-3 o'clock and close at 2; re-open at 3 and close at 6; re-open at 7 and close at 10 o'clock in the evening.

Oak Hall Express will be in readiness to convey all Parcels, Packages, &c. through Salem and adjoining towns.

GEORGE W. SIMMONS,
Proprietor of Oak Hall, Boston.

Head Quarters at the Essex House, Salem. All communications addressed there, will be attended to.
feb 28 1m

Cash Clothing Emporium.

THE subscriber will, on and after this date, sell and manufacture Clothing of every kind for CASH.

In returning my thanks to those who have been favored with credit and justly paid all demands, and also those who always pay cash, I would respectfully invite such to continue to me their custom, and I trust that the EXTREME LOW PRICES that I shall sell at will be perfectly satisfactory.

ANY ORDERS IN THE TAILORING, CLOTHING, or FURNISHING DEPARTMENT, will be promptly attended to on the CASH and ONE PRICE SYSTEM, at

BENJ. EDWARDS,
feb 14 No 10 Front street.

PORTRAIT PAINTING.

THE subscriber respectfully announces to the citizens of Danvers, that he has taken a room over Lambert & Merrill's store, where he would be happy to wait upon any who may favor him with their patronage. Visitors are requested to call.

feb 21 P. DERBY.

DOLLARS! DOLLARS!! DOLLARS!!! can be saved by purchasing your Clothing and furnishing Goods at EDWARD'S Cash Store. Why? because he sells for nothing but the Cash, and you will not have to pay for others who do not pay. feb 20

S. DODGE has just received a new assortment of Plain and Ruled, Cap and Letter Paper of the best quality. Also—Plain and Tuck Bibles and Testaments; Plain and Ornamental Cards; Dunbar's Blue and Black Ink; Gillott's School and extra Fine Pens; Wafers, Sealing Wax,—together with a new assortment of Toy Books, Primers, Games, etc., to which he would particularly invite the attention of his little friends, whom he will not fail to please on very reasonable terms. feb 21

FURNITURE WARE ROOMS AND MANUFACTORY.
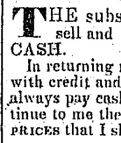
MANNING & SARGENT,
Main Street, near the Monument, Danvers,



KEEP constantly on purchase and manufacture to order all kinds of

CABINET FURNITURE,

consisting of Windlass and Common Bedsteads, Cribs, Bureaus, Centre and Card Tables, Wash Stands, Portable Sinks, Looking Glasses, Chairs of all kinds, and other articles usually found in such an establishment.

N. G. Furniture repaired and varnished at reasonable prices. tf feb 7

TREES. TREES.

All persons in want of Fruit or Ornamental Trees, Shrubbery, Herbaceous Plants, Vines, etc., can be supplied in any quantity from the nurseries of Parsons & Co., Flushing, the most extensive establishment of the kind in the United States. Orders should be sent in early, as trees should be taken up as soon as the frost is out. Catalogues may be obtained of the subscriber, who is now ready to receive orders.

Danvers, Feb. 20, 1846. W. D. JOPLIN, Agent.

NOTICE.

THE public are hereby informed that the connection in business heretofore existing under the the firm of

NUTTING & PENDAR,

is this day dissolved by mutual consent.

The subscribers request all persons indebted to them to make immediate payment, and all creditors to present their demands, which will be adjusted with all possible despatch.

JOHN NUTTING,
S. D. PENDAR.
Danvers, Jan 1, 1846.

German Worsteds.

A GOOD assortment of the various shades. Also, Cruel Patterns, Canvass, Cruel Needles, &c. Just received by M. T. DOLE. feb 28

AUCTIONS.

BY ORDER OF THE COURT OF PROBATE, will be sold at Public Auction, on MONDAY, the 16 day of March next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.

SO much of the Real Estate of Ezra Gowing, late of Lynnfield, in the County of Essex, yeoman, deceased, as will raise the sum of Thirteen Hundred and Twenty Five Dollars, for the payment of his just debts and incidental charges.

Said Estate consists of a certain Farm situated in Lynnfield, aforesaid, bounded Northerly by land of Daniel King, North-easterly and South-easterly by land late of Aaron Foster, deceased, and South-westerly, by land of William Skinner, jr. containing forty acres; be the same more or less, with all the buildings thereon.

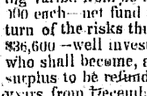
Also, about one acre of Upland and Meadow, situate in said Lynnfield, bounded Northerly by land of the heirs of Thomas Chasson, dec'd; Easterly and Southerly by land of Asa Gardner, and Westerly by land formerly owned by Thomas Bancroft, Esq.

Thy sale will be at the dwelling house on said farm, where the condition and particulars will be made known.

Persons wishing to view the premises, are respectfully requested to call upon William Skinner, jr. who lives near the premises, who will show the same and give such information as may be wanted.

Salem, feb 21 WILLIAM GOWING, Admr.

The Best Chance Yet.



THE Subscriber being about to make a different arrangement in his business, will sell his entire stock at Auction, on Saturday, March 21, 1846, at one o'clock, P. M. The following are part of the Articles, viz:

3 setts Brass mounted Chaise Harnesses,
2 " Black mounted " "
1 " Brass " Buggy "
1 " Black " " "
1 " Brass " Carryall "
3 " Black Carryall & light wagon harness.
1 Cart Harness,
1 second hand covered wagon,
1 " " Buggy,
1 " " Chaise.

Also, Collars, Bridles, Martingales, Reins, Belly bands, second hand Harnesses, boot top and rivited travelling trunks, Hide do, Valises, Carpet bags, and various other articles. The Sale will be held in Union Hall, where the Articles may be examined on the forenoon of the day of Sale. Terms, Cash on delivery of the goods.

THOMAS TRASK.
W. D. JOPLIN, Auct.
Danvers, March 13, 1846.

Will be sold at Public Auction, on WEDNESDAY, the 8th day of April next, at 2 o'clock, P. M.,

All the Real Estate of the late Gen. Gideon Foster—situated in South Danvers, on the Reading Road, about 1 1-2 miles from the South Meeting House, and 3 1-2 miles from Salem.

Said estate consists of 30 acres of Land, with two Dwelling houses, shed and barn thereon; enclosed with a good stone wall. About one half of the land is covered with a thrifty growth of wood, the remainder is level tillage land, has a good soil and is easy of cultivation.

The location is pleasant and healthy. Persons wishing to purchase are invited to call and examine the premises.

It will be sold in two lots, the small house, with an acre of land making one lot, the remaining 29 1-2 acres, large house and other buildings making the other,

Sale to be on the premises.

S. W. KING, Adm'r
Danvers, March 12, 1846.

W. D. JOPLIN,
AUCTIONEER,

Will attend to sales of Real or Personal Estate, in any part of Essex County.

Danvers, Jan 18 1846.

ISRAEL D. SHEPARD,
Auction and Commission Store,
No. 34 LAWRENCE PLACE,
FRONT STREET, SALEM, MASS.

REFERENCES.

F. A. FABENS, Esq., Boston,
G. G. NEWHALL, "
JOHN HENFIELD, Salem,
JAMES KIMBALL, "
W. O. Andrews, "
J. S. HARRISON " oct 25

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, (Office, Merchants' Bank Building, State street, Boston,) since commencing February 1, 1844, have issued 547 policies, the number monthly having varied from 30 to 72—the amounts from $200 to $10,000 each—net fund accumulated (owing to the favorable turn of the risks thus far being mostly New England lives) $36,600—well invested for the proportional benefit of those who shall become, as well as those already members—surplus to be refunded to members at the end of every five years from December, 1843—no insurance on credit, and no loss by any member, by bad premium-notes of others.

Willard Phillips, Robert Hooper, William Parsons, Charles P. Curtis, Francis C. Lowell, George H. Kuhn, William W. Stone, R. B. Forbes, Peter Wainwright Thomas A. Dexter, James Read and Otis Tufts, Directors.

WILLARD PHILLIPS, President.
JONATHAN AMORY, Secretary.

The subscriber having been appointed Agent for Danvers and vicinity, of the above named Institution, would hereby give notice that he is ready to receive applications for Insurance on lives, for one year, seven years, or for life, at very low rates of Premium.

The advantages of Life Insurance are becoming every day more apparent, and its excellent effects appreciated by the community.

Blank forms of application and any additional information will be given on application to

W. D. NORTHEND,
Danvers Feb 21, 1846.

SELLING OFF.
☞ GREAT BARGAINS. ☜

THE entire stock of Piece Goods in Store No 236 Essex Street Salem, will be offered at cost until the first of March.

GREAT BARGAINS.

THE subscriber being about to relinquish that part of his business (consisting of Piece Goods,) will offer the same at cost, until the first of March, among which are following, viz; Rept Cashmeres; Mousseline de Lains, Prints of all kinds from 6 1-4 to 20 cts per yard; Ginghams, Patches; Alepines; Alpaccas; Cassimeres; Satinetts; Red, White and Yellow Flannels; Plain and Checked Cambrics; Lace Muslins; Shawls; Tickings; Bleached and Brown Sheetings and Shirtings &c. &c.,

R H CHAMBERLAIN.
Jan 1st 1846. No 236 Essex St. Salem.

DANVERS DYE HOUSE.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Danvers that he has established himself at Danvers Plains, near Maple street, where he will attend to the dyeing and cleansing all kinds of

SILK AND WOOLEN GOODS.

His former experience in England, added to his knowledge of the drugs and dyes in use in this country, will enable him to produce colors, which for cheapness and durability cannot be excelled by any other establishment.

☞ Goods left at Mrs. Gould's, Main street South Danvers, or at the Dye House, will meet with prompt attention.

WILLIAM ROWBOTHAM.
Danvers Plains, June 7, 1845. tf

CO-PARTNERSHIP DISSOLVED. The Co-partnership heretofore existing under the firm of

G. W. & E. CRAFTS,

was dissolved by mutual consent January 31st, 1845.

GEORGE W. CRAFTS,
ELEAZER CRAFTS.

The Stationery and Book-Binding business will be continued at the old stand. G. W. CRAFTS.

The accounts of the firm will be settled by either of the late partners. feb 7

LORRAINE'S PILLS.
All persons require Facts

Remember in all cases that you are not deceived by thing that appear to be facts.

REMEMBER also, that, Lorraine's Vegetable Pills have in their composition two of the most valuable medicines in the world, viz: Sarsaparilla and Tomatoes. These two articles need no praise, neither do the celebrated Lorraine's Pills, when they have once been taken.

Physicians, and people of every class are willing to come forward and announce, in the most public manner, that they have been cured of long standing complaints—after all other medicines had failed. In fact there can be no doubt but that Lorraine's vegetable Pills is the best medicine ever offered to the public.

See a few public statements of men of truth and virtue

Lynn, Dec. 17th, 1843.

Sir; I have sold all the pills I last had of you, please send another lot immediately. The sale of Lorraine's vegetable Pills is rapidly on the increase - they are becoming very popular. I sell more and more every day. As a curative medicines and purifier of the blood, I think they stand unrivalled. One fact I have noticed, that no one that has used them finds any fault with them; they have wrought some very great cures. One lady, who has been confined to the house and bed, a great part of the time, for twenty years, is now cured and able to work most of her time, after having taken 3 boxes only of Lorraine's Pills!! I might name many other cases where the cures have been as great, but have not time.

Yours respectfully,
J. E. F. MARSH.

A hacking cough constantly annoyed me!

Boston, Mass., June 1st; 1844

Sir,—In February last, I took a sudden cold, after which a hacking cough constantly annoyed me, and his, combined with my other maladies, rendered me uly miserable, as everybody told me that I was in a nsumption. Since, I have taken Lorraine's Pills nd now every body tells me that I am well;—I fee well as ever I did. J. E. S. McKEY.

Portland, Me., Nov. 7th, 1843

Sir: Please send us one gross of Lorraine's Pills, we have sold all we had last. They have given very good satisfaction, better than any other pills which we have in our market. I think in a short time they will take the place of others We have had no fault found with them whatever; but, on the contrary, they have been praised loudly. I think we could have quite a number of highly respectable certificates from our citizens.

Respectfully yours,
E. MASON.

Chelsea. Jan- 3d, 1844

Sir: I transmit to you an account of my case for publication, believing it to be my duty. I have been confined with the Rheumatism nearly the whole winter, have had some of the best physicians of Boston and could get nothing that would relieve me more than temporarily. I heard of the wonderful virtue of Lorraine's Pills, I had no faith whatever, but I took them, and it is a solemn fact that when I had taken but eight pills! my Rheumatism had entirely left me, and I have remained well ever since.

N. B. I never took more than one pill at a time and that on going to bed.

Yours respectfully,
W. M. HALSTAL

Unable to raise the Hands to the Head!

Sir—For three years, Scrofula had produced such effect upon my constitution, that I was unable to raise my hand; the bones were in different places destroyed by ulcertion, and I feared it might reach he brain or vital organs. My pains were violent—all medicines recommended did no good. At last, I ook LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILLS, which gave immediate relief, and have entirely cured me.

Respecifully, your ob't serv't,
JAMES CODSON, Esq.

Bath, Maine, July 16th, 1844,

A severe pain, in both sides cured!!

Lowell, Mass., April 20th 1944.

Sir,—For the last few months I have been afflicd with a severe pain in both sides, at times so hard hat I could scarcely get my breath. * * * * It s a pleasure to feel well,—but a much greater one to ay that I was cured immediately upon taking one ose of Dr Lorraine's Pills. J. BROOKS.

Sir. I could fill the whole of the Sentinel with similar letters to the above, but believing the above extracts will serve for useful purposes for the present I omit more.

New England Office and General Depot, No 10 BrattleSquare, Boston.

AGENTS

Danvers—Sylvester Proctor. New Mills. E.Stimson North Parish—J. M. Haley Plains.
Salem—Henry Whipple Bookseller.,
Beverly Stephen Baker
Marblehead—E. Arnold.
Topsfield—B. P. Adams.

Improved Curtain Fixtures.

A NEW and beautiful article of Curtain Fixtures, of American Manufacture, far superior to those now in use, and not so likely to get out of order. For sale wholesale and retail at the manufacturer's prices, at thu Hosiery and Glove Store, No. 236 Essex street, Salem, by
june 14 R. H. CHAMBERLAIN

COAL. COAL.

PEACH MOUNTAIN R. A. COAL, from the Delaware Coal Company, a well known and superior article, of the various sizes.

White Ash SCHUYLKILL COAL, of various sizes, prime article.

LEIGH COAL, a prime article for furnaces and stoves

MIDLOTHIAN COAL, for Smith's use. a prime article.

Also—WOOD, BARK, LIME and HAY. For sale by JOHN DIKE,
july 12 27 Water street.

Periscopic Spectacles.

Always on hand an extensive assortment of Gold and Silver bowed English Periscopic Spectacles of superior quality, warranted to give perfect satisfaction n all cases. WILLIAM ARCHER Jr.,
oct 25 Essex st- Salem.

ADAMS & RICHARDSON,
IMPORTERS AND DEALERS IN
FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC
HARDWARE.
MANUFACTURERS' AGENTS FOR THE SALE OF
Cut Nails, White Lead, Sheet Lead and Lead Pipe,
NO. 207 ESSEX STREET, SALEM.
Joseph Adams,
C. M. Richardson,
march 15 M

SPOONS. SPOONS.

A GOOD assortment of Silver Spoons, warranted to be made of the best silver, at
SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN'S,
aug 1 201 Essex street, Salem.

NEW ARTICLE. Cast Inkstands, a cheap and strong Inkstand, various sizes. Just received at W & S B IVES'S, Stationery Store feb 1

EDWARDS' LINIMENT.

For Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Stiffened or Swelled Joints, Chilblains, Chapped Hands, Numbness and Rheumatism.

THIS invaluable artidle is now for the first time offered to the public, after having been in use for twenty years, with unusual and astonishing success within the circle of the proprietor's immediate influence. It has received the unqualified approbation of some eminent Physicians, and also Mariners and Mechanics.

It is also recommended, and more than a thousand cases might be cited, when it has been used for Horses in cases of lameness or when galled, &c. &c.

The public are assured that in offering the above we do recommend that which has not the least semblance of QUACKERY, but on the contrary it has done great and lasting good in its efficacious power and healing qualities.

As this medicine has been so long known in Salem and its vicinity, and as there are many that would avail themselves of it if they knew where it could be obtained, therefore the subsciber would now offer it to the public. It will be found always on hand and prepared by the subscriber.

BENJ EDWARDS,
No. 14 Front street, Salem, Mass.

Wanted—trusty and worthy AGENTS in the neighboring towns and vicinity.

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL AGENTS.
DANIELS, POOR & CO., Danvers, Mass.
Benjamin F. Browne, Salem Mass.
Smith & Fowle, Boston, "
H. F. Skerry, Bangor, Me.
Charles Whipple, Bookseller, Newburyport.
Wm. R. Preston, Portsmouth, N. H.
John S. Caldwell, Belfast. Me.
Wm. H. Palmer, Lynnfield.
Joseph Edwards, jr., Lynn.
Charles Edwards, Marblehead.
Wm. Edwards, Beverly.
March 15, 1845. tf

NEW ENGLAND
TRUSS MANUFACTORY.

THE subscriber continues to manufacture Trusses of every description, at his residence at the old stand, opposite 264, No. 305 Washington street, Boston entrance in Temple Avenue, up stairs. All individuals can ee him alone, at any time, at the above place.

Having had twenty years' experience, he has afforded relief to three thousand persons, for the last five years. All may rest assured of relief who call and try a Truss of his manufacture. He is now confident he can give every individual relief who may call upon him.

The public are cautioned against the many quacks who promise what they cannot perform.

Having worn the different kinds of Trusses, more or less; that have been offered to the public for the last twenty years, from different patent manufactories, and now continues to wear those of his own manufacture, he is now able to decide, after examining the rapture, what sort of Truss is best to adopt to all the cases that occur; and he has on nand as good Trusses, and will furnish any kind of a Truss that can be had elsewhere.

J. F. F. manufactures as many as twenty different kinds of Trusses, among which are all the different kinds similar to those that the late Mr. John Beath, of this city, formerly made, and all others advertised in Boston, together with the patent elastic spring Truss, with the spring pads. Trusses without steel springs—these give relief in all cases of rupture, and a large proportion produce a perfect cure—they can be worn day and night; improved hinge and pivot Truss; umbellical spring Trusses, made in four different ways; Trusses with ball and socket joints, Trusses, for Prolapsus Ani, by wearing which persons troubled with a descent of the rectum can ride on horseback with perfec ease and safety.

Mr. Foster also makes Trusses for Prolapus Uteri, which have answered in cases where possaries have failed. Suspensory Trusses, knee caps, and back board, are always kept on hand As a matter of convenience and not of speculation, the undesigned will keep on hand the following kinds from other manufactories, which they can have, if his does not suit them; after a fair trial they can exchange for any of them;—Dr, Hull,s Read's spiral Truss; Rundel's do; Salmon's ball and socket; Sherman's patent; French do; Marsh s Improved Truss; Bateman s do, double and single. Stone s Truss; also, Trusses for children of all sizes.

Any kind of Trusses repaired at short notice, and made as good as when new.

Ladies wishing for any of these instruments, will be waited upon by Mrs. Foster, at the above place. Mrs. F. has been engaged in the above business for ten years.

He likewise informs individuals he will not make their complaints known to any one, except when he is permitted o refer to them—it being a misfortune, and young persons do not want their cases known.

caThe readers of this paper, are respectfully invited to ll and examine the variety of Trusses now on hand.
May 31 JAMES FREDERICK FOSTER.

DR. J. A. ROBINSON.
SURGEON DENTIST,
SALEM,

WOULD respectfully give notice that he has removed from his old stand, oposite the City Hall, to No 20 Washington street. recently occupied by A. E. Phillips, where he is ready to perform all operation, in Dentistry, in a most thorough and work-manlike manner

His experience and success in inserting whole sets either by atmospheric pressure or springs, enables him to furnish them at rates which cannot fail to suit those in want of an article of superior quality.

His method of inserting Teeth, both singly and on plate with or without Gums, has been found to be satisfactory and successful as combining beauty of finish and adaptation, with all the requisits of mastication and articulation.

Particular attention paid to filling Teeth so as to render them serviceable for many years, and also to the regulation of Children's Teeth.

N. B. For sale as above, a first rate article of TOOTH POWDER. jan 31.

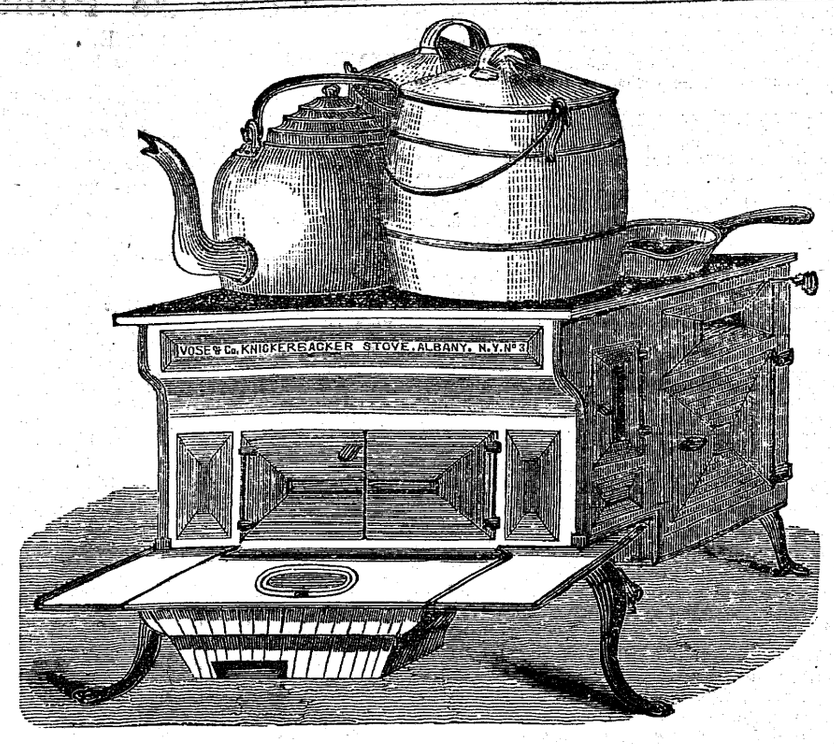
SPECTACLES

WE would inform our customers and the public generally, that we have received from the Manufactory, a supply of PERISCOPIC and common Spectacles, which we will sell as cheap as can be bought in tha city. SMITH & CHAMBERLAIN,
sept 27 291 Essex street, Salem.

JUST received and for sale at No 2 Allen's Building, an additional assortment of Gift Books, among which are, "Gathered Leaves" by H F Gould, the Flower Vase; Merchant's Widow—a thrilling story; Bridal Wreath; together with a new assortment of Toy Books. Also—the Democratic Review, for December, with a fine engraving of Hon Caleb Cushing—back No's can be supplied if wanted; the Songs of Labor, by J G Whittier are worth the price of the book. As Christmas is at hand, please remember No 2. S. DODGE.

WILLIAM D. NORTHEND,
Attorney and Counsellor at Law.
Office in ALLEN'S BUILDING, over the WARREN BANK
Danvers, Sept 29, 1845.

TO LET
Two Tenements and a Shop on Main street.
Inquire of LEONARD POOLE.
Danvers, Jan 10, 1846.



SHOWER BATHS & STEAM BOXES

SUITABLE for Bed Chambers, manufactured on the most approved plans, and for sale cheap at
C. H. MANNING'S,
Corner Grove and Main streets, South Danvers.

JUST received a fresh supply of Gold Pens also, Gold and Silver Pencil Cases, Card Cases Wallets, Purses, &c. For sale cheap by
G. W. CRAFTS,
feb 14 174 Essex Street, Salem.

Plated and Britannia Ware.

AN assortment of Silver plated Fruit Baskets, a variety of patterns, Also a complete assortment of Dixon English Britannia Tea and Coffee pots, Castors, &c.—among which are some entirely new and beautiful pattern just received and for sale low at 222 Essex street, opposite the First Church. WILLIAM ARCHER, jun. jan 26.

ARNEY WILEY,
OFFERS FOR SALE

AT his store in LUNT'S BUILDING, next west of Mr. Field's Church, an extensive assortment o

STOVES,

of the latest and most improved construction, among which are the following patterns of

COOKING STOVES:

Knickerbocker, an entireiy new pattern; having the agency for Essex Co., we will sell at wholesale or retail;
Rathburn.
The NEW ENGLAND Stove—a new pattern;
Douglass, which is highly recommended;
Economy's Friend. Sizer; Lewis Improved;
Hathway; The celebrated Railway,
together with a variety of cheap Cooking Stoves, varying in price from 8 to 13 dollars.

We have also for sale, a good variety of

PARLOR STOVES,

among which are the following:
Eagle, a new and elegant pattern;
Column:
Improved Air-Tight, double cylinder;

Also, the various patterns of Air-Tight, with or without ovens;

Also, various styles of Cylinder and Box Stoves.

The above stoves will be sold as low as they can be purchased at any establishment in the county.

We also keep constantly on hand and for sale, a large stock of manufactured

Sheet Iron and Tin Ware,

and any order in this line will be promptly attended to, and faithfully executed.

We have manufactured a large lot of WASH-BOILERS, in a superior manner, which we will sell at wholesale or retail, at a much cheaper rate than they have previously been offered.

RUSSIA IRON PANS, and all kinds of Stove apparatus may be found at our establishment.

Also—OIL AND FLUID CANNISTERS; JAPAN and BRITTANNIA WARE.

Those in want of any of the above articles, will do well to call and examine our stock before purchasing elsewhere
South Danvers, Aug. 30. eptJ1

New Furniture Store.
SALEM FURNITURE & FEATHER WARE-HOUSE.
205 1-2 ESSEX STREET. 205 1-2
(Two Doors East from the Market,.)

JOSEPH WALLIS would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has taken the rooms recently occupied by T. Needham, Esq., where he will keep constantly on hand and for sale an extensive and well selected assortment of which he will sell at the lowest cash prices, among which may be found;

CABINET FURNITURE,

Sofas, Sofa Beds; Windlass, Cot Trundle and common Bedsteads; Secretaries; Bureaus; Mahogany, Card, Work, Centre and Dining Tables;—Mahogany, Cane-seat and common Chairs; Mahogany, Cane-back and common Rocking Chairs;—Children's Toy, Rocking and Dining Chairs; Settees and Settee Cralles; Cribs; Grecian and common Wash Stands; Portable Sinks; Portable and Gentleman's Writing Desks, Toilet, Dining and common Pine Tables; Looking Glasses; Swing and Toilet Glasses. Fancy Boxes, a great variety;—Mattresses; and every article usually found in his line of business.

CLOCKS.

J. W. intends keeping on hand a large and well selected assortmeni of Wood and Brass Clocks from the best of manufacturers—all of which we can feel confident in warranting. Those about purchasing this article will do well to call.

FEATHERS.

Live Geese and common Feathers; a great variety.

N. B. J. W. will still continue to Manufacture FURNITURE at the Old Stand, No 29 Lafayette, corner of Ward street, where he will keep on hand a good assortment of

Cabinet Furniture, Feathers, Looking Glasses and Clocks.

Salem, April 12, 1845.

G. W CRAFTS,
BLANK BOOK MANUFACTURER AND STATIONER,
174 ESSEX STREET, SALEM,

HAS constantly on hand, and will manufacture to order, all kinds of Blank Books, from the best paper, ruled to any pattern, and bound in a neat and substantial manner.

FINE STATIONERY,

of almost ever description, adapted for counting rooms and schools, comprising in part, Letter and Writing Papers, ruled and plain; Drawing Papers; Note, Tissue and Wrapping Papers; Wafers; Sealing Wax; Seals and Steel Pens of every variety; Quills of every description; wafer Cups; sand boxes; writing fluids and inks; penknives; razors, &c.

PRINTING, RULING AND BINDING,

Printing of shop bills, cards, bill heads, catalogues, &c. executed in the neatest manner and on the best terms. Ruling, to any pattern desired, at short notice. Binding, of every description, executed with despatch.

SCHOOL BOOKS AND STATIONERY.

A constant supply of school books, of the best editions, together with every kind of School Stationery Also, all kinds of miscellaneous books furnished at the lowest rates. meh 15

NEW BOOKSTORE.

THE subscriber having established himself a No. 2 Allen's Building, offers for sale a general assortment of

Books and Stationery,

on as reasonable terms as they can be purchased elsewhere, among which are the following

SCHOOL BOOKS.

Russell's Reading Books; Greenleaf's Arithmetic; Introduction to do; Burritt's Geography of the Heavens; Mitchell's Primary Geography; Alger's Murray's Grammar Olmstead's Rudiments; Davie's Elementary Geometry; Common School History; Colburn's History, together with an assortment of all the books used in the public schools of this town.

He has also a good supply of Moral and Religious Works, adapted to the different denominations; Annuals, cheap Publications, etc., etc., among which are

Beecher's Lectures to Young Men; Philosophy of the Plan of Salvation, by Calvin E. Stowe, DD.; The Rose of Sharon; The Mayflower; The Annualette, Boquet of Flowers; Language of Gems; Sabbath School Annual; a set of Graham's Physiological Works, and a large number of other Books, recently published.

Also, a good assortment of BLANKS, &c., constantly for sale.

In addition to his present stock, he will be constantly receiving fresh supplies of New Books, as they issue from the press: Gifts for the New Year, &c., and any order for Books that may not be found among his assortment, will be attended to at the shortest possible notice. A share of patronage is solicited.
dec 6 SYLVANUS DODGE.

Architectural Drafting.

THE undersigned having received from Asher Benjamin, Architect, a regular course of instruction in Architectural Drafting, is now prepared to furnish Drawings, Specifications, superintend and contract for the erection of public and private buildings, etc.

To those citizens of Danvers and vicinity, who wish for an improvement in the style of Architecture in their neighborhood, he would respectfully offer his services, and solicit that share of patronage which his works may merit.

WM. H. HOWLAND.
Danvers, Jan 17, 1846.

AT the subscriber's store, No. 120 BOSTON ST., will be found constantly on hand, the following assortment of

STOVES,

&c., viz:—
Stewart's Summer and Winter Air-tight Cooking Stoves,
The Hathaway Stove.
The Norton Furnace improved Stove;
The Union Stove;
Sizers; The Economy's Friend;
The Improved Etna;
The Douglass Patent;
The Trojan, with a variety of other cheap Cookin Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Also—Column Stoves, Air-Tight Stoves of all sizes and patterns, with andwithout ovens; and Box Stoves, of all sizes and patterns.

Sheet Iron, Tin and Copper work done with neatness and despatch. CHAS. A. DEARBORN.
Salem, Sept 27, 1845.

TO LET.

The Room over Mr Telyea's Tailor shop, suitable for a milliner or dress-maker. apply to
Dec. 16. WM. SUTTON.

NEW CASH STORE.

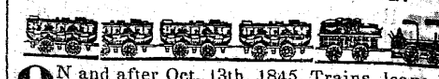
D. H. TOWNSEND begs leave to announce that he has taken the shop on Main St., A few doors South of Park Street,
where he will be kept a good assortment of
WEST INDIA GOODS,
Butter, Cheese, Oil, Soap, Candles, Wooden and Stone Ware, Nuts, Candies, Jams, Jelly, Pickles, Essences, &c which will be sold at the lowest cash price.

A share of patronage is solicited.
Danvers, Oct 25.

BUTTER.

JUST received, 100 tubs first quality, Vermont Dairy Butter, for sale low by
O. F. BATCHELDER.
Danvers, Jan 30.

POOLE & STEDMAN,
MAKERS OF
TRUNKS, HARNESSES, &c. AND COACH AND GIG TRIMMERS,



For the better accommodation of their customers, have taken the lower part of the shop recently occupied by Mr. Jonathan Ward,
No. 24 St. Peter Street.
SALEM.

Thankful for past patronage, a continuance of the same solicited.

S. A. POOLE,
G. B. STEDMAN.
june 21 1845.

CHEAP German Paint Boxes. One case o theabove of various sizes, just received and for sale at wholesale and retail, by
feb 21 J. P. JEWETT & CO.

EASTERN RAILROAD.
WINTER ARRANGEMENT.

ON and after Oct. 13th, 1845, Trains leave (Sundays excepted.)

Boston for Portland, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 P. M.
" Portsmouth, 7 1-4 A.M.; 2 1-2 4 1-2
" Somersworth, Great Falls, 7 1-4 2 1-2 P.M.
" for Newburyport, 7 1-4 A.M., 2 1-2 4 1-2 P.M.
" for Salem, 7 1-4, 9, A.M., 12 1-4 3 1-2, 4 1-2, 6 P.M.

Salem for Portland, 8 A.M., 3 1-4 P.M.
Salem for Portsmouth and Newburyport, 8 3 1-4, 5 1-4 P M.
Portland for Boston, 7 1-2 A.M., 3 P.M.
Saco for Boston, 8 A.M., 3 1-2 P.M.
Somersworth, Great Falls for Boston, 9 A.M. 4 1-4 P.M.
South Berwick lot Boston, 9.25 A M, 4 55 P.M
Portsmouth for Boston, 7 1-4, 10,* A.M., 5 1-2*
Newburyp't for Boston, 8 10 3-4* AM. 6 1-4 PM
Salem for Boston, 7 3-4, 9 1-4, 10 1-4 11 3-4, 2 1-4, 5, 7,* P.M.
*Or on their arrival from the East.

MARBLEHEAD BRANCH.

Trains leave Marblehead for Salem, at 7 1-4 10, A.M.; 2, 4, 4 3-4, 6 1-4, P.M.

Leave Salem for Marblehead, at 8, 9 3-4 A 1, 3 1-4, 4 1-4, 5 1-4, 6 3-4 P.M.

A Merchandize Train will leave Boston, Portl and all intermediate places every day.

Freight Office in Boston, No. 17 Merchants R and on the line of the road at the several Depots

JOHN KINSMAN,
oct 11 Master of Transportation

Winter Arrangement of the
DANVERS AND SALEM
HOURLY COACHES

THE Danvers and Sa Hourly Coaches will connection with the East Railroad, leave Danvers Salem at the following hours, viz:

Leave Danvers at	7 1-4	A.M.	Leave Salem at	8
"	"	8 3-4	"	"	9 1
"	"	9 3-4	"	"	11 3
"	"	11 1-4	"	"	12 3-4
"	"	1 3-4	P M.	"	3 P.
"	"	2 3-4	"	"	4
"	"	4 1-2	"	"	5
"	"	5 1-2	"	"	6 1-
"	"	6 1-2	"	"	8

For seats apply at Macintire's Hotel, or at Jos G Shed's store in Danvers, and at the Essex Ho and Salem Hotel in Salem.

Railroad passengers taken at the depot on the rival of the cars from Boston and the East.

☞ Extra Coaches furnished at any hour on reasonble terms. SYMONDS & TEEL.
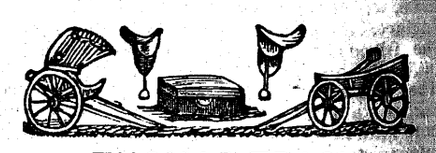
apr 19 tf

Danvers Express and Baggage Waggon

LEAVES Danvers and Boston, daily (Sundays cepted.)

All orders left at Ham's Hotel, or Poole & cobs' store Danvers, No. 14 Blackstone, and No Fulton streets, Boston, will be promptly attended t
Goods handled with care.
S. F. TOWN.
April 19, 1845. 1 y



Great Bargains
ARE NOW BEING HAD AT THE
Washington Street Clothing Store, Salem

GARMENTS of all description may be obtaine at prices which cannot fail to give entire sat action.

Great care has been taken in the getting up of e ery garment, all of which is warranted equal, if n superior to any Clothing in the city.

The subscriber continues to take measures as fo merly, and all Garments bespoken, will be made a cording to the wishes of the customer, and will gu antee both the style and fit.

S. CHAMBERLAIN, Jr.
Salem, March 12 tf

THOMAS TRASK,
Near the Eagle, Main Street, Danvers.

KEEPS constantly on hand, a good assoment of
SADDLES AND HARNESSES,
of every kind and quality. Also—Fire Buckets, Sol Leather, Rivetted Double and Boot Top Travelling Trunk Common Hair do., Valises and Carpet Bags, Chaise, Sta and Draught Collars, Military Equipments, etc.

ENGINE HOSE furnished at short notice, and on t most reasonable terms.

CHURCH CUSHIONS, of all kinds and quality, m at the shortest notice.

T. T. has on hand as good an assortment of Harnesses be found at any other establishment.

A good article of Neats Foot Oil, constantly on hand. Danvers, June 7, 1845. 1y

CO-PARTNERSHIP NOTICE.

JONATHAN W. OSBORNE has taken into Co partnership MICHAEL L. WHIDDEN, an they will continue the

Painting, Glazing & Papering

business, at the old Stand, No 10 PARK STREET, unde the firm of
OSBORNE & WHIDDEN.

Particular attention to
SIGN PAINTING
IMITATIONS OF WOOD, MARBLE BRONZE, GROUND GLASS, &c.
meh29 1y

Watch and Clock Repairing.

THE subscriber would inform the citizens of Dan vers and vicinity, that he has established him self at

No. 2 ALLEN'S BUILDING,

for the purpose of carrying on the Watch and Clock Repairing business. and hopes by strict attention to business, and doing his work well, to merit a share patronage. N. CONANT.

N. B. JEWELRY REPAIRED, and a good assortment of WATCH GLASSES, constantly on hand.

South Danvers, Aug 30, 1845.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform those in want of a good article, that he just received a supply of those superior Periscopic Spectacles, in Gold and Silver Bows, warranted to give satisfaction, in all cases,

Hsndreds of testimonials can be given from persons in Salem, who have used these glasses, and who pronounce them superior to any other spectacle now in use.

Remember the place to obtain the real article is at 222 Essex street opposite the First Church.
dec 6 WILLIAM ARCHER, Jr.